AMBITIOUS CITY NEWS.

Burglars Held for Trial—The Drill Instructor's Case—A Wayward Girl.

HAMILTON, Dec. 6.—David McAuliffe and William Smith were brought up for examination before Police Magistrate Cahill yesterday morning, charged with breaking into Mills' hat store on Nov. 25 and stealing ten Persian lamb caps. The magistrate held them for trial.

Yesterday morning Police Magistrate Cahill gave judgment in the case against Drill Instructor Athawes, charged with assaulting W. Champ, a school boy. The Magistrate considered that Athawes had not exceeded his authority and dismissed the case.

Mary Walker, a 16-year-old girl charged with vagrancy, was yesterday sentenced to 28 months in the Mercer Reformatory, her father testifying that she was beyond his control.

Tuesday afternoon some boys in Mount Hope village saw a man who was driving through the village fall off his load upon the ground. Assistance was immediately summoned, but the man only lived a few minutes after being picked up. His name was George Clark, jr., son of George Clark, dairyman, on the mountain. The deceased was about 40 years of age and leaves a widow and three children, who live in Caledonia. He was engaged in teaming groceries and general merchandise from Hamilton to Caledonia. Just before he fell, the boys say the deceased rose up as if to fix his load. There were few bruises on the body and it was impossible to tell from a superficial examination what the cause of death was. There will not be an inquest.

Ald. Kendrick and McLellan of the Markets, Fire and Police Committee, are going to Toronto to-day to take a look at the ambulances there, with a view to adopting the best style for the vehicle that is to be built here.

Burglars were at work Tuesday night at M. T. Evans' residence, 131 York-street, corner of Caroline. They tore a shutter off his front window and had it raised ready for business when Mr. Evans appeared with a light.

Yesterday morning Mr. Ashenfelter, agent for E. W. Gillett, baking powder manufacturer, was thrown out of a buggy and down an embankment. Twenty minutes later he was picked up in an insensible condition by some persons residing in the vicinity and brought to this city. He will have to stay indoors for a while.

Tuesday night Mr. Colin Campbell went to a field near his father's pottery to catch a horse. Mr. Campbell procured a measure of oats, and with it endeavored to get at the animal's head. While so engaged the horse turned suddenly about and lifted his heels, striking the unfortunate young man in the jaw, fracturing it in two places, and knocking out four front teeth.

Guelph Waterworks Bylaw.

GUELPH, Dec. 6.—A special meeting of the Council for the purpose of considering a bylaw to be submitted to the people for granting the sum of $15,000 towards the extension and repair of the waterworks, the bylaw was read and the blanks filled in without any discussion. The vote will be taken on Jan. 7. The indebtedness will run for thirty years.

As a jubilee gift to the Austrian Emperor the Pope has sent a mosaic image of the Virgin, made at the Vatican and valued at $6000.

Damage Suit Against the Allan Line.

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—Four damage suits against the Allan line were begun in the Superior Civil Court yesterday morning. The complainants, who were passengers on the steamer Prussian nearly a year ago, charge that the food was bad and that with 711 passengers aboard the sanitary arrangements were inadequate. The defendants answer in a general denial. These suits were first brought last May, but the jury then disagreed.

DEATH AT THE CROSSINGS

JOHN MARSHALL OF INGERSOLL KILLED BY AN ENGINE.

A Lake Shore Engine Collides With a Street Car at Detroit—Ten Persons Injured, Five Fatally—Another Fatality.

INGERSOLL, Dec. 6.—Yesterday afternoon as Teamster John Marshall was driving across the Grand Trunk Railway track on Wingham-street his waggon was struck by the engine of the express and smashed to atoms. Marshall was thrown high into the air and fell into the ditch about 20 yards away. He received a severe blow over the right eye, and the frontal bone of the forehead over the bridge of the nose was badly crushed. He was removed to his home a mile out of town on Thamesford-road and died about an hour afterwards. One of the horses had his leg badly broken and had to be killed.

Ten Persons Hurt, Five Fatally.

DETROIT, Dec. 6.—Yesterday afternoon a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern switch engine on its way to the junction, collided with a street car of the Fort and Cregan-street line, at Cregan-street crossing, demolishing the street car and injuring ten persons, five of whom will probably die.

A Boy Killed in This Collision.

CADILLAC, Mich., Dec. 6.—Yesterday morning as the Cardillac and Northeastern passenger train was coming into Lake City, a team belonging to Samuel Olsen of Jennings became unmanagable and ran into the track. Olsen and his little boy were in the wagon. The boy was killed instantly and the father injured. One horse was killed and the other injured.

ANOTHER ROCKY MOUNTAIN LINE.

Projected Road to Run From Southern Alberta to British Columbia.

MCLEOD, N. W. T., Dec. 6.—The Canadian Pacific have a staff of men in Crow's Nest Pass exploring a line for a railway to run from Southern Alberta to British Columbia, through the Rocky Mountains, with the intention of making it their main line. The advantages of the pass are recorded as follows: It is a more direct route from the main line at Medicine Hat to Vancouver than the present one. In the Crow's Nest, and subsequent passes on the way to the Pacific, the grades are scarcely perceptible, while on the present route immense engines can only take four freight cars at a time up some of the grades. By way of the Crow's Nest, an ordinary freight engine could take a large freight train most of the way alone. A railway through the Crow's Nest Pass would traverse the rich Kootenay country, the choicest part of all British Columbia.

STUBBS' REVENGE.

Another Chapter in the Story of the Nom ination Day Battle at Mono Mills.

ALTON, Dec. 6.—The fight between William Stubbs, the defeated candidate for Cardwell in the recent election, and Robert Evans at Mono Mills on nomination day, Sept. 26 last, culminated in a magistrates' court here yesterday before Justices McLaren, Fatullo and Swinerton.

Stubbe charged Evans with aggravated assault and John Hazzard with aiding and abetting.

Evans and Hazzard were committed for trial, bail being accepted, $400 for Evans, $200 for Hazzard.

By a special provision of the election law a common assault on nomination day or election day becomes aggravated assault.

The Fire Losses at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 6.—The loss by fire at Lyman Bros. & Co., wholesale druggists, last night, is now placed at $135,000. The value of the stock is estimated at $175,000, but it is thought that the actual loss on stock will be about $75,000. Buildings and stocks were insured as follows: Ætna, $7000; Caledonia, $5000; Citizens', $8000; Commercial Union, $3500; Glasgow and London, $6100; Guardian, $7600; Hartford, $16,000; Imperial, $10,300; Lancaster, $4800; Liverpool, London and Globe, $12,625; London Assurance, $10,000; North British and Mercantile, $7628.

The Liquor Question in the Territories.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 6.—The Northwest Assembly by a vote of 13 to 7 has expressed the opinion that a plebiscite should be taken on the liquor question, and if provisions for taking a vote are not made at the next session of Parliament that powers similar to those held by the provinces should be given the Assembly.

The Shedden Carriage Company is likely to get the contract for Northern freightage here.

Picton Favors College Federation.

PICTON, Dec. 6.—At a large meeting of the official board of the First Methodist Church last night a motion was adopted declaring the allotment to this circuit in aid of college federation to be reasonable and opening a way for a canvass of subscriptions. An anti-federation resolution was voted down. There is no doubt that the full amount required of the congregation will be raised.

Killed by a Cave-in.

NEWARK, N.J., Dec. 6.—While workmen were engaged in excavating a cellar in 13th-avenue yesterday afternoon the earth caved in burying four of them. Philip Liberati, Joseph Liboro and George Scherartz were instantly killed. The fourth escaped with a broken leg.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

Negotiations For a Race Between O'Connor and Gaudaur.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6.—J. A. St. John recently entered into negotiations for a race between Gaudaur and O'Connor, he to back Gaudaur. The matter has progressed so far and favorably that Mr. St. John has for for Boston to conclude arrangements. The proposition is for a race to be rowed in March in San Francisco for the championship of America and $1000 a side, the winner to go to Australia and row Searle for the championship of the world.

Turfmen Expelled.

DETROIT, Dec. 6.—The Board of Appeals of the American Trotting Association yesterday expelled Barney Barnes, Miner Barnes and J. Land of St. Thomas for entering the mare Mollie Dunbar as Mabe B.

Hamilton's Baseball Meeting.

HAMILTON, Dec. 6.—The shareholders of the Hamilton Baseball Club and lovers of the game held a meeting in the City Hall last evening. Secretary Dixon's report showed the club had lost $2000, but this was made up by subscriptions and the sale of players. No action was taken toward organizing a club for next season but the feeling of those present was in favor of Hamilton being represented. The present directors are unwilling to remain in office unless they are secured from any personal loss. After some further discussion the meeting adjourned until Dec. 14, when it is expected steps will be taken towards organizing a good team here.

A Martyr to His Profession.

UTICA, Dec. 6.—Dr. Frederick L. LORD RANDOLPH'S ATTACK

CONTINUES TO BE THE TALK OF ALL BRITAIN.

Gen. Wolseley Denies That He Inspired Lord Randolph Proceedings Yesterday in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—In the House of Commons last night James Stuart, a Home Rule Radical, moved the rejection of the report on the vote for the Irish Secretary's office, his object being to discuss a statement by the Viceroy to the effect that 160 derelict farms from which tenants had been evicted were easily relet. Mr. Stuart contended that this statement was a gross error. Derelict farms were never relet, a fact that demonstrated the failure of the Government's policy in Ireland.

Mr. Balfour said he gathered from Mr. Stuart's remarks that the Gladstonians wanted to keep the derelict farms unlet [Hear! Hear!] This implied approval of a system of intimidation to prevent farmers from exercising their industry unless with the approval of certain politicians. The Viceroy's report on the reletting of farms was based upon official returns and could not be questioned.

The vote was approved without a division.

Gen. Wolseley's Denial.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Owing to a report that General Wolseley had been in communication with Lord Randolph Churchill and had inspired his attack upon the Suakim expedition on account of an inadequacy of the proposed forces, Mr. Stanhope, the War Secretary, wrote a letter to General Wolseley on the subject asking him upon what military authority he supported Lord Randolph's views.

General Wolseley in his reply says there has

THREE BARE-FACED FACTS!

1st, an $18,000 Sheppard Bankrupt Stock, at 50c. on the $. 2nd, a Sacrifice Sale of the Whole Stock

3RD, THIRTY DAYS TO DO IT IN!

WE FACE YOU WITH THESE 3 FACTS.

We tell you calmly that there's no blowing or Catchpenny wind about the statement. Its the cold blooded iron-rock truth. We've got to unload! There's no doubt of that, and mind you the essence of our unloading is TIME, what we can get for the goods is a Secondary Consideration. Do you realize that? If you do, you seize your opportunity, if you don't see it, take our word for it. Our lease of the SHEPPARD store expires on January 1st, we've got to dispose of the stock by that time, the best way to dispose of it is to throw it out at your own price, and that's what we are going to do. It's easier to move in Segments than by the Cartload. Will you help us? It'll pay you, we'll make it pay you, we'll compel you to pay yourself. With the alternative of either selling or moving the stock staring us in the face, we've settled down to the fact that grit will tell, and we're going to whack out the goods until every Mother's Son in the Country has his arms full of bargains.

On SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1st, and for the following days, we throw at your doors clear-grained benefits from the SHEPPARD BANKRUPT STOCK of $18000 worth of goods, New, Choice, and Fresh, and selling at 50c on the dollar. We leave it to you to name the prices, we go farther! We will absolutely give you goods at your own figures! Bear in mind that 30 days finishes the sale in the present premises.

An Australia Letter.

Mr. Dixon Best Writes From the Antipodes.

The following letter from Mr. Dixon Best was received by his uncle, Mr. James Best, Peterborough :—

SYDNEY, Oct. 26, 1888.

We have arrived safely in Sydney after a long and tedious voyage, although we had beautiful weather most of the way. Well, my last letter was from Honolulu, or immediately before we arrived there. Honolulu is purely tropical; the foliage is beautiful. Bananas, oranges, cocoa nuts, palms and other tropical plants are as common as your maple and beech. We had ten hours to spend in Honolulu, so you see we had ample time to see the town. Living is very high there, but I suppose they "tuck it on" to strangers. We stopped at the Fiji Islands to let some passengers off, but we had not time to go ashore. The islanders came crowding on board with fruit and curiosities for sale. They are the worst looking lot of savages I ever saw in my life. Next we called at Aukland, New Zealand, and spent one day there. They are just in the fere part of the summer. Vegetables are in the market; green peas and strawberries are very plentiful. We had a first-class dinner in Aukland for 6d. I don't see how they can do it for the money. Sydney harbour is the finest in the world; the opening is narrow, but it widens out and is one succession of bays all around it. * * * You may be sure I have had some queer experiences since I left home. We are spending a few days very nicely around Sydney. We intend leaving for Melbourne to-morrow. Business seems to be brisk here, and everyone has the English accent; in fact, everything is quite English, you know, even the city is old-fashioned, but very substantial. I have been offered one situation as pattern cutter at £3 ($15) a week. * * * Remember me to all.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

A special meeting of the village council was held in the council chamber on Monday evening, the 3rd. Present, the Reeve in the chair, Councillors Hull, Henderson and Nelson.

Mr. Candee, representing the Toronto Rubber and Gutta Percha Company, and Mr. Watt, agent for Mr. Ronald, addressed the council.

The Debenture and Property Committee presented their report, which was adopted. It was to the effect that they had closed with the offer for the $10,000 in debentures at $102.25 per $100, to be delivered in Peterborough, and accrued interest paid by purchaser. The village solicitor has not yet reported on title of mill reserve number one. Owing to a mistake in the by-law a hitch had occurred, but it was hoped that the solicitor would be able to arrange it, and permit of the immediate purchase of lot, engine, etc.

The Road and Sidewalk Committee presented their report with a tracing of the new map of the village, giving a list of the changes made in the names and location of streets.—Adopted.

The Finance Committee presented their report, recommending payment of the following accounts, which was adopted :

Wm Smith, wages	9 7 19
Isaac Watson, wages	13 50
Hugh Fitzgerald, teaming	13 50
Globe Printing Co. advertising	9 00
Examiner " " "	6 75
Isaac Watson, health inspecting	8 75
Village clerk, postage, telephoning, etc	3 90
" " contingent account	22 75
Peter Raptie, lamp posts	4 50
Total	$104 04

Also that the bill due the corporation by Jas. Howe, as his share of culvert, $4.38, be presented to him.

The Fire Committee presented report recommending the purchase of a Ronald steam fire engine at $3,450, and two hose carts at $100 each, delivered in Lakefield, also 500 feet Maltese Cross rubber hose at $1.10 per foot, and 500 feet Baker fabric at 90c. per foot, from the Toronto Rubber and Gutta Percha Co. Report laid on table until the next meeting.

A memorial to the Dominion government requesting them to assume the wharf built by the council last summer, in connection with the one now being constructed by the Government, received its several readings.

A memorial to the Ontario House of Assembly was also adopted requesting the government to introduce such legislation as will do away with tax exemptions, and the clerk was directed to hand it to the member for West Peterborough for presentation.

By-laws to organize and govern a Fire Brigade, and to provide for the holding of the municipal and school elections for 1889, were duly passed.

A by-law to open and close several streets in the municipality received its first and second reading and will be read and passed Jan 9th 1889.

Council sjourned until Saturday the 15th inst. to meet at 9 a.m.

"PITY THE SORROWS OF A POOR YOUNG MAN."

A short time since I gave your readers the sad experience of the young granger who sent to Young's Point for his winter supply of cider. Although downhearted at its loss, he tried again and secured five gallons, to which he added "a little something else" to improve the flavor and keeping qualities. Then it was carefully bottled and deposited in the cellar to ripen for holiday use. A short time after retiring the other night he was alarmed at a loud report, followed in a few moments by several more. He did not know what to make of it, but jumped to the conclusion that his neighbour across the way had gone quietly off and secured a tenant for the new brick house, and that the Lakefield boys were out to charivari him. Hastily donning part o' his clothing, he proceeded to investigate, but all was quiet, not even a mouse was moving in the house, while outside the cold bright moon looked down on a scene of perfect rest. Harry concluded he had been dreaming and again sought his cosy couch, but had hardly got settled when the reports were again heard, first one or two then regular fire tiring with occasionally a volley. It was too much to stand and again he started on a fruitless search; all was again quiet. Just as he was about to again retire in despair a report was heard coming from the cellar, and on going down he was just in time to see a bottle containing the last of the five gallons, with "a little something else" in it, go up to the ceiling and over the walls which had been well saturated by the previous explosions. With a mournful look at the empty bottles our young friend crept back to bed feeling that fate was bound to make him a "son of temperance" in spite of himself.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Rev. Mr. Jeffery's Resignation Demanded — No Bill Against Dr. McCully.

TORONTO, Dec. 6. The most important event of yesterday's County Court and General Sessions was the throwing out by the Grand Jury of the indictment against Dr. S. E. McCully charging him with shooting Mr. H. H. Cobright with intent to kill. Such a proceeding was scarcely expected, but the general expression of opinion was one of sympathy with the doctor, many arguing that he did only right in defending his family and his home. The Grand Jury found a true bill against H. J. Spence, charged with three offences of stealing letters from the mails.

The argument in the important criminal case of the Queen v. Cardo, a crown case reserved from the last Toronto Assizes, was heard by the Common Pleas Division yesterday. The prisoner was tried for the heinous offence of committing a criminal assault upon his own daughter in this city. The evidence for the prosecution, however, was of such a meagre quality, consisting only of the unsupported testimony of the girl, that after the case for the Crown was closed a motion was made to dismiss the prisoner. Judgment was reserved.

The appeal of J. Baldwin Hands from the Chancellor's decision sustaining the action of the Law Society in disbarring the appellant was argued at length before the Queen's Bench yesterday. The court reserved judgment.

The Minister of Education purposes submitting to the Legislature at its next session a scheme for establishing in the School of Practical Science full courses of instruction in applied chemistry, applied mechanics and architecture.

Mr. Richard Lear, the well-known plumber, died yesterday afternoon from blood poisoning. He was in the 55th year of his age.

Yesterday afternoon the Mayor instructed Treasurer Coady to suspend all negotiations that had been authorized by the Executive Committee the day previous for the borrowing of a million dollars from the Bank of Montreal. He also decided to call a special meeting of the committee to reconsider the matter.

Rev. F. A. Stafford, President of Toronto Conference; Rev. Dr. Sutherland, Financial Secretary, and Rev. Dr. Stone, Chairman of the District, waited on Rev. Mr. Jeffery of the Western Methodist church at his residence, Spadina avenue, yesterday morning and officially demanded his resignation. He was notified that he would be ousted if he did not comply and his decision must be given within twenty-four hours. This is the outcome of the trouble which has been agitating that church for some time past.

Your Friend Committed Suicide.

You never suspected it, none of his friends dreamed of it, he did not know it himself, but it is exactly what he did, nevertheless. Do you remember his sallow complexion? Do you recollect how he used to complain of headaches and constipation? "I'm getting quite bilious," he said to you one day, "but I guess it'll pass off. I haven't done anything for it, because I don't believe in 'dosing.'" Soon after that you heard of his death. It was very sudden, and every one was greatly surprised. If he had taken Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets he would be alive and well to-day. Don't follow his example. The "Pellets" are easy to take, mild in their action, and always sure. a

MARIE WOOD. J. A. PORTER. H. V. HAWKINS.

J. A. WILSON. P. A. DORSEY.

A FEW OF THE ESCAPED RAIDERS.

The eight men who got away from the immediate vicinity of the prison traveled in couples, taking different routes and meeting with a great variety of stirring adventures. Porter and Wollam went westward and reached the Tennessee river, down which they floated in a boat, making a land circuit to avoid unusual shoals, till they reached Corinth, in Mississippi, on the 18th of November, having been a month and two days on their perilous routes.

Dorsey and Hawkins pursued a route similar in general direction to the last, but keeping a little further west. They were entangled in the outposts of Bragg's army, then on its retreat from Kentucky, and very narrowly escaped capture. They also were greatly helped by the Union people of East Tennessee, and without such aid would very probably have died with cold and hunger in the mountains. They and all the others were received by their army comrades and relatives as man risen from the dead.

But the most surprising and longest but easiest route was that taken by Wood and Wilson. The former was so sick that it is not probable he could in any other way have been saved at all. They struck southwest till they encountered the Chattahoochee river, when, seizing a boat, they paddled down the stream night after night, hiding by day, till they reached the Gulf of Mexico, when they stood boldly out to sea in their frail craft and were fortunate enough to find our blockading fleet. Of their emotions on once more beholding the old flag it is useless to speak; all who were prisoners during the war will understand it, and no others can! They reached Key West Nov. 13, and were the first of the party to send home a full account of their adventures, which is still on file in the war department.

A few words will finish the story of the six of us who were so unfortunate as to be recaptured. We expected nothing less than instant death; but instead of that we were taken to the Atlanta barracks, then under charge of an officer who had been in the regular United States army, from whom we received more humane treatment than had been before accorded us within the limits of the Confederacy. Here we remained two months, and were then forwarded to Richmond, Va. We spent only about two hours in Libby prison, but were more than three months in Castle Thunder, where our sufferings were often very great. Food was but little above the starvation point. No clothes were given us by the Confederacy, and we were almost naked. Many died around us, and in the very rooms with us, of smallpox and other deadly diseases, but our lives were strangely preserved, though several of our number were very sick. We never were called on to face another court martial. There was much talk of exchange, but our hopes in that direction were so often disappointed that we almost ceased to hope.

At length, on the 17th of March, 1863, we received the joyful tidings that a special political exchange had been concluded, which, by the insistance of Secretary Stanton, had been made to include us. No words can describe our joy when we at last found that it was actually true, and that our year of horror was over and we once more under the old flag.

CHAPTER XXVI.

HOMEWARD BOUND.

A little before dark on the evening of the 17th of March we were sitting around the stove, lazily but not indifferently discussing the siege of Vicksburg, when an officer entered in haste and gave the strange order: "All who want to go to the United States fall into line and come to the office." There was a rush and a scramble to the middle of the floor, and no line was ever formed more promptly. We all believed that we were already in the United States, but had no objection to be still more so; and it was with a good many questionings that we marched out of the guarded room door, across the courtyard, and as many of us as could enter at once into the office. The proper officers were prepared with blank forms, and they filled out rapidly the oaths of parole binding the signers not to serve against the Confederacy until regularly declared exchanged. Even when I saw this good work progressing I feared that the opportunity was only for officers. To test the matter I pressed forward and gave my name, fully expecting to hear, "The engine thieves can't go;" but, to my surprise, no objection was made. For a moment a delicious hope thrilled through my veins—a vision of happiness and home, dazzling as a summer flash of lightning, shone forth before my eyes.

We were told to be ready to start north at 4 o'clock the next morning. We could have been ready in four seconds! But we were unutterably glad to have it brought even that near. At times a deadly misgiving arose for a moment that all this might prove a delusion; but the actual signing of the parole was a strong anchor to our hope.

As might be expected, that evening was one of wild excitement. Nearly every body in our room acted like men bereft of reason. Some danced and bounded over the floor, embracing each other and pledging kind remembrances. Others shouted till they were too hoarse to shout any more. Others sat down and wept. The deliverance was so great that they were completely overpowered. But a few were, for some reason, not permitted to go, and we deeply pitied them.

It was near midnight before we became calm enough to offer up our usual evening devotions. But when the roomful of excited men were still at last, wearied out by the very excess of joy, and overcome by the quietness which ever follows powerful emotion, we knelt in prayer. Many more than the usual number assembled with us in the corner of the room where we always gathered. The prayer was one of overmastering thankfulness. When we remembered all the sufferings through which we had passed it seemed as if we could never cease to be grateful. We asked God for strength to bear every trial; but we also implored with a fervor and sincerity which few can realize, that he would not allow our bright and vivid hopes to be disappointed and us to be dashed back from the paradise of liberty. And we asked with no little solicitude for strength to continue in his service when no longer confined within prison walls, so that the precious possession we had found in the darkness might not pass away in the light; thus composed we lay down to await the event.

The commanding officer, who stepped into the door long before the morning light gave the thrilling order, "Get up and prepare for your journey!"

At his call we hurriedly thronged to our feet. All doubts and fears vanished. It was true! Freedom once more! Our terrible activity was passed. O joy! Joy! Joy inexpressible! almost too wild and delirious for earth!

There was a hurrying around in the partial darkness left by the glimmering of lights; discordant calling of names, a careful inspection of each man to see that none went but those intended; and then we formed in the courtyard for the march toward freedom. We fell into two lines and when all was ready we passed again into the office, were carefully counted, and with bounding hearts passed outward through the dreaded portals of Castle Thunder—the same portal through which we had passed inward more than three months before. There was all the hope of the morning in this coming out!

We halted on the pavement until perfectly formed, and then, with the guard, marched through the muddy, unlighted streets for many squares. There were a number of sick in our company, but not one of them was willing to be left behind; and as the rebels had neglected to provide any conveyances, we helped them—each being supported between two stronger men, and thus with circling arms they were able, at the expense of much suffering in some cases—to accompany us the weary distance. Two or three had to be almost wholly carried, but the burden was cheerfully endured, upborne as we all were on the wings of hope and exultation.

The Magic Bottle Imp.

A very amusing trick, by means of which a child can puzzle the most astute. It is a curiously made bottle, and the trick is to get the imp into the bottle. But no more by any one else. Any one can do it, so one of your friends can make it. It causes heaps of fun, and wrapped up in a neat box, with full instructions, it is sent by mail, postpaid, for 25 cents. Address A. W. The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1888.

The Hackmen's By-Law.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I was pleased to notice in your yesterday's paper that the council has authorized the town solicitor to draw up another by-law respecting cabs, hacks, etc. And I am sure, Mr. Editor, it is about time something of the kind was done, judging from the number of persons I have heard complain of having been over-charged by them while going to and from the railway stations. In the meantime I would advise those who may require their services to find out what they will have to pay before engaging them—or perhaps they will regret it.

Yours truly,
ONE MORE.

Peterborough, Dec. 5, 1888.

Ashburnham Council.

Regular Session of the Village Fathers.

At the regular meeting of the Ashburnham village council Monday night, Mr. Calcutt occupied the chair in the absence of Reeve Burnham. Messrs. Anderson, Craig and Wand were present.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid.

McKee & Davidson	$24 50
J. R. Stratton	29 80
H. Neil (wood)	4 00
D. Law	95
R. Mitchell, wood	2 50
J. Calvert, street signs	20 80
S. Price, posts	5 40
C. H. Moore	50
No. 33, corporation road work	48 33
" 34, " " "	27 88
" 35, " " "	9 19

On motion of Mr. Craig, seconded by Mr. Wand, Mrs. Mitchell's taxes were remitted.

A petition signed by half a dozen ratepayers was read, asking the council to prohibit the periodical dances held in the village hall, on the ground that they were of a disorderly character and disturbed the quiet and peace of the law abiding citizens in the vicinity. The prayer of the petition was granted.

The council adjourned to meet on the 15th Dec.

Personal.

Mr. J. S. Parker, organist of St. Paul's Church, took part in a service of praise in the Church of the Ascension, Toronto, last night. The Globe mentions his two organ solos as, with a vocal duet by city singers, "the most noticeable items in a very acceptable programme."

An Amorous Traveller.

The waiter of the dining car of the C.P.R. 5.52 express was a thoroughly surprised individual last night, as well as the victim of an osculatory fusillade of a most determined character. About the time the train was due to leave, an intoxicated "lady," that is, a lady who had a few minutes previously swallowed six consecutive hookers of whisky, came to the station platform under the escort of a young man of the town, and as she boarded the train a dining car waiter thought to pass her on the platform, but the amorous alcoholic gave him an astounding surprise. She threw her arms around him, imprisoning his own arms with the grip of an hysterical boa constructor, and rained upon his face a shower of energetic kisses, redolent of the fierce fumes of forty-rod while the passengers and platform spectators shrieked with laughter at the double enjoyment of the gastronomic dude's discomfiture and of the intoxicated female's amorous and alcoholic adhesiveness. The engine whistled and as the train drew out of the station a brakeman and the conductor had succeeded in breaking the blockade, the latter leading the super-squeezed young man away, quite intoxicated with the second-hand whisky he had breathed in during his incarceration in the embrace of the bibulous bacchante.

The man or woman has yet to come forward and put their finger on the spot where Turnbull has advertised anything he could not give you. Look out for his column and locals elsewhere. dw

Superb Canned Fruit.

Messrs. Rush Bros. make a specialty of importing the Coleman Flag Brand of canned California fruits. These are the finest canned goods in the world. Warm Words of Commendation.

A Colborne despatch to the Empire under date of Dec. 4th, bears testimony to the high esteem in which Rev. J. C. Davidson, late of that place, now curate-in-charge of St John's, town, was held, and expresses the sense of the loss sustained by Colborne. No doubt a similar course of assiduous in before Rev. Mr. Davidson in Peterborough, and to secure the fullest measure of success, the hearty co-operation of the people is necessary. The Christian minister, who gets the loyal help and sympathy of his flock, has his hands inexpressibly strengthened for good work. The despatch referred to says:—

COLBORNE, Dec 4.—"Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector for nearly two years of the Trinity church, Colborne, has accepted a unanimous call to the church at Peterborough, whither he has gone to enter upon the discharge of his duties. On account of his gentlemanly demeanor and Christian courtesy, he was beloved by all who knew him, irrespective of denominational lines, and many are the regrets expressed because of his departure from our midst. He carries with him the best of wishes and warmest of congratulations to his new field of labor. It is not yet known who his successor will be. Mr. Davidson's talents were best seen in organization and pastoral work, and few in so short a time could have brought the church here to such a flourishing condition. While the loss of such a good and noble citizen is deplored, the church at Peterborough is to be congratulated on its good fortune in securing the service of an able Christian gentlemen, who will, no doubt, as he did here, prove a blessing to the church and community."

The Harper Block, Charlotte Street.

The new Harper block, Charlotte street, is one of the neatest, most convenient and best situated business blocks in Peterborough. It contains on the first floor three single shops, plate glass fronts, well finished and fifty feet deep. Underneath is excellent cellarage, and every required convenience. The second and third stories are devoted to dwellings. Over each shop on the second floor are situated the parlour and dining room, separated by archway; a bedrooms and kitchen with sink. On the third story are three bedrooms with closets, bathroom, water closets, etc. These rooms are all large, well lighted and well ventilated, and the dwellings are altogether, compact, comfortable and convenient. City water is laid on for the whole building, and residence on the second floor is made more convenient and comfortable than on the first floor of many dwellings. Over the arcade between the Harper and Cox blocks is a suite of four rooms, with entrance from the Cox block. The shops are well situated for business, convenient to the market square and will demand the prompt attention of business tenants. These eligible shops and connected dwellings are now ready for occupancy. Terms and other information may be had from Mr. W. Harper, Lakefield, or Mr. John Green, solicitor, Peterborough.

Real Estate Changes.

The following sales have recently been made at Mr. T. Hurley's real estate agency:—Thos. Donnelly to B. Forcier, lot on Wescott street, $100; Thos. Donnelly to Andrew Larocque, lot on Wescott street, $150; T. Hurley to Geo. J. Fleming, lot on Ludgate addition, $175; T. Hurley to W. H. Smith, lot in Ludgate addition, $175; D. J. B. Sawyer to John Dugan, lot on Gilmour street, $350, R. C. Episcopal Corporation to John Dugan, lot on Charlotte street, $225; A. Larocque to Wm. Taylor, house and lot on Lake street, $700; Wm. Leahy to T. Hurley, house and lot in Ashburnham, $670; Wm. Lasher to T. Hurley, two houses and lots on Elm street, $1,100; Patrick Shaughnessy to John Shaughnessy, 50 acres in Otonabee, $3,100; W. F. Graham to Harry Drake, implement stand, Hunter street, $1,800; W. H. Moore to Wm. Porter, 789 Water street, $1,400.

Legal Intelligence.

From the Globe's report of legal proceedings at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, Wednesday:

HILLIARD VS. BECK.—Watson, for the defendant, John Stothart, moved for leave to set the case down for the present sittings and to give notice of motion for Saturday. Judgment for the plaintiff was given by Boyd C., at Peterborough last Saturday; and the applicant desires not to be met with the objection that he should have moved in the present sittings. Leave granted as asked.

A New Hotel.

The "Carew House" has been opened in the new Halpin hotel block, Hunter street, by Mr. Jeremiah Carew, late of Ennismore. The house is now open for business. It is comfortably furnished and contains a fine lot of large, well lighted and ventilated rooms. There is splendid yard room and good sheds and stabling. Mr. Carew intends conducting the Carew House on the most approved plans, and will, doubtless, secure a large share of the public patronage.

Debate Postponed.

The Endeavor Society of Charlotte street Methodist church held their regular meeting on Monday evening last, in order to complete arrangements for the holding of the debate with the Y.P.A. of George street Methodist church. It was decided to postpone the debate until the evening of Monday, 17th. Messrs. T. Barrie and A. Tebb, with another whose name has not yet been received, will meet Messrs. Dobbin, Dixon and Pearson.

Hard on the Socials.

In his sermon on Sunday morning last, Rev. Mr. Anderson denounced in strong terms from the Methodist pulpit in Campbellford, the prevailing custom of having socials, necktie socials, auctions of cakes, raffles, horseracing and dancing, as means for raising money for church purposes. He said it was enough to make the great Jehovah blush and bleed afresh the wounds of a crucified Saviour.

The Blues' Ball

The anniversary ball of King William lodge of True Blues was held in their hall last night, and it was an unqualified success. About 35 couples were present, who spent a most enjoyable night. The committee in charge were Messrs J. Jameson, A. Manning, G. Sloane and R. Russell, floor manager. Sherwood's orchestra supplied the music and Mr. John Craig the supper.

Police Paragraphs.

P. C. Stewart has returned from his trip out to Fowld's shanties in Methuen, where, it was reported, the man Pope, wanted here for assaulting the little girl, was then working. The officer states that the report was inaccurate, the suspected person not being the one wanted.

Chief Roszel has received a letter from Charles Davis, of Furnis Falls, Snowdon Township, asking particulars regarding the death of Thos. W. Davis, in Washington Territory, which was reported in the Peterborough papers a couple of weeks ago. He believes the murdered man was his brother and asked for all the information he could get. The Chief sent him a clipping from a Wala Wala paper containing a full account of the crime and other data regarding the deceased Thos. W. Davis.

P. C. Adams sports a pair of genuine metropolitan police boots, imported direct from New York and especially adapted for policemen's use. With such good understanding at least one member of our force ought to qualify.

It was Probably a Joke.

An affair happened last night that may mean something or it may mean nothing at all. It was not reported at police headquarters, but coming to the ears of Chief Roszel, he investigated the matter. It seems that about ten o'clock half a dozen small girls were going home from the Salvation Army barracks, and when near the South Ward school were met by a strange man, who seized the oldest girl, aged about 14 years, by the arm and gruffly asked where she was going. The other girls set up a loud cry of "murder, police," etc., and fled precipitately, while the other, still detained by the fellow, was so badly frightened that she could do nothing but scream hysterically. The fellow bade her shut up and asked what she was bawling about; but as the girl continued her shouting he let her go and quickly disappeared from the neighborhood. The girl was scared completely out of her wits, and afterwards could not tell whether the man was black or white. It may have been an attempt at assault, but it was more probably the harmless joke of one of the girl's own acquaintances who thought to frighten her into keeping better hours.

Brookbank Gymnasium.

The gymnasium established by Sergt.-Major Rundle has evidently become a fixture. The building on Brock street has been fitted out completely, and classes have been organized for athletic training. Last night over twenty took part in the single stick drill, while as many more were engaged below in the gymnasium proper. A shooting gallery has also been started. Mr. Arthur Stevenson is secretary-treasurer of the institution, which is managed practically by Sergt.-Major Rundle, and financially by a committee consisting of Messrs. Tully, Montgomery, Hodge and Dixon. Though no one has yet been appointed, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun is named as the probable president. The gymnasium is a deserving institution that it is hoped will flourish and become firmly established.

Missionary Address.

A New Machine.

A radically new sewing machine, patented in November, 1887, by the Wheeler and Wilson Manufacturing Company, has just been introduced in Peterborough by E. S. Mitchell, agent, 142 Hunter street. The new machine has so many points of advantage over all others that it would require a half-column article to do justice to its many excellencies. The manufacturers challenge the world to show a machine its superior. It does perfect work on leather and stitched goods alike, and is so constructed as to secure the highest degree of durability with the greatest facility of adjustment and least liability to get out of order. Its speed and ease of running is remarkable. If the leather belt were removed from the drive-wheel, the machine runs so easily that a single thread of No. 60 cotton would furnish power to sew four ply of ordinary tweed. It is also the simplest in construction ever shown in Peterborough, and since its patent 27,555 have been sold. The works are all rotary and perfectly noiseless. The cabinet work is of the old English oak, and of handsome finish, and is supplied with a "secretary" that becomes an extension when in use. This is the machine for family use as well as for manufacturing purposes, and all persons requiring a machine could not do better than call on the agent. 4d131

The Canadian Church Magazine.

Rev. J. C. Cox is in town, soliciting subscriptions to the Canadian Church Magazine, an excellent monthly magazine, devoted to the interests of the Church of England in Canada. Its literary and typographical merits make it worthy of the support of church people, while its ecclesiastical merits are attested by the following commendations:—

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600.00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $192,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,000 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in surplus.
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	196,188 29	1,167,388 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 21	2,982,924 80
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 80	475,007 24	4,023,373 85
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 45	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

The Battle Raging!

VICTORY ON OUR SIDE.

Reinforcements Still Coming Up—The Greatest Success Ever Achieved by any Company in a Hand-to-Hand Conflict—We Cut and Slash to Pieces the Bar of High Prices.

We make the Enemy take Back Water, and we send our Large Parcels out daily to the Honest Public. Last week's Trade far ahead of anything we expected.

Our Store is like an Auction Room on Market Days, and the Best of all the Public is delighted. The people say who see our Goods, "where do you steal them," but we answer, we don't steal them, but we buy right and therefore can sell right. Of course, we have no two thousand dollars rent to pay; no three thousand five hundred dollar salaries to pay; no sixteen hundred dollars for printing, but we cut down expenses, and sell right in for quick sales and small profits, and the public are appreciating our mode of doing business, by flocking in and buying where they can get dollars' worth for dollar every time. We are still ahead and intend to keep ahead, come what may.

We will have EXTRA HELP ON FOR SATURDAY, so you will not have to wait toe b served as you have done before. Come early and secure THE BEST BARGAINS OF THE SEASON.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Clothe are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if fulled. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

THE PROPOSED RAILWAY TO JAMES' BAY BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT.

Toronto Talking About the Jeffery Case — Taking the Veil — A Terrible Death in the Ice — News of the Dominion.

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—The leading topic of conversation yesterday, in church circles at least, was the Jeffery case. There were really no new developments, but it is said that the pastor of the Western Methodist Church twice tendered his resignation. The first time it was refused and on the second occasion it was discussed and the decision thereon postponed.

The Attorney-General and four members of his cabinet—A. S. Hardy, C. F. Fraser, A. M. Ross and Charles Drury—were busy all of yesterday receiving deputations, an important one being President W. B. McMurrich and other directors of the Lake Nipissing and James Bay Railway. Hon. John B. Robertson and Edward Wragge of the Grand Trunk were also present. The object of the deputation was to urge upon the Government a grant in aid of the proposed road to James Bay. The Attorney-General did not intimate to the deputation what effect the conference had upon the Government.

The session of the Grand Division of Ontario, Sons of Temperance, was resumed yesterday. The forenoon was principally taken up by a review of the secret work of the order. In the afternoon the reports of the different committees were received. The finance report showed the receipts during the year ending June 30, 1888, to be $2017, with a balance on hand from the previous year of $88, making in all $2105. The expenditure during the year was $1,633, leaving a balance of $472.

Dr. John Valentine's troubles have seriously impaired his health. He was in a very feeble state when removed from his home to the jail, and the terrible developments in the Charlton murder case have not tended to improve his condition. He is now being treated in the jail hospital. Dr. Richardson thinks that he will be able to appear at the inquest on Monday night.

The grand jury yesterday returned a true bill against "Phip" Spohn for keeping a gambling house.

James Crawford, a farmer from the County of Grey, was robbed of a big roll of bills in a disreputable resort yesterday. The inmates were arrested and Crawford was held as a witness.

TAKING THE VEIL.

Impressive Ceremony at St. Joseph's Convent, Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Dec. 7.—At St. Joseph's Convent yesterday morning was witnessed one of the most interesting religious ceremonies of the Catholic Church—the reception and profession of nuns. Mass was celebrated by Very Reverend Vicar-General Heenan, and Rev. Father Plant, S. J., preached the sermon. The ceremony of reception was performed by Vicar-General Heenan, after which the names in religion were received as follows: Miss Kehoe of Kincardine, Sister Mary Clementina; Miss Padden of Hamilton, Sister Mary Hecla; Miss Keane of Alma, Sister Mary Benigna; Miss Foley of Morriston, Sister Mary Eucheria; Miss Long of Hamilton, Sister Martina. Sister Mary Angela (formerly Miss Cahill of Brantford) and Sister Joseph a (Miss Davis of Arthur), who had served the allotted term of novice, then advanced to the altar with lighted tapers in their hands, and in a clear and distinct voice made their final vow of poverty, chastity and obedience, and were professed as sisters of St. Joseph for life.

Laurence C. Dunn appeared in the dock at the Police Court yesterday forenoon charged with stealing $25 belonging to the E. & C. Gurney Co. He pleaded guilty and his counsel told the court that the young man was a stranger in Hamilton; he had just come from Dundas and had committed the offence while drunk. As he had made full restitution the Magistrate recorded the sentence of guilty and let him go, on promising to reform.

At the Police Court yesterday morning Joseph Waddington and Charles Reed of Brantford, were charged with clandestinely removing certain goods and chattels belonging to John Dunn, from 190 Hudson-street north, to prevent T. H. Stinson from distraining for arrears for rent. The Magistrate reserved his decision until Monday.

Last night Herbert Waddington was married to Edna Dell Judd at the residence of the bride's father, 4 Pine-street.

The County Council spent most of yesterday discussing the resolution to raise the tolls on all county roads, but no action was taken.

The Art Fair continues to be a success and to prevent overcrowding last night the doors were closed when 2500 had entered.

A PECULIAR LAW SUIT.

The Widow of Jack Kehoe's Victim Seeks Damages for Her Husband's Death.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—Dame Margaret Dunphy, widow of late Thos. Donnelly, the victim of murderer Jack Kehoe, has taken an action for $1900 against the latter's father, Lawrence Kehoe. There was no marriage contract between Jack Kehoe's father and mother and he as only child became heir to her portion of the community when she died. By the sentence of death passed upon him Jack Kehoe lost all his civil rights, and his father entered upon his estate with all its liabilities. For this reason the present action is now taken against Lawrence Kehoe to recover damages on account of the death of his son's victim.

All Buried in One Grave.

QUEBEC, Dec. 7.—Five men left Gaspe basin in a small flat boat for their homes on Dartmouth River. Two of them landed on the way, but the other three—Fourniers, father, son and nephew—more daring than wise, proceeded on. When night overtook them sharp floating ice cut the flat boat, which filled with water. Those on shore made efforts to rescue them; but without success, owing to the danger of the sharp ice cutting the boats. At daylight the three stalwart men were seen lying dead in the flat. The nephew of the elder man was to have been married shortly. All were buried in one grave.

An Expensive Elevator Trip.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—A telegram was received by the police authorities yesterday from Louis Schelsinger, now at Toronto, saying that whilst in this city Wednesday he lost $300. Schelsinger, who resides in New York, went up in the elevator of the new building of the New York Life Insurance Company, and thinks that the roll fell from his pockets when he was on the hoist. Detective Parrett made an examination of the premises but no money was found.

"Canada's Future Destiny."

INGERSOLL, Dec. 7.—At the Town Hall last night Mr. J. M. Clark, ex-President of the Toronto Liberal Club, and Col. G. T. Denison, Police Magistrate of Toronto, delivered addresses on the "Future Destiny of Canada." Mr. Walsh, President of the Ingersoll branch of the Imperial Federation League, occupied the chair. Both speakers argued enthusiastically in favor of Imperial Federation.

Desperate Strikers.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7. The strike movement is increasing and strikers are everywhere becoming reckless. An attempt was made yesterday to wreck a train on the Halloovre Juste Railway, dynamite cartridges being placed on the track. Fortunately the cartridges were discovered in time to prevent a disaster. An attempt to blow up a manufactory at Morlanweix with dynamite also failed.

RUSSELL ELECTION CASE.

IT IS SAID THE PETITION HAS BEEN WITHDRAWN.

Two Hundred Varieties of Grain Harvested on the Central Farm—Petitions for Scott Act Repeal in Carleton.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—It is understood that the Russell election case has been settled by the withdrawal of the petitions against Mr. Edwards, the sitting member, and Mr. C. H. Macintosh, who opposed him.

Professor Saunders at the Central Experimental Farm left for the west last night to examine the stock to be placed on the farm next spring. He says about 200 varieties of grain were harvested on the Central Farm and are now being threshed out.

Petitions for the repeal of the Scott Act are being circulated for signatures in the county of Carleton.

The Hull City Council has decided to issue $120,000 of 4 per cent. debentures with which to pay off the floating debt of $70,000 and provide for the extension of waterworks and other improvements. The Banque Ville Marie has been asked to make an offer for the debentures.

Senator Alexander has written to a friend here to say that ill health will prevent him attending the coming session.

Senator John Sherman, writing to the editor of The Free Press regarding the Congress of Nations at Washington in 1889, says: "I think there is no doubt that the presence of delegates from the Dominion of Canada at the proposed conference of American States would be very acceptable and very proper, but I do not see how it could be done, except with the consent or appointment of Great Britain. Our Government could not with due respect to Great Britain hold any formal political relation with the Dominion Government, a necessary result of the dependence of Canada upon Great Britain but which no doubt could be waived by the present Government."

TILBURY MURDER CASE.

Some Strong Evidence Given Against the Prisoner Todd Quick.

CHATHAM, Dec. 7.—The preliminary trial of Todd Quick of Colchester, for the murder of Wilson Holton in Tilbury on July 16, began before Police Magistrate Houston yesterday. The prisoner was defended by Mr. Fegley of Chatham, and Mr. McHugh of Windsor. Mr. Douglas, Q. C., conducted the prosecution. Dr. Ellis and Dr. Bell repeated the evidence given at the inquest, as did Thomas Morris, at whose house Holton died.

James Mulder, colored, swore that on the night of Sunday, July 15, Quick took a livery rig from the stable of James Drummond of Harrow. He brought it back on Tuesday morning, and was then dressed in a brown sheeted suit, with light felt hat. Prisoner had several interviews with witness, asking him to deny that prisoner had the rig away. He got him to go to Mr. Bell, J.P., to make an affidavit that prisoner never hired a rig from Drummond. For this he was promised $50. Prisoner said if it were known he would get into trouble and have to tell who murdered Holton. A rigid cross-examination failed to shake his testimony materially.

Alfred Hodgkins lived about a mile from Holton. About 4 o'clock on the day of the murder prisoner called and asked for oats and water for his horse. Hodgkins positively identified Quick as the man, and his description of the horse and rig tallied to a hair. He had identified the horse in Drummond's stable. Prisoner left between 5 and 6; did not see him again until Tuesday, when he recognised him at once.

Matthew Burdan and John Hodgkins corroborated the evidence of the last witness, and identified the prisoner.

John and Jeremiah McMahen, who lived near Holton's, saw the rig pass between 7 and 8 o'clock on the evening of the murder. The former heard the shots and cries about nine, and ran towards Holton's. Saw a top buggy turn the corner and drive rapidly away.

Maggie Beno, a little girl, identified the prisoner as a man who asked her for a pail of water about 8 o'clock on the evening of the murder. There was another man in the buggy with him, who were overalls. She described the buggy as a top one with red wheels.

At the request of the Crown a remand was granted till Monday, when a further remand for a week will take place.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE ACT.

The Amendment Passed at the Last Session to Have Effect.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—It will be remembered that last session an act was passed further to amend the law respecting procedure in criminal cases. It is a brief measure, but has an important bearing on the class of cases mentioned in the title, prohibiting, as it does, an appeal to any court or authority in the United Kingdom in any criminal case. A good deal of interest was manifested in the bill by constitutional lawyers as it was going through Parliament, as its undoubted tendency was to deprive the Crown of one of its prerogatives, and some doubts were expressed as to the ultimate fate of the measure when it reached the Mother Country. These doubts have, however, been set at rest within the past few days by the receipt of a despatch from the Imperial authorities intimating that Her Majesty will not be advised to disallow the Act in question. The last great criminal appeal to England, it will be remembered, was that of Louis Riel. Should it unfortunately happen hereafter that any man finds himself with the capital sentence hanging over his head, and desires to appeal his case, he will have to be content with the Dominion courts, being now debarred by the Act referred to from carrying the case to England.

FIVE PERSONS BURNT TO DEATH.

Terrible Holocaust in a Morris Township Log Cabin—Died for Her Child.

BLYTH, Dec. 7.—Michael Dwyer's house in Morris Township was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. His wife and her daughter Mrs. Clannan, and the latter's three children were burned to death. Mr. Dwyer and one child escaped, but were badly burned. The fire started from an ash-barrel at the side of the house where the window was. Mrs. Clannan perished in attempting to rescue another child. Mr. Clannan is in the States. The house was constructed of logs and was completely destroyed.

The G. T. R. Freight Shed at Guelph Burned.

GUELPH, Dec. 7.—The Grand Trunk freight shed was totally destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The building was a very large wooden one and contained a great quantity of freight nearly all of which was destroyed. Six cars loaded with general freight were also totally consumed.

GENEVA, Ill., Dec. 7.—The trial of John H. Bauerisco, chief of the alleged Burlington dynamite conspirators, was begun yesterday.

The Yellow Fever Record.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 7.—There were no new cases of yellow fever yesterday, and no deaths. Total cases 4004, total d 412

LOQUACIOUS LABOUCHERE

IN 23 DAYS OF THE SESSION HE HAS MADE 43 SPEECHES.

Mr. Chaplin, M. P., Says the Block of Public Business in Parliament is Caused by Certain Members Talking Too Much.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—In the House of Commons last night, Edward Harrington asked Mr. Balfour whether there was any guarantee that persons collecting evidence in Ireland for the Parnell Commission would not be interfered with by the police.

Mr. Balfour replied that no one would be prevented from collecting evidence.

Mr. Labouchere moved an adjournment in order to discuss the present state of public business. It was a question, he maintained, that Parliament was still debating the estimates. He denied that it had been due to obstruction for there had been none by the Opposition.

Henry Chaplin said that it was not surprising that Mr. Labouchere felt it necessary to revert to the matter of blocking public business. The real cause of the block was the fact that certain members insisted upon talking to such an extent that if all availed themselves of the same right it would render business impossible. Five members of the Opposition had within 23 working days of the session made 183 speeches. Mr. Labouchere himself made 43 speeches and those illustrious members, Messrs. Conybeare and Tanner, made 20 and 38 respectively. ["Hear, Hear"].

Mr. Smith declared that the discussion on the estimates had exceeded all previous experience and that the Government would be compelled to make new arrangements in order to take up the estimates earlier in the session.

The motion was withdrawn.

When the vote for criminal prosecutions in Ireland came up for discussion Sir William Vernon Harcourt commented strongly on criminal procedure in Ireland, where he said the Queen's subjects might be slain almost with impunity. The Government in addition to failing to institute an enquiry placed every obstacle in the way of an inquiry being made. Refuting similar charges brought by Mr. Balfour against the Gladstonian Government, the speaker said that even if the charges were true it would only prove that the traditions of the Irish Government had always been evil.

Mr. Balfour adhered to his statement against the Gladstone Government. He contended that coroners' juries in Ireland were often nothing but a conspiracy to assassinate and that the Government would be party to that conspiracy if when they knew a jury to be corrupt they allowed the matter to go on. He concluded by vigorously denouncing agitators who incited the people to attack the police.

Mr. Dillon challenged Mr. Balfour to prove the latter assertion by a single instance.

The chairman here interposed, saying the gentlemen were digressing from the subject under consideration.

Mr. Shaw-Lefever (Lib.) moved to reduce the vote for criminal prosecutions. He criticised as unjust convictions for boycotting in cases where conspiracy had not been proved.

His motion was rejected 167 to 76.

The Ashbourne Bill Passed by the Peers

LONDON, Dec. 7.—In the House of Lords yesterday, the Ashbourne Bill passed its third reading.

The Power of Sympathy.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—John Dillon, replying to an address presented by 155 Liberal members of the House of Commons, said the sympathy of the Liberals would do more than all the hangmen to abolish agrarian crime in Ireland.

Henry George's Fad.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The first annual meeting of the united committee on the taxation of ground rent and values was convened in the Westminster Palace Hotel last evening. Lord Hobhouse acted as chairman, and Earl Compt, one of the largest landowners of London, was asked to accept the permanent presidency. It was resolved that taxation was unjust unless it were based upon the true value imparted to the land by improvements. The convention was addressed by Mr. Henry George and other prominent exponents of the principle of single tax.

U. S. Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—A resolution continuing the select committee on the relations with Canada was reported back in the Senate yesterday from committee and adopted. The Senate resumed consideration of the tariff bill and reached about the middle of Schedule C when an adjournment was taken till Monday.

Senator Blair (Rep., N.H.) introduced a bill providing that there shall be established by the President, on the recommendation of the Commissioner of Labor, throughout the United States in geographical sections which shall include a population of not less than 100,000 nor more than 2,000,000 inhabitants, bureaus of information relating to employment, occupations, wants, means of livelihood and homes. It is made the duty of these bureaus to gather complete and reliable information relative to the people, the wages, the homes, the opportunities for employment, and in general everything relating to or that may be of interest to working people.

Brampton's Jack the Ripper.

BRAMPTON, Dec. 7.—For several days some disreputable scoundrel has been masquerading as a local Jack the Ripper, grabbing ladies who happen to be out late and making indecent proposals to them. He appears nightly dressed in various disguises. The young men of the town have formed themselves into a vigilance committee and promise the rascal a dress of tar and feathers if they catch him.

Jay Gould's Latest Gobble.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The impression in financial circles here is that the rumor that Jay Gould has secured control of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad is founded on facts. A gentleman connected with Mr. Gould's office said last night: "I have heard it at intervals during the past month. It is my experience that very few people will know who control the road until the books are closed."

Dr McBrien's Disappearance.

OSHAWA, Dec. 7.—The excitement over the disappearance of Dr. McBrien who skipped out the other day, still continues. It is said that his liabilities are between $40,000 and $60,000 and a number of people here lose heavily.

Looking After the Canal.

DETROIT, Dec. 7.—R. C. Parsons of Cleveland is in Washington advocating an appropriation of $150,000 for the St. Clair flats canal. He is also interested in securing $150,000 for the improvement of Grosse Pointe channel.

Death of a Huron Pioneer.

BRUCEFIELD, Dec. 7.—John Rattenbury, aged 83, one of Huron's oldest settlers, died yesterday. He was greatly respected.

Servia's New Constitution.

BELGRADE, Dec. 7.—The new Servian constitution declares the kingdom hereditary with popular representation, and the religion Greek, with the Eastern Servian Church autocephalous. The electoral franchise is granted to persons paying direct taxes of 15 divars yearly (the divar being equal to a French franc.) The tribunals are to be independent and the judges are to be irremovable. Military service is made

CAULD HAIL HET UP AGAIN.

Brither Scots, it was a strange text that our President gave to me;
It was "Cauld hail het up again" I was to give to thee.
Behold him in that honored chair as I present the door—
He rubs his hands, he screws his face, and closes his nose.
His text to you seems mystified; to me it plain appears—
He wished me to compose a piece from dregs of former years.
He might have known a sterling fleet on low would never sleep.
To jar your ear with polished up rhyme or mouth with twice-hot soup.
The pot is fit to hang on the crook with water to the brim,
Meat, onions, leeks and curley greens as thick as they can swim,
Turnips and carrots nicely sliced, barley stripped of the husk—
Three hours brisk boiling, and they lift off a pot o' guid Scotch kail.
The plates are filled, the grace is said, now fierce is the attack,
The horn spoons flutter up and down till skins are like to crack.
Keen appetites sharp conflict end, they rise, yea, twice as large,
And still the kail-pot, quite half full, awaits the second charge.
The careful, thrifty wife knows well it must not go to waste.
Next day that pot with the cauld kail upon the fire is placed;
The same routine of plates and spoons, with guid man's solemn brain,
With scowls and frowns the bairnies cupped "cauld kail het up again."
Our President is not allowed to dictate to a bard;
To-night I will reverse his text, though he may think it hard.
Instead of kail I make it love—it sounds like awe or bliss—
It is auld love stirred up again by Scottish nights like this.
It bursts the love-valves of your heart, closed by time's passing hand,
Swift on thought's pinions bears you back into your native land.
To-night, in thought, you stand within that auld straw-covered cot,
With auld clay floor—snug ingleside, your birth place; dear, loved spot!
Upon that floor you oft have knelt to lisp your evening prayer
Beside a loving mother's knee—but now she is not there.
She sowed the seeds to guide your life, no matter where you roam,
If they took root increase their growth, religion, God and home.
Your heart bound back unto the time when you were but a boy,
When Mither dressed you up in your first suit of corduroy
The sports, the plays, the comrades true, when hearts were young and light,
In fancy you their faces see, their laughter hear to night.
Sweet memories of your manhood years rise fresh before your view;
With pride to constitute a man, your beard just peeping through.
Some fair one seat darts through your heart like arrows from a bow;
You almost feel her lips to-night pressed fifty years ago.
Look round this board, behold those Scots, their hairs are almost white—
Ask them the power of auld Scotch love, and how they feel to night
In words and cheers, and smiling face, their answer is expressed—
They hold their breasts to stop their hearts from bursting through their vest.
As thirsty travelers leap with joy when they a spring have found,
So Scot's hearts swell with joy each time St. Andrew's night comes round.
Old recollections rise afresh from long forgetfulness,
Love's dying embers burst to flames, kindled by sights like this;
Dim eyes grow bright, old hearts feel young, as Scotia the, extol,
The braid Scotch speech, the auld Scotch sangs electrify their soul.
Fond memory grasps the joys of yore, and holds them to their view
The oil of love flows o'er their hearts and makes their auld love new.
We are not called like those of old to sit by Babel's streams,
And weep for that dear land we left, nor start in troubled dreams,
Nor sit in grief upon the banks where the Otonabee flows,
And hang the bagpipes up to waste upon the cedar boughs.
But we are bound by ties to love the land that gave us birth,
And cherish home, not bathed in tears, but joyful social mirth.
Him that forgets his place of birth, or scorns it to recall,
To national love his soul is dead—if he has one at all
For this is piety, Scots and home, garlands of love entwine,
Around this board join right and left and sing us Auld Lang Syne.
The bagpipes skirl; the haggis guid, the King of puddin' fame;
Has kindled auld love up again; now Scots sing canie hame.

"Barley sheaf and long beard taken off.

TOAST—"MINE HOST AND HOSTESS."

Sir, I indeed feel sadly lost
In rising to propose this toast.
Appropriate words I cannot find,
Nor language to express my mind.

I wrecked my brain, I stretched my nerves
For sentiments this toast deserves;
Vain empty fancy me deceived,
And left my head both null and void.

I knew each one around this board
Will join with me in one accord,
For sight and taste (the proper test)
Pronounce this one of Morgan's best.

The room with decorations grand,
Tables with fare could scarcely stand;
To-night mine host prov-s to a dot
How well he knows to please a Scot.

The bounteous spread the handsome style—
To view it made each guest to smile;
The sight was grand—Lucullan bowls
Soon charged upon the roasts and fowls.

We know you always felt a pride
To show Scots how you could provide;
I speak it now, I heard it said,
This coat all peat ones in the shade.

If one to-night goes hungry home,
He surely has himself to blame;
Your sumptuous spread required no theft—
Enough for all, abundance left.

Mine host, we praise you, but don't laugh—
Much more is due your better half;
You give directions—lend a smile—
But she has all the work and toil.

You ordered all first-class supplies,
But woman's hands them beautifies;
She oft improves on your direction—
She gives the final touch, perfection.

Long may you both live to cater
For Scots love to assemble here;
Your splendid fare, with smiles so bright,
Has captivated Scots to-night.

To-night the Scott Act's out in force—
No glass, but cheer till you are hoarse—
Well pleased with fare, and when it next comes round,
I now propose "Mine Host and Hostess."

A Lively Fusillade.

LANSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 7.—An effort was made last night to arrest Hanison Hogan, a wealthy farmer three miles above Sellersville, Ind., on the warrant sworn out by his divorced wife. He took refuge on a flat boat in the river where he had a barricade well stocked with arms and ammunition and defied Deputy Sheriffs Link and Howell. A fight ensued, Hogan using a shot gun and firing through loopholes in his barricade, and the officers their revolvers from a drift pile on the bank. At night they went into the woods on the bank for consultation. Hogan got quietly ashore and surprised them with a shot into a clump of bushes where they were building a fire. They took refuge behind trees and the fight continued until Hogan got the drop on Howell when an armistice was agreed upon. The officers returned to Jeffersonville and a party of four were sent out to make the arrest. They had not succeeded at last accounts.

The Boy Murderer.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The boy Husband, who was arrested on a charge of killing another boy named Searle in the streets of Havant, near Portsmouth a few days ago, has been fully committed for trial for murder. Husband is only 11 years of age and his presumed victim was three years younger. The evidence against Husband is not very strong, but the fact that he was the first to notify the police that Searle was lying in the street with his throat cut was regarded as

3RD, THIRTY DAYS TO DO IT IN!

WE FACE YOU WITH THESE 3 FACTS.

We tell you calmly that there's no blowing or Catchpenny wind about the statement. Its the cold blooded iron-rock truth. We've got to unload! There's no doubt of that, and mind you the essence of our unloading is TIME, what we can get for the goods is a Secondary Consideration. Do you realize that? If you do, you seize your opportunity, if you don't see it, take our word for it. Our lease of the SHEPPARD store expires on January 1st, we've got to dispose of the stock by that time, the best way to dispose of it is to throw it out at your own price, and that's what we are going to do. It's easier to move in Segments than by the Cartload. Will you help us? It'll pay you, we'll make it pay you, we'll compel you to pay yourself. With the alternative of either selling or moving the stock staring us in the face, we've settled down to the fact that grit will tell, and we're going to whack out the goods until every Mother's Son in the Country has his arms full of bargains.

On SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1st, and for the following days, we throw at your doors clear-grained benefits from the SHEPPARD BANKRUPT STOCK of $18000 worth of goods, New, Choice, and Fresh, and selling at 50c on the dollar. We leave it to you to name the prices, we go farther! We will absolutely give you goods at your own figures! Bear in mind that 30 days finishes the sale in the present premises.

Canada and Australia.

The Observations of a Visit to Australia

Rev. D. V. Lucas lectured to a good sized audience in the school room of the George street Methodist church last night, Rev. G. H. Davis presiding. The subject of Rev. Mr. Lucas' address was his recent visit to the Antipodes, during which he has made many personal observations and studied the different aspects of the country. He entertained the audience most profitably for a couple of hours. After a few preliminary remarks he pointed out that the Australians have vast resources, and producing things we may need. He found they were in need of lumber for house building, etc., and that at present this necessary commodity is bought from the Baltic. He had asked them why they did not go to Canada where they could get lumber that was lumber, and he was glad to have heard since that time that they were getting lumber from Canada. They also used pitch-forks, hoes, shovels, &c., bearing the American mark and he had told them that they could get all those thing in Canada, and he felt sure they would do so as soon as the government put on the new line of steamers from Vancouver to Queensland and Brisbane. Canada could get from Australia raw sugar and bananas, the latter marvellously cheap, and as the manufacturers of Canada increased they could get lots of wool and in exchange send timber, as the Australians had none of any use at all. In portions of Australia the soil was as fruitful as anywhere in the world, but in some districts a man must have 2,000 acres of land to keep his family. The per acre was nine bushels, as against seventeen in Canada. This was due to a great extent to the unreliable rainfall and the weak soil, the average acre in Australia not being nearly as good as the average acre in Canada. Now, against some of the Australian products, Canada could balance lumber and fish and apples, as, although the Australians produced some good apples, they were not up to the Canadian. They, in return for apples, could send lemons, oranges, grapes and small fruits. After a few further remarks, the lecturer undertook a more minute description of the country. For some time he edified the audience with a description of the queer habits pertaining to the native Australians, of whom there were about 50,000, with about 200 distinct dialects; of the queer animals and birds, now and again telling a very witty anecdote, which convulsed the house. At the close of his lecture he introduced to the notice of the audience a book written by himself on Australia, which comprised a comprehensive report of his observations and discoveries.

AVERAGE PRODUCE OF WHEAT

Afterwards a vote of thanks was moved to the lecturer by Rev. M. L. Pearson, seconded by Mr. A. Rutherford, and carried with hearty applause.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FISHERMEN'S LUCK, ETC.—How are the mighty fallen! A few days ago a large hunting party, comprising a number of sportsmen of repute who pride themselves on what they can accomplish in the chase, returned from a few weeks' hunting expedition in the vicinity of Eagle Lake. But, alack and alas, to their chagrin, no doubt, they were able to bring back but one poor little fawn and a few fish. They only shot one deer, and that got away from them and was not found until too badly spoiled to be of any use. And to rub it in, as it were, they had to "borrow" half the carcass of a bear from a neighboring camp to feed their dogs, promising to return its value in fish. But they had no better luck at fishing, very few of the finny tribe being tempted by their hooks, and these unhappy hunters very generously forgot their obligation and brought these few home. Verily, these mighty hunters must have forgotten their cunning—or perhaps the wily deer remembering the destruction they had created in past years, formed a "combine" and put up a job on them by resolving to boycott them entirely.

Benefort.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. R. Jackson and others recently noticed the flight of a very large bird about the mouth of the river, which they claim is an eagle. A fine specimen was shot a few years since near Hastings and if this one stays a while, it is more than propable, he will soon be amongst the stuffed curiosities.

Mr. W. Fisher had six valuable sheep destroyed by dogs a few days ago. The ours completed their sport by worying two and frightening four others into the lake, where they were drowned. There was no doubt as to the offenders, and they were speedily put out of the way by the owners.

Local politics move slowly towards another election. Our present reeve intends to be again a candidate. His opponent resides in the same concession, and is a popular member of the council. Matters are pretty quiet comparatively, but it is expected that voters will nearly all make their mark in favor of their choice of the men.

At the next meeting of the Literary Society, Thursday evening, 6th inst., the debaters are expected to distinguish between the properties of land plaster and salt in promoting vegetable growth. The debates are gaining popularity, and their influence is no less profitable to their supporters than interesting to the audience. There are now quite a number in the society, and becoming a member is similar to a guarantee to act, and this ensures a varied and interesting programmes.

Removal Sale.

W. J. Green, having decided to remove to more convenient premises on Hunter street, will, for the next few days, give great bargains, so as to reduce his stock. Gents' tweed suits, gents' fine suits, gents' underclothing, gents' shirts, collars, ties, etc., etc.; gents' hats, this season's stock; also big bargains in tweeds, worsteds, nap and beaver overcoats, (cut and finish guaranteed) at specially reduced rates. Now is the time to order your clothing, and especially overcoats, as this is a genuine sale. Liquor tea notice. I will clear out my entire stock of the famous Liquor teas at one-half price, as I will not have space for them in my new premises. Parties holding vouchers will please call at once and get their prizes. Opposite the town clock, George street. Marriage licenses issued by W. J. Green, merchant tailor. dw

Turnbull has piles of remnants of mantle cloths which will be sold at decided bargains. Call early and secure some of them. dw

HE BLAMES HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

She Separated Him from his Bride and He Stole Bicycles and Broke Jail

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y., Dec. 7.—Ashley B. Johnson, alias A. H. Mackey, who was arrested here last June for stealing a bicycle and broke jail Sept. 1, has just been recaptured at Syracuse, and is now entertaining people with an account of his checkered career. He is 21 years old. In March, 1886, he was studying law with his stepfather's firm, Johnston & Aikin, in Auburn. He had fallen in love with pretty Catharine Mettlock, a 16-year-old German girl of a Catholic family, and although the marriage was opposed on religious grounds, the couple were married by Father Constantine Ulrich at the priest's house. They lived together only a week, and to their separation, brought about by mother-in-law influence, Johnson attributes his subsequent downfall. He gave up his law studies and took up draw poker with such success that last summer he was apprehended at Little Falls for swindling a number of prominent men of the town. He broke out of the village lockup and escaped with the aid of a stolen horse.

The next news of him came from Rochester, whither he escaped from the clutches of the law on a stolen bicycle, which he pawned at the first opportunity. In June he came to Canandaigua, gained the confidence of a dentist, stole the latter's bicycle and was arrested after he had been severely injured by a header from the wheel, and just as he was preparing to raffle the bicycle off at a ball. After escaping from jail he went on foot to Seneca Falls and thence resumed his flight with a livery rig, which he tried vainly to dispose of at Cortland. After narrowly escaping recapture there he went to Pennsylvania, and soon found himself behind the bars. A third jail delivery was added to his record. After a season of operations in Philadelphia, New York and Albany he showed up at the Burns Hotel in Syracuse, gorgeously dressed and apparently in affluent circumstances. He was there rearrested by officers from Canandaigua.

Papers have been served on him in an action to annul the marriage with Catharine Mettlock on the ground that duress was exercised and that the young girl knew nothing of the nature of the proceedings. Father Ulrich has been severely censured for performing the ceremony.

Edwin Forrest's Secret.

The great tragedian, had a secret which everybody ought to learn and profit by. Said he, "I owe all my success to the fact that everything I have undertaking I have done thoroughly. I never neglect trifles." That's the point—don't neglect trifles. Don't neglect that hacking cough, those nights sweats, that feeble and capricious appetite, and the other symptoms, trifling in themselves, but awful in their significance. They herald the approach of consumption. You are in danger, but you can be saved. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will restore you to health and vigor, as it has thousands of others. For all scrofulous diseases, and consumption is one of them, it is a sovereign remedy. b

Grand Results.

For several years R. H. Brown, of Kincardine, suffered from dyspepsia, he says he tried several physicians and a host of remedies with out relief. His druggist recommended B. B. B. which he declares produced "grand results," for which he gives it his highest recommendation. 2w49d

DARING AND SUFFERING.

Seated in comparatively comfortable cars, with no ropes or irons upon us, and but a weak guard, and with deep peace and content in our hearts, we glided out of the rebel capital—to see it no more till all that had belonged to rebel power had passed away "Like the baseless fabric of a vision, and left not a wreck behind." The unwonted light dazzled our eyes. The motion of the cars was an intoxication. This was happiness indeed. The thoughts and visions of the night were lived over again in scarcely less bright waking dreams. I tried to look at the country through which we were passing, but my preoccupation was so great that I could scarcely see it at all.

Petersburg was reached with no notable incident; then after but a short detention we moved on toward City Point. As the train passed around a curve about 11 o'clock we saw a very large steamboat in the river; we had seen none such since we left our own Ohio. But there was something still better than the boat. Waving over it in the morning breeze was the "Flag of the free." I seized the comrade next me and shouted, "Hurrah, boys; hurrah! there's our flag!" They needed no prompting; indeed some in the forward cars had seen it sooner than I had. Cheer after cheer went up from the whole train; some of the guards were discontented at our vehemence and said, "Stop that noise, there's no use in making such a fuss;" but we did not stop. This was the first time we had seen that banner for eleven long months, and it meant to us life, home, freedom, country—everything which men love; and tears and shouts intermingled till we drew up at the station but a short distance from the truce boat State of Maine.

From its side issued a long procession of prisoners, 350 in number, who did not seem to be nearly so much rejoiced as we were. They were formed in line, and there was a calling of names, a checking of lists, with inquiries about special officers, for what seemed to me a long time. Some disputes arose, but I could not catch the words, and could only pray silently that all might be arranged in such manner as to prevent the necessity of our going back to Richmond. I remember somewhat dimly the picture presented immediately at the wharf under the sunshine of that March day! Of more distant objects I have no recollection whatever. In fact, I was dazed almost equally by the brightness of open daylight and by the happy coming of this long expected day. I could not, however, help being struck by the contrast between the sets of prisoners. Those on the Confederate side looked strong and hearty; their clothing was whole, neat and clean; but on our side all the number were in the last extremity of raggedness, dirt and emaciation. I have totally forgotten whether any breakfast was given us that morning or not—a matter of small moment when we had been obliged to starve through so many longer journeys.

WILLIAM FITTENGER.

While the wrangling over details was still going on, without, as far as we could see, any prospect of termination, the order was suddenly given us to "Go on board." Most promptly it was obeyed. It meant a great deal for us to be actually under the Stars and Stripes once more. But not till the boat cast loose and swung into the stream did we count ourselves truly out of Confederate hands.

Then, too, the hearty welcome with which we were greeted; the good cheer, so different from our miserable prison fare, and the kind faces smiling all around, showed in living colors that we were free men again.

In regard to food, the great difficulty now was one we had not encountered for a year past—that of over eating! A year's famine had made us terribly hungry, and we received cautions on this point which were not unneedful. Nothing in the rations were more enjoyed than the tin cup of good coffee which was given to us all—genuine coffee was something which we had not tasted inside the rebel lines—and I am not certain that I have found any as good since! No place on the boat seemed more homelike than the engine room, where I sat and ate slowly for a long time. The working of the strong machinery which seemed impelling us lovingly homeward was about as much company as I wanted for the time.

Down the river we went in a delirious dream of rapture! We were scarcely conscious of passing events. Probably no emotion on earth has greater sweep and intensity than the wild throbbing sensations that rush thick and fast through the bosom of the liberated captive.

CHAPTER XXVII.

REPORTING TO SECRETARY STANTON AND PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

I have forgotten almost everything that took place on this homeward voyage, if, indeed, my mind was not too nearly in the condition of a waking trance to receive definite impressions. I saw some of the great gunboats as we drew near the mouth of James river, which looked like grim sentinels guarding the avenue to rebellion. We were furnished comfortable blankets, and when tired out, as much by unwonted emotions as by physical effort, we could lie down and slumber at our will.

We arrived in Washington late in the afternoon—I know not of what day, but presume it was the day after leaving Richmond, which would be Thursday, March 19. I made no memoranda at this time, such as I had not failed to keep during the darkest parts of our history. In my own experience joy was more overpowering than sorrow.

After supper we took our postponed walk. But once outside in the dark street, with no place to go, no money to buy anything and nobody to care for us, it began to seem rather lonely. We had been objects of so much solicitude for so long that we could scarcely help feeling a little neglected now that nobody prevented us from wandering in any direction we chose. Beside, we were not yet provided with new clothing. A regular requisition would have to be filled before our wants in that direction could be supplied; and the air was chilly. After wandering aimlessly for a few squares, looking in at the shop windows and staring at the great buildings, we turned and were soon back in the barracks. The room, which was well warmed, seemed very cosy. It was easy to consider the sentinels at the door as placed there to guard us from an enemy, a view of the case which greatly pleased the Turnbetsetse. I really think we slept better than we would have done at a first class hotel.

The next day, as I had expected, all restrictions were removed from the other members of the party; but we were invited to make our home at the barracks, receiving regular soldiers' rations, as long as convenient.

Church Notes.

The Mill street Presbyterian church, Port Hope, have raised the salary of their pastor, Rev. Wm. McWilliam, to $1,000.

Rev. Mr. Jaffrey, pastor of the Western Methodist church, Toronto, has finally resigned.

To-morrow the Feast of the Immaculate Conception will be celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral by three masses, at 6, 8 and 10 a. m. respectively.

It is understood that the old Presbyterian church at Havelock will be secured by the Roman Catholics for the purpose of holding their services in.

A correspondent wants to know why the desirable feature of bells are not attached to the town churches. The answer is perhaps involved in the suggestion that his question should have been directed to the chancellor of the exchequer.

Rev. D. L. McRae, formerly of Cobourg, recently called to the First Presbyterian church at Jamestown, N.Y., will likely be prosecuted for violation of the Contract Labour Act, in having accepted the position while in a foreign country.

Rev. B. Longley, whom scandal recently drove from the pastorate of the Queen street Methodist church, Toronto, is en route to Europe, where he will spend the winter with his family. It is stated that recent developments show he has been more sinned against than sinning, and that in all probability he will be invited to his old charge, the Dominion Methodist church, Ottawa, as soon as the term of his probation has expired.

At the meeting of the district held in Campbellford recently, in the interests of College Federation, it was resolved that the sum set down by the Bay of Quinte Conference to be raised on the Campbellford district, should be divided among the several circuits as follows:—Campbellford, $431; Norwood, $500; Stirling and Rawdon, each $230; Seymour East and Seymour West, each $116; Warkworth, $350; Norham, $155; Hastings, $200; Keene, $350; Blairton, $110.

The Canadian Baptist, in a lengthy article on "Home Missions," speaks as follows of the work performed by the Rev. Peer in this section:—Perhaps the most wonderful report that we have to make any remark upon this year comes from Bro. Peer's field, Norwood, Warsaw and Dummer. It seems only but yesterday when that whole section lying east of Peterborough and north of Campbellford was to us an unknown country. To-day there are three churches and two chapels, and practically both paid for. Within the year the membership has doubled itself, every quarter reporting new additions. Bro. Peer's laboriousness and consecration to his work, under God, have contributed largely to these wonderful results. We thank God.

A Galt Methodist church has a uniformed brass band connected with it. "The Salvation Army," the Hamilton Spectator thinks, will have to bump to keep ahead of the regular churches." This may be regarded as an innovation in this country, but it has honorable precedents. The Jewish priests used trumpets in their services; in England the use of stringed instruments in choirs was at one uncommon; Farmers' Mass will be sung in St. Peter's Cathedral on Christmas Day with orchestral accompaniment; the George Street Methodist church at one time used a clarionet in the choir, and Mr. Seward, the organist and choirmaster of St. John's, is a decided advocate of the use of wind instruments as adjuncts to the performance of church music.

The following brief biography of the future Bishop of Peterborough Diocese, the probable successor to Bishop Dowling, is taken from the Globe:—Richard Alphonsus O'Connor was born in Listowel, Kerry, Ireland, on the 15th of April, 1838. Coming out to this country, he attended St. Michael's College from 1852 to 1858, receiving there a classical and part of his theological education. His theological studies were completed at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. The various minor orders were conferred on him by Bishop Bourget, and the subdiaconship, deaconship and priesthood by Archbishop Lynch. After his ordination as priest in 1861 he did duty in the Gore of Toronto as curate to Rev. Father Mulligan, whom he succeeded in 1862. He afterwards was parish priest of Niagara Falls and of Thorold, and on October 20, 1870, he was appointed to succeed Father Northgraves in Barrie. He has been working till the present time, and has built there a fine church and convent. He is regarded as fully worthy of the new honor, especially because of his ability for administration.

Choral Hospitality.

The choir of St. Andrew's church were "At Home" to their friends in the school room Thursday evening, and they made things decidedly pleasant for all their guests, who were so numerous that the room was filled to over-flowing. The school room was nicely decorated, and arranged like a drawing-room. Mr. John Carnegie occupied the chair and announced the different events. First came a well rendered piano duet by the Misses Leeb, which was followed by a chorus by the choir, "Blue Bells." A vocal solo by little Lillie Jackson, "Belfry Tower," was sung in her sweet, childish voice. The amateur orchestra next favoured the audience with a selection, from which it was evident that they were improving by constant practice. A nicely sung solo by Miss Cameron and a meritorious reading by Mr. Herbison concluded the first part of the programme. During an intermission the people partook of the good cheer provided by the ladies of the choir, consisting of excellent coffee and cake, in abundance. An overture by the orchestra opened the second part, Mr. Graesdinger, of Montreal, following in a vocal solo that was very acceptable indeed. Miss Sherlock's recitation won deserved applause, and a couple of solos, one by Mr. R. G. Leeb given with spirit and in good voice, and another by Lillie Jackson, brought the "At Home" to a close. All the performers were deservedly well received, and a number of encores were demanded. After the National Anthem had been sung, led by the choir, the people dispersed, well pleased indeed with the hospitality and entertainment provided, and the general comment was, "we'll come again." The young people who managed it are to be congratulated upon the successful result of their labors. About $30 was netted—very good indeed for a 15c. entertainment. Mr. A. E. Carter, organist, was indefatigable in his efforts to bring the affair to a happy termination, and in this he was ably assisted by the ladies and other gentlemen of the large choir.

Auction Sale of Crockery, &c.

The auction sale of crockery, glassware, &c., will be continued on Saturday, the 8th Dec., in the store next Jas. Stevenson's office, on Water street. Dinner sets, tea sets, chamber sets, and a general assortment of crockery, &c., will be offered. Sale afternoon and evening. J. Haggart, auctioneer. d

Another Success.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church held a tea and sale of useful articles yesterday and last night. The sale went on during the afternoon and evening and was under the charge of Mrs. J. Butcher and Miss Strickland, with a host of assistants. Nearly every article offered was sold and the proceeds were very satisfactory. The tea was served from five till eight o'clock, and although there were eight tables, each capable of seating eight persons, yet there was a rush for seats during the whole three hours. The tea, or rather supper, was served up in a style that would have done credit to the best hotel in the land, and everyone appreciated the efforts of the management by eating to their heart's content (and, no doubt, some to their stomach's discontent). After the conclusion of the supper, those present spent an hour or so in social chat and enjoyment. The fish pond, presided over by Miss Edith Burnham, was a source of great amusement for the younger portion of the audience. Every person left well pleased with the evening's programme. This is the first tea for St. Luke's this season and has been in every particular a grand success and very creditable to the Women's Auxiliary, whose finances will be greatly increased by the addition of the neat sum netted last night.

Directory of Peterborough.

The directory of the town, being issued by THE EXAMINER, is nearly complete. The maps of the town and the printed sheets are now in the binder's hands, and the complete book will be issued next week. Persons desiring copies should place their orders at once, as the indications are that the demand, now already great, will be much increased once the book is seen. It is much more complete than ordinary directories. It contains an historical sketch of the town, a complete description of its advantages as a manufacturing centre and place of residence, of its unrivalled railway facilities, of its summer resorts, of its church and educational institutions, of the principal manufacturing establishment, and a full list of society, social and other organizations; besides a full list of the residents of the town, alphabetically arranged, giving business place and street number, and residence and street number. An invaluable book of reference, neatly printed, strongly bound and sold at only $1.00 per copy.

Mistaken Christmas Presents.

The custom of giving presents at Christmas, if we have regard to its origin and significance, is a beautiful and becoming one, but it is unfortunate that it is abused. Many a parent goes to some toy shop and buys two or three dollar's worth of trashy stuff which is often smashed and useless before Christmas night; whereas if he had taken his money and gone to gough bros'., the wonderful cheap men, he could have bought twice as much boots and shoes as he could get in any shop town. The children would have been just as much pleased and had something strong and lasting. Remember gough bros. give presents the year round, of a reduction of half the price in boots and shoes. Dead loads of them of tip top quality always in stock. Don't be a clam, but go to gough bros'. and get double value for your money in prime boots and shoes.

The man or woman has yet to come forward and put their finger on the spot where Turnbull has advertised anything he could not give you. Look out for his column and locals elsewhere. dw

Superb Canned Fruit.

Messrs. Rush Bros. make a specialty of importing the Coleman Flag Brand of canned California fruits. These are the finest canned goods in the world. The exquisite natural flavor of the semi-tropical fruit is preserved in a perfect manner, fresh and sweet as if plucked to-day. Peaches, plums, gages, apricots, egg plums, etc. Try them.

Eminent Evangelist.

In the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Geo. W. Dewey will preach morning and evening in the George Street Methodist Church next Sunday, and will take charge of the pastor's Bible class. Mr. Dewey sings as well as preaches, and will sing during the services on Sunday. As an associate of the evangelist, D. O. Crossley, he is well-known. An evangelistic meeting will be held at the close of the evening service.

Rush Bros. Holiday Stock.

Messrs. Rush Bros., as the public who desire first-class goods in the grocery line will be pleased to learn, are now receiving their holiday stock of imported goods. Their staff is busy opening out the consignments as they arrive, and on Friday the show windows of the establishment will give some idea of the extent, excellence and variety of their stock. This stock includes the very best quality of grocery goods obtainable at home or abroad; the choicest of sugars and teas, the finest of fruits and canned goods, all fresh and of the highest quality. The most exhaustive holiday buyers will find in the stock an excellent and varied supply of all the goods which the holiday season or household requirements may demand. The public may rely on securing at the grocery establishment of Messrs. Rush Bros. the very best goods which the markets of the world can supply and at reasonable prices. Those who require choice goods, at fair prices, should not forget that the place to secure them is at the Messrs. Rush Bros.', 355 George street. 3d130

A New Machine.

A radically new sewing machine, patented in November, 1887, by the Wheeler and Wilson Manufacturing Company, has just been introduced in Peterborough by E. S. Mitchell, agent, 142 Hunter street. The new machine has so many points of advantage over all others that it would require a half-column article to do justice to its many excellencies. The manufacturers challenge the world to show a machine its superior. It does perfect work on leather and stitched goods alike, and is so constructed as to secure the highest degree of durability with the greatest facility of adjustment and least liability to get out of order. Its speed and ease of running is remarkable. If the leather belt were removed from the drive-wheel, the machine runs so easily that a single thread of No. 60 cotton would furnish power to sew four ply of ordinary tweed. It is also the simplest in construction ever shown in Peterborough, and since its patent 27,555 have been sold. The works are all rotary and perfectly noiseless. The cabinet work is of the old English oak, and of handsome finish, and is supplied with a "secretary" that becomes an extension when in use. This is the machine for family use as well as for manufacturing purposes, and all persons requiring a machine could not do better than call on the agent. 4d131

A Serious Accident.

About half-past two o'clock this afternoon Mr. John Dormer, an employe at the Bridge Works, was engaged painting a heavy piece of iron trestle-work, when it was accidentally overturned and fell on him breaking his leg and it is feared his arm also, besides cutting his head. The injured man was driven to Dr. Clark's surgery and from there to his home in Ashburnham.

The Manufacturers' Accident Insurance Company, Wilson & Morrison, agents, have cheap rates and large indemnities. No one should be without an accident policy.

Bible Society Meetings.

Keene Bible Society held its annual meeting Nov. 27th. The officers were re-elected: Mr. John Kindred, president, and Mr. Geo. Read, secretary. The branch is in a flourishing condition, the receipts last year being $189.

Norwood society met the 29th Nov. The treasurer's report showed receipts of $80 for the year. The following officers were appointed:—President, Rev. J. S. Clarke; vice presidents, all the resident ministers; treasurer, S. P. Ford, Esq., M.D.; secretary, W. E. Roxburgh, Esq. A large committee of leading gentlemen, representing all the churches of the town, was appointed.

Their Annual Supper.

The annual supper of Lansdowne Lodge No. 25, Sons of England, will be held at the Snowden House next Wednesday evening, Dec. 12th. Bro. W. H. Bowman is caterer. These annual gatherings of the Sons of England are merry and patriotic affairs that always terminate successfully.

St John's Church.

To-night, in this church, there will be a special service of intercessory prayer that God would send more labourers for the work in the mission field. This service is the observance of an annual custom in this parish.

Turnbull is determined to clear out all his remnants of dress goods. All the ends of dress goods that sold from 25c to 50c a yard, will be sold at 15c during the holidays. First come, first choice. dw

At Home.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Shorey will give an "At Home" at the new parsonage of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Thursday, Dec. 27th, when an enjoyable evening may be expected. Particulars later. 2d

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

Important Notice to Oddfellows.

DIED.

MILLER.—In Otonabee, on Friday, December 7th, 1888, Margaret, wife of John Miller Esq., aged 66 years and 3 months.

[The deceased lady has been troubled during the summer with heart disease; last week her condition became alarming and on Friday morning she breathed her last. She was a Miss Wood, one of a family of two sisters and four brothers all living, and was married to Mr. Miller forty seven years ago. She had a family of ten children, of whom nine are living, one son having died five years ago. Mrs. Miller was a warm-hearted, large-souled lady, much beloved and highly respected in the community. She was an earnest member of the Presbyterian church. The funeral takes place to-morrow to the Pine Grove Cemetery, Keene, at one o'clock.

Tells about the BARGAINS being Offered at

TURNBULL'S

Mantles and Mantle Cloths. Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 10c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if fulled. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value. Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

THE DOMINION REVENUES.

A CONSIDERABLE INCREASE SO FAR THIS YEAR.

Indications of the Coming Meeting of Parliament—The Mail Bag Recently Stolen Recovered.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—The statement of revenue for November shows receipts of $3,024,514, an increase of $137,626 over the same month last year. The receipts for the five months of the fiscal year are:

Customs	$16,668,462
Excise	2,894,902
Postoffice	626,374
Public Works	1,633,730
Miscellaneous	511,990
Total	$24,272,460
Expenditure	12,697,330
Surplus	$9,568,130

Compared with the same period last year the increase on revenue is $1,491,728, made up as follows:

Customs	$760,138
Excise	675,904
Public works, including railways	209,117

The decreases are:

Postoffice	$ 11,602
Miscellaneous	174,826

It is rumored that Mr. William Musgrove, a prominent lawyer here, has been appointed Junior Judge for the County of Carleton in place of the late Judge Lyon, but the appointment will not appear in to-morrow's Gazette.

Speaker Ouimet was in the city to-day, and a meeting of the Internal Economy Committee of the House of Commons was held this afternoon to make arrangements for the coming session.

Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick was here to-day and stated in conversation that he intended reintroducing this session his bill providing for American vessels wrecking in Canadian waters, and vice versa, which was rejected last session.

There were 2261 applications for patents last year in the Department of Agriculture and the fees collected were $73,802. This shows a decrease of 255 in the number of applications and $2830 in fees.

The time for receiving tenders for the dredging work in the Sault Ste. Marie Canal expired to-day. Over a dozen tenders were received.

Information has been received here that Mr. Bernard's official majority for Cariboo was 21.

The mail bag containing registered letters recently stolen on the way between Ottawa and Prescott has been recovered, but the postal officials decline to say whether any money in the letters has been recovered.

Notices From the Gazette.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—To-morrow's Gazette will contain notices of the calling to the Senate of Messrs. Redier, Dertmond and Price, of the return of Mr. Cochrane for East Northumberland and of the appointment of George A. Gauthier of Algoma Mills as sub-collector of Customs.

A proclamation will appear to-morrow approving of the plans submitted by the Canada Atlantic Railway for a bridge across the St. Lawrence from Coteau Landing to Clark's Island. The bridge will be fifteen feet above low water mark, and run from the mainland to Giroux Island, thence to Round Island and thence to Clark's Island. There will be thirteen spans of 200, two of 170 and 4 of 150 feet, the total length including abutments being 4050 feet. There will be a swing over the main channel with two openings of 100 feet each.

Notice is given of application for an amendment to the Royal charter of Queen's College, Cobourg, and of the acts relating to the appointment of trustees.

An order-in-council has been passed prohibiting altogether trout fishing by any other means than angling with hook and line except in tidal waters in the Province of Quebec on the north shore of the St. Lawrence between the mouth of the Saguenay and Blanc Sablon. In the Province of Ontario this prohibition is not to apply to salmon trout.

The Canadian Pacific Railway gives notice of applications for additional powers for the construction and protection of telegraph lines.

The Corporation of Winnipeg gives notice of application for the incorporation of a company to utilize the water of the Assiniboine River for milling and other purposes.

LATEST MONTREAL ADVICES.

Shooting Affray in the Boys' Home—A Mysterious Affair.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—A mysterious shooting affray took place at an early hour this morning at the Boys' Home, Mignonne-street. As the teachers were about to call the young men to their respective departments two pistol shots were heard in an upper room, and upon repairing to that locality an inmate named Wm. Foley, aged 15, was found sitting as pale as death on a chair and blood rapidly flowing from a small wound in the left breast, a couple of inches below the heart, while a ball, evidently from a revolver, was lying on the floor near the wounded boy's chair. The latter was too frightened or too badly hurt to give many details as to the shooting but it was soon discovered by Sergt. Charbonneau, who had been sent for, that a boy named Wm. Fahey, some three years older than the victim, had fired what may turn out to be a fatal shot. Fahey was found in his room, and said that he had been showing his schoolmate a revolver and that the gun had accidentally been discharged. This story is, however, doubted by the police, as it is alleged that the two boys had some altercation yesterday and that they were bad friends as late as last night. The revolver was found in the cellar and some cartridges had also been hidden in the yard, but Fahey might have concealed them, fearing the result of the shooting. He was taken to the police station and Foley to the General Hospital, where he lies in a critical condition.

This morning the recorder imposed a heavy fine upon a farmer from Boucherville, who had sold a Mr. Graham what purported to be a load of hay, but 144 pounds of ice were found inside the bundles. His Honor said that at one time the garb of a habitant was the sign of an honest man, but, unfortunately, things had changed, and the next time a similar case came before him the guilty party would be sent to the Court of Queen's Bench.

Joseph O'Connor, who keeps a place on Craig-street called the Boston Bean House, is in custody in the Central Station, charged with splitting open his bartender's head.

Blown Up With Dynamite.

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—A man, named Jas. Daniel, was engaged in clearing away stumps with dynamite at Hull yesterday, when a cartridge exploded prematurely, blowing him into the air and tearing almost every particle of clothing from his body. The man was severely cut and his right leg broken. His escape from death was almost miraculous.

Writ for Cumberland.

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—The writ for Cumberland was issued yesterday. Nomination takes place on Dec. 19 and polling on the 26th Mr. Dickey will again be the Conservative candidate.

More Bank Accommodation.

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 8.—The Bank of Hamilton opened their agency here this morning. The agency is under the management of H. H. O'Reilly, who has been moved here from the Listowel branch.

This Thief Brought $107,000 to Toronto.

DAYTON, O., Dec. 7.—The most sensational developments are made at Greenville in connection with the trial of the Darke County treasurer. The testimony taken to-day shows that ex-Treasurer Simon, who is now serving a term in the penitentiary, at one time previous to the last robbery of the vaults had gone to Toronto, taking $107,000, but that he weakened within four days and returned with all the money. His friends or pals prevented exposure.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Rev. T. W. Jeffery's Resignation Accepted—Dr. McCully Goes for Damages.

TORONTO, Dec. 8.—The pumble in the Western Methodist Church is for the present at rest. The resignation of Rev. T. W. Jeffery, the pastor, was last night accepted by the President of Conference. Mr. Jeffery consents to relinquish any further association with the new church he has been instrumental in raising. He still remains a Methodist minister but without charge. The church will probably split.

In the General Sessions yesterday Patrick Healey was placed on trial charged with obstructing Policeman Walsh in the discharge of his duty. The evidence showed that the officer was fired at by John Kennedy, who, with Healy, was on the other side of the street. When Walsh went to arrest Kennedy, the latter fired two shots at him without effect, and Healy told him to let the prisoner go or he would get the worst of it. Kennedy went to run down the street and Walsh following fired five shots without effect, and when he had caught his man, was grabbed by the cool caller by Healey. The trial will be concluded this morning.

Turnbull Smith assigned yesterday to G. M. Gardner, the liabilities are $6500 and assets nominal.

The Ontario Gazette of this week contains these appointments: Isaac Huber, Bracebridge, Clerk of Assize; S. A. Henderson (Ottawa), H. B. Morphy (Listowel), Thos. Scullard (Chatham), Myles Young (Blyth), notaries public; Thos. Bridger, Cayuga, clerk Second Division Court, Haldimand; T. G. Gillespie, Campbellford, bailiff Eleventh Division Court, Northumberland and Durham.

In the Police Court yesterday Georgie Maughan was fined $30 and costs for keeping an irregular resort at No. 15 Elizabeth-street. Her girls were remanded, and the men found in the place were dismissed. This is the house where Farmer James Crawford of Durham said he was robbed of $70 Thursday. The charge of robbery was not pressed against the prisoners. Alex. Wilson, larceny, 60 days. John Morrison, larceny, 60 days. The gang arrested Thursday night for trespassing on the deserted premises of Honora Connors, Bathurst-street, were discharged.

There is to be a sequel to the McCully-medical students fracas showing that the Doctor, even if badly "damaged," is still in the ring. Yesterday a writ was issued from the office of the Clerk of Process at Osgoode Hall a writ against Dr. William Oldright and H. H. Oldright at suit of Dr. McCully for $10,000 for damages for assault, false arrest and imprisonment and malicious prosecution.

Charles Hannedorf, aged 27, and John Kearney, aged 17, were at work in the copper foundry of Booth & Son, York-street, yesterday. While pouring melted metal from one vessel into another an air chamber exploded, spilling the liquid stuff over them, burning both men seriously. They were removed to the Hospital. Hannedorff was seriously burned about the hands, arms, face and neck. Both men will recover.

A FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL FAVORS 20-KNOT VESSELS.

Weekly Boats to Run from Plymouth to Halifax in Winter and to Quebec in Summer.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—There is no longer any doubt that the report of the sub-committee of the Executive Council to which was referred the question of a fast line of Atlantic steamers will report in favor of a 20-knots service. The loss, from which there must be deducted about subsidy will be in the neighborhood of half a million, $500,000 per annum receivable from the British Exchequer for their share of postage and for the registration of the new steamers as armed cruisers available in time of war.

It is understood that the Allans will have the offer of finding three vessels for this service, which is to be a weekly one between Plymouth and Halifax (Quebec in summer). The boats will not be allowed to go to an American port.

If the Allans object to accepting the terms of the Government, an English company composed of rich capitalists are ready to undertake the job, the Andersons, who tendered last spring, being agents of the company. Sir George Stephen and Sir Donald Smith, who are understood to have organized public opinion on this subject, each subscribe $500,000 of the required stock.

The company will carry on the Pacific as well as the Atlantic line of steamers, and there will be two separate lines from Vancouver, one to Hong Kong and the other via Fiji to the Australian colonies.

It is nobody's business but the contracting company's, but the opinion seems pretty universal that the Allans will go into no such wild cat scheme, but will leave the field open to the friends of the Canadian Pacific Railway. There must be a ruinous loss of money at first, but the advocates of the fast line claim that it will only be a temporary loss. News servons.

At all events it cannot have any other than a good effect as advertising Canada, and emphasizing the reckless determination of the Canadian Pacific Railway to be abreast of the times and to make the biggest sort of effort to gain what share there may be going of through travel between Europe and the Orient. The steamers will run from Plymouth to Cherbourg, and at both places there will be special trains ready for London and Paris.

A FATAL QUARREL.

Reported Killing of a Pedlar in the Yard of a Glen Morris Hotel.

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., Dec. 7.—A rumor has reached here that at Seguin's Hotel, Glen Norman, about 12 miles from here, on Wednesday a dispute arose between Pedlar A. Robinson and Deputy Reeve D. A. McRae of Lancaster, in the course of which Robinson struck McRae some two or three times. McRae then left the house, followed by Robinson, and in the yard it is said McRae dealt Robinson some blows throwing Robinson to the ground, his head striking against some hard substance causing death in about twenty-four hours. It is also said that an inquest is in progress.

PRICES AND PROSPECTS.

The World of Commerce—Wheat Exports and Stocks—Sugar Higher.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's from the more important trade centres indicate that at a number of them the customary holiday season's quiet affects the larger wholesale interest.

The New York stock market continued subject to bear manipulation based on the railroad situation but in the latter portion of the week partially recovered its tone on the decided disposition shown to advance railroad tariffs.

Money at New York is a shade harder, call loans 2½ to 3 per cent. Foreign exchange is high and steady at a shade under the gold point, demand sterling $4.88 to $4 88½. Collections throughout the country are moderately easy.

At last the steel rail market has turned and prices tend upward. Sixteen iron furnaces have blown in within the past thirty days and only three have blown out. Between twenty and twenty-five furnaces will be blowing in the South before April.

The total exports of wheat (and flour as wheat) from both coasts this week are 1,637,455 bushels, as against 704,811 bushels last week and 1,920,000 bushels in the like week of 1887. July 1 to date the exports aggregate over 47,000,000 bushels of wheat (and flour) as compared with nearly 68,000,000 bushels in a like period last year. The stock of wheat in sight east of the Rocky Mountains is 51,394,000 bushels, a gain of 18,000,000 bushels since July 1. Last year the gain from July to December 1 was 36,000,000 bushels, and the year before 31,000,000 bushels. Indian corn stocks are 31,000,000 bushels less than on Nov. 1 last. Wheat flour stocks at 55 points of accumulation (jobbers' hands) are the largest ever reported (2,491,000 barrels), again of 50 per cent. over July 1 and 40 per cent over Nov. 1. The total quantity of wheat chartered at San Francisco for Australia is about 52,000, bushels. Wheat closes ¼c. higher on the week, corn ½c. lower and oats steady.

The advanced season has induced a quiet movement in seasonable dry goods. The tone of prices is notably strong both in cotton and woolen goods.

Raw wool is less active with the outlook that it will so remain for some time to come. Prices are dull. Cotton is dull and unchanged for spots.

Raw sugar has hardened, and refined is up 1-16c. Coffee has been excited with frequent and radical fluctuations here and in Europe with the tendency upward.

A THEFT IN THE U. S. TREASURY.

Ten Sheets of $5 Notes Taken Before Being Stamped with the Official Seal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Another irregularity has been discovered in the Treasury Department, arising out of the mysterious disappearance of ten sheets of paper, each containing four notes of the denomination of $5 and representing $200 in all. These sheets were included in the regular delivery from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to the United States Treasurer on Tuesday morning last. The packages were counted and reported to be correct in every particular before leaving the bureau. On reaching the Treasurer's office they were again counted and reported correct. The notes are all completed with the exception of being stamped with the Treasury seal, and when that is added, are ready for issue. After the packages had been verified at the Treasurer's office they were turned over to the sealing division for completion. They were counted there and found to be short ten sheets. These were numbered in regular order, and were in the middle of a package. The officer in charge of the division refused to receipt for these sheets, and word was sent to the bureau for an explanation. A thorough investigation was instituted, and though three days have passed, no trace whatever of the missing sheets has been discovered. While it is possible that the sheets were mislaid and may be recovered, it is more than probable that they were abstracted by some one thoroughly familiar with the method of handling them. The notes will readily pass current for money, for they lack only the Treasury seal to be legal tender.

A Reverent Bridegroom.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Dec. 7.—Pedestrian Geo. Cartwright, the Englishman who was a contestant in the recent six-days walk in New York and who has made his headquarters here for some time, was to have been married yesterday to a young lady living here but when the time for the ceremony came he failed to show up. It had been reported a few days ago that he had a wife and children in England but he denied this and went on with arrangements for his marriage, even going so far as to furnish apartments for housekeeping.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

BANQUET OF THE TURNERS' COMPANY IN LONDON.

Sir Charles Tupper and United States Minister Phelps Respond to the Toast of "Our Visitors."

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Mr. Phelps, the American Minister, attended the banquet of the Turners' Company to-night. In reply to the toast of "Our Visitors" Mr. Phelps said the great and everlasting ties that bound England and America depended on the great heart of the two peoples. Treaties were of small consequence and diplomacy had seen its best days. It was upon the sentiment of the people that the harmony of the two countries most depended.

Sir Charles Tupper also responded to the toast.

Empress Frederick at Buckingham

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Empress Frederick arrived at Buckingham Palace to-day. During the days he received a deputation of Greeks, who expressed their pleasure at the betrothal of Princess Sophia, the daughter of the Empress, to the Duke of Sparta, the Crown Prince of Greece. The Empress thanked the deputation briefly and then Princess Sophia addressed the gathering, expressing her desire to identify herself in every way with the interests of the country of her intended husband. Later Empress Frederick visited the throat hospital and was received by Doctors Mackenzie and Hovell. The Empress spoke kindly words to the patients.

The Irish Executive Censured.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The committee appointed by the House of Commons to inquire into the arrest within the precincts of the house of Sheehy, an Irish member, have adopted a report by a majority of one declaring that:

"The Irish Executive appears to have taken no precaution to issue proper instructions to their Irish police for the observance of due respect to the House of Commons."

A Recalcitrant Witness.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Patrick Molloy, who refused to obey the subpœna of The Times to give evidence before the Parnell Commission, and who was arrested and brought from Dublin under an escort of police, was placed in the witness box when the Commission assembled to-day. Attorney-General Webster, for The Times, examined him at length, but did not succeed in extracting a little of evidence. Molloy met all the Attorney-General's questions with blank denial or a profession of ignorance. On cross-examination by Michael Davitt, Molloy stated that a solicitor's clerk in Dublin had promised him money if he would try to criminate Mr. Davitt either by true or false evidence. Mr. Davitt asked whether if it was the common belief in Ireland that agents of The Times and the Government were trying to obtain evidence by bribery and threats. Justice Hannen overruled the question.

Cross-examined by Sir Charles Russell, Molloy said he had been humbugging with The Times people and only intended to get what he could from them.

Justice Hannen requested to hear evidence of the Dublin solicitor's clerk mentioned by Molloy, regarding the declarations of Molloy prior to the time he was served with a subpœna.

LONDON THE LESS.

Progress of the C. P. R. Extension—Cruelty to Animals.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 8.—Work on the western extension of the C. P. R., owing to the present mild state of the weather, is being prosecuted with vigor. The grading in front of the depot has advanced sufficiently to permit of the laying of a solid track. The grading from Richmond-street to the river is in condition for track laying and the rails now nearly reach George-street, and it will not be long before work on the bridge over the Thames will commence. The trestle work in London West is going on at a rapid rate, and when completed will extend about half a mile. From the end of the trestle work to Hyde Park the ground is ready for track laying. The grading approaching the river, on the city side, is exceedingly steep, that crossing Talbot-street being about eight feet in height.

Harry Goodwin, who was convicted of vagrancy and of robbing a couple of stores at Belmont, is now believed to be the person who committed the robbery at Middlemiss on Sunday night. He was formerly employed in a wood yard in this city, but at that time went under another name.

At the Police Court yesterday George Hughes appeared, charged with cruelty to animals. Hughes recently, after unmercifully beating an obstinate steer which he was driving along the Hamilton road, procured a rope and attached one end to the rear of a wagon, the other being fastened around the beast's neck and horns. By this means the animal was dragged along, and when it fell down was promptly poked to its feet and goaded on by thrusts behind. Defendant pleaded the ferocious disposition of the animal in extenuation, and was allowed to go under suspended sentence.

WE FACE YOU WITH THESE 3 FACTS.

We tell you calmly that there's no blowing or Catchpenny wind about the statement. Its the cold blooded iron-rock truth. We've got to unload! There's no doubt of that, and mind you the essence of our unloading is TIME, what we can get for the goods is a Secondary Consideration. Do you realize that? If you do, you seize your opportunity, if you don't see it, take our word for it. Our lease of the SHEPPARD store expires on January 1st, we've got to dispose of the stock by that time, the best way to dispose of it is to throw it out at your own price, and that's what we are going to do. It's easier to move in Segments than by the Cartload. Will you help us? It'll pay you, we'll make it pay you, we'll compel you to pay yourself. With the alternative of either selling or moving the stock staring us in the face, we've settled down to the fact that grit will tell, and we're going to whack out the goods until every Mother's Son in the Country has his arms full of bargains.

On SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1st, and for the following days, we throw at your doors clear-grained benefits from the SHEPPARD BANKRUPT STOCK of $18000 worth of goods, New, Choice, and Fresh, and selling at 50c on the dollar. We leave it to you to name the prices, we go farther! We will absolutely give you goods at your own figures! Bear in mind that 30 days finishes the sale in the present premises.

Letters From Colorado

And From the "Pen of a Ready Writer."

NUMBER TWO.

NOVEMBER 6th, 1888.

DEAR EXAMINER,—I want to tell you something of Denver, this remarkable city of the plains, lying under the shadow of the Rocky Mountains, and many hundred miles from the sea. My first good look at it was from Capital Hill and then for several days I journeyed hither and thither through the town, going southward on Broadway beyond the exhibition buildings, passing over Cherry Creek, then ranging across the Platte river to the westward and northward, skirting Elyria, out as far as the Riverside Cemetery, and again in the direction of Argo. And everywhere, on these bright and glorious days, there lay, as the background beyond, the high plateau which stretches away to the foothills, these might mountains—the front range of which may be seen, it is said, for over two hundred miles. In the north, Long's Peak raises its gigantic head against the azure sky. Westward Mounts Rosalie and Evans tower above the snowy range, and Gray's Peak stands out boldly; while historic Pike's Peak, whose majestic summit guided the gold hunters of '59, plainly shows its white crest eighty miles to the south.

Denver is the centre and metropolis for the Rocky Mountains, and those who have faith in the city (and their name is legion) are ready to aver that she has before her the promise of being the largest city between Chicago and San Francisco. Her streets of solid business blocks, her splendid churches, schools and dwellings, her manufactories and industries, all attest her prosperity, and it is evident she has passed the crisis which, if not a few instances, destroys utterly the progress of many an embryo town in the west. What faith and hope her first business men evinced! They came here when everything had to be hauled over the plains by teams for six hundred miles. Yet they never faltered, but looked forward to railway communication as the commencement of a new era. The Union Pacific first stretched out its lines towards Denver from Omaha and Kansas City. These roads were completed only eighteen years ago and very shortly afterwards other railway companies sent their tracks and trains through the mountains and speedily exerted an immense influence on the development and prosperity of Colorado. Denver owes much to the railway system centreing here and few cities are as well supplied with outlets in all directions. About fifteen different lines of railway enter the Union Depot, and other companies are projecting their roads in this direction. Not less than 80 passenger trains arrive and depart daily. The Denver and Rio Grande Railway operates about 1,500 miles of road within the state of Colorado. It is said to be the greatest and most perfect system of narrow-guage railways in the world.

Respecting the business of the city, it will probably suffice to quote the last report of the Chamber of Commerce. It tells us that in 1888 (the last year for which there are returns compiled) business showed an increase of 29.8 per cent., and manufactures of 10.6 per cent. over the previous year. The combined totals aggregate over ninety-one millions of dollars. The chief manufactures are smelting and refining ore, foundries, breweries, cigars, brick-making, flouring mills, glass works, printing and book-binding, etc.

The city is furnished with pure water from natural gravel beds sunk below the surface, the water being thereby thoroughly filtered. There are upwards of fifty miles of mains and distributing pipes, and about 5 million gallons are pumped daily. The machinery employed is the Holly system propelled by steam power. In addition to this source, water is also obtained from artesian wells, which are sunk to a depth of from 400 to 1,200 feet. The water is strongly alkaline, and some of these wells contain mineral properties said to be very beneficial in disease.

There is an admirably organized fire department, consisting of about 40 men and half that number of horses. Attached to the street mains are nearly 400 hydrants for the sole use of the fire department. There are eight companies of firemen and a like number of stations. Twice since my arrival the men were called out and succeeded in overcoming the flames in two important buildings, the Tabor Opera House and the Music Hall.

I think there is no religious creed in the universe, except, perhaps, Buddhism and Mahometanism, that is not represented in Denver. I believe there are about 70 churches and chapels of all denominations. The St. John's Cathedral is on Welton street. It is not by any means an attractive building outside, but inside it is very handsome. There is a large congregation and about 500 communicants. The musical part of the service equals, in my judgment, any in America, and is equalled by only very few in Great Britain. Dr. John H. Gower, of Oxford, is the organist, a musician of no mean attainments and a thorough gentleman. Dean Hart, the presiding genius and head of the cathedral, is a man of strong individuality, a good preacher, a liberal thinker, an earnest worker—beloved by all classes and creeds and conditions of men. He has seen the cathedral grow from a tiny wooden structure with a handful of people to its present dimensions, and can proudly say quorum pars magna fui. The Methodists are just completing a very handsome stone church on Broadway. By the liberality of one of their princely magnates the church is going to possess one of the largest organs in the world. It will have over 70 stops, four banks of keys and is to be one of the best organs in this country. The opening will take place, I believe, in December. There are also fine Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, Unitarian and Jewish places of worship, magnificent in design, and comparing favourably in size and elegance of appointment with churches elsewhere.

Consider that Denver's nearest neighbour of equal size is as far off as Naples is from London, and think that less than thirty years ago prairie dogs and buffaloes were the sole occupants of the land now covered by streets of handsome buildings and bustling with life and energy, and you will not cease to marvel at this wonderful place. It's people have been gathered by the besom of circumstances. It is the very Mecca of invalids for this continent, and, indeed, for Europe, and men from almost every country in the world jostle each other daily in the streets. Notwithstanding the wildness and freedom of western life, I can truly say I have seen less drunkenness here than in many a small village of Ontario. Wickedness, of course, exists. Gambling houses are plentiful. Brawls occur in the slums. Two men were shot dead within the last three weeks in one of the dens near the Palace theatre. Yet the community, as a whole, are sympathetic, kindly, generous, moral and upright, and free from that starch and mock aristocracy which in eastern cities is so disagreeable. The literary standing of Denver's population is very high, and for religion, though it may have been once true that "people left God at the Missouri river," it is no longer so.

Promising that you will hear from me again, I am,

Yours truly,
W. C. BRADSHAW.

Grand Results.

For several years R. H. Brown, of Kincardine, suffered from dyspepsia, he says he tried several physicians and a host of remedies with out relief. His druggist recommended B. B. B. which he declares produced "grand results," for which he gives it his highest recommendation. 2w49.1

The Pigeon Creek Bridge.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The county of Victoria lost the suit with Peterborough county. I hear they are going to take it to a higher court. How do they expect to gain it when there is no road to the boundary line? The road from Bobcaygeon is all in Victoria; and they won't help to keep the floating bridge in repair to get to the boundary line between Eastnsmore, Smith and Emily. Where does the road they want Peterborough to help to make lead to? Cowen's bridge is the nearest place to cross, or go by way of Omemee. How do they think that Peterborough county is going to help make bridges when they can't get to them? They had better take the money and fix the floating bridge than spend it in law.

ONE WHO LIVES ON THE BOUNDARY.
Dec. 5, 1888.

We accidently overheard the following dialogue on the street yesterday.

Jones. Smith, why don't you stop that disgusting hawking and spitting?

Smith. How can I? You know I am a martyr to catarrh.

J. Do as I did. I had the disease in its worst form but I am well now

S. What did you do for it?

J. I used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cured me and it will cure you.

S. I've heard of it, and by Jove I'll try it.

J. Do so. You'll find it at all the drug stores in town. c

DARING AND SUFFERING.

We did not remain long. A wealthy and patriotic lady, Mrs. Fales, had fitted up a pavilion in her yard in excellent style and kept it filled with convalescents from army hospitals, to whom she gave the attendance and most of the comforts of home life. Hearing our story, she applied to the Ohio state agent, Mr. J. C. Wetmore, to secure us as lodgers. He visited us and carried the invitation, which we gratefully accepted. Here we lived in fine style, with all a soldier's comforts, and excellent company. We had now received a suit of army blue and needs a beadine of our Confederate rags; so that we were a little less afraid of lady visitors. Our hostess made an evening reception for us, where there was an abundance of icecream and cake—which did not remind us of anything in Dixie—and had the privilege of telling our story to many sympathizing ladies. Having a very comfortable ambulance always at command—the property of our kind friend, and kept with a driver for the use of her soldiers—we were able to visit the places of interest in Washington with great comfort. Of this privilege we freely availed ourselves when business permitted.

On one of these occasions when we were at the Smithsonian institution, I saw a tall man of striking appearance, and at once said to my comrades, "That is President Lincoln." But they were incredulous. They had read in southern papers that he never stirred out of the White House without a heavy guard, and at once they said, "You are trying to deceive us; don't you see there is no guard here?" I was a little puzzled by the absence of the guard myself, for I had believed the story, and there were only one or two civilians with him; but I had seen Lincoln, who could not easily be forgotten. I said, "Come up and let us speak to him!" A little reluctantly they advanced, and when we were near enough I said, "Can you tell us the name of this animal?" pointing to the skeleton of the geologic monster he was looking at. He smiled in his kind, sad way and answered, "That's its name written on that card; but I won't undertake to pronounce it. I don't know much about such things." One or two remarks were exchanged on indifferent topics and then we parted. When at a safe distance Buffum said, "Pittenger, you can't play such a joke on us as to make us believe that a man who will speak to common folks in that off hand way is President Lincoln!" But I only replied, "We'll go and see him at the White House soon and then you can judge."

The first Sunday of our stay in Washington we gladly accepted the invitation of our kind hostess to accompany her to the Baptist church, of which she was a member. This led to a great trial on my part. The preacher seeing five men in soldier uniform in her pew—Mason, who was sick, remained at home—came down and spoke to her. A few words were exchanged, and then he turned to us and said: "Can't you tell us a little about your strange deliverance? I will make the other services very short." The faces of all our party turned toward me, and the minister, taking the hint, repeated his question to me individually. Something like this was just what I had feared when I had the great mental struggle in Atlanta prison. I wished to refuse, but in the freshness of deliverance such a refusal would have seemed little less than a crime. The minister was better (or worse) than his word, for he did not preach at all, but on finishing the opening services spoke a few words about the great sufferings and lessons of the war, and the hardships and temptations of the army; then added that there were some men present that morning whose experiences were marvelous beyond the common lot of men, and one of them had consented to give some account of them.

I rose at the call and scarcely could have felt worse for a moment if in Swim's prison. But the people were so kind and attentive that embarrassment vanished. I passed very lightly over the military part of the experience, and spoke especially of God's goodness in delivering us. When I told of the sudden death of our comrades in Atlanta, and of their regrets for not being better prepared for death, there was weeping over all the church. At the close of the meeting kindly greetings and proffers of service were showered upon us.

We lodged in the tent provided by this lady during the whole of the ten days of our stay in Washington. Many other persons wished to take us as guests, but she refused unless we would say that we wished to leave her care. Mason, being sick, was taken into the house and nursed most carefully.

On our first morning in Washington I had written a note to Secretary Stanton giving notice of our arrival and of my belief that the government, if not already duly informed, ought to know our story. I supposed this would produce more speedy results than to let the matter pass through the ordinary channels, and was not disappointed. He gave written orders to Hon. Joseph Holt, judge advocate general, to investigate the whole matter, provide for all our wants in the meantime, and then bring me to him. Hon. J. C. Wetmore, of the Ohio military agency, attended to procuring us the legal allowance for commutation of rations during the time of imprisonment, so that we were soon in funds. Regular pay, with arrearages could not be given till we returned to our regiments.

Our first visit to Judge Holt was a merely friendly one, and the time was spent in familiar conversation. Maj. Gen. Hitchcock, commander of the post at Washington, was also present.

The next day we went again, being taken each time in a government carriage, and found Justice Callan, of Washington, ready to administer an oath, with a phonographer to take down the testimony as given. I was examined first, telling the whole story, and then each one followed, confirming what was said, and adding omitted particulars. The evidence that we were telling a true story was far stronger than we knew. The story of Wood and Wilson had been on file in the department since the preceding November. It was far less full than ours, but confirmed it in every essential particular. Indeed, the certainty that we were giving a simple, plain and uncolored narrative was so complete that no one save Gen. Buell ever called any part of it in question, and he only because of ignorantly confounding the first and second expeditions.

The testimony thus taken was published in the next issue of The Army and Navy Gazette, as also in the Washington papers of April 4, and copied over the country. The examination before Judge Holt was on the 24th of March, and his report to the secretary of war based upon them was dated the 27th.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely Gone. Flesh a Mass of Disease. Leg Diminished one Third in Size. Condition Hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

THE MAYORALTY.

The EXAMINER learns just before going to press that Mr. H. Denne has signified his willingness, to a deputation that waited upon him to-day, to be a candidate for the mayoralty at the coming election. A petition is also being circulated requesting Mr Stevenson to again offer himself for the position. Present appearances indicate that there will be a contest between these two gentlemen.

In Masonic Circles.

Elective Officers of Peterborough Lodge No. 155 for 1889 - Important Visit of the M. W. the Grand Master — District Lodge of Instruction.

An unusually important communication of Peterborough Lodge No. 155, A.F. & A. M., was held on Friday evening in the Masonic Hall, Water street. The business of the evening brought out a large number of the brethren, among them being several visitors from the districts.

The election of principal officers for the ensuing year, resulted in the following selections being made:

Bro. David Spence	W. Master
" William Martin	Senior Warden
" Robt McFadden	Junior Warden
" William Brundrette	Chaplain
" R S Davidson	Treasurer
" A St. A Smith	Secretary
" L Spry	Tyler

The appointed officers will be chosen on the night of the 27th inst., being the annual festival of St. John the Evangelist.

Considerable importance is being attached to the approaching visit to Peterborough of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, R. T. Walkem, Esq., Q.C., of Kingston. That dignitary having communicated to R. Wor. Bro. B. Shorsly, the D.D.G.M. for the Ontario district, his intention of holding a Lodge of Instruction in Peterborough on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the 18th and 19th of December, summons have been issued to all the Masonic Lodges in the district requesting a full attendance of the brethren. Much interest is centered in the exemplification of work at these instructions. This event will, doubtless, attract a large number of the craft to Peterborough.

We understand that active preparations have been on foot for banqueting the Grand Master during his official visit. A strong representative committee was appointed by Peterborough Lodge to co-operate with a similar committee to be appointed by Corinthian Lodge for the purpose of carrying out the wishes of the brethren in this respect. It is probable that the Grand Master will remain in Peterborough until the morning of the 20th, and during his stay will be the guest of Wor. Bro. R. E. Wood, I.P.M., of Corinthian Lodge.

Orange Officers.

Jno G Weir	1st Com.

Other committee men not elected.

The officers of L.O.L. No. 80 are:—

John Agnew	W.M.
Wm Armstrong	Deputy W. M.
John McWilliams	Chaplain
John Green	Secretary
Geo W Hall	Financial Secretary
John Watt	Treasurer
John McClennan	D. of C.
Richard Lund	1st Com.
R N Roddy	2nd Com.
Thos Brown	3rd Com.
— Wilson	4th Com

The officers of Nassau L. O. L., No. 457, are:—

George Hamilton	W. M.
Alex Hamilton	D. M.
Edward Kemp	Chaplain
James Curtis	Sec.
W R King	Treas
John Bradfield	D. of C.
John Rowe	Fin. Sec.
Wm Anderson	Lecturer
D Hamilton	1st Com.
Wm Patterson	2nd Com.
D Johnston	3rd Com.
H Armstrong	4th Com.
Jas Fowler	5th Com.

Nassau Lodge will hold a tea and entertainment in their hall on New Year's day.

The Royal Black Chapter of Knights of Ireland Preceptory, 981, meets on Wednesday evening next, also for the election of officers.

Some More Accidents.

Friday afternoon Mr. William Foord, employed at the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's Works, while working at a lathe accidentally caught his hand in part of the machinery, and had his second finger taken off close to the hand. Another finger was badly smashed but it will not have to be amputated. Mr. Foord carried a policy in the Accident Insurance Company of North America.

On Thursday night about eleven o'clock as Mr. Joseph Starr, Ashburnham, was returning home, when opposite the residence of Mr. Beavis, Mark street, he tripped and fell heavily on his right shoulder, dislocating it and inflicting a deep cut over his right eye. He was carried to his home by Messrs. Cranmer and Batcher. Doctors Burnham and Beecher were summoned and replaced the shoulder and dressed his other wounds. The patient is in great pain but is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

The accident to John Dormer at the Bridge Works yesterday was serious, the arm suffering a compound fracture, his leg being broken, and he was besides severely injured internally. He fortunately carried an accident policy in the Manufacturers, and it is understood his fellow employes are getting up a purse for his further relief. The accident happened this way. He was engaged painting some of the Windsor station roof sections, a number of which were standing upright side by side. Dormer had painted the outer one, which had been laid down, and was engaged on the second when it and two other sections behind it fell, knocking Dormer across the first section, jamming him between the irons and causing the above injuries. These sections weigh about half a ton each, and it is little short of a miracle he was not killed on the spot.

They Retire With Honor.

For very many Christmas seasons past Messrs. Elliott & Tierney, of the Palace Grocery, have led the trade in the way of window decoration. Their show windows were generally admitted to be far ahead of all others in artistic display of seasonable goods, and now they wish to retire retaining rank. Not that they are being crowded out of the field—no, not by any means. But the fact is simply this, they are too busy to give time to it. The whole staff are kept working day and night supplying customers, and the care and ingenuity required in dressing a Christmas window in the style they have always observed in the past would require too much time to make it profitable for either themselves or their patrons. They are therefore compelled to rest upon their laurels and give other competitors a chance. But patrons of the Palace Grocery will reap the benefit therefrom. Their stock of groceries and seasonable goods are kept up to the highest standard. About this time Christmas fruits of all descriptions are kept in abundance, besides full lines of all other household groceries. Messrs. Elliott & Tierney invite you to call at the Palace Grocery, and though there is no handsomely-dressed windows to attract your attention, the firm can prove to you that their inside exhibit is unsurpassed in the district. dtf

A Beautiful Shop Window.

Nobody can help stopping and admiring the beautiful and artistic dressing of the shop windows of Messrs. Rush Bros.' grocery establishment, which is a credit to Mr. Charley Stapleton. The embellishments consist largely of tastefully disposed trophies of taxidermy, magnificent moose and elk heads, which cannot be surpassed, besides other animals, birds, etc. These form a setting to a tempting display of samples of their goods which are a slight fore taste of the splendid stock of all kinds of choice grocery goods suitable for the holiday trade which the shelves and counters contain. The shop is packed in every corner with the finest of fresh seasonable goods, teas, coffees, fresh fruits, canned goods of every kind. It would be impossible to give even a partial list; it is enough to say that their stock is the most complete and best assorted that has ever been presented to the people of Peterborough. All choice goods of the highest quality. No housekeeper who desires to procure the best grocery goods of any kind the market affords will fail to visit Rush Bros.' establishment, 355 George street. d

Referring to Bishop Dowling's appointment to the See of Hamilton the Irish Canadian says:—"Hamilton will rejoice in welcoming back one whom she cradled in the Faith, and whom she was always proud to call her own. May Bishop Dowling be long spared to govern his mother diocese, even as he has governed Peterborough, wisely and well." Speaking of Dean O'Connor, Bishop Dowling's successor here, the Canadian says:—"It has been our privilege to have known Bishop O'Connor since his boyhood; and knowing him so long, our joy is exceeding great at his elevation to the episcopate. As a priest, he has always had the respect of his brothers in the ministry; and amongst none of his many friends is Dean O'Connor's advancement hailed with more ardent pleasure than by the clergy of the Archdiocese. Our most respectful congratulations are joined with theirs, and our humble prayer is that his days in Peterborough may be long and happy."

News Nuggets.

—There was another very large market to-day and a big crowd in town.

—An illicit distillery is said to be in operation in close proximity to the village of Millbrook.

—The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in their hall, George street, on Monday at 4 p.m.

—A case of boxing gloves, fencing foils, etc., and tubes for the Martini rifle range, arrived at the gymnasium yesterday.

—There was no debate of the Otonabee Canoe Club last night. Another postponement was made to Thursday evening next.

—The new gas-lamps on George and Hunter streets, ordered by the council, are being put up. These lamps are to burn all night.

—At Fairweather's store a large display of furs is made, the chief attraction being a well-mounted and remarkably fine black bear, which was shot out in Dummer township not long ago. It has been well set up by Mr. Elcome, taxidermist.

The Canadian Church Magazine.

Rev. J. C. Cox, is in town, soliciting subscriptions to the Canadian Church Magazine, an excellent monthly magazine, devoted to the interests of the Church of England in Canada. Its literary and typographical merits make it worthy of the support of church people, while its ecclesiastical merits are attested by the following commendations:—

BISHOP'S HOUSE, TORONTO.

"I am glad to hear that you have good success in your work of canvassing for the Canadian Church Magazine.
ARTHUR TORONTO.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 23th, 1888.

The Rev. J. C. Cox is asking for subscriptions to a missionary monthly publication. It is very good, useful and inexpensive, and a publication carried on by our church. I hope the parish will support it.
J. W. R. BECK,
Rector of Peterborough.

I have looked over several numbers of the Canadian Church Magazine and Mission News. It appears to be essentially both a church and Canadian publication, giving much interesting information as to the history and welfare of the church in our own country. Its circulation is sure to assist church work in this parish.

Business College Students.

Held a Successful "At Home"—Their Principal Handsomely Remembered.

The students of the Peterborough Business College have shown that they can do something else than take up a column of figures correctly or write a nice hand. They undertook a new departure Friday night and carried it to as successful a termination as the past record of the College has been. They held an "At Home" at the College that was, without doubt, one of the most pleasing events of the season. The friends of the students assembled in large numbers, and before the hour of commencement the rooms were thronged, a great many being unable to find seats. The entertainment was held in the lecture room, which was hung with bright colored bunting, while an impromptu stage and curtain had been erected at one end. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., occupied the chair, having, as associate chairmen, Mr. Barton Earle.

The first number on the programme was a musical selection by four pieces of Doucet's orchestra. Mr. Cleary followed in an Irish reading, which he rendered with the true brogue. The College Glee Club, numbering about fifteen, sang a chorus, and Miss Saunders recited in her well known admirable style. Miss Cameron's solo was very acceptable indeed and loudly applauded, while Mr. Chas. Brown's reading of an Irishman's letter brought down the house. Another chorus by the Glee Club closed the first part of the programme.

THE PRINCIPAL REMEMBERED.

Then followed a very pleasing event entered under the head of intermission. Mr. G. S. Bean, the Principal, was called forward by the Chairman, and at the same moment two young lady students stepped forward, one of whom, Miss Britton, read the following address, Miss Crane making the presentation:—

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Dec. 7, 1888.

To GEORGE S. BEAN, Esq., Principal of Peterborough Business College.

DEAR MR. BEAN,—We feel that as students of the Peterborough Business College, we will be doing only an act of justice by expressing to you our complete satisfaction with the work we have accomplished and with the progress we have made during the term now about at an end. We assure you it is a pleasure to us to convey to you our hearty thanks for the unvarying kindness and courtesy which has characterized your intercourse with us as a Teacher.

We have always been faithfully aided in our many perplexities, and we willingly attribute to your judicious assistance and guidance a large part of the advancement we have made since entering upon our studies.

As a slight token of our esteem we beg your acceptance of these volumes, which, though of small intrinsic worth, yet we hope they may serve as a memento of our high esteem of yourself. From our own experience we can confidently recommend the Peterborough Business College to others, and we have no doubt that so long as it remains under your careful management a prosperous career awaits it. By securing the services of Mis sMoffat, the reputation of the College will doubtless be extended, for the excellent satisfaction she is giving as a faithful, efficient teacher, is a matter of congratulation to both Principal and Students.

We wish you the success you so well deserve, and we hope that in the future the Peterborough Business College, with yourself as Principal, may become one of the important institutions of the Province.

Wishing you and your family the pleasures of the season. Signed on behalf of the Students,

LILLIAN E. BRITTON,	J. LOWE,
EMILY CRANE,	J. A. ANDERSON,
LETA GRAY,	W. PEARSON,
BELLA GRIFFITH,	D. MCCABE,
E. MCILMOYLE,	A. GRANT.

The address was printed on the white satin face of a beautiful cardinal plush bannerette, and was accompanied by four volumes of Hallam's "Middle Ages," and four "Gibbon's Rome," by Millman.

Principal Bean was so evidently taken by surprise that, as he himself said, he could not express his feelings as he would wish, and he would, therefore, defer making his formal thanks until he met the pupils together in class again. However, he appreciated the tokens as complimentary to the success of the college and his labors as principal, and he thanked them most heartily for the kind words spoken of him.

Then the remainder of the programme was completed, beginning with an orchestral selection. Miss Gray's reading, "Courtship under Difficulties," was well rendered and pleased the audience mightily. The students next presented four tableaux with red-light effect. The first was "Woman's World," then "There's no Rose without a Thorn," "When the Cat's away the Mice will Play," and the last, "Twenty Lovesick Maidens We." A chorus by the glee club concluded the programme, on the arrangement and preparation of which the students had worked hard and long, and, it must be gratifying to them to know, successfully. Miss Gray in particular was indefatigable in her efforts in this behalf.

The National Anthem brought the very pleasant proceedings to a close.

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

Gold Seal.

A very handsome silver water pitcher, (list price $30), will be presented to the lady purchasing the largest number of pounds out of one hundred of Gold Seal Baking Powder. For sale at Elliott & Tierney's Call and see. d

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.
CLEVELAND BROTHERS, ALBANY, N. Y.

Personal.

Mr. John Millar is down from Toronto for a few days.

Mrs. Thos. Brooks received a message from Meriden, Connecticut, on Friday afternoon that her mother was seriously ill. She left this morning for that place.

Mr. Geo. A. Morrison goes to Toronto on Monday to attend the meeting of the Fire Insurance Agents' Association of Canada, which is held at the Budget Office.

Mr. John Thompson, license inspector for West Northumberland, is in town spending a few days. Mr. Thompson is suffering from the effects of a severe cold, contracted last summer. His many friends hope that his illness may be of brief duration.

Mr. Wm. Brundrette, station agent of the G.T.R., leaves to-day for Clifton Springs, where he hopes to benefit his health by a ten days' sojourn. Mr. Brundrette's arduous labors are beginning to affect his constitution, and his past faithful efforts in the interests of the company entitle him to a long vacation.

Institute Literary Society.

The weekly meeting of the above Society was held on Friday, Mr. H. Fife, President, occupying the chair. Mr. H. Dumble gave an interesting essay. A debate on the subject, "Resolved, that the white race had no right to dispossess the Indians," Miss A. Halliday and Mr. L. Clurton for the affirmative, Miss M. Fife and Mr. H. Fitzgerald for the negative, was well contested. Mr. Colbeck, B.A., acted as judge and gave his decision in favor of the supporters of the red men.

Baptist Church Social and Tea.

A Social and Tea under the auspices of the young men of the church and congregation, will be held in the church, on Thursday evening, Dec. 27th. Energetic committees are already organized and at work with a determination to make the forthcoming social event a great success. Particulars hereafter.

The man or woman has yet to come forward and put their finger on the spot where Turnbull has advertised anything he could not give you. Look out for his column and locals elsewhere. dw

THIS COLUMN

Tells about the BARGAINS being Offered at

TURNBULL'S

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

We are showing Dress Goods a Dress Goods 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if fulled. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

SHOT DOWN BY OFFICERS

TERRIBLE OUTCOME OF AN ATTEMPTED LYNCHING.

Lawabiding Citizens Endeavoring to Disperse a Mob From Their Purpose Killed With the Rioters.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 9.—A crowd which had been collecting on the streets for several hours last night, at midnight advanced on the county jail with the intention of lynching R. R. Hawes, charged with the murder of his wife and child. Many of the best citizens tried to reason with the crowd and prevent trouble, and some lost their lives in the attempt. When the crowd was within a few feet of the jail door and had failed to heed numerous warnings, the officers opened fire on them, killing three men instantly, fatally wounding seven and wounding more or less seriously about 30 others. Following is a full list of the killed and wounded:

M. B. THROCKMORTON, postmaster and a very prominent and popular citizen. He was about 30 years of age and leaves a wife and one child.

AN UNKNOWN NEGRO was shot through the lungs and died this morning.

J. R. McCOY was in the front of the crowd when the firing commenced and fell at the first volley.

A. B. TARRANT was shot in the back. After the first volley he lay down on the ground with the hope of avoiding the flying bullets, but a ball killed him as he lay on his face.

A. D. BRYANT was shot through the heart. He was standing near the front and was doing his best to restrain the crowd from going any nearer. He fell at the first volley and died instantly.

C. C. TATE was shot through the hip, thigh and loin. He is a painter and lived at East Lake.

Col. BERT. SMITH (colored), shot through the right lung, died this morning.

FRANK CHILDER.

CHARLES JENKINS was shot in the back of the head, the ball coming out in the centre of his forehead. He lingered until 10 o'clock this morning.

— BRANDEN was wounded in the thigh and abdomen and died about 10 o'clock this morning.

LAWRENCE FITZHUGH, a civil engineer, badly wounded. He was shot through the shoulder.

CHARLES BAILEY was shot through the head, it is thought fatally.

A. J. SCHEIDE, a mechanic, was shot in the left side. It is thought that he will die. He came recently from Kalamazoo, Mich. Several of his companions were wounded, but less seriously.

J. W. MONTGOMERY received a slight wound in the left jaw.

MR. BERKLEY was shot through both legs below the knee while sitting on the rear porch of the residence of Mr. W. Siddons.

CHARLES BAILEY, a brakesman on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, was shot in the right side. His wound is not necessarily fatal.

JOHN H. MERRITT was shot through the calf of the left leg.

MATT KENNEDY was shot in both legs below the knee, the right leg being badly shattered, the left a flesh wound. He is also shot in the left arm just below the elbow and the bone is broken.

J. W. OWEN was shot entirely through the right thigh.

J. W. GILMORE, it is thought, is fatally wounded through the bowels.

ALBERT SMITH (colored) was shot in the back and seriously wounded.

W. A. BIRD was shot in the right shoulder, the ball passing entirely through him and coming out near the spinal chord.

Most of the wounded are in the hospital. Sheriff Smith in an interview to-day said he deeply regretted the occurrences of last night, but he felt that he had simply done his duty in upholding the majesty of the law. He said he gave the mob ample warning and did not give the order to fire until after the mob had begun to fire upon the jail. The sheriff has been arrested on the charge of murder.

Mayor Thompson, who was only inducted into office last Wednesday, issued a proclamation this morning expressing sympathy for the families of the victims of last night's tragedy and deeply regretting the occurrence but favoring the maintenance of law and order, and appealing to all who love peace and good order to refrain from public assemblage and remain in the quiet of their homes.

Col. Thomas G. Jones of the Second Regiment of Alabama state troops arrived here this morning with five companies, and is confident of his ability to prevent any further attempt at mob violence. There was much excitement for a while last night but it has subsided somewhat to-day.

CRUELTY OF A SCHOOLMASTER.

A Crippled Indian Girl Brutally Punished for a Trifling Fault.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 9.—A terrible story of brutal treatment of a crippled Indian girl by one of the teachers in the government boarding schools at White Earth, has just reached here. Two weeks ago, Lizzie Seal, with a couple of girl companions, after school hours visited some friends who lived near the school. In a short time the janitor came and roughly informed them that they were wanted at the school immediately. On their arrival there they were met by the principal, who was very angry. He carried a walking stick, and at once began to use it on the back and shoulders of the Seal girl. Her clothing was very thin and was poor protection against the blows of the enraged teacher, who broke his cane to pieces on her shoulders. After the beating she crawled away to a friend's house, where she passed the night, and was later taken to her home, where she has been confined to bed ever since. Her father is dying of consumption and her mother is just recovering from a spell of sickness, while the girl is now in a critical condition. A gentleman who investigated the story found her on a blanket spread on the floor, her body a mass of sores. In many places the skin was still raw from the effects of the beating. The injured girl will probably be unable to survive the assault and her friends are very indignant and propose to bring the case before the proper authorities.

Struthers' Narrow Escape.

WINDSOR, Dec. 9.—John Struthers, a resident of Tilbury Centre, had a narrow escape from death yesterday. He was on his way to Stony Point, and had just driven on the Great Western Railway track when the noon express came along. In spite of his efforts the horses would not budge off the track and in a second they were both struck by the locomotive and thrown into adjoining fields. Struthers escaped with a few bruises.

A New York Thief Run Down in Chili.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—William A. Bushnell, who ten years ago was bookkeeper for the law firm of Butler, Stillman & Hubbard of this city, has been arrested in Santiago, Chili, and will be brought to New York for trial on a charge of stealing and hypothecating securities which the firm paid $35,000 to recover when the theft was discovered.

Thomas Cusack, a Dundas young man, was before the Police Magistrate this morning on a charge of escaping from the custody of a police officer and also on a charge of felony. The alleged offences were committed seven years ago. He was committed for trial at the next assizes. He and three others of the same name have already been committed on another charge.

The art exhibition will be continued on Monday and Tuesday. Over $1100 was the amount taken in yesterday, making the receipts to last night $2100.

RUSSIA'S ROAD TO INDIA.

A LECTURE INHIBITED BY THE BRITISH WAR OFFICE.

Lord Randolph Churchill Explains—Mr Labouchere's Discovery—Mr. Mackenzie Deported.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The officers of the Woolwich garrison recently invited Charles Marvin to deliver a lecture on the cutting of Russia's road to India. Mr. Marvin accepted the invitation and made the necessary arrangements, but the War Office on learning his intention interfered and refused him permission to deliver the lecture.

Mr. Bright had a shivering fit to-day which left him in a very weak condition. Other grave symptoms were manifested.

Lord Randolph Churchill writes as follows with reference to the Suakim debate: "Had I wished to snatch a division in order to defeat the Government and aid the Opposition I should not have occupied 50 minutes with my own speech nor have selected a night when a five-line Conservative whip was out. The fact is that the present Government's Suakim policy is so irreconcilable with the Tories' attitude when in opposition that I felt very confident of receiving appreciable support in the ministerial rank."

The "Blackman" Question.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The Bombay Gazette, discussing the "blackmas" question, says: "Lord Salisbury seems to have spoken in terms as impolite as they were discourteous."

The Times of India refuses to believe that Lord Salisbury used the words.

The Indian Mirror says the words are a libel upon the whole Indian race and a deliberate insult meriting the Queen's severest displeasure.

Other papers make equally strong comments in saying that Lord Salisbury is unworthy to retain his position.

A Serious Question.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Mr. Labouchere has made the discovery that the steamships of the Inman line are chiefly owned in America, and will question the Government in the House of Commons to-morrow regarding the use of these ships in the capacity of cruisers in the event of war. This serious question leads to the incidental statement that Lord Sackville will remain in London during the ensuing week.

Boycotting Sir Morell.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The boycotting of Dr. Mackenzie by the Edinburgh physicians is the result of something like an order from the London medical fraternity, which, as the sense of a largely attended meeting, requested the Scotch doctors not to notice him. As Mackenzie, however, has compelled not only the notice but the patronage of persons to whom the existence of the Scotch doctors is unknown, it is to be inferred that he is not heartbroken over their action.

To Wed a Dying Man.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The report that Prince van Pless would marry Miss Woodville of Maryland is declared untrue. Miss Woodville has long been engaged to Prince Sapieka. The mother's opposition has delayed the marriage, but as the Prince is now mortally ill the ceremony will probably be permitted.

London Money and Stock Markets.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Discount was firm during the past week at 4 and 3½. The rates are rising to the level of the official quotations, with the prospect of increased stringency. On the Stock Exchange prices were weak. The dearness of money hampered business. Foreign securities were dull. English railway securities lost the recent advantages. American railway securities were unsettled.

The Panama Canal Co.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—A meeting was held at the Ministry of Finance to-day to consider the affairs of the Panama Canal Co. Leading jurists and financiers, Ministers Floquet and Peytral, several senators and other public officials were present. After a general discussion the meeting adjourned until Monday.

The conviction grows that liquidation of the Panama Canal Company is inevitable. The conference was without practical result.

Resignation of the Spanish Cabinet.

MADRID, Dec. 9.—The whole Spanish Ministry has resigned.

The Queen Regent has entrusted Senor Sagasta with the formation of a new cabinet. Senor Sagasta encounters much difficulty in fulfilling the trust.

Severe Fighting at Bagamoyo.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 9.—The British steamer which was recently sent to Bagamoyo returned here to-day with several Indian traders and their families on board. They report that the town is wrecked. There was severe fighting on Thursday and Friday and the rebel loss was heavy. Two Germans and two native dependents were wounded. Bushiere subsequently retired five miles inland. It is reported that he looted an ivory caravan and brutally maltreated the Wanyamweze porters who refused to join him.

Bushiere seized the ivory and either killed or cut off the hands of the porters who refused to join him. He left Bagamoyo abandoning his guns owing to a false report that the German stronghold was some with torpedoes. The rebel loss was 100 killed. The insurgents at Lindi have seized all the gunpowder in the Indians' houses and the Sultan's stores.

Dynamiting Strikers Arrested.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 9.—Two battalions of the line have been ordered from Antwerp to Galonviere, the centre of the strikes and attempted dynamite outrages. A large number of strikers have been arrested.

Louis Riel's Citizenship.

OTTAWA, Dec. 9.—There has been some talk here over the resolution introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Blair to investigate the citizenship of Louis Riel. It is surmised that the purpose is to impugn the legality of his trial and execution. Messrs. Robinson and Osler, Q.C.'s, who were crown counsel at Regina, say the idea that Riel was improperly tried is ridiculous. He was indicted on six counts and was arraigned for high treason as a subject of Her Majesty, and also as one who, being a resident of Canada, owed temporary allegiance to Her Majesty.

The Scott Act in Wellington.

GUELPH, Dec. 9.—The County Council yesterday passed a resolution memorializing the Governor-General-in-Council for an order that a vote on the repeal of the Temperance Act be taken in the County in February—a time when the farmers are at leisure.

He Played the Badger Game.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Henry Hermann of the quartet who tried to extort money out of Phil Daly in a Fourth-avenue dive, pleaded guilty at Jefferson-market Police Court yesterday, and was held without bail.

Digging for Hidden Treasure.

PORT COLBORNE, Dec. 8.—Gold-seekers are delving into the big sandbank three or four miles east of here near the Lutheran Church burying ground, in search of treasure said to have been hidden there in the good old days of Captain Kidd. For years this spot has been an eye-sore to many speculative minds, and this is not the first attempt to unearth the gold. The treasure is valued at $60,000.

THE VICTIMS ARE NUMEROUS.

How Amelia Sutton Swindled Windsor Oddfellows and Masons.

WINDSOR, Dec. 9.—About three weeks ago a woman giving the name of Amelia Sutton, applied to the Daughters of Rebekah Lodge in Windsor for aid. She said her husband at one time was one of the most prominent members of the Oddfellows Lodge of Sacramento, Cal. She told a most pitiful story and seemed to be well acquainted with the lodge workings. As is customary she was provided with money for a short time and took up her abode with Patrick Warren of Guyeau-street. As soon as her stock of money was exhausted she went to the Masonic lodge, told substantially the same story, but that her husband who was now deceased, was a member of Jappa Lodge of San Jose, Cal. They, too, came to her assistance, believing that the story was a true one, but at the same time wrote to the above lodge for corroboration. During the past week Mr. Warren has been losing silverware and valuable trinkets. As there was no other stranger in the house she was accused, but stoutly denied. Warren told George Adams, a prominent mason of his suspicions, and last night, when she applied to Adams for aid, he accused her of the theft. Finally she admitted taking the things and said they were under the mattress at her rooms. Adams immediately went to Warren's, searched as she said and besides the stolen silverware found a valuable clock and lots of other stuff which is undoubtedly stolen. After this he went down to see if he could find her, and at the postoffice received a letter from the lodge at San Jose, giving a description of the woman, saying she had victimized many other lodges. Opposite the Manning House Adams met her and accused her just as the letter stated, and she made a clean breast of it, also admitting she had victimized a Detroit lodge. She lost no time in taking the first boat for Detroit.

PROF. WIGGINS THEORIZES.

A Possibility of the Earth's Destruction by Flood.

OTTAWA, Dec. 9.—Prof. Wiggins, the weather prophet, in an interview yesterday said he was greatly interested in the eclipse of the sun on Jan. 1 next. "If the scientists obtain good photographs," observed the Professor, "they will decide my theory of 24 years ago, that the photosphere of the sun is electricity, and that this photosphere repels and attracts the comets through space by the well-known law of like and unlike electricities. The coronal streamers, in my opinion, are meteors carried through space on the trail of comets. Should they be proved to consist of meteors, my theory will be established.

"The ridges and lines on Mars observed through the Lick telescope are genuine canals, which the people have excavated for navigation, but especially for irrigation purposes. Mars has more clouds and less rains than any other planet, on account of the smallness of its moons. The constant fear of the inhabitants is the dread that Encke's comet will become a satellite of their planet. This great comet is constantly shortening its orbit's eccentricity, and moving very slowly across Mars' orbit makes it peculiarly liable to be attracted and thrown into an orbit about that planet.

"The earth is the only other planet liable to this danger, which is less realized owing to the comet's greater motion in crossing the orbit of our planet. What would be the effect if the comet were to become another moon to us? The earth's oceans would rise in a few hours 20 feet or more above their ordinary level, overwhelming a large portion of both continents. Australia and the Gulf Stream would be no more. The chances are a thousand to one that this will happen and yet this one might contain the certainty. Mars, however, is on the line of the greatest danger. Encke's comet, it is certain, must in a few years become a primary or secondary planet. I have a theory that many floods and earthquakes are caused by dark or tailless comets, invisible even through telescopes, passing near the earth's surface."

THE LATIN LEAGUE'S PLOT.

Italy to be Detached from the Triple Alliance The East African Situation.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—The Reichstag adjourns on Dec. 15 and will re-assemble about the middle of January. The critical situation in East Africa, where the Arabs are effectually wiping out the German colonists and clearing the territory of every vestige of the German regime, will force more ample explanations of Germany's policy than the Chancellor intended. Until recently the Chancellor has not had any enthusiasm about the East African enterprise, and would rather have avoided national action tending toward something like the Tonquin expedition. He now feels the stimulus of the excitement that is spreading throughout Germany, and according to official information is determined to protect the commercial flag throughout the ceded territories. A white book tabled in the Reichstag to-day blames the company's administration as productive of disaster. Writing early in October to the German Consul at Zanzibar Prince Bismarck said: "The company ought to have better respected the national prejudices. The natives ought to have been treated judiciously. The Sultan is seeking to make both the natives and the officials serviceable." A consular report declares that the Arabian element has thrown off the Sultan's authority. With the waning of the influence of the Sultan the company has lost its most important support. The conclusion reached, after scanning the forty-four documents included in the white book, is that the Germans could not be in a worse plight. Emperor William is making a special study of events in East Africa, the conditions of warfare in that region, what force would be required and how far operations should extend. Last evening he had a conference on the subject with Count Herbert Bismarck and Count Von Waldersee.

The Latin League, which aims to detach Italy from the triple alliance, is now openly advocated by Spanish politicans both Monarchist and Republican. Senor Castelar goes to Rome to invite Moderate Republicans to join a coalition to oust Premier Crispi, accept the existing monarchy and avoid hostility to the church until a league of France, Spain, Italy and Belgium succeeds in overthrowing the Austro-Germanic alliance. Though somewhat visionary the efforts to form such a league are carefully watched here. Senor Armijo, the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, privately approves of Senor Castelar's object, if he did not incite him to go to Rome.

Robbed in Broad Daylight.

FT. WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 9.—The neatest and most daring robbery ever recorded in Ft. Wayne was committed at high noon yesterday, right in the heart of the city, with hundreds of people passing back and forth every minute. On Calhoun-street, just after 12 o'clock, burglars entered Mr. Isaac Leafery's private banking house in Avedon House block while Mr. Leafery was at dinner and made off with some $2000 in cash and a number of valuable and not negotiable securities without leaving a trace that might lead to their identity.

Drink and "Seven Up."

BUFFALO, Dec. 9.—Alexander McPherson, general bookkeeper of the Merchants' Bank here, has disappeared, and is supposed to be either in Canada or California. He leaves a wife and two children behind him as well as numerous unpaid election bets. His accounts were in bad shape, but, when straightened out, no shortage or crookedness was discovered. Games of $10 "seven up" and drink are said to be the cause of his ruin.

TOPICS FROM THE CAPITAL

[illegible] TALKS ABOUT MILITIA MATTERS.

Mormon Colony at Lee's Creek—Candidates for Mayoralty—Theft of Stolen Salt Bag.

OTTAWA, Dec. 9.—In conversation yesterday with reference to The Mail's attack on the militia, General Middleton said: "In regard to the granting of appointments it is altogether absurd to say that the French-Canadians are better treated than the English. Out of fifty-five government staff positions only eight are held by Frenchmen." With regard to clothing, he said it could be procured cheaper in England than here, but he advocated the protection of home industries and the giving our manufacturers a chance to learn how to make the kind of articles wanted.

The Railway Committee of the Privy Council will meet on Dec. 18, when the case of crossing the Canada Southern Railway by the Lake Erie, Essex, and Detroit River road will be taken up.

Collector Allen of McLeod, who is here, says that the Mormon colony at Lee's Creek which is forty miles south of McLeod, is flourishing. He says that he had an interview with Elder Card when the Mormons first came and warned him that polygamy would not be tolerated. Card promised that it would not be practiced. He was not aware that this promise had been broken.

The French-Canadian delegates appointed at Thursday night's meeting to select a candidate for the mayoralty met yesterday afternoon and selected Dr. F. X. Valade. It is probable the only other candidate will be Alderman Erret, who has been acting Mayor for several months past.

On the night of Dec. 1 one bag of mail matter was stolen from a truck on the platform at Prescott station, and although the loss was discovered at once the bag was not found until Tuesday last, when it was found under the platform. It had been carefully gone through and all the letters opened, but whether any letters containing money had been abstracted is not of course known.

Dr. Allen, Collector of customs at McLeod, says that he has only heard of one instance, and that occurred years ago, of a settler being refused permission to homestead on a ranching lease, although the old leases do not contain the same homestead clause introduced in recent leases. All the leases are liable to termination on two years' notice, and the holders of old leases know that if they attempted to prevent homesteading they would be given notice of termination of their leases. He represented this as a most successful year for ranchmen and says the crops in that section have been wonderful.

Mr. Frank Arnoldi of Toronto is here in connection with the subscription of stock for the Ontario Trust Company. A large amount of the stock has been placed with leading capitalists here. It is rumored that Sir John Macdonald has subscribed for $10,000.

HARDWARE AND HORSES.

Two Ten Thousand Dollar Fires in Montreal on Saturday Night.

MONTREAL, Dec. 9.—A fire broke out in the wholesale hardware store of C. C. Snowdon & Co. on St. Paul-street last night and before it was extinguished some $8000 to $10,000 damage was done. The fire was confined to the third flat, in which was stored hollowware, etc., and the stairway.

Immediately afterwards a fire broke out in the stables of Dumaine & Halpin on Notre Dame-street. The stables were destroyed together with four horses. Loss about $10,000.

Barely Escaped with Their Lives.

MERRITTON, Dec. 9. A frame house occupied by Mr. B. Darby, near the Lybster mills, was burned down about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The inmates barely escaped with their lives. There was only a small portion of the furniture saved, and the loss is placed at $1000, on which there is an insurance.

Five Firemen Injured.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—A slight fire in the Northwestern furniture factory yesterday morning resulted in an explosion of mill duet, by which five firemen were injured, two of them dangerously.

A Normal School in Ashes.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Dec. 9.—The Central State Normal School in this city was burned to-day.

Business Houses Consumed.

DURAND, Mich., Dec. 9.—A fire broke out in Pikins, a small town near here, yesterday, and five business places were destroyed.

The Wandering Jew.

MONCTON, N. B., Dec. 9.—Roland Gideon Israel Barnett, the alleged Central Bank wrecker, passed through here this afternoon en route for Toronto. He arrived at Halifax this morning by the steamship Sarnia, from Liverpool, in charge of Inspector Andrews of the Metropolitan Police.

They were met at Halifax by Inspector Stark of Toronto, who takes charge of the prisoner to that place, where they will arrive by the Grand Trunk on Tuesday morning.

Barnett is very reticent about his alleged crime, but stated to a correspondent that he has done nothing outside of the usual way of business, still the liquidators are trying to prolong the agony in order to get their fees, etc., from the shareholders; that he had done nothing to place himself in the power of the law.

Sudden Death.

GUELPH, Dec. 9.—Mr. James Hamilton, who kept the hotel on the Brock Road about three miles out for a year or so after the death of his father, died very suddenly yesterday morning. He had not been well for some time back, but came down to breakfast. He complained of being sick then and went up to his room. His brother followed him in a few minutes to ask him to come down where it was warm. He found him sitting on a chair, seemingly gasping for breath and ran down stairs to get him something to drink. When he returned he found his brother dead. The deceased was unmarried.

A Blenheim Brute Breaks Jail.

BLENHEIM, Dec. 9.—Yesterday afternoon Hugh Finlayson, painter of this town, enticed two young girls, daughters of George Breeze and Thomas Holland, aged six and seven, into a stable and attempted to assault them, handling them severely. He was arrested and placed in the lockup, but broke out during the night by making a hole through the stone wall and made good his escape. Finlayson is a married man with a family.

Conspicuous by His Absence.

MASON CITY, Ia., Dec. 9.—R. Noisted, merchant at Ruddio, Ia., has skipped out. He was treasurer of the Creamery Association and is short about $1300 with that concern. The district school fund, of which he is treasurer, is short $1000. He was postmaster of the village and several registered letters are unaccounted for.

He Whipped Convicts to Death.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 9.—J. A. Gifford, the warden who whipped convicts to death at Coal Hill, was convicted of murder in the second degree at Clarksville yesterday and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

The Welland Canal Closed.

PORT COLBORNE, Dec. 9. The Welland Canal officially closed at midnight on Saturday.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1888.

THE Hamilton Times has the following remarks to offer respecting the recent discussion in the town council as to the removal of the McClary & Co.'s foundry to Peterborough:—"When London gets the Osborne-Killey works from Hamilton, and Peterborough gets the McClary works from London, Hamilton will have to get some shop from Peterborough, and the equilibrium will be restored. What a farce this bonusing system is, to be sure!" But you don't catch Peterborough voting bonuses. The town can offer manufacturing facilities, cheap motive power, railway and other facilities, which with any bona fide undertaking, will outweigh the dubious advantage of a bonus in some "one horse" town. We have in the way of unlimited and available water power, and transport facilities by rail, advantages superior to any town in Canada. The utmost limit the town is prepared to go in the direction of maintaining a hot house for the propagation of manufacturing industries that haven't a growth in themselves, is exemption of premises from taxation. All our thriving industries stand on their own bottom and don't need to be shored up by bonuses, and the town can't see its way to drawing away the sap from indigenous industries, in the way of bonus taxes, to nourish exotic enterprises, which, as experience teaches, have a chief output, in the majority of cases, of hopeless liabilities for official assignees to wrestle with.

DEATH is playing sad havoc with the members of the British House of Commons. Within the last few weeks several well known members have been cut off in the prime of life, and to-day one death is announced, and it is known that two other prominent M.Ps. have been given up by their physicians. Mr. H. J. Trotter, the Tory member for Colchester, Essex, who died yesterday, was a well known lawyer and railway director. He was but 50 years of age, yet till a short time ago as strong and vigorous that it was prophesied of him that he would live as long as his grandfather, Colonel John Trotter, the famous sportsman, who saw his 90th year. The Gladstonians should now carry this seat, as the ratio of gain, as indicated by recent elections will overcome the narrow majority of 295 in a total vote of 3,600.

The Seed Oats Fraud.

A farmer in this county has been duped into giving his note for $150 for a new kind of seed oats, and doubtless he is the victim of the same fraud that has been worked in the county of Hastings, of which a victimized farmer gives the following version. Last fall he was approached by an "ex-farmer" who told him that he was one of a few favorites to whom a new kind of seed oats was being distributed. He offered the farmer 30 bushels of these marvellous oats at $10 per bushel, agreeing to take 60 bushels of the resulting crop at $7.60 per bushel, thus insuring a profit of $150. Money down was not wanted and the too trusting farmer gave his note at 12 months for $300, as a token of good faith—a mere friendly formality—and the note and $150 in cash would be returned on the farmer turning over his sixty bushels of oats raised from the "superior oats," duly delivered. The year rolls round and the farmer notifies the supposed holder of the note that the oats are ready for delivering. But of course he is told that the holder of the note is out of the deal, and is referred to a note shaver, where his note has been discounted, and to secure his note he must accept the next year's victim's note for $450 and endorse it, in lieu of which he is handed over his $300 note and $150 cash. But he only jumps from the frying pan into the fire, for he is now on paper which if not paid makes him liable for $450. Any farmer with a grain of common sense must see that in the end somebody will be terribly victimized, while the originators of the swindle, with their nests well feathered, will laugh in their sleeves at the softness of the "favoured few."

Literary Notes.

THE DOMINION ILLUSTRATED.—The artistic publication still keeps up its merit. The issue of Dec. 8th is unusually interesting in both illustration and letter press. This work has completed its sixth month and the publisher offers to send the back numbers for the half year, and the Illustrated one year for $5; equivalent to year and a half subscription. This offer should be promptly accepted.

GRIP'S COMIC ALMANAC.—This well-known annual, for 1889, is now in the bookstores. For ten years Canada's "own and only" Comic Almanac has delighted her people, and the new number is decidedly the best of the lot. The calendar pages are unique and ingenious; the double page cartoon, "Irrepressible Tug of War," is first-class, while there are several full page cartoons of no less merit, and any number of side-splitting illustrations. The letter-press is capital reading. Ten cents will secure the book at any newsdealer's—a modest tax for so enjoyable a melange, surely.

Warsaw.

SETTLING UP ACCOUNTS.—The seasons business at the Warminster Cheese Factory from May 1st to October was totalled up by the Secretary, Mr. S. R. Payne. The result shows the total amount of cheese made as 118,990 pounds, which was sold at an average price of 9¼ cents per pound, amounting to $10,692.59. The average make has been a high one. The amount of milk delivered during the season is 1,285,237 pounds. Everything has been satisfactory. The selling has been done by Messrs. Edwards and Taylor, both patrons of the factory, who have done well. In all 61 patrons delivered milk to the factory, the product of say 450 cows. The greatest amount of milk taken in one day was 16,500 pounds, which happened on Monday. The average delivery reached about 11,500 pounds. The factory has been run under the management of Mr. S. R. Payne who is an experienced man and has charge of it for the seventh season. The annual meeting will be held on 29th December, at the factory when the accounts will be settled. It is expected that Prof. Robertson, of the Agricultural College, Guelph, will deliver an address at the annual meeting.—Register.

How's Your Liver?

The old lady who replied, when asked how her liver was, "God bless me, I never heard that there was such a thing in the house," was noted for amiability. Prometheus, when chained to a rock, might as well have pretended to be happy, as the man who is chained to a diseased liver. For poor Prometheus, there was no escape, but by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the disagreeable feelings, irritable temper, constipation, indigestion, dizziness and sick headache, which are caused by a disease liver, promptly disappear.

A New Machine.

A radically new sewing machine, patented in November, 1887, by the Wheeler and Wilson Manufacturing Company, has just been introduced in Peterborough by E. S. Mitchell, agent, 142 Hunter street. The new machine has so many points of advantage over all others that it would require a half-column article to do justice to its many excellencies. The manufacturers challenge the world to show a machine its superior. It does perfect work on leather and stitched goods alike, and is so constructed as to secure the highest degree of durability with the greatest facility of adjustment and least liability to get out of order. Its speed and ease of running is remarkable. If the leather belt were removed from the drive-wheel, the machine runs so easily that a single thread of No. 60 cotton would furnish power to sew four ply of ordinary tweed. It is also the simplest in construction ever shown in Peterborough, and since its patent 27,555 have been sold. The works are all rotary and perfectly noiseless. The cabinet work is of the old English oak, and of handsome finish, and is supplied with a "secretary" that becomes an extension when in use. This is the machine for family use as well as for manufacturing purposes, and all persons requiring a machine could not do better than call on the agent. 4d131

CHAPTER XIVIII.

INTERVIEW WITH SECRETARY OF WAR STANTON AND PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

When we reached Washington a day was fixed for an interview with Secretary Stanton. Ohio State Agent Wetmore and Maj.-Gen. Hitchcock accompanied us. Gens. Sigel and Stahl, with many other distinguished persons, were in the ante-room waiting, but as we were there by appointment, they continued to wait, while we were at once admitted. Stanton had long resided in my county town of Steubenville, and I had seen him, and knew him well by reputation, though I could then claim no personal acquaintance. We were seated, after he had shaken each of us warmly by the hand and uttered words of greeting and compliment. We talked for a considerable time, not so much on the subject of our expedition—for I took it for granted that, lawyer like, he had looked over the evidence in the case and made up his mind about it—as upon general topics, such as our impressions of the south and the Union men in it, and of our hope and feeling about the war. I was especially struck by his asking us how we had liked Gen. Mitchel as a commander; and when we spoke of him with unstinted enthusiasm he seemed greatly pleased, and said: "That's the way all his men talk about him." He told us that he had been aware of our expedition at the time, but had no accurate information of the fate of the party. His impression was that all had perished at first. On the escape of the eight in October he had made official inquiries of the Confederate government about us, but had been answered that they had no information of the hanging of any of the party.

He had then threatened retaliation in case any more were put to death, and had endeavored to effect our exchange; he was very glad indeed that these efforts had succeeded and surprised us by saying, "You will find yourselves great heroes when you get home;" then added many kind words about the high appreciation of our services by the government, which, coming from the secretary of war of a great nation to private soldiers, was most flattering. Stanton seemed especially pleased with Parrott. He was the youngest of our number and of very quiet and simple manners. Stanton gave him the offer of a complete education if he would accept it—I understood him to mean at West Point. Parrott answered that while the war lasted he did not wish to go to school, but would rather go back and fight the rebels who had used him so badly. At this Stanton smiled, as if he greatly approved his spirit, and said to him, "If you want a friend at any time be sure to apply to me." Then going into another room he brought out a medal and handed it to Parrott, saying, "Congress has by a recent law ordered medals to be prepared on this model, and your party shall have the first; they will be the first that have been given to private soldiers in this war." Later all the survivors of the party received similar medals. Then he gave us a present of $100 each from the secret service fund, and ordered all the money and the value of arms and property taken from us by the rebels to be refunded. Finally he asked us about our wishes and intentions for the future. Finding that we were all resolved to return to active service he offered us commissions as first lieutenants in the regular army. We expressed a preference for the volunteer service, saying that we were soldiers only for the war, and would wish to resume our usual pursuits when peace returned. He promised to request Governor Todd, of Ohio, to give us equivalent commissions in our own regiments. Then with a hearty goodby we left him.

We had been invited to call upon the president the same day, and Gen. Hitchcock accompanied us on this pleasant mission. My companions had done a little jesting about being able now to show me how much I was mistaken in trying to impose upon them the tall, plain stranger we had met at the Smithsonian institution without any guard, such as the southern papers said always attended him, for the giant and good Abraham Lincoln, which I enjoyed as much as they did. A still greater crowd than at the war office was awaiting admission; but as we came by appointment we had the preference and were conducted immediately to the private office of the president. We did feel some little embarrassment, but this scarcely accompanied us over the threshold.

The office was very plainly furnished. There was a long table and some chairs, but scarcely anything else. Lincoln met us at the door, greeted us warmly, and told us how much he had been interested in hearing of our adventures and how glad he was that we had at last escaped from the hands of the enemy. We answered as well as we could. I remember telling him that we were very glad to see him, though we had been hearing a great many things not complimentary about him for the past year. He smiled, saying: "Indeed, there are a good many people up here that say about as bad things of me." I also mentioned the reason that the other members of the party would not believe that he was the man we met at the Smithsonian, which caused him to laugh heartily and ask if we really imagined he went everywhere with a great guard parading after him, and if the people of the south believed all the stories printed in their papers? While talking he did not keep one position, but shifted from place to place, going from one to another of us, as he addressed each one with great courtesy. I specially remember part of one remark and his position while making it. Something had been said about political matters, and our joy that the Union party was now gaining in the country after the great defeats of the fall before. "Yes," Lincoln said, as he stood in a stooping position by the fireplace with his elbow resting on the end of the mantlepiece, "if we could only have a little luck with the battles now, all would soon be right and the war be over." The quaint phrase, "a little luck with the battles," left on me an indelible impression and memory, for we had been having very ill luck in that direction for some time. We did not wish to be gruesome, and ourselves made the first motion to leave; the president took the hand of each in both his own, saying again how thankful he was that we had been spared, and that he hoped we would find all our relatives living and well when we reached home. We left him, exceedingly proud of the honor the greatest man in the nation (or the world) had conferred upon us. We had now nothing further to detain us in Washington and were most anxious to be in Ohio again. A furlough for sixty days was given to us and an order for government transportation to our homes.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has follows. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. Church Chimes.

At Vespers in St. Peter's Cathedral, Sunday evening, His Lordship Bishop Dowling made a statement regarding his reported translation to the See of Hamilton. His Lordship said that so far it was mere newspaper report, and he had as yet received no official confirmation of the change—a change which he did not desire. He was delighted with the priests and people of Peterborough, and wished to live and die amongst them. Moreover he had begun certain works that he wished to see completed, and were he removed from the diocese it would only be at the Pope's orders. It is understood that the other Bishops of the Province had recommended his appointment to the vacant See of Hamilton, but he had himself sent in a request that he be allowed to remain in Peterborough. The report of the translation had not yet been confirmed. At St. Peter's Cathedral Sunday evening seventy-four young ladies were received into the Sodality by His Lordship Bishop Dowling.

There are some large Sunday schools and big classes in Peterborough. Yesterday the attendance at the George street Methodist school was 575, and at the pastor's Bible class 88. Rev. Mr. Torrance, of St. Paul's, has a class that averages about 75, and the Sunday school of the church is large in proportion.

Both services at St. John's yesterday were largely attended, and Rev. Mr. Davidson preached both morning and evening. The musical portion of the services was excellent, the beautiful offertory voluntary performed in the evening, was Mr. Seward's own composition, or, rather improvisation.

In the absence of Rev. S. J. Shorey at Darling on Sunday, where he preached the anniversary sermons of the Methodist church, the pulpit in the Charlotte street church was very acceptably supplied by Rev. C. H. Coon, of Lakefield, in the morning and Rev. D. N. Camus, of Fraserville, in the evening.

At the George street church Sunday, Rev. A. W. Dewey conducted the services. Mr. Dewey is the well known evangelist who was associated with Rev. D. O. Crossley last year. He preached two powerful evangelistic sermons, in which his originality of thought and expression and impressiveness of delivery were very marked. He also sang a couple of spiritual hymns at each service in a soulful manner that visibly affected the congregation. The text for his evening discourse was "Behold the man." From this he proceeded to point out the true characteristics of a man, as exalted before the eyes of young men the example of Christ's youth and manhood. He urged young men to be honest, independent and manly, of forgiving spirit like the Lord, or when his enemies persecuted him, of strong faith under difficulties and thoroughly Christian to the end. He decried the snobbery of the present time that looked upon honest toil accompanied by soiled hands and hardened hands as an indignity. Christ worked at the carpenter's bench and was honored by his labor. The motive that often actuated business men in these days was not the question of right, but "will it pay?" The example of Christ's life was different, and it should become the norm for all men to follow. In conclusion he urgently appealed to the unsaved in the congregation to accept salvation and become men indeed. At the close of the regular service an evangelistic prayer meeting was held.

Rather Chiniquy will visit Port Hope on Monday night, 11th inst., and deliver his lecture on "Rome and the Bible," in the course of which he will review the lecture recently delivered by Bishop Dowling on the same subject in which the fundamental principles of Protestantism were attacked. Father Chiniquy undertakes to show that Rome is the enemy of the Bible.

Rev. J. Farncomb, of Lakefield, occupied the pulpit of St. Luke's church both morning and evening. At the morning service he preached a very practical sermon on mission work in general, showing that the church was in proportion to its zeal in the missionary cause, and that as soon as the church grows cold towards missions, she loses power to do good at home. Rev. George Warren, of St. Luke's, occupied the pulpit of the Lakefield Anglican church on Sunday.

Rev. Septimus Jones, Rector of the church of the Redeemer, Toronto, preached the afternoon sermon at the anniversary services of the Western Congregational church in that city, yesterday. The singing was led by the Sunday school orchestra consisting of two violins, cornet and flute.

News Nuggets.

Mr. J. D. Baptie will, it is understood, be a candidate for councillor in No. 3 Ward.

A number of the electors are asking Mr. Allegheny to be a candidate for councillor in No. 2 Ward.

The Sheppard property on Stewart street was not sold Saturday by auction, the highest bid by Mr. Thos. Bradburn, $1,010, being below the reserve bid.

Editor's Night at the "Y."

The regular Saturday night's entertainment of the "Y" was well attended, and a very acceptable programme was presented. Mr. Stratton, of the EXAMINER, gave a short address, explaining a few of the agonies of an editor's position; the contents were most largely dwelt upon for the reason that they were a sort of unknown quality. Of course, the only satisfaction an editor has is in the knowledge of the fact that he is living a life of entire devotion to duty and is blessed with a clear conscience. Miss L. Sanderson read an extract on "The influence of a newspaper," showing the mighty influence wielded by the press for good or evil. Mr. Harbison, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., read the "Editor's Guest," by Will Carleton, in a very acceptable manner. Mrs. Annesley sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Annesley. Masters Duff and McKee rendered a piano and violin duet in good style, and the Y. M. C. A. orchestra contributed a selection that showed rapid improvement on the part of the performers. Miss Fotherop also gave an instrumental solo. The orchestra will soon take position among the musical organizations of the town. The Business College Glee Club also gave a couple of glees. Other amusements were provided for the enjoyment of the guests, and not the least attraction was the ample refreshments served during the evening. The Saturday night entertainments are deserving of patronage by those who wish to spend an hour or two in a social way. The ladies connected with the "Y" are making sacrifices to make these gatherings successful, and they should be encouraged.

Next Year's Mayor.

Who is to fill the mayorial seat for 1889? is still an open question, and one of the highest importance. We could name the incumbent if merit alone were the test. The man that has done most to lighten the burden of taxation should warm the seat. And that would be gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, who, in the reduction in prices of boots and shoes, have saved the people of Peterborough thousands of dollars. The head of a family who has bought his boots and shoes for a year from gough bros. has saved enough to pay his taxes. This is one way to look at it, to show what public benefactors this wonderful firm is. Stacks and loads of prime boots and shoes for every age and size at half wholesale cost. Where under the shining sun is there such another chance to make money, to get double value for money? No matter who is mayor for 1889, gough bros. are re-elected by acclamation the boot and shoe benefactors of the district. If you study your real interests you will go straight to gough bros., 375 george street, for your boots and shoes.

The Collegiate Institute Grant.

The Secretary of the Board of Education has received from the Education Department the following reply to his letter of Wednesday forwarding a copy of Mr. Stratton's resolution with reference to the grant:—

TORONTO, 6th Dec., 1888.

DEAR SIR,—The Minister has received with much gratification your letter of yesterday, with the enclosed resolution respecting the action of the town council as to providing the necessary funds for Collegiate Institute improvements. The Minister would have readily paid the Collegiate Institute grant earlier, if such an assurance had been forthcoming, and will now have the pleasure of remitting the amount to you immediately.

Your obedient servant,
ALEX. MARLING,
Secretary.

Encroaching Upon Woman's Rights.

Here's something new. The ladies have now more cause than ever to look to the maintenance of their rights. The young men of the Baptist church intend giving a social towards the end of the month, that will be handled solely by the male members of the congregation. Even the cuisine will be managed by the young men—the ladies will be rigorously excluded from even this their special department. The young men are apparently formulating a practical reply to the oft-mooted question—how could the world get on without woman. In the line of socials at least they are conceited enough to think they can get along very nicely by having the ladies as guests instead of helpmeet.

Small Sums Thankfully Received.

A circular has been issued by the ladies of the Peterborough Protestant Home asking for general contributions of the sum of 5c per month from the public for five months. On Saturday the circular was received at the Peter Hamilton agricultural works, and the men made their contributions at once, and these being paid in advance, a cheque for $11 was forwarded to the ladies of the Home, as the gift of the employees of these works. The sum asked is within the reach of every one, and it is to be hoped there will be a general response to this appeal on behalf of an institution with such worthy, charitable objects.

A Chemical Explosion.

This forenoon Mr. Fife, science master at the Collegiate Institute, was engaged in making a chemical experiment when an accident occurred that might have resulted seriously. He was generating hydrogen, to be used in testing for arsenic, in a Florence flask, but did not allow the chemicals to work long enough to absorb the oxygen, and the result was an explosion, which smashed the flask to atoms. The pieces flew into Mr. Fife's face and hands, but fortunately only a few small cuts were received. Had the sulphuric acid, with which the hydrogen was being generated, been blown into his face, it would have been a serious matter for him.

Handsome Acknowledgement.

The Citizens of Philadelphia to the Citizens of Peterborough.

This morning a handsomely engrossed acknowledgement, surrounded by a fine frame, was received by Mayor Stevenson from Philadelphia. It explains itself:—

To His Honor, Mayor James Stevenson, M. P., the Town Council and the Citizens of Peterborough, Ontario:

At a meeting of the friends of JAMES F. FARLEY, held at Randall Hall, Philadelphia, October 29, 1888, the following vote of thanks was unanimously passed:—

Whereas, having learned of the deep interest taken by you all in the case of James F. Farley in securing for him a commutation of sentence from death to that of imprisonment,

Resolved, that a VOTE OF THANKS be tendered to you and the following named gentlemen who so ably assisted you in the various delegations which went to the Hon. Sir John S. D. Thompson, Minister of Justice at Ottawa, in his behalf: Town Council—Hon. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., and Thos. Kelly; Workingmen's Club—Henry Doane, George Ball and Frank Faren; Citizen's Committee—Thomas Dolan, Thomas B. McGrath, Dr. R. C. Crevier, M. Phelan, Robt. McGreggor. Also the following newspapers:—Peterborough Morning Times, Daily Evening Review and EVENING EXAMINER, and the citizens of Peterborough in general.

LOUIS J. BURNS, Chairman.
JOHN F. MCGINLEY, Secretary.

Committee—
JAMES MCHUGH, SAMUEL FAITH,
JOHN DONOHUE, MICHAEL MCGEEHAN,
A. CAMPBELL, P. J. TIERNEY,
WM. B. IRVINE, MICHAEL LYNCH,
SAMUEL KELLY.

The ornamental penmanship was exquisitely done, and the memento is one well worth preserving. It is probable the acknowledgment will soon decorate the walls of the council chamber.

A Three-Cornered Debate.

There will be two meetings in the Murray street Separate school to-night. The Land League meets at an early hour, and the Literary and Debating Society in another room a little later. A trilateral debate will take place, the subjects of discussion being Imperial Federation, Annexation or Independence for Canada. This will be very interesting, and, besides, several ladies and gentlemen will contribute literary and musical numbers to complete the programme. This will be the last open night of the season, and a large attendance is looked for. Representatives from other debating societies in particular are cordially invited.

A Suggestion for the Board.

Since the first of December about half of the country pupils in attendance at the Collegiate Institute have withdrawn for the term, and in consequence the classes are disarranged and the examinations rendered unsatisfactory. The farmers say, that as there are only a few days' actual schooling in December, they might as well save the $2.50 month's fees and keep their children at home. Now it has been suggested that this difficulty might be overcome if the school board would make the fees payable quarterly instead of monthly. The country pupils would then remain to finish the term and the school work would be benefitted.

Music by Telephone.

The other evening, in a Rubidge street drawing-room, a gentleman was playing the pianoforte. There was a telephone in the next room. This was connected with a gentleman's residence in the country and the inmates of the latter heard distinctly every note that was played, and a young lady sang a hymn to the accompaniment played three miles distant.

Sunday Drinking.

At the police court this morning P. M. Dumble again drew attention to the extensive Sunday drinking that was going on in town, and said it must be stopped. He gave the Chief instructions to lay an information against the first man found selling liquor on Sunday.

Workingmen's Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting of the workingmen is called for the K. of L. hall this evening at 7.30 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing municipal affairs and, probably, drafting a labor ticket for the coming elections. It is hoped there will be a large attendance of the workingmen at the meeting to-night.

A Beautiful Shop Window.

Nobody can help stopping and admiring the beautiful and artistic dressing of the shop windows of Messrs. Rush Bros.' grocery establishment, which is a credit to Mr. Charley Stapleton. The embellishments consist largely of tastefully disposed trophies of taxidermy, magnificent moose and elk heads, which cannot be surpassed, besides other animals, birds, etc. These form a setting to a tempting display of samples of their goods which are a slight foretaste of the splendid stock of all kinds of choice grocery goods suitable for the holiday trade which the shelves and counters contain. The shop is packed in every corner with the finest of fresh seasonable goods, teas, coffees, fresh fruits, canned goods of every kind. It would be impossible to give even a partial list; it is enough to say that their stock is the most complete and best assorted that has ever been presented to the people of Peterborough. All choice goods of the highest quality. No housekeeper who desires to procure the best grocery goods of any kind the market affords will fail to visit Rush Bros.' establishment, 355 George street. d

They Retire With Honor.

For very many Christmas seasons past Messrs. Elliott & Tierney, of the Palace Grocery, have led the trade in the way of window decoration. Their show windows were generally admitted to be far ahead of all others in artistic display of seasonable goods, and now they wish to retire retaining rank. Not that they are being crowded out of the field—no, not by any means. But the fact is simply this, they are too busy to give time to it. The whole staff are kept working day and night supplying customers, and the care and ingenuity required in dressing a Christmas window in the style they have always observed in the past would require too much time to make it profitable for either themselves or their patrons. They are therefore compelled to rest upon their laurels and give other competitors a chance. But patrons of the Palace Grocery will reap the benefit therefrom. Their stock of groceries and seasonable goods are kept up to the highest standard. About this time Christmas fruits of all descriptions are kept in abundance, besides full lines of all other household groceries. Messrs. Elliott & Tierney invite you to call at the Palace Grocery, and though there is no handsomely-dressed windows to attract your attention, the firm can prove to you that their inside exhibit is unsurpassed in the district. dtf

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

Change in Confectionery Business.

Mrs. Harvey, of Midland, having purchased the confectionery business of Mr. John Craig (the lower shop), took possession yesterday and will hereafter conduct the business, as confectionery shop, lunch rooms and pastry shop. Mrs. Harvey comes well recommended from Midland, and, having employed a first class confectioner and pastry cook, is prepared to serve the public in these lines with a guarantee of satisfaction. Fresh oysters received daily and served in every style at all hours. Hot lunch at all hours. Remember the shop, 422 George street. Patronage solicited. 6eod126

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

MACFARLANE WILSON.

Indian River.

From Our Own Correspondent.

This vicinity will bear with regret of the sudden death of Mr. James McKenty, or "Jim," as he was commonly called. His death was caused by falling into a shaft of the copper mines at Sudbury Junction. "Jim" was well known here some two years ago when he worked on the C.P.R., and was highly respected both as a worker and companion, and his death will doubtless call to remembrance in the minds of many of the young people the genial times they have passed in his company.

The weary traveller cannot pass through the streets of our busy town without being charmed with the sweet melodies of organs and pianos on either side of the street.

This neighbourhood promises to do a thriving business in the wood line this winter, as there are some started to draw already. Two cars were filled with stove wood last week.

Our village is unusually quiet for this season of the year. It is to be hoped something will happen to create a little excitement before long. Why don't somebody get married or elope or do something to stir us up?

TURNBULL'S

Mantles and Mantle Cloths. Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Provinces. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. Our 50c. heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if fulled. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons There are our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

PRAISED BY MR. BALFOUR.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID TO THE IRISH CONSTABULARY.

A Motion to the House to Reduce the Irish Police Estimates Negatived—Reinforcements to be Sent to Suakim.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Parliament will be prorogued on Dec. 24.

In the House of Commons last evening Mr. Stanhope, Secretary for War, read a telegram from General Dormer at Cairo to the effect that General Grenfel, commander at Suakim, continued confident of his ability to cope with the Arabs but in the face of repeated offers of reinforcements he would not refuse them. A steamer therefore would leave Suez on Wednesday to convey to Suakim a squadron of the 20th Hussars and 300 men of the Welsh infantry. This would make a total force at Suakim of 6000 men, composed mostly of Egyptians, against 24,000 of the enemy.

Mr. Labouchere asked whether it was true that over 20 per cent. of the Inman line shares were held by Americans, also whether the company received a subsidy for placing its books on the admiralty list of fast cruisers available for operations in time of war.

Lord George Hamilton, First Lord of the Admiralty, replied that the Government was aware that a great proportion of the Inman shares were in the hands of American citizens. The contract with the Inman line had been drawn accordingly and differed with those made with other companies, regarding the period during which payment is to be made.

In the debate on the Irish estimates, John Ellis, M. P., for Nottinghamshire, moved to reduce the vote for the Irish police by £10,000. He protested against the Irish constables procuring evidence for The Times and forcing witnesses by threats to appear.

Mr. Dillon stated that in 1845, when the population was over 8,000,000, the cost of the Irish police was only £430,000 yearly; now, when the country was much less disturbed and the population 4,750,000, the police estimates amounted to £1,430,000.

Mr. Balfour denied that the police intimidated any persons to give evidence for The Times. The Government depends upon the use of the constables in effecting legal processes necessary to procure witnesses. He hoped and aimed to restore the relations between the people and the police to the condition of friendly respect which had existed before it had been perverted by the Parnellites under the pretence of working for the interests of the country. He gladly paid tribute to the discipline and excellence of the Irish constabulary, a body of men to whom the property and civilization of Ireland owe much. (Cheers).

Mr. O'Brien said it was false to say that Irish members of Parliament had ever used their power against the police.

Mr. Shaw-Lefevre (Lib.) deprecated employing the police to depopulate a district by wholesale evictions.

Mr. Balfour contended that it was paradoxical to draw a distinction between individual and wholesale evictions. He moved that the rule be applied.

On a division being taken Mr. Ellis' motion was rejected, 198 to 100.

Lord Randolph's Vindication.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Lord Randolph Churchill has written a letter in which he refers to the statement made by Mr. Stanhope in the House of Commons, to the effect that Gen. Grenfel would not refuse reinforcements if offered him, as a complete vindication of his recent disclosure of the inadequacy of the present military force at Suakim.

Mr. Gladstone will go to Naples on Dec. 19 to reside in the Villa Rocosbelle near Posaipollo until the end of February, when he will return at the opening of the season of Parliament.

Lord Sackville is staying with the Earl of Derby at London House.

Mr. Bright passed a fairly good day. He has gained a little strength and his lungs are slighly better.

Evictions Abandoned.

DUBLIN, Dec. 11.—The proposed evictions on the Clanricarde estate have been abandoned.

The Spanish Cabinet.

MADRID, Dec. 11.—The new Cabinet is announced as follows:

Premier—Senor Sagasta.
Minister of Foreign Affairs—Senor Armijo.
Minister of Finance—Senor Gonzalez.
Minister of the Interior—Senor Calderon.
Minister of Justice—Senor Canalejas.
Minister of Commerce—Senor Xiquena.
Minister of War—Gen. Cinchilla.
Minister of Marine—Admiral Arias.
Minister of the Colonies—Senor Becerra.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Charlton Inquest Again Adjourned—Central Bank Liquidators' Fees.

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—It had been expected that the adjourned inquest into the death of Lillie Charlton would have made some substantial progress last night, but the illness of Mrs. Charlton, mother of the unfortunate young woman, and the fact that the report of the post-mortem had not been received in time to permit furnishing the defence with copies caused an adjournment until Dec. 18.

In the Police Court yesterday Joseph Ford was fined $40 and costs for driving off R. P. Gillmore's buggy and smashing it. Ford was drunk at the time. Jim Daly was sent for trial for assaulting Lilly Kelly. Pasquin Rugia, the St. John's Ward stabber, was remanded for a week. His victim, Wm. Young, is unable to leave the hospital. Robert Reinholt, steward of the Turn Verein, was fined $20 and costs for keeping liquor for sale. Wm. White and Ed. Manshaw were each fined $1 and costs for disturbing the Salvation Army at their barracks.

The application of the liquidators of the Central Bank to the Master-in-Ordinary to fix the amount of the irremuneration occupied his attention yesterday and was not concluded when the court arose. An extensive affidavit of Mr. W. H. Howland was put in as evidence as to what the liquidators should receive. The affidavit showed that claims to the value of $70,000 had not yet been proved; that there was at the present time $602,719 lying in the Bank of Commerce to the credit of the liquidators; that a million and a half of the claims had been allowed by the Master. Notes of the bank to the extent of $27,322 were yet to be redeemed. Also that half a million dollars of the double liability was still outstanding; a further dividend o. 33½ per cent. was also suggested. Mr. Goodernam repudiated the suggestion that he had ever intimated his willingness to serve without emolument. The $300 per month allowed each liquidator will be deducted from whatever amount is decided upon.

Lady Macdonald and Mrs. Dewdney were visitors to the city yesterday.

Yesterday, almost opposite St. Lawrence Market, on King-street, a little boy named Fred Nagel was run over by a horse and buggy driven by two ladies. The little fellow sustained a fracture of the left leg.

Mansdorff and Kearney, the two men who were so terribly burned with molten resin at Booth's copper factory on Friday last, are doing nicely at the hospital.

The chess of the city will be taken tomorrow.

ROME, Dec. 11.—The Conservatore Romano declares that the new penal code and other laws would justify the Pope in quitting Rome.

THE C. P. R. ARBITRATION

TO ADJOURN TO-MORROW FOR THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

Another Stolen Mail-Bag—Vice-Admiral Rombier Dumo Members of the Conservation from the Pulpit.

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—A great deal of pain has been inflicted on Sir John and Lady Macdonald by a number of ill-informed but sympathetic friends who have been writing them letters of condolence on the supposed death of their daughter, Miss Macdonald. The member of Sir John's family who recently died at Kingston was his sister, Miss Louisa Macdonald, and as almost every daily paper in the Dominion contained an obituary notice of the deceased lady and mentioned her relationship to the Premier, it is surprising that so many friends should have made the mistake they have.

In the Canadian Pacific Railway arbitration case yesterday General Anderson, formerly of the United States army and now chief engineer of the Northern Pacific Railway, was examined on behalf of the Government and gave strong testimony as to the durable construction of the British Columbia sections. It was decided yesterday that the arbitrators would sit until Dec. 12 and then adjourn over Christmas holidays. After these the arbitrators will meet for about a week, when all the evidence on behalf of the Government will be concluded except that of Sir Charles Tupper, Sir David Macpherson and Mr. Hamlin, C.E. The case for the Canadian Pacific Railway will be commenced on Jan. 22, and will probably last about three weeks, when the court will adjourn until June 20 to examine Sir Charles Tupper, Sir David Macpherson and Mr. Hamlin. Sir Charles will be called to know when it will be most convenient for him to come over.

In the Exchequer Court yesterday Judge Burbidge rendered judgment in favor of the Crown in several local cases of persons occupying ordnance lands and not paying for the same. The court will sit at Sarnia on Dec. 18.

The Deputy Postmaster-General, while saying the story telegraphed from Sault Ste. Marie about the loss of a mail-bag on Nov. 3 is correct, states that no blame can be attached to the Canadian officials, as the bag was under the care and control of the United States Postoffice. No trace of the bag or clue to the robbers has been found.

Boring for natural gas will shortly be commenced in the vicinity of Billings' Bridge, the machinery now being placed in position.

Some dissatisfaction is said to exist amongst the men working on the Lake Temiscaming Colonisation Railway on account of a reduction of wages from $1.25 per day to $1.12½. Some have struck work and a general strike is anticipated.

Vicar-General Routhier created a sensation in the Basilica Sunday morning by calling on those who have been in the habit of borrowing small sums from him on various pleas of sickness in their families, etc., to pay up, as he wanted the money for educational purposes. He said he was aware that some of his debtors had spent the money borrowed from him in drinking, playing cards and living in a manner they could not afford, and he thought it a shame that then receiving salaries of from $700 to $1000 or more should come to borrow from a man who had only $220 a year salary. It is understood that his debtors are mostly members of the civil service.

Prices of U. S. Farm Produce.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The Department of Agriculture's grain report says: The returns of farm prices to the Department of Agriculture emphasize the year's average in production, notably by the heavy decline in corn and large advance in wheat. Oats have slightly declined in sympathy with corn, but other small grains have advanced. The average reduction in value of corn exceeds 20 per cent., a difference not greater than the disparity in the size of the two crops. The advance in wheat from 68c last year to 92c is due less to reduction in home product than to foreign deficiency. The average price of oats is reduced from 30c last year to 28c. Barley has advanced from 52c to 59c, rye from 52c to 59c, buckwheat from 56c to 63c. The decline in potatoes from 68c to 40c marks the lowest average recently recorded, while the highest was 90c 9 mills in 1881, when the product was only 109,000,000 bushels.

Belleville Briefs.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 11.—Several bogus British North America $5 bills are in circulation in this city. The counterfeit is a very clumsy one and is easily detected.

The case of Jennie Coe against George Purdy, who is accused with the paternity of her unborn child, was before the Magistrate yesterday. The prisoner was discharged but he was immediately re-arrested on a capias in a civil suit. There are two different suits now pending against him. The father of the girl claims $1000 damages and the girl herself demands $2000 for breach of promise.

John Slavin, a teamster well on in years, has been missing since last Thursday morning.

Buried by a Cave-in.

GUELPH, Dec. 11.—About 10.30 yesterday morning Arthur Willoughby was working in the bottom of a well, 32 feet deep, when some of the old curbing about ten feet above him gave way and the earth fell in. The curbing, however, fell across the mouth of the well and sustained the earth from pouring down and burying the imprisoned man below. He was rescued late in the afternoon in a weak and exhausted condition.

Assaulted at His Own Door.

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—Mr. Harvey, flour merchant, King-street, was summoned to his door at 2 a.m. on Sunday and assaulted by three men. Their object was robbery. Mr. Harvey resisted, but received serious injuries and is in a serious condition. No arrests so far. Mr. Harvey had a large sum of money in the house.

Barnett Passes By Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 11.—Barnett and the accompanying officer gave Montreal a wide berth, having arrived by the North Shore and made connection with the Toronto train at St. Martin Junction, going west by the night express.

An Alleged Fire Bug.

SARNIA, Dec. 11.—Wm. Greer, provincial detective, arrived here yesterday and placed in jail Matthew Jones, who is charged with arson in burning a couple of buildings in the Township of Sombra, this county. Jones is said to have done time before.

Burglars at Guelph.

GUELPH, Dec. 11.—Sunday night while the family of Mr. George Betchart, residing on the Waterloo-road, near the Pond Creek, were at church, the house was entered and over $60 in cash taken.

Seized for Debt.

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—The Protestant Old Men's Home here has been seized for debt on the building by a previous leaseholder.

Jacobs Withering Away.

MONTREAL, Dec. 11.—Mr. C. Corneiller, Q.C., paid a visit to Angus Jacobs, the Indian wife murderer, in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. He found him in a very critical condition and believes that he will die before the appeal to the Supreme Court is adjudicated upon. Mr. Corneiller says that, like every Indian kept in captivity, he is simply withering away, as did those who were incarcerated during the North-West rebellion. Jacobs is employed in the carpenter shop.

PART OF IT IS IN CANADA

REPORT TO THE U. S. SENATE ON THE ST. CLAIR FLATS CANAL.

The United States Chief of Engineers Says a Portion of the Channel is in the Dominion.

The report of the Chief of Engineers in response to the resolution of inquiry concerning the jurisdiction over the St. Clair Canal was transmitted to the Senate yesterday by Secretary Endicott. The report states that the question of jurisdiction is determined by the position of the boundary line between the United States and Canada. The exercise of jurisdiction by Canada over the exceedingly small portion of the canal to the east of the boundary line could not in any way affect the use or control of the canal by the United States, and it was apparently the recognition of the fact and the desire to benefit the citizens of both countries that prompted the adoption of Article 27 of the treaty of May 8, 1871, between the United States and Great Britain.

The River and Harbor Bill has been completed by the River and Harbor Committee and will be reported to the House early this week. It appropriates in round numbers $11,500,000.

A HAPPY WIFE IN A HAPPY HOME.

The Stories of Matrimonial Infelicity in the White House Denied.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Ever since the Presidential election of Nov. 6 last there have been hints in the American newspapers of disgraceful stories that were widely circulated from mouth to mouth relating to Cleveland's house relations, and which it is now asserted exercised no inconsiderable influence as regards Cleveland's chances for re-election. The newspapers, though they took no notice of them before the election, are now taking up the question and the stories are being promptly denied in every case.

Mrs. Whitney, the wife of one of the most prominent members of Cleveland's cabinet, has permitted an interview with her to be published, and in the course of this says that she is utterly at a loss to understand how such stories as these could possibly gain ground, or even could arise, and she is extremely indignant over the whole matter. As an intimate friend of Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Whitney declares most emphatically that all stories in regard to the alleged matrimonial infelicity at the White House are scandalously false, while on the contrary the President's conjugal relations are now and have always been of the most lovable and affectionate character. Mrs. Cleveland she speaks of as a winsome lady, and a devoted wife, and "Grover Cleveland," she says, "is a perfect gentleman in every respect. The stories about the President getting drunk are false like all the rest. He's not a drinking man and I don't believe he was ever intoxicated in his life, nor is he given to overeating and other bad habits. The President is gentle, considerate, even-tempered and kind to everyone about him, and since he has been in the White House he has never spoken an unkind word to anyone there, much less to the sweet girl he wasso fortunate as to win as his wife."

Mrs. Whitney in hoping that this will be the last of such stories says that since her marriage Mrs. Cleveland has lived an exceedingly open and accessible life and though much in company and every day receiving so many callers and guests, no one has ever yet found her otherwise than a happy wife in a happy home.

Chauncey M. Depew, who is charged by Mrs. Whitney with having at a private dinner told the story of Mrs. Cleveland's going to the theatre one night with Mr. Watterson of Kentucky and that on her return her husband vilely abused her and called her wicked names and finally slapped her face, states that though he told the story he personally did not vouch for it, in fact declared that it was not true. He says in effect that after the dinner, in conversation with some five or six friends, he repeated the story as one he had been told, and said then as he says now that he did not credit it.

SHOT IN THE BACK.

The Birmingham Crowd Had Turned Away When the Deadly Volley Began.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 11.—The coroner's inquest yesterday endeavored to get at the bottom of the facts in Saturday night's massacre. Excitement still runs high and the people are divided over the action of the officers. One remarkable feature is that nearly every man killed was shot in the back, showing that the crowd had turned away when the firing was begun. Postmaster Throckmorton was shot in the lower back through and through. A. D. Bryant was shot through the heart from the rear. Many point to this as very damaging to the officers.

Several funerals took place yesterday afternoon: the postmaster's, Mrs. Hawes', the murdered woman, and little May's. Throckmorton's was the largest and most imposing ever held here.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which Hawes was a member, have telegraphed that they have engaged a detective to work up the case. They believe that Hawes is innocent and that the colored woman, Fanny Bryant, and Alber Patterson murdered and robbed Mrs. Hawes and then killed the children.

Business is going on as usual except that all saloons are closed by order of Col. Jones, commanding the troops, and the only evidence of the trouble remaining is the line of troops and the cannon guarding every approach to the jail. There is still much feeling but it is subdued. No matter who was right or who was wrong in the tragedy of Saturday, that terrible volley is settled all desire of the mob to break down the jail. They will not try it again.

Sheriff Smith is still in jail under arrest and Chief of Police Picard was released on a $10,000 bond yesterday morning.

The French Budget Adopted.

PARIS, Dec. 11. The Panama Canal Commission held another meeting yesterday. It reported measures which were adopted permitting the company to prolong the period for meeting its obligations. The Commissioners will meet again to-day.

The Chamber of Deputies yesterday adopted the Budget by a vote of 383 to 112. The amount of the sinking fund is fixed at 27,000,000 francs. The members of the Right contended that the estimates were not genuine, alleging that the amount of the expenditures was falsified.

The C. B. Switchmen's Strike Off.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—At a meeting of the striking switchmen yesterday the strike on the C. B. and Q., so far as the switchmen are concerned, was declared off at this point by a majority vote.

A Valuable Steamer Wrecked.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—The steamer Canquina ran aground in Canquina Bay on the Oregon coast last night and is a total wreck. She was valued at $200,000.

Fined for Assault.

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 11.—Patrick Donnell was up before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning charged with having, on Nov. 16 last, assaulted Margaret Ryan at her residence on North-street. He was fined $20 or two months in the Central Prison. A second charge of assault, preferred by Jane Ryan, husband of the first complainant, resulted in a fine of $5 or two months in the Central Prison. The prisoner pleaded guilty to both charges.

Ashburnham Brevities.

Mrs. Barlee, of Lakefield, is visiting at her father's, Mr. H. Strickland.

The Rev. J. Farncombe was the guest of Mr. John Burnham over Sunday.

Mr. H. W. Kent and his men are making some changes and doing some repairs on his line of telephone wires in the village.

Messrs. Starr and Dormer who met with such painful accidents last week, are progressing as favorably as can be expected, although both are suffering intense pain

It is probably to early too express an opinion as to the composition of next year's council. No names are mentioned yet. It is thought the whole of the present council will seek re-election and as the affairs of the village have been efficiently and economically managed during the past year, they are not likely to meet with any opposition.

WEATHER NOTES.—Once more chill November's early blast has made fields and forest bare, while nipping frost and falling hail again remind us of coming winter. The first half of the month was mild, although the highest temperature for the time was only 64 degrees at sundown on the evening of the 2nd. The balance of the month was colder, and on the 23rd at sunrise the thermometer stood at zero, the first of the year. Rain fell on 11 days to the depth of 4 inches and 60 100 of an inch, being a high rain fall for November. The severest storm was on the 8th, in 23 hours falling 12 inches. Snow fell on 6 days to the depth of 2 inches, which is very high for November. The mean temperature for the month was 35 degrees, which is above the average. We had two thunderstorms on the 5th and 9th, but no auroral lights, a very uncommon thing. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, namely :—South-west, 6 days; north-west, 7 days; west, 3 days; east, 5 days; north-east, 4 days; north, 3 days; south, 1 day, and south-east, 1 day.

Obituary.

The Late Mrs. John Miller.

The EXAMINER announces with great regret the death of Mrs. John Miller, of Otonabee. The deceased lady had been much troubled during the summer with heart disease; last week her condition became alarming and on Thursday she breathed her last. She was a Miss Wood, one of a family of two sisters and four brothers, all of whom are living. Her father's family emiled from Berwick, Scotland, in June, 1835, and landed in Quebec on August 8th, 1835, the voyage taking thirteen weeks. She resided in Cobourg three years and then joined her father's family in Otonabee, where she has since resided. On Feb. 1st, 1842, she was united in marriage to Mr. Miller, by the late Rev. G. M. Roger, and was taken to the home which she graced with a Christian wife and mother's influence till her death. She had a family of ten children, of whom nine are living, one son having died five years ago. Mrs. Miller was a warm-hearted, large-souled lady, much beloved and highly respected in the community. She was an earnest member of the Presbyterian church. The funeral on Saturday last was very largely attended, this fact indicating the respect entertained for her by the community at large.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We are going to have a big time here on Christmas. The Temple will have an entertainment and great preparations are being made for the event.

The dividend will not reach 20 per cent. this year to stock holders in the cheese factory, owing to a change in the way the milk drawer has been paid. Had the drawer of the milk to the factory been paid as in former years, it would have reached that amount, but the patrons would not have notied any more. I believe, though, the change is, on the whole, more satisfactory to the patrons. I will know more about it after the directors' meeting, which will take place shortly.

The excitement in municipal matters is increasing. The Reeve will, no doubt, be elected by acclamation, but there is going to be a contest for the Deputy-Reeveship between Councillor Middleton and Mr. T. E. Bell. The general impression about the corners is that Middleton will be elected by a big majority. However, there is nothing so uncertain as the ballot box and the verdict of a jury. Mr. George Armstrong and Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald are also candidates for seats at the council board. I don't know much about these men, but Mr. Armstrong's unassuming manner is giving the impression that in time he would make a very useful man. Mr. Fitzgerald is actively canvassing and is apparently very anxious to be elected. The intelligent electors will settle all these matters. Let the best men win—say all of us.

Nothing Like It!

Every day swells the volume that as a specific for all Blood diseases, nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Remember, this is an old established remedy with a record. It has been weighed in the balance and found fulfilling every claim! It has been tested many years in thousands of cases with flattering success! For throat and Lung troubles, Catarrh, Kidney disease, disorders resulting from impoverished blood, there is nothing like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—world-renowned and ever growing in favor. b

Turnbull is determined to clear out all his remainder of dress goods. All the ends of dress goods that sold from 6c to 20c a yard, will be sold at 3c during the holidays. First come, first choice. dw

A Beautiful Shop Window.

Nobody can help stopping and admiring the beautiful and artistic dressing of the shop windows of Messrs. Rush Bros.' grocery establishment, which is a credit to Mr. Charley Stapleton. The embellishments consist largely of tastefully disposed trophies of taxidermy, magnificent moose and elk heads, which cannot be surpassed, besides other animals, birds, etc. These form a setting to a tempting display of samples of their goods which are a slight foretaste of the splendid stock of all kinds of choice grocery goods suitable for the holiday trade which the shelves and counters contain. The shop is packed in every corner with the finest of fresh seasonable goods, teas, coffees, fresh fruits, canned goods of every kind. It would be impossible to give even a partial list; it is enough to say that their stock is the most complete and best assorted that has ever been presented to the people of Peterborough. All choice goods of the highest quality. No housekeeper who desires to procure the best grocery goods of any kind the market affords will fail to visit Rush Bros.' establishment, 355 George street. d

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

CONFESSION OF A YOUNG CRIMINAL.

A 13 year old Boy Commences Murder to Conceal His Crime of Robbery.

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 11.—The last chapter in a remarkable story of crime was made public here last night. On Wednesday morning Pablo Orsolez, a 13-year-old boy in the employ of L. F. Bryant, shot and killed a Mexican named Nicholas Tirjas in Mr. Bryant's house. The Bryant family was absent at the time, and the boy said that Tirjas and a companion had entered the house and were robbing it, when he discovered them and fired. One of the robbers escaped. The Bryant family had been absent for several weeks, and the plucky action of the boy made him a hero. Tirjas had been shot three times, but lived until the police arrived, and with his dying breath accused the boy of murder.

Only one policeman believed the story and he made an investigation that culminated in a confession. After securing the most complete evidence he arrested the boy last night, and two hours after the arrest the lad made a confession to the police and a number of city officials.

He said that during the absence of his employer he had robbed the house of a large sum of money and jewelry. He realized that the robbery would be discovered as soon as the return of the family. He determined to execute a horrible crime to free himself from the charge of robbery. He invited Tirjas to the house and while the unsuspecting victim was sitting in a room Orsolez walked behind him and shot him through the head. Then he fired two more bullets through his body, broke open a window to give color to his story of robbery and gave the alarm. He did not believe the Mexican would live until the arrival of the police, and the escape of the imaginary robber would account for the disappearance of the property. All the stuff was recovered to-day, which makes a perfect case.

The Haytian Situation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Despatches from the United States Consul-General at Port-au-Prince were received at the State Department yesterday, stating that the Haytian Minister, the French Minister and the British Consul-General had made a visit to Cape Haytien in the French ship Brisson for the purpose of conferring with representatives of the revolutionary party at that city as to the best methods of securing peace on the island. The negotiations were altogether unofficial however as it was impossible to bring the two bodies together, the authorities at Cape Haytien refusing to go on board the French vessel and the committee on that vessel declining to go ashore to confer with the authorities, each showing a decided lack of confidence in the other. The Consul-General also forwarded letters from masters of American vessels at Port-au-Prince protesting against the action of the authorities there in refusing their clearances papers to other ports on the island said to be under blockade.

The Dynamited Chicago Distillery.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—J. D. Lynch, manager of the Standard Co., offers a reward of $25,000 to the person who threw the dynamite in the distillery building for the name of the man who employed him to do the work or such information as will lead to the detection and arrest of the parties responsible for the outrage. The statements of the whisky trust ridicule the idea that the attempt to destroy the property was the work, directly or indirectly, of their organization.

Husband and Wife Murdered.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Dec. 11.—Shortly afternoon Jacob Mottweiler was found murdered about a quarter of a mile from his farmhouse and his wife lying unconscious in the stable yard. Mottweiler had been shot and his wife had been hit with an axe. Mrs. Mottweiler is still alive but as yet no statement has been obtained from her. With the Mottweilers lived Wm. Beeson, a laborer, and Sallie Snyder, a servant girl. They were arrested and Beeson confessed. He said he was engaged to marry Miss Snyder. She was found to be in a delicate condition and this "gave rise to a" quarrel between himself and the Mottweilers. As he returned from hunting he met Mottweiler and shot him. Coming to the house he found Mrs. Mottweiler sitting and hit her on the head with an axe.

Receipts of hay were small, the demand poor, and prices steady. Hay sold at $10 to $20, and straw at $12.

On the Call Board $1.01 was bid for No. 2 spring wheat with none offering.

On the street the sales were: 400 bushels of wheat at $1.02 and $1.03½ for white and red; $1.03 and $1.06 for spring and 60c to 80c for geese; 1500 of barley at 53c to 54c; one load of peas at 63c, and 100 bushels of oats at 37c and 38c.

AMERICAN PORK CORNER.

The belief that some one was making desperate efforts to form a corner on pork for January delivery in Chicago, which has caused considerable excitement during the past few days, has been strengthened by the drop of 50 cents per barrel which took place yesterday. Early last week the price fell to $12.50, but later it was forced up again till it reached $13.70 on Saturday. Yesterday morning, however, it opened at $13.35, and no efforts of the bulls could raise it.

MAYOR STEVENSON A CANDIDATE.

To-day a deputation waited upon Mayor Stevenson and presented him with a largely signed requisition asking him to again become a candidate for the mayor's chair for 1889. Mr. Stevenson was persuaded to accept the requisition and has consented to again become a candidate. The requisition and acceptance were received by THE EXAMINER for publication too late for to day's issue. It will appear to-morrow.

THE WORKINGMENS CHOICE

Mr. Henry Denne Nominated for the Mayoralty.

Mass Meeting of the Workingmen—A New Town Council and School Board Resolved Upon—The Workingmen Air Their Grievances—The Collegiate Institute Condemned—No Use for the "Steam Machine"—The Mayor and Council Criticised.

Monday night a largely attended meeting of the workingmen was held in the K. of L. Hall, Water street, for the purpose of discussing municipal affairs. Mr. Geo. Rose, President of the K. of L., occupied the chair.

The Chairman in opening said the meeting had been called for the purpose of discussing a change in the municipal officers, both the town council and school board—and everyone would admit that there was room for improvement. It was not known definitely whether Mr. Stevenson would again offer himself as a candidate for Mayor, but he (the Pres.) hoped he would not. It was agreed last year that Mr. Stevenson would not again seek the chair, but he and his friends apparently had an object in his again taking the position. There was the Collegiate Institute on the hill that the workingmen did not want—it was of no use to them. He had understood it had been reduced to the status of a high school, but he saw by that night's paper that the Institute grant was to be sent on as usual, because the town council had agreed to give the money wanted, and the workingmen would have to pay this and help also to maintain an institution that few of them used. Mr. Stevenson was mayor and chairman of the school board, and had great influence in both positions, and the speaker held that the town's money had not been wisely expended in this matter. The President further condemned the action of the board in appointing Sergt.-Mayor Rundle drill instructor at a salary of $300 for a thing that was not of the slightest use. Mayor Stevenson and Mr. Dumble and others said the pupils must have exercise, and so they appoint a man at this big salary to teach the pupils to point sticks at each other. But the workingmen's children could better be engaged working at home for exercise. And Mr. Dumble had said at the last meeting that it was an indignity for the Collegiate Institute pupils to have to pass through several hundred dirty little brats (or words to that effect), children of the workingmen going to the public school, who should not associate with the rich man's children going to the Institute. Mr. Rose contended that a new school board was wanted to expend the money more for the interest of the workingmen, and if the workingmen could elect six men to represent them on the board these useless expenses would doubtless be removed. The President then invited discussion on the subject.

THE PROSPECTIVE MAYOR.

Mr. H. DENNE was called and on coming forward coincided with the President's remarks and pointed to his past motions at board meetings several years ago to show that he disapproved of the Collegiate Institute. He had been a member of the council for eight years and he would leave it to his record there to speak for him. He hoped honest men would be elected to look after the interests of the workingmen.

CRITICIZING APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. GEO. BALL said he thought public officers should be discussed in public. As for Mr. Stevenson, he had only words of praise to speak, and he (the speaker) knew for several months back that Mr. Stevenson did not intend to run again for office, but there was a clique in town that, when Mr. Denne's name was mentioned for the mayor's chair, feared that he would not run affairs to suit them, and so they were trying to prevail upon Mr. Stevenson to run again. He hoped their schemes would fail. One thing he had noticed in the past was that the representatives of the people in the council never lost an opportunity to insult them. Whenever an appointment was to be made, how was it that they always went out of town for a man? Mr. Ball pointed out the recent appointment of Chief Kozal, who was brought from St. Catharines to supersede Mr. Adams, a local man—and was he any better? He would say nothing about the school board, but he noticed that when they had to appoint an inspector they went to Northumberland for him. Were there not enough good men in Peterborough for the position? It was time the people took up this phase of the labor question. If we have not men smart enough to hold these positions, he said, we have not men capable of being good councillors. Now, the workingmen bore the brunt of these councillor's actions, although some tried to show that the largest taxpayers were really the merchants and manufacturers. That was not the case. Personally he had not a word to say against Mr. Stevenson, but he considered one honor sufficient for one man. The workingmen propose to nominate men for mayor and councillors, and if they had a council of their own choosing, they could then have a school board of their own choosing. He understood it was the intention to nominate Mr. Henry Denne for mayor.

MR. MOORE'S VIEWS.

Mr. Moore was the next speaker. He believed that all public questions should be discussed in public, and in pursuance of this feeling only a few weeks ago he had proposed that the nominations for councillors and Mayor should be held in one place in the evening of nomination day. He believed the ratepayers should have such an opportunity to criticise in public the actions of the council. He was not afraid of criticism, and was anxious to represent the town, but was ready to step down and out when the people elected a man whom they thought better fitted for the position. He had, however, always done what he considered his duty. He was glad to see the workingmen taking hold of these matters, for the labor interests were very large in the town and should be looked after. Regarding the contention that the Institute should be abolished, and the statement that the Institute would probably live a while longer because the town council had decided to grant the sum demanded, Mr. Moore explained the position of the council in the matter, in which the council had only objected to the way the money was to be granted, not in the principle of granting it. The school board was, he said, an important question for the ratepayers to consider, for over one-third of the taxes of the town was handed over to the board, in the expenditure of which the council had no voice whatever.

Mr. ADAM DAWSON asked Mr. Moore to explain why it was that the position of Chief of Police was taken from a town man and given to a stranger with an increase of salary, when this stranger was no better or not as good as Mr. Adams?

Mr. MOORE said he believed the people should repose a certain amount of confidence in their council representatives. As regarded the appointment of chief of police, the thing was between Mr. Adams and the man who now occupies it. Every day serious complaints were made against Mr. Adams, and it was the opinion of the council that Mr. Adams had not that experience nor "turn" for the position that was required of him, and if the present chief did not do his duty he believed the council would have no compunction in discharging him. Mr. Moore quoted the example of Hamilton, which went to Belleville for its chief. It was sometimes very difficult to get a proper man in one's own town, and in Mr. Adams' case they considered he was unfit for the position.

JAMES HALL asked Mr. Moore's opinion regarding bonusing.

Mr. MOORE replied that he had no strong feeling in favor of bonuses but he was rather against it, and he had in the past three years voted against every motion to bonus any establishments. He favored bonusing, however, in the way of excluding from taxation working machinery.

A COUPLE OF FIERY SPEECHES

Mr. McNaughton made a valiant speech in defence of the workingman and himself. He said that at the Knights of Labor picnic Mr. Stevenson, member of parliament, and Mr. Stratton, member of parliament, and the city lathers had made speeches but when he (Mr. McNaughton) got up to address the meeting, the chairman left the platform. And why? Because God had given them the dictionary and grammar, and God had given him common sense. (Laughter.) Mr. McNaughton gave a mournful description of the condition of the laboring men, of whom there were in Peterborough, he said, fully 75 per cent. who did not earn more than $250 per annum. How were they to live when their money was wrongfully expended? Mr. McNaughton then entered into an outline of the chief of police question, and pitched into Mr. Moore vigorously for several things.

Mr. WM. LANGFORD, being called upon, said he did not pretend to make any speech. His past record in the council would speak for itself, and he would only say, if he was re-elected, he would endeavor to do his duty as before.

Mr. E. C. HILL said he was, perhaps, the oldest resident of the town there—he had lived in Peterborough for 38 years. His sentiments on the school question were too well known to need repetition. He, however, pointed out that it was a shame to assess the mass of working people for a thing that would benefit only a few and those not of the working class. He pointed with scorn to the Collegiate Institute, which he designated a "steam machine" for grinding out dudes and educated know-nothings. The Board of Health also came in for a share of Mr. Hill's displeasure. He said the condition of some of the streets and lanes was disreputable, and the officers of the Board (or at least one in particular) neglected their duty because they were afraid of offending the men of money. He urged the workingmen to read and inform themselves, and see that their children got a share of the school benefits they were compelled to pay for. The town had to raise altogether nearly $22,000 to support this "steam machine," and he held it would be better to assess each county for the support of their institutes instead of making the poor workingmen of a small village like this pay the whole shot.

Mr. J. D. BARTIE was called on and said he had no record as he had not been a member of the council the past year—[A voice—But you will be.] If he was elected he would endeavor to do his duty to the best of his ability.

A WORD FOR THE INSTITUTE.

Mr. ADAM DAWSON contended, in opposition to Mr. Hill, that the Collegiate Institute was a benefit to the workingmen, because, if it were not for it, a great many young men in the town would not have received the education they had. It was the rich man that opposed it, because he would rather send his children to colleges than support an Institute that did not complete their education. He hoped, for one, the Institute would be continued in Peterborough.

Mr. HILL argued that what was wanted for the workingman's children was a good commercial education—not Latin and Euclid and Constantinople and a lot of other things they never needed in life. (Laughter.)

Chairman ROSE pointed out what appeared to him to be the drift of the school board, which was to have the Institute placed in some park separate from other schools. Now the government grant was getting smaller every year, and pretty soon the town would have to support the Institute altogether. He held that it was a man's individual duty to educate his own child as he saw fit. He did not believe in the State supporting any church or educational institutions; but it was, rather, every man's duty to educate his own children and give them a thorough English or commercial training that would be of benefit to them. The education received in the Collegiate Institute, he said, did not really benefit one workingman's child in a hundred.

Mr. BALL said no one felt the need of education more than himself, but it must be taken into consideration that the standard of education in Canada (whose system was the grandest in the world) was so high in public schools that when a boy passes through it he was well fitted to earn his living; and the government had done its duty by him. And if the boy gets a good grammar school education, if there is anything in him it will come out and show itself. The workingmen's children had no use for Latin and Greek; those were only used in the professions, which were already too full; whose members turned up their noses at the workingmen.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Mr. Ball moved, seconded by Mr. Adam Dawson, that Mr. Henry Denne be the labor candidate for the mayoralty at the coming election.

Mr. W. J. MIDDS, while not for a moment disparaging Mr. Denne, contended that it would be inconsistent for the workingmen to turn out Mr. Stevenson, who had served them well for thirteen years, simply because he had been so long in the chair. All the previous speakers had not made a single charge against Mr. Stevenson, but rather everyone had spoken well of him. He had been tried and proved; "let us then" he said, "put in the man who has been the true workingmen's friend in the past, and that is Mr. Jas. Stevenson."

Mr. ROSE said there was a decided objection to Mr Stevenson because he occupied a dual position on the town council and school board; and he (the speaker) objected to the management of the school board. He didn't believe in one man gobbling up everything, and the workingmen should be given a candidate of their own. Moreover Mr. Stevenson had stated that he would not run again, and he ought, in all honor, to abstain.

Mr. JOHN IRWIN said that, as a workingman, why not have a representative workingman. Neither Mr. Stevenson nor Mr. Denne were workingmen, but there were workingmen in the town able to fill the position, who could be elected. He named Mr. Douglass for one, who might make a good mayor.

Mr. BOGUE said that when Mr. Stevenson had declared his intention to withdraw, the workingmen had named Mr. Denne, but the "ring," when they heard it, feared he would not be the man for them, and so they want Mr. Stevenson to run again. However, he had not a word to say against Mr. Stevenson, but he thought he had enough public positions already, and, besides, he managed a good many things directly connected with the town. He did not believe this "ring" was working for the town's interests, and he hoped their game would be spoiled.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON complimented Mr. Denne on being a blunt, straightforward man, and he was going to support him through thick and thin, because he held that a man that had an interest in so many public affairs should not occupy the mayor's chair.

HANDLE WITH CARE.

Mr WESLEY MILLER, while being heartily in accord with this movement, said the feeling should not go out from this meeting that Mr. Stevenson was being thrown over because he was suspected of anything wrong or because they were tired of him. Mr. Stevenson's name, he believed, should be handled respectfully.

Mr. HILL pointed out that that was not the feeling at at all, but rather that it was the opinion he had honors enough without the Mayoralty.

Mr. BALL said the workingmen, in bringing out Mr. Denne, had not done so in a spirit of opposition to Mr. Stevenson, but he knew for a fact that Mr. Stevenson did not intend to run, and if he did it will be because of the influence of a clique upon him. He did not think Mr. Stevenson would stand for the Mayoralty after to night's meeting.

Mr. DENNE made a statement of his position. A deputation had waited upon him and asked him if he would stand, and he had told them if he was nominated he would. But before doing so he had asked Mr. Stevenson his intentions, and the latter told him that he did not know just what he would do, but if a very largely signed requisition came to him he would probably accept. He promised to notify Mr. Denne to-day (Monday), but he had not, and Mr. Denne considered it a slight. More than that, three months ago Mr. Stevenson had begged him to take the position off his hands. Mr. Denne said he bore the best personal feelings towards Mr. Stevenson, and hoped he always would.

Mr. T. MCGRATH urged caution in this matter. It wouldn't look well to be beaten—

The CHAIRMAN—We won't be beaten.

The speaker, continuing, said the workingmen had grievances, and if Mr Stevenson did not promise to reform them, then it would be time to declare against him.

Mr. BOGUE—What about the action of the mayor and council on the petition of the workingmen about the appointment of a chief of police?

Mr. MCGRATH said he didn't know anything about that; but he believed in having a representative workingman in the chair, and if Mr. Stevenson was opposed at all it should be by a man who was a workingman and one of themselves.

Chairman ROSE stated that he had no ill feelings or objections towards Mr. Stevenson, but the workingmen had met for a purpose that they were resolved to carry out. It was not a question of Mr. Stevenson or Mr. Denne for mayor, but the labor interests of the town were in the balance.

THE CHOICE MADE.

The Chairman closed the discussion by putting the question to the meeting, and it was carried without any "nays" being asked.

The meeting then adjourned, with the understanding that next Monday night another meeting will be held for the purpose of nominating a full labor ticket for councillors.

Some Accidents.

Yesterday afternoon the 4 year-old son of Mr. B. Hays, of Otonabee, near Skibbereen, while running across the floor fell and broke his leg. The little sufferer was taken to Keene, and Dr. Harrison repaired the fracture.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Carson, while washing windows in Mr. John Craig's confectionery, was standing on a sideboard to reach her work. She fell and broke her arm at the wrist—a very serious injury to a person depending upon her hands for her support. Dr. Yelland was called in and rendered the necessary surgical assistance.

Last night a young lad, John Wylie, was crossing George street, and, his attention being called in another direction, he was struck by a horse driven at a moderate gait, knocked down and trampled by the hoofs of the horse. He was carried into Ormond & Walsh's drug store and Dr. Kincaid attended to his injuries, which are more painful than serious.

County Court.

Opening of the December Sessions.

The December sessions of the county court opened at one o'clock this afternoon before His Honor Judge Weller.

The local bar was largely represented. Mr. Holmes, of Holmes & Gregory, Toronto, was the only member from a distance present.

The Grand Jury was impanelled as follows:—

H. S. McDonald, foreman.

Wm. Brownscombe,	Philip Creagh,
Richard Cosgrove,	James Clotworthy,
Johnston Carey,	John Cardwell,
Jer. Chase,	Sylvester Fife,
Alex. Gillespie,	Patrick Hogan,
R. J. Kidd,	Richard Lillico,
Wm. Lamedon,	Geo. Lancaster,
Matthew Nicholl,	Robt. James,
Jas. Stothart,	George Varty.

His Honor, in addressing the grand jury, enumerated the criminal cases that would be presented for their consideration—larceny, assault with intent to kill and house-breaking. The docket was larger than usual for this court, and His Honor explained what constituted the charges named. Passing over the larceny case he referred to the charge against Greenfield, which was a serious one. He charged the jurymen to disburden their minds of all prejudices or feelings that they might entertain towards the prisoners from what they had heard or read in the public press. All these cases had been pretty well ventilated in the newspapers but they should treat the prisoners as though they had never heard of them before. His Honor entered pretty fully into the details of the cases mentioned, and discharged the Grand Jury to their other duty of inspecting the gaol, calling their attention to the fact that a lunatic was improperly confined in the gaol, which was no place for him.

The civil business of the court was then proceeded with.

Superior English Cutlery.

We were shown to-day by Mr. Stethem his last importation from John Clarke & Son, Sheffield, England, per steamer "Vancouver," of their elegant pocket, pen, sportsmen's and ladies' knives; carving knives and forks, table steels, and ivory handled table and dessert knives, and must say that we have never seen goods their equal. The makers are one of the oldest in England, making nothing but the finest goods. This lot, with his last importation of the celebrated B 4 Any pocket and butcher knives, enables Mr. Stethem to show a line of cutlery that cannot be surpassed in the largest cities of the continent for quality and appearance, and being direct from the makers the goods are being sold as cheap as are goods of inferior quality and finish. Call and see them. Mr. Stethem will be pleased to exhibit them to each and every one. t th-w

Women's Work.

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. Monday afternoon the following unanimous vote of thanks was passed:—"That we, the members of the W.C.T.U., tender our sincere thanks to the Rev. Mr. Dewey, of Lindsay East, for his soul-stirring remarks on the temperance question in his sermons on Sabbath last, in the George street Methodist church, Peterborough, and for the able manner in which he drove the truth home by his singing of 'Save the Boy.' It is our earnest prayer that he may be the means in God's hands of saving many boys." A social was arranged for, to be held in the W. C. T. U. Hall on Thursday, Dec. 20th, of which further notice will be given in these columns. The meeting was adjourned for one week.

Officers of the National League.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Irish National League was held at the Separate School last night. There was a large attendance and addresses were delivered by Messrs. O'Meara, Fitzgerald, Cahill and others. The following officers were elected:—

HONORARY PRESIDENT—J. W. Fitzgerald.
PRESIDENT—T. Cahill.
VICE-PRESIDENTS—C. J. Leonard, Jno. P. Hurley and C. Halpin.
TREASURER—J. Corkery.
SECRETARY—J. D. McIlmoyle.

A number of subscriptions towards the Parnell fund were taken and other minor business transacted. The resolutions passed at a recent meeting will shortly be published with a list of the donations.

CHRISTMAS, 1888,

AT CHINA HALL.

LOVELY RICH NEW GOODS IN

China, Silver, Fancy Goods, Glassware, Cutlery, Lamps, &c.

Our Stock this Season far Surpasses any other Christmas Display we have ever made, and is equal if not superior to the Finest City Assortments. We import more largely than any retail dealer in either Toronto or Montreal. We sell from 10 to 25 per cent below the above cities. Some of our Finest Goods are sold to go to these cities.

PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE

will find it to pay to make all their purchases for the holidays in the above Lines at China Hall. Our Christmas Display is now Complete, and we invite the public to visit our Show Rooms and inspect the Goods. The sight is worth seeing, and no one will be asked to buy. Open every evening.

MACFARLANE WILSON.

Personal.

Mr. A. B. Owen, of Toronto, travelling agent of Dr. Barnardo's Homes in Canada, is in town to-day for the purpose of visiting the boys from the Home in the surrounding country.

Mr. H. W. Laird of the Port Hope Times was in town last evening and give us a call. He had been attending a meeting of the Conservative Association at Millbrook, and thought, (we suppose) he would like to see a city before his return home.

Rev. Mr. Parker and Rev. Mr. Shorey will deliver addresses at the entertainment in the Temperance Hall 4th line Smith this evening. Mr. J. R. Stratton will occupy the chair.

Mr. J. B. Hutchins, a former resident, is in town. He still finds time to court the Muse of Music. He has successfully essayed the role of composer, and has now in the hands of his publisher a waltz song of his own composition. The publisher is so well pleased with it that he assumes all the expense of publication, trusting to be recompensed by the demand, which will be great, considering the fact that already 200 copies are ordered before the plates are ready. "Idylwild" Waltz will be out in about a week. Mr. Hutchins has in hand also a jersey and polka.

A School for Ladies.

Mr. Duff has pleasure in announcing that, after the Christmas vacation, he will, in connection with his educational work, establish a school for young ladies. Mr. and Mrs. Duff will have the supervision over, and share the duties connected with the girls' work. In addition, they have secured the services of Miss Harden, a lady thoroughly fitted, both by education and experience, to further their aims in this respect. The daughter of a north of Ireland clergyman, Miss Harden was educated in one of the best colleges in Dublin, where, in addition to other distinctions, she obtained the medal of the Intermediate Education Board, and the South Kensington certificate for drawing. In this country she matriculated with honors at Toronto University; and has since been engaged in high school work, preparing students for entrance to Toronto University and for second and third class certificates. The subjects taught will include classics, mathematics, French, German, drawing, and all English subjects. The boys' work will continue as heretofore under Mr. Duff's direction. The date of re-opening will be announced later. d

A Sad and Sudden Death.

The funeral of Miss Katie Dowding, of Port Perry, whose tragic death by asphyxiation at the house of a friend in Toronto Sunday morning was reported in our telegraphic despatches, took place at noon today. The body was brought down from Toronto on the 11:40 train and conveyed to St. John's church, where a funeral service was held, after which the remains were interred in Little Lake Cemetery. Deceased with her mother lived in Peterborough about sixteen years ago, removing from here to Port Perry. She was a niece of Mr. Geo. Dunsfort and a relative of Mr. M. M. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon. The funeral took place here because others of the family have their last resting place in Little Lake Cemetery. A number of the deceased girl's friends and relatives from Port Perry, Bobcaygeon and Peterborough attended the last sad rites.

Christmas Times.

Great reduction in price of ladies kid mits, former price $1.25 and $1.35, present price 75c. per pair. We have a nice lot of woolen goods suitable for the holiday trade, also a large assortment of fancy bordered handkerchiefs for the juniors and silk handkerchiefs for the seniors. Our grey flannels are unexcelled in town for the price. Just received—a new line of Halifax tweeds for boys' wear. W. W. JOHNSTON, d 410 Crystal Block.

A Good Purchase.

Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan has purchased the new number nine Wheeler and Wilson sewing machine from Mrs. S. A. Mitchell, a discription of which appeared in the EXAMINER last week. It is an excellent sewing machine and Mrs. O'Sullivan is to be congratulated upon securing the first machine of this size sold in Peterborough. d

---

A Very Good Idea.

To the public in general W. J. Morrow shows a very good way of returning his thanks by placing during the holiday season, only, his entire stock of groceries at cost. So those who are anxious to purchase their Christmas supplies will do well to call. Our sale is now going on. 340 George street dw

Tells about the BARGAINS being Offered at

TURNBULL'S

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Clothe are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if fulled. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

MANITOBA CROSSING CASE

THE SUPREME COURT'S DECISION LOOKED FOR ON FRIDAY.

Two Wrecks on the Cape Breton Coast Reported to the Marine Department—Application for a Land Grant.

OTTAWA, Dec. 12.—In the Canadian Pacific Railway arbitration case yesterday Major Wilton, late of the Confederate army and now Chief Engineer on the Tennessee Railway, and Captain Mallee, Superintendent of the South Carolina Railway, were examined and gave evidence in favor of the Government's contention that the British Columbia sections were well built.

The Marine Department was advised yesterday of the wreck of the schooner Blanchet of Newfoundland at Schooner Point Head, C. B., and of the brigantine Vista of Newfoundland at Cranberry Head, C. B. The collector of Customs at North Sydney has been authorized to assist the crew of the latter to reach home.

The Supreme Court will meet for the delivery of judgments on Friday, when it is expected a decision will be given in the Manitoba railway crossing case.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland of Toronto yesterday made application to the Minister of the Interior for a land grant in aid of the Methodist mission at Qu'Appelle.

Fourteen tenders were received for the dredging work at the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, but no award has yet been made.

The Minister of Justice has informed the Attorney-General of Quebec that the Federal Executive will not grant immunity from punishment to Maguire, Landry, or any of the other witnesses who refused to answer certain questions put to them while under examination before the Quebec beedle commission.

CONFISCATING BARBED WIRE.

Farmers on the St. Lawrence not so Sharp as They Thought They Were.

GANANOQUE, Dec. 12.—The farmers living near the St. Lawrence River seems to have discovered that owing to the "combine" among Canadian manufacturers, barb wire for fencing is somewhat cheaper in New York State than in Ontario, and the temptation to invest hard-earned wealth in the American article across the border has proved irresistible. Saving 1½ cents a pound, which amounts to $7 on a 4-wire fence 100 rods long, was quite an item and with 12½ cents per rod bonus paid by the township, helped materially to build the fence. But it was too good a thing to keep, and some one went in for the bonus on information and gave the thing away.

The result is that if all stories be true the Gananoque Customs Collector has scooped in over $700 from the luckless farmers and is setting his net for others.

WINNIPEG'S MAYORALTY.

Ryan Elected by a Majority of 235 Over Mulvey—The Vote.

WINNIPEG, Dec 12.—The vote for Mayor yesterday resulted as follows:

Ryan	1551
Mulvey	1316
Majority for Ryan	235

These aldermen were elected;

Ward 1—Ross, Lewis.
Ward 2—Mackenzie, Hargrave.

The other aldermen were elected by acclamation.

Judge Sinclair on British Connection.

HAMILTON, Dec. 12.—In addressing the grand jury at the opening of the Wentworth County Court yesterday Judge Sinclair referred to the Governor-General's recent visit and said that he hoped the relations which existed between Canada and the mother country might long continue as at present; and, unless some such difficulty shall arise as that which severed the American colonies from the British crown, he was sure that such relations would continue to exist. If Canada is treated in the same way in the future as it has been during the benign reign of Queen Victoria there is no danger that any rupture of the existing relations shall take place. In absence of any such injustice on the part of the mother country as that which caused the separation of the American colonies, it should be a long day before Canadians shall detach themselves from the mother country which has treated them so well in the past, and will, he hoped, treat them as well in the future.

Fatal Fire in a New Brunswick Prison.

DORCHESTER, N. B., Dec. 12.—Fire was discovered Monday night in the quarters occupied by Deputy Warden Keefe, who, with his wife, was in bed at the time. Both reached the bedroom door when they fell, overcome by smoke. Dr. Church was promptly called, but Mr. Keefe was too far gone and he died soon after. Mrs. Keefe lies in a critical condition. The fire was prevented from spreading to the prison wings by the prompt and energetic action of the prison officers.

Gas Explosion at Quebec.

QUEBEC, Dec. 12.—At 5.40 yesterday morning an explosion of gas took place in the cellar of a house occupied by Mr. Lafrance, and adjoining the office of The Morning Chronicle. The shock was very severe, completely wrecking the inside of the building. The windows on the first flat were blown across the street and the upper windows were completely shattered, as well as those of the building opposite. There was no person in the building at the time.

Natural Gas at St. Kitts.

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 12.—While drilling at the experimental gas well on John H. Broderick's farm a short distance west of this city last night a pocket of natural gas was struck at a depth of 312 feet. The find has caused a sensation. The vein will be immediately piped but the drillers have decided to bore deeper as they feel confident a large vein will be found.

Foul Play Suspected.

AYLMER, Dec. 12.—Yesterday afternoon Detective J. G. Clayton received a warrant from Dr. F. W. McKay, coroner, to exhume the body of Richard J. Brown for an inquest at Dunboyne at 3 p. m. to-day. The deceased, who lived at Copenhagen, having died under suspicious circumstances foul play is suspected.

Sent to the Penitentiary.

MONTREAL, Dec. 12.—Bridget Cassidy, wife of J. Larose, a servant who, when employed by Mr. Lightstone, grocer, ironed the face of his three-month-old boy Harry with a red-hot flat iron and then attempted to choke the boy, was sent to the penitentiary for three years.

Scott Act Fines at Oshawa.

OSHAWA, Dec. 12.—Police Magistrate Grierson has fined J. W. Rey of the Queen's and Pat Creighton of the Central Hotel $50 each. License Inspector John Ferguson prosecuted.

The Fire Record.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 11.—The Rogers elevator at Clearwater was burned Sunday with nearly all its contents—12,000 bushels of grain. Some grain was saved by chopping holes in the sides of the building and letting it run out. Loss, $15,000; insurance, $8000.

BERLIN, Ont., Dec. 11.—Sunday afternoon an incipient fire occurred in a small frame dwelling house on Frederick street occupied by a widow named Smith. It originated from the chimney. The fire was soon extinguished, the most damage being done by water. Loss estimated at $460. The new water system is proving a boon to Berlin.

THE EAST AFRICA PUZZLE.

COUNT BISMARCK'S EXPOSITION OF HIS PAPA'S POLICY.

The International Conference on the Slave Trade Dropped—The Pope's Rebuke—Other Transcontinental Advices.

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—Count Herbert Bismarck's exposition of the Government's policy in East Africa was made to the Foreign Committee of the Reichstag yesterday. On request of Count Herbert the committee will maintain secrecy regarding his statement and the subsequent debate. Despite the attempt at secrecy, however, it has transpired that Count Herbert declared that the Government would take measures for the permanent security of the German possessions in East Africa, but it was not in a position to submit a positive plan demanding the attention of the committee. He trusted that the Reichstag would also show sympathy with commercial enterprises in East Africa, an expression which was taken to mean that the Government would incline to support the East African Company's volunteer land force project. Count Herbert further states that the number of the insurgents was nothing like so large as supposed. He advocated Lieut. Wissman's going to the relief of Emin Bey, saying that the funds required for the expedition bore no proportion to the immense amounts lavished by other nations upon similar enterprises. The impression left by his statement is that the Government plans are not matured and that Prince Bismarck is still corresponding with Lord Salisbury regarding the land operations. Lieut. Wissman's preparations will be completed in a week. He proposes to start for Zanzibar in a fortnight and has presented a report to the Emperor on the route and prospects of the expedition.

The international conference on the slave trade has been dropped mainly because of the efforts on the part of the Catholic leaders to dominate the Congress. They insisted that the Pope should nominally preside. The majority of the Powers were opposed to giving the conference the aspect of initiating a crusade, and some were also jealous of recognising the Vatican as a political power which could be entitled to an equal vote with the temporal powers.

They Feared Violence

LONDON, Dec. 12.—At the session of the Parnell Commission yesterday several landlords testified that tenants had asked them to keep secret the fact that they had paid their rents owing to fear of violence from the league. In some cases they had asked for two receipts, one for the full amount paid and the other for a lesser amount. The latter they wanted to show to the league. The witnesses also testified that persons evicted generally had the option of remaining on the holdings as caretakers, but they dared not remain in this capacity because they were afraid of offending the league.

Mrs. Thomson testified in detail concerning outrages committed upon men in her employ on the Hurley estate.

Sir Henry James, counsel for The Times here, read an article from The Kerry Sentinel which denounced Miss Thomson for showing the cloven hoof, and accused her of being an exterminator. On cross-examination witness admitted that she had increased rentals with a view to improvements which were to have been made. One increase amounted to 36 per cent. and the lowest increase was 10 per cent.

The Irish Rebuked by the Pope.

ROME, Dec. 12.—A sensation has been caused by the Pope's refusal to bless medals and reliquaries sent to Rome by an Irish priest, who intended them for distribution in Ireland. The Pope sternly said: "I cannot bless them. The people of Ireland are disobedient. They seem to prefer the gospel of Dillon and O'Brien to the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

THE OYSTERMEN'S WAR.

A Serious Fight With State Vessels at the Mouth of the Chester River.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 12.—A fight took place at Hell Point at the mouth of the Chester River Monday night between oyster dredgers and the steamer McLane. To the surprise of the dredgers the captain of the McLane used his cannon as well as his rifles. The Secretary of State of Maryland has been notified from Washington that six more cannon will be sent immediately. Deputy Postmaster Ford at Winchester says he counted thirty-nine reports of cannon besides a hundred or more rifle shots. Yesterday morning the steamers B. S. Ford and Gratitude, from Chester River, met the steamer McLane and the schooner Baughman conveying a captured dredge, the Maggie Corbett, to Centreville for trial. Just off Hell Point two sunken dredges were passed. The schooner's sails were still up and were riddled with shot. A man dressed in blue uniform was seen on the McLane's deck, leading to the supposition that an expert gunner had been borrowed from the Naval Academy. A schooner was seen ashore on Carpenter's Island, another on Walnut Tree Bar, another on Durden Creek and a fourth on Kent Island.

Details of the Fight.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12.—Monday night's fight at the mouth of the Chester River may have resulted in considerable loss of life as Peter Mullen, cook on board the schooner Julia A. Jones, says he was the only man out of a crew of 11 to escape. The state vessels were hotly attacked by the dredgers, who were heavily armed with repeating rifles and did not return the fire until compelled to. The steamer McLane was thoroughly riddled with bullets and Capt. Howard determined to resort to extreme measures. Backing the steamer off from a fleet of seven dredgers which were tied together he singled out the Julia A. Jones, and putting on a full head of steam made directly for her stern, striking fairly, the bow of the McLane penetrating clear to the schooner's companion way and the latter sank almost instantly. Mullen escaped by climbing up the steamer's anchor chain, but says the rest of the crew were in the fore part and could not have gotten out. As soon as the McLane got cleared from the wreck she was again backed off and again headed for the fleet, striking the J. C. Maloney squarely on the stern. She at once began to sink, and the rest got away as fast as possible. Some of the crew of the Maloney escaped by climbing on board and as each one came on he was put in the hold. A white man named Coleman and a negro named Bramble of the crew of the Maloney are believed to have been drowned as they were not seen after the vessels were struck. A large fleet of dredgers are reported to be on unlawful ground, and it is not unlikely that there will be another fight. Around Caston where oystermen congregate there is considerable warlike talk and a bloody fight is feared.

ORTHODOX OR HETERODOX

THE "SINLESS PERFECTION" CONTROVERSY AT GALT.

History of the Alleged Heresy—Special Meeting of Guelph Presbytery—The Case Sent Back to the Kirk Session.

TORONTO, Dec. 12.—A special to The World from Guelph says: The special meeting of the Guelph Presbytery in Chalmer's Church, to receive the report of the session of Knox Church, Galt, in the matter of William Henry, David Caldwell, John D. Cranston, Lizzie Morton, Mrs. Alexander Kay, James K. Cranston and Alexander B. Cranston, charged by the session with holding and teaching doctrines not in accordance with the standards of the Presbyterian Church and with pursuing a divisive course in respect to the said Knox Church, was numerously attended yesterday morning. Above 100 persons were present, one-fifth being females. Methodists, Salvationists and other denominations were represented and there was much excitement manifested. Ultimately the following resolution of Rev. J. E. Smith and Rev. Dr. Wardrope carried:

"(1) That the answers given by the five persons first named above to the questions proposed by the session with a view of finding out their attitude to the standards of the church, clearly prove that the views held by them on the subject of personal sanctification in this life are directly opposed to the teachings of the Scriptures as exhibited in the Westminster Confession of Faith (p. 6, sec. 5), in the Church Catechism, question 149, and in the Shorter Catechism, question 82

"(2). That James K. Cranston and Alexander B. Cranston, when the same questions were put to them by the session testing their conformity or non-conformity with the standards supreme and subordinate, refused to give any other than evasive and irrelevant answers, manifesting thereby a spirit of insubordination to sessional authority.

"(3) That in disseminating their particular views, and in some instances holding religious meetings which conflicted with sessional appointments, the conduct of all the above named persons has been for some time calculated to disturb the harmony and hinder the well-being of the congregation concerned.

"Be it therefore resolved, That the Presbytery instruct the session of Knox Church, Galt, to deal with the accused in the respective premises according to the rules and discipline applicable to such cases in the Presbyterian Church in Canada; that the Presbytery authorize the said session to deal with James K. Cranston and Alexander B. Cranston on the grounds of contumacy; and, in the event of this being persisted in, to remove in the interests of truth and righteousness their names from the communion roll, declaring them to be no longer members of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and not to be restored to membership without leave granted by the Presbytery; and furthermore that the Presbytery re-appoint the assessors to co-operate with the session in finally issuing the case."

Mr. J. K. Cranston: "I will appeal to the Synod from this decision."

Voices: "You have no locus standi here."

Dr. Wardrope: "There is nothing to appeal."

The Moderator: "The Presbytery gives no decision in the matter. The functions we are exercising to-day are those of parental counsellors. There is no disposition on the part of the Presbytery to act arbitrarily. When the kirk session gives its decision that will be the time for the notice of appeal contemplated. The appeal would be to the Synod and thence to the General Assembly."

The trouble in Knox Church is a result of the following facts: Some five years ago David Cardwell, a member of Knox Church, Galt, embraced the doctrine of Christian perfection and forthwith disseminated it in the church. For this he was twice called to book, but nothing daunted retracted nothing. A year ago last August some members of the Cranston family, associated with the same church, attended the International Holiness convention at Wesley's Park at Niagara, and there they profess to have entered into the experience of a "clean heart" and walking in the power of the Holy Ghost. James Cranston, on returning home, gave his "testimony" in Knox Church and instituted "Holiness" meetings in private houses because the use of the church was refused him.

Seven of the most pronounced advocates of the alleged heresy, James K. Cranston, John D. Cranston, David Caldwell, Alexander B. Cranston, William Henry, Lizzie Morton, Mrs. Alexander Kay, were cited before the session, charged with "holding and teaching doctrines not in accordance with the Scriptures and the Presbyterian standards." Those cited objected that there was no specific charge as Presbyterian procedure requires. This objection was sustained by the Moderator and more specific charges made. On May 14 their names were struck off the membership roll.

The session afterwards decided to commence the proceedings anew and yesterday's meeting was the outcome.

The Passenger Rate War Spreading.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—The passenger rate war between the Northwestern roads, which began at St. Paul on Monday, was taken up here yesterday by the Milwaukee and St. Paul road. The Wisconsin Central followed and the rate to St. Paul was cut from $8.50 to $6 for second-class tickets. The first-class over the Burlington also dropped from $10.50 to $8.50. Further cutting is anticipated. A prominent ticket agent says that if the two Interstate Commissioners were not in town people would be riding to St. Paul for 5 cents.

More Smallpox Cases at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Dec. 12.—Five new cases of smallpox are reported here, two of the patients being inmates of the Almshouse and one a convict in the penitentiary. One of the victims is Richard Norman, the well-known semi-professional baseball player, who was with the St. Thomas Atlantics a couple of years ago. There was one death from the disease here last week.

Emma's Deadly Aim.

DAYTON, O., Dec. 12.—Emma Day yesterday morning shot and killed Herman F. Ruthmeir, a young man from Cincinnati, who was trying to get into her house. She says she shot him in self defence, that Monday he had tried to kill her with a pocket knife, for which she had him arrested. He gave bail and returned yesterday morning still threatening to kill her.

Hawes Protests His Innocence.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 12. Hawes has made no confession but still protests his innocence.

Sheriff Smith was released on a $25,000 bond and will take charge of his office at once. Troops are leaving for home.

Martin Walker and Jeff. Brown, colored, have been arrested as supposed accomplices in the Hawes murder.

Western Union Dividend.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Western Union will to-day declare a dividend of 1¼ per cent. for the current quarter.

Thawing Dynamite.

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 12.—The sewerage operations now going on here require excavations to be made with dynamite or other explosive. Some workmen were on Monday thawing out frozen packages of this article in a temporary blacksmith shop when the fuse became in some manner ignited and as violent an explosion resulted that scarcely two boards were left together. No one was injured.

Little Lake Cemetery.

The Improvements of the Year and the Present Condition.

Every year adds to the beauty and attractiveness of Little Lake Cemetery, and it is the custom of the EXAMINER to give a yearly resume of the condition and improvements of this delightful spot, which stands among the first for its beautiful cemeteries on this continent. Every summer there are numerous visitors to the cemetery, and those who have travelled much say that there are few such places in America that can surpass it—in beauty of location, taste of plan or excellence of order and maintenance. At present the cemetery proper is clean and tidy as it is possible for rake and broom to make it. The new portion, the western six acres, is thriving finely. The grass has taken nicely, and the work put on it this summer consisted mainly in laying down, on the sloping drives, cobble stone gutters to prevent the washing away of the drives by heavy rains. The trees planted are doing well, in fact, of the 150 elms planted in front of the new cemetery, only one failed to grow, showing that great care was exercised in planting and carefully watering trees.

Great improvements have been made in the northern part of the eastern section of the old cemetery. The whole of the dense clumps of pines in the valley has been cleared of the under-brush and tangled growth, the leaves and rubbish removed, the soil levelled and grass, which has taken well, liberally sown. Between this grove and Congo avenue, a new burial plot, for single graves, has been laid out, and the work of improvement is carried on with a strict regard to economy, the levelling of the place being accomplished with the surplus soil from graves and the foundation excavations of monuments. The thick growth of poison ivy that grew in the vicinity has been rooted out and burned, and the general improvement to the neighbourhood, while being most marked, has been done at comparatively trifling cost, a credit to the prudence and earnestness of Mr. John Kelly, the superintendent, who, while neglecting no reasonable opportunity of contributing to the beauty and completeness of the cemetery, has the success of bringing about the most satisfactory results at a minimum of cost to the directors.

NEW MONUMENTS.

This season several new monuments have been added to the cemetery. Among them is that erected by Mr. Giles Webber upon the family burial plot. It is of red granite of [illegible] rich design. It is square in shape, and stands upon a solid limestone base. The shaft is surmounted by a [illegible] by a [illegible] The monument is [illegible] It [illegible] 12 feet in height and is [illegible] on Cedar avenue.

In another part of the cemetery is a monument of the same material and general design, but slightly smaller in size, erected by Mr. Thomas Reeves in the family plot.

In the lower part of the cemetery the surviving members of the Job family have erected a neat little columnar monument of red granite to the memory of the late William Job. The above mentioned monuments were designed, made and erected by Coughlin Bros., town.

The Mills family of Ashburnham have the base in position of a monument to the late William Mills.

A tasteful monument of pure white marble in the shape of an ornate cross, marks the last resting place of the late D. Burnie, and the family H. Cam[illegible]h also been fondly rem[illegible] in the for of a fine monument erected by his son. Besides these there are other minor memorials erected in different parts of the cemetery.

Notwithstanding the increase of the population there is not a corresponding increase in the interments. It is interesting to note the variation in the mortality of the different months. For instance January had only five interments and February a similar number, but when the harsh winds of March struck the invalids, who had existed through the winter, they fell like ripe corn before the sickle, the interments in March rising to seventeen, while similar causes operating brought the mortality in April up so that the interments totalled twenty-four. In May this figure dropped to ten, June twelve, July had seventeen interments, August, fourteen; September, fourteen; October, eleven; November, eight; and so far in December there has been only one burial and that of the body of a still born infant. This shows a great disparity in the healthfulness of the first and last halves of the year, and especially between the fall and spring months the two spring months of March and April producing more interments than the whole four last months of the year.

It is quite in keeping in noting cemetery improvements to refer to the excellent work of cribbing the lake side of Crescent street. The job has been splendidly done under the superintendence of Mr. Angus Williams. The total length of cribbing is 1700 feet. The banking is not only preserved but the drive is widened and vastly improved. It now needs to be planted with trees, to make it one of the finest of drives. It is important that there should be uniformity, and a row of elms planted along the cribbing would in a few years make a delightful shade. The town should finish the good work. The expense will be light; if the trees are planted 18 or 15 feet apart about 100 or 120 trees will be needed costing from $25 to $30. The cemetery company being to a sense interested, Mr. John Kelly on behalf of the directors will plant and care for the trees and thus the town can have a guarantee that the money paid for trees will not be wasted.

Of a woman is pretty.
To a fool is no matter.
Be she blonde or brunette,
So she lets me look at her.

An unhealthy woman is rarely, if ever, beautiful. The peculiar diseases to which so many of the sex are subject, are prolific causes of pale, sallow faces, blotched with unsightly pimples, dull lustreless eyes and emaciated forms. Women so afflicted can be permanently cured by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; and with the restoration of health, comes that beauty which, combined with good qualities of head and heart, makes women angels of loveliness. Favorite Prescription is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. c

Removal Sale.

W. J. Green, having decided to remove to more convenient premises on Hunter street, will, for the next few days, give great bargains, so as to reduce his stock. Gents' tweed suits, gents' fine suits, gents' underclothing, gents' shirts, collars, ties, etc., etc.; gents' hats, this season's stock; also big bargains in tweeds, worsteds, nap and beaver overcoats, (cut and finish guaranteed) at specially reduced rates. Now is the time to order your clothing, and especially overcoats, as this is a genuine sale. Liquor tea notice. I will clear out my entire stock of the famous Liquor teas at one half price, as I will not have space for them in my new premises. Parties holding vouchers will please call at once and get their prizes. Opposite the town clock, George street. Marriage licenses issued by W. J. Green, merchant tailor. dw

A Beautiful Shop Window.

Nobody can help stopping and admiring the beautiful and artistic dressing of the shop windows of Messrs. Rush Bros.' grocery establishment, which is a credit to Mr. Charley Staple on. The embellishments consist largely of tastefully disposed trophies of taxidermy, magnificent moose and elk heads, which cannot be surpassed, besides other animals, birds, etc. These form a setting to a tempting display of samples of their goods which are a slight foretaste of the splendid stock of all kinds of choice grocery goods suitable for the holiday trade which the shelves and counters contain. The shop is packed in every corner with the finest of fresh seasonable goods, teas, coffees, fresh fruits, canned goods of every kind. It would be impossible to give even a partial list; it is enough to say that their stock is the most complete and best assorted that has ever been presented to the people of Peterborough. All choice goods of the highest quality. No housekeeper who desires to procure the best grocery goods of any kind the market affords will fail to visit Rush Bros. establishment, 355 George street. d

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. J. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Triplet Initiated Honors in the Police Court—The "Move on" Case.

TORONTO, Dec. 12.—Roland Gideon Israel Barnett arrived by the Canadian Pacific express from the east yesterday morning and was at once driven to police headquarters. He stood, up before the grate railing in the office while the following entry was made on the slate: 8.15 a.m., Roland G. Barnett, single, 40, English theatrical manager, Inspector Stark. Though clothed in costly raiment, he did not have a cent in his pockets. He was placed in the cage reserved for female prisoners on the ground floor, so as to avoid the eyes of the curious. Barnett was in charge of Inspector W. S. Andrews of Scotland Yard and Inspector Stark of Toronto. Andrews might walk out on the stage of either of the Toronto theatres just as he is and would fit admirably as a true Londoner. He talked freely of his prisoner. "It was most interesting," the inspector said, "to hear him tell of his theatrical ventures. He is deep and knows men and their motives. He told us several accounts of how he had made people serviceable to him without their expecting it. He showed no uneasiness except at Montreal. He had got hold of some of the papers and saw the rumored intentions of his Montreal friends. We did not go into the city, of course, but he was restless until we were past Mile End." At 10 o'clock Barnett was arraigned before Police Magistrate Denison on a charge of embezzling two negotiable securities, the property of the Central Bank of the value of $5250 each, and also for defrauding one C. F. Bunbury of a promissory note for $285. Barnett nonchalantly remarked that he had just arrived from the old country, had no friends or counsel, and begged that he would be favored with a postponement so that he could prepare a defence, which would soon settle any charges that might be brought against him. The Magistrate acceded, of course, and on Monday Mr. Barnett will again grace the dock. In the meantime bail was refused.

The appeal case of Rev. W. F. Wilson against the Police Magistrate's decision sustaining the action of Policeman Jarvis, who had arrested the minister for not moving on when ordered, was tried before the Court of General Sessions yesterday afternoon, and attracted many interested listeners. There is a crowd of witnesses for either side and the case was not concluded when the court rose.

There was a timber limit sale yesterday afternoon at the Parliament Buildings. The only berth offered was No. 2, Ballantyne, composed of 14 square miles. The purchaser at the late sale had failed to carry out his purpose. Donald McMaster, Alexandria, bought it at $2750 per square mile.

At a special meeting of the Civic Executive Committee yesterday it was decided to accept the Bank of Commerce's tender for the new civic loan of $1,000,000 for 6 months at 4½.

The Central District Congregational Association met in the new Western Congregational Church yesterday. Twenty members were present. Rev. John Burton delivered an interesting address on "Church Extension."

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

Sir Charles Tupper Not Very Enthusiastic —Colonial Securities as Investments.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—At the Royal Colonial Institute meeting last night, Lord Lorne presiding, Sir Charles Tupper made a pronounced speech on Imperial Federation. He said that while he rejoiced at the progress of the movement in the colonies and Great Britain, he could not, after thirty years' experience of public life, say, with the federationists, that unless the system of the Empire was radically changed the Empire must fall to pieces. It was most desirable in the interests of the colonies and Britain to draw the bonds closer if possible, but knowing what the present system had effected, how could he submit to the statement that we must change all this for something which ingenuity had not yet devised—for some undiscovered panacea. He also repudiated the idea that the term "colonist" was humiliating. He considered it the proudest title in the world.

Subsequent speakers attacked Sir Charles Tupper, but Lord Lorne defended the High Commissioner. He quite agreed that it was ridiculous to suppose that the Empire was in a state of spontaneous combustion and must collapse unless an immediate cut and dried scheme was adopted.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer will receive a deputation, consisting of Sir Charles Tupper and other colonial spokesmen, this week regarding the inclusion of Canadian and other high class colonial securities among the funds for trustees' investments.

The petition to the directors of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk in favor of a friendly agreement is much canvassed, and is being actively signed among the shareholders, though I cannot learn that the movement has influential support. It appears that the English Association of American Bondholders sent a protest to the Canadian Pacific last month, urging a cessation of hostility. It is stated that a meeting of shareholders will be held in London if the boards do not comply.

KIDNAPPED IN CANADA.

A Yankee Fugitive From Justice Forcibly Taken Back.

DETROIT, Dec. 12.—William H. Brown, convicted several weeks ago of stealing shoes, while in the custody of the United States Marshal shipped to Canada before being sentenced. James T. Brady, his bondsman, captured him near Peche Island Monday, and lodged him in jail. Yesterday morning Brown was brought before Judge Brown for sentence. Brown said: "I was working at the fishing grounds near Peche Isle in Canada when Brady, my bondsman, disguised and four other fellows rushed on me with revolvers and shot guns. 'Get into this boat,' yelled Brady, and before I knew it I was in jail here." Brown was sentenced to one year in prison and fined $300.

Imperial Federation at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, Dec. 12.—Two meetings in the interest of Imperial Federation were held here yesterday afternoon and evening. Speeches were made by John Dobson, Lindsay; John McSweys, Thomas Broad, ex-Reeve of Mariposa; John Foll, John Cruise, M. P. P.; William Jordan of Fenelon Falls; Sam Hughes, Adam Hudspath, M.P.; James L. Hughes and Col. Denison.

The County of Victoria Imperial Federation League in Canada was organized and these officers elected: President, John Dobson of Lindsay; Vice-President, S. D. Webster of Mariposa; Secretary-Treasurer, Sam Hughes of Lindsay. Vice-Presidents and committees were appointed from each municipality.

The U. S. Steel Manufacturers Send Canada Products to That Amount.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Discussing the Senate tariff bill, the specific item being the duty on steel beams, Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) quoted from a trade journal to show that American manufacturers sent their products to Canada to the amount of $35,000,000 a year and were then able to compete with the products of British manufacturers (paying the same rates of duty), and he asked why if they could do that they needed such enormous protection at home. He would be obliged to any Senator who would answer that simple question.

Duty on Dredge Machinery.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Assistant Secretary Maynard has informed the Collector of Customs at Cleveland, O., that in case of importations at that port of Canadian dredges containing machinery of domestic manufacture the dredge as well as the machinery are subject to duty, the machinery not having been imported on the same condition as exported but constituting parts of the dredges.

The Haytien Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—United States Consul Gautier at Cape Haytien in a despatch to the Secretary of State dated Nov. 18 says there has been no effective blockade at that port as no vessel has been stationed off there. A vessel has however, he says, been cruising between there and Fort Liberty. He says that six barks and eight schooners have entered Cape Haytien since Oct. 16, when the alleged blockade was established, which is ample proof that no effective blockade ever existed. This illegal state of affairs, he says, is becoming detrimental to American interests. He adds that he has not heard from Port-au-Prince for five weeks.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely Gone. Flesh a Mass of Disease. Leg Diminished one Third in Size. Condition Hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

County Court.

Continuation of the December Sessions—Greenfield on Trial.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

RICHARDSON VS. FARQUHAR.—Mr. Wentworth Richardson, of Dummer, sued Messrs. K. and C. Farquhar, Toronto, for $149.90, the balance claimed due on cedar delivered at Norwood station. Plaintiff had entered into written contracts with defendants to deliver 400 cords of cedar by 1st of April last, but before the date expired he found he would not be able to deliver the full amount contracted for, and he claimed defendants' agent agreed to pay him for what he had actually delivered, 180 cords. The defendant denied that the plaintiff had delivered that amount and in any event their agent had no authority to vary the contract. Defendants also claimed damages for non-fulfilment of contract. The jury found a verdict for plaintiff on all points and a verdict was entered for plaintiff for $137 and costs. John Burnham for plaintiff; W. G. Holmes, Toronto, for defendants.

About four o'clock the Grand Jury returned with true bills against John Greenfield, for shooting with intent to kill, and against Thos. Shouldice on two counts—larceny and housebreaking. The Jury then retired, to resume their labors in the morning.

The prisoners, Greenfield and Shouldice, were brought in to plead to the indictments. Both pleaded "not guilty" in a firm voice when the indictments were read over to them.

Greenfield was asked if he was ready for trial and replied that he was. The judge enquired who his counsel was, and the prisoner replied that he had none. The judge asked if he had not been able to secure anyone, and Greenfield replied that he would, but for Chief of Police Reasel, who, he said had stopped his correspondence with some friends in Toronto, who had volunteered to get him counsel. Greenfield said he corresponded with these friends since his arrest in Buffalo till he came here, when the chief got hold of their address and wrote up to the detectives in Toronto and had the correspondence stopped.

The Judge undertook to find counsel for the prisoner, and finally Mr. Moore agreed to undertake the defence. The trial was fixed for Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The trial of Shouldice was to follow Greenfield's. Mr. John Burnham was the prisoner's counsel.

[With regard to Greenfield's assertions, Chief Reasel told the EXAMINER his side of the case. Learning that Greenfield was corresponding with a party in Toronto, he had secured the address (Chestnut street), from Gaoler Nesbitt and written to the Toronto detectives to ascertain more particulars regarding the prisoner's correspondent. The Toronto officers discovered that there was a woman in the case, and a tough one at that, too. Greenfield's fair correspondent was a woman belonging to a gang of thieves who had recently been arrested in Buffalo, and she had only been discharged on turning State's evidence. The chief denies that he ever asked the correspondence to be stopped, but had written for his own information.]

WEDNESDAY.

Two appeal cases were disposed of. Bell vs. Carlilee and Bell vs. Nurse. The two defendants were convicted before J. P. Hall of Lakefield of having assaulted the prosecutor Bell, and fined $1.00 and costs each. The question of validity of bonds of recognizance was involved and the judge did not allow the appeal to proceed. The question of costs was reserved. Mr. E. B. Edwards for prosecutor; Mr G. M. Roger for defendants or appellants.

The Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Alex. Ritchie on three counts—larceny, obtaining goods under false pretenses, and fraudulent appropriations.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

To His Honor Judge Weller:—

The Grand Jurors of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, respectfully present that they have inspected the gaol, and find it well kept, clean and comfortable, the drainage apparently in perfect condition. They find fourteen prisoners confined in gaol, principally as vagrants. They beg to second your Honor's remarks to them respecting the unfortunate insane persons now in gaol, and would suggest their early removal to some asylum where proper treatment would be extended to them.

H. S. MCDONALD, foreman.

Peterborough, Dec. 12, 1888.

His Honor in reply congratulated the jurors upon the efficient, satisfactory and expeditious way in which they had discharged they duties, and discharged them from further duty.

GREENFIELD ON TRIAL.

About half past ten Greenfield was led into court, calm and self-possessed as ever.

Mr. Moore, prisoner's counsel, objected to the indictment as framed by the Grand Jury, because there were in it four distinct counts, while the warrant of extradition contained but one. The four counts in the indictment were "assault with intent to murder Jos. Stewart," "assault with intent to commit murder" generally, "shooting with intent to murder Joseph Stewart," and "shooting with intent to commit murder," generally. Mr Moore held that the wording of the extradition law was precise in its terms and the grand jury could not properly frame any new counts. On this point His Honor decided that it was immaterial just how the indictment was framed, as all the counts had the same meaning in this case.

Mr. Moore further objected that, in an indictment where intent to murder was alleged, the words "with malice aforethought" would have to be added to constitute it an attempt at murder.

Mr. R. E. Wood, C.C.A., argued that in cases brought under the common law it would be necessary, but not when brought under the statutes. His Honor held that the words "intent to kill" covered the ground sufficiently and implied practically the same thing.

The Jury was impannelled as follows:—

William Moore,	Alexander Clarke,
Robert Jackson,	Thomas Keson,
George Pierce,	John Lancashire,
George Barry,	James Jotham,
George Armstrong,	James Rath,
William Dinsdale,	Duncan C. McIntyre.

Mr. R. E. Wood, C. C. A., conducted the prosecution.

Constable STEWART was the first witness. He told the story of his encounter with the prisoner, which has already been published in full in the EXAMINER. He was in rear of Gough Bros.' store between three and four o'clock on the morning of August 31st, and noticed the shutter open, and a box underneath the window. Peering in beside the blind he saw the prisoner and called on him to surrender, and, on jumping through the window, a shot was fired at him by the prisoner, who had hidden himself under the tables. The bullet whizzed by close to his head. The prisoner ran down the store, and when he got to the front door fired again at the constable, who pursued and returned the shot with his own revolver. Greenfield then threw himself bodily through the glass door, and the constable followed through the same opening. He pursued the prisoner down George street to Simcoe street, where, in turning the corner under the gas lamp, he caught a full view of him. Prisoner fired at him here, and several times before and afterwards. Constable Stewart also fired a couple of shots at the fugitive. After turning the corner he lost sight of the prisoner, but ran on down Simcoe street to Aylmer without seeing any more of him. Then he awaked Gough Bros. and the Chief of Police. On returning to the store he found a spot of blood at the door mingled with the broken glass, and when daylight came traced the bloodmarks from Hunter street near the railway crossing, where they began, round by the Catholic church and the Cox's residence. That was the last he saw of the prisoner until he was tried in the police court. He positively indentified the prisoner as the man who shot at him.

Mrs. MCNAIRN testified to having dressed wounds on prisoner's wrists the night of August 31st, and giving him something to eat. Prisoner told her he got the cuts by falling off the cars. She described prisoner's dress at the time, and recognized him as a young man she had seen in Peterborough about three years before, who went by the name of Ferguson.

Mr. Thos. MCMULLEN identified the prisoner as the young man who had come to his shanty on the night in question, after leaving Mrs. McNairn's house. He (the witness) asked him how he had got his wrists hurt, and the latter replied that he had fallen off the train. Mr. McMullen, who had been told the story of the burglary which had been read in one of the papers, said to him, "No, you didn't fall off the cars; you're the man that was in Gough's store." The young man asked him how he knew that, and Mr. McMullen replied that Mrs. McNairn had told him. He asked him what he did it for, and Greenfield replied that he had been in penitentiary for three years and had to do something to get a living, for it was always thrown up to him and he could not get work. Afterwards he saw prisoner pass far as a horse and buggy that had been tied up by the roadside about a quarter of a mile from his place. He did not, however, see the prisoner get in and drive off.

To Mr. Moore the witness stated that Greenfield had not admitted to him that he had been in Gough's store or said anything that led him to believe he had committed the burglary.

The court adjourned for lunch, and the trial continues this afternoon.

Independence for Canada.

The trilateral debate in the Separate school library last night was an interesting one indeed, in which Independence scored a victory, though hard pressed by Annexation. The debaters were:—For Imperial Federation, J. J. Sheehy and R. Henry; for Annexation, J. O'Meara; for Independence, J. D. McIlmoyle. After a spirited discussion President Brennan referred decision on the merits of the debate to the audience, who decided in favour of Independence. There was a good attendance, a number of representatives from other debating societies in town being present. The musical part of the programme was supplied by Miss Annie Dunn, Miss O'Brien and Mr. M. Tierney, who sang solos, and Misses Dunn and McCabe, who rendered a duet. Miss Kaland presided at the organ. This was the last open debate of the season by the Literary Society, and it was highly successful.

Anticipation vs. Participation.

The above subject was discussed in open debate at the Endeavor Society meeting last night. Miss Ivison and Mr. Barry for the affirmative and Miss Price and Mr. Rowse for the negative, captained the rival hosts. A splendid array of arguments were brought to play on the subject, the humorous side of the question having a good share. The ladies showed themselves to be quite as able in debate as the gentlemen. The chairman, who was appointed judge, gave his decision in favour of the affirmative by a majority of three points. The evening was enlivened by a short programme of readings, recitations and singing, and all spent a pleasant and enjoyable evening.

Otonabee Oddfellows as Entertainers.

Delightful Scenes at Their Rooms Last Night.

Last night Otonabee Oddfellows celebrated the sixth anniversary of the resuscitation of the lodge with signal success. Their large and handsome lodge room was well filled with guests who had come to enjoy the hospitality of the brethren and listen to the excellent programme which had been provided. Bro. Geo. J. Early, N.G., occupied the chair in a very efficient manner, and introduced the programme. The Fire Brigade Orchestra opened the first and second parts with finely rendered orchestral selections which made the audience wish that they had been put down for more numbers. The programme was varied and interesting. Dr. Clarke supplied a humorous reading, and Miss Saunders gave in fine style the recitation "The Captive," and was warmly encored to which she responded with the "Polish Boy." A dialogue in character and costume, "Lochiel's Warning," was well rendered by Mr. J. Nugent and Mr. J. Hendry in excellent style. The singing was contributed by several well known amateurs. Miss Sophie Cameron gave, in her usual graceful style, "My Fiddle and I." Miss Annie Dunn gave a fine rendering of Pinsuti's "Bedouin Love Song." She has a voice of wide compass, giving with equal clearness and ease the lowest notes as well as the higher tones of the register. Mr. A. L. Davis was warmly applauded for his excellent singing of "Anchored." Mr. James Hendry took the place of Mr. Pierce suffering from a cold, and sang in character "Hosts who Has" in a manner that suggested the remark that Mr. Gallaly had left his mantle of Scottish minstrelsy on Mr. Hendry's shoulders. Mrs. Brodigan next sang, in a voice abounding in rich tones, Tosti's "Good Bye." Miss Lily Jackson sang, with infantile sweetness and almost adult finish, "The Belfry Tower," composed by Prof. A. E. Carter. She has a voice of splendid promise, but it is to be feared that it is being too severely taxed in early life. Mr. T. Dunn was in fine voice and gave, in his usual excellent manner, "The Viking" and, in response to a tumultuous encore, sang with equal success and excellence, "The King's Champion." Mr. Dunn is a singer who always gives delight; he has bestowed his services with great liberality, and the public will learn with great regret that he has decided to discontinue singing in public after filling one engagement, now pending. The programme was concluded by Prof. Carter rendering an instrumental solo with fine effect—"The Cathedral Chimes." During the evening Dr. R. W. Bell, D.G.M., and G. M.-elect, gave a short address on Oddfellowship, dealing with the origin of the name, which dated from the Babylonian captivity. Oddfellowship was established in England in the middle of the last century, and was established in America April 26th, 1819. The order numbers in England about 750,000 and on this continent 500,000. The two organizations, the Manchester Unity and the Independent Order, though alike in their fraternal and benevolent aspects, are otherwise entirely distinct, the two combined making the largest fraternal order in the world. The distinctive feature of the organization was practical benevolence—visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead, assist the widow and educate the orphan. Its system of sick benefits was pointed out and its moral and patriotic aspects insisted on. The annual revenue of the order in America was five million, and two million were annually disbursed in relief—or $9000 per day. There were 8,000 subordinate lodges. The order was established in Canada in 1843. There were 230 lodges with 16,000 members in Ontario, and thousands of dollars were annually disbursed in relief. The advantages of the order were clearly set forth and the magnitude of its work of beneficence pointed out in a brief but comprehensive and pithily put address.

During the intermission in the programme abundant and excellent refreshments were provided by the Oddfellows for their guests, and after the conclusion of the programme the orchestra remained, and to its inspiring music the younger portion of the guests enjoyed themselves for an hour or two in social intercourse.

The evening's entertainment was a delightful success, and it is no wonder Otonabee lodge is flourishing, if it discharges its fraternal obligations with the same energy and success as marked its dispensing of hospitality.

An Open Winter.

The mild weather of the winter so far, has a depressing effect on business generally. There is, in general, a lack of buoyancy in business matters. But there is one business that has the springs of energy and life within itself so completely that it is not affected by outside causes. The boot and shoe trade of gough bros'. has no fluctuations. It is a steady flow, or, rather, rush day after day. This is because a mammoth stock of superb boots and shoes are sold every day over their counters at less than half wholesale cost. This is why the people flock to their store; they get there unadulterated, life-size, rock-bottom, all-wool, yard-wide bargains in boots and shoes. Cheap is no word for their price, and good is no word for their tip-top quality. Bargains every hour. Join the throng to the store of gough bros., 376 George street.

Imperial Federation.

An Imperial Federation Conference was held in Lindsay on Tuesday, Messrs. J. H. Long, M.A., LL.B., Vice-President, and F. E. Bell, Secretary, of the Peterborough League, were present. A County League for Victoria was organized, Mr. John Dobson, President, and Mr. Sam. Hughes, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. J. H. Carnegie, formerly of Peterborough, was elected Vice-President for Bexley. The evening meeting was largely attended.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

PETERBOROUGH 8TH DEC., 1888.

To James Stevenson, Esq., Peterborough:—

SIR,—We, the undersigned ratepayers of the town of Peterborough, hereby request that you again become a candidate for the position of Mayor for the Town of Peterborough for the year 1889, and sincerely trust that, notwithstanding your expressions of unwillingness, you will once more accept the chief place at the Council Board. The great concern you have always taken in municipal matters and your large stake in the town make it of primary importance that you should be in the situation, you have so excellently filled, for assuring the advancement of the best interests of the town. We therefore ask you to permit us to nominate you as Mayor and we will do all in our power to secure your return:—

Mr. Stevenson's Reply.

GENTLEMEN,—

Although I had almost definitely decided to retire from active and official participation in municipal matters, yet the desire, as expressed in the foregoing requisition, seems to be of so general and representative a character, that I feel that I would be doing less than my duty as a citizen if I failed to respond to it, therefore, though I do so with personal reluctance, in compliance with the formal demand for my services, I hereby consent to become a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1889. In so doing I think I have a right to feel that my past services have been employed in the best interests of the town, which could hardly be otherwise, when it is borne in mind that I have no small share of material interests to be affected by the administration of the municipal affairs of the town. It is, therefore, my own interest to use my best efforts to secure economical and prudent management of civic matters, and I think my past course is a sufficient guarantee that the public interest will not meet with neglect at my hands. I might suggest that my efforts in promoting manufacturing industries shows that my interest in labouring men is not of a merely sentimental character. I am a comparatively large employer of labor, and endeavor to put my interest in the laboring classes into practical effect, and shall, if again honored with the confidence of the citizens, use my best efforts to maintain the rights and promote the interests of all classes of the community. I do not seek the office of mayor, but if I am chosen I shall not fail to do my best in the future as I have done in the past, to discharge its duties faithfully. I, therefore, place myself in your hands and allow you to put my name in nomination for the position of mayor, assured that I can count upon your assistance in securing my return.

I have the honor to remain, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
JAMES STEVENSON.

Peterborough, Dec. 12th, 1888.

A Fast Run.

That was a rapid run made by engine No. 301 of the C.P.R., Saturday evening. With six coaches in town and nearly two hours late, the run was made from Havelock to Peterborough, a distance of 26 miles, in 27 minutes. And in order to cross the down local at Cavanaville, the run from here to that station, 20 miles, was made in 23 minutes.

—An entertainment will be held to-morrow evening at Nassau, under the auspices of the Laymen's Evangelical Association, for the benefit of the Protestant Home. A large number are going out from town.

AT CHINA HALL.

LOVELY RICH NEW GOODS IN

China, Silver, Fancy Goods, Glassware, Cutlery, Lamps, &c.

Our Stock this Season far Surpasses any other Christmas Display we have ever made, and is equal if not superior to the Finest City Assortments. We import more largely than any retail dealer in either Toronto or Montreal. We sell from 10 to 25 per cent below the above cities. Some of our Finest Goods are sold to go to these cities.

PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE

will find it to pay to make all their purchases for the holidays in the above Lines at China Hall. Our Christmas Display is now Complete, and we invite the public to visit our Show Rooms and inspect the Goods. The sight is worth seeing, and no one will be asked to buy. Open every evening.

THIS COLUMN

Tells about the BARGAINS being Offered at

TURNBULL'S

Mantles and Mantle Cloths.

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it baudies as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

Mr. Stevenson's Reply.

GENTLEMEN,—

Although I had almost definitely decided to retire from active and official participation in municipal matters, yet the desire, as expressed in the foregoing requisition, seems to be of so general and representative a character, that I feel that I would be doing less than my duty as a citizen if I failed to respond to it, therefore, though I do so with personal reluctance, in compliance with the formal demand for my services, I hereby consent to become a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1889. In so doing I think I have a right to feel that my past services have been employed in the best interests of the town, which could hardly be otherwise, when it is borne in mind that I have no small share of material interests to be affected by the administration of the municipal affairs of the town. It is, therefore, my own interest to use my best efforts to secure economical and prudent management of civic matters, and I think my past course is a sufficient guarantee that the public interest will not meet with neglect at my hands. I might suggest that my efforts in promoting manufacturing industries shows that my interest in labouring men is not of a merely sentimental character. I am a comparatively large employer of labor, and endeavor to put my interest in the laboring classes into practical effect, and shall, if again honored with the confidence of the citizens, use my best efforts to maintain the rights and promote the interests of all classes of the community. I do not seek the office of mayor, but if I am chosen I shall not fail to do my best in the future as I have done in the past, to discharge its duties faithfully. I, therefore, place myself in your hands and allow you to put my name in nomination for the position of mayor, assured that I can count upon your assistance in securing my return.

I have the honor to remain, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
JAMES STEVENSON.

MR. WIMAN'S ADDRESS AT THE WEST NEW BRIGHTON.

"The Greater Half of the Continent and the Relations Therewith"—The Annexation Agitation.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The address of Erastus Wiman, Tuesday night, at West New Brighton, L. I., on the "Greater Half of the Continent and the Relations therewith," was listened to by a large and deeply interested audience. After describing the areas, climatic influences, and varied resources of his native country, Mr. Wiman referred to the agitation now being promoted to effect its annexation to the United States. He said:

While there is a general consensus of opinion among the American people that the admission of Canada to a political union with the United States would be most desirable and advantageous to both, very little thought has been bestowed upon the real desires and wishes of the Canadian people in this matter, and much less as to the possible influence on the British Government and the British people in regard to a question so pregnant to them. The American people are so immeasurably content in their own marvellous material progress—they have been taught to believe to such an extent in the perfection and attractiveness of their political institutions—that it is incomprehensible why the people of a country like Canada should for a moment hesitate to join the constellation of commonwealths that illuminate this western hemisphere. And looking at it from a material point of view it is incomprehensible, for a spectacle is presented in the attitude of Canada in regard to this question, that in this age of material aggrandisement is simply marvellous.

Here are five millions of people occupying the greater half of a continent of enormous proportions and the most abundant resources, whose only hope of successful development and perfect growth lies in a union between themselves and the nation along side of them—the greatest nation that the world has ever seen. Yet so pronounced is the sentiment in Canada against annexation, that to-morrow it would be utterly impossible to elect a constable to office, much less a member of Parliament, who openly advocated the measure. It is a condition almost without parallel that a hundred years have come and gone since the Declaration of Independence, and that these two nations have grown up side by side, and to-day are further apart than ever. The one has achieved a success beyond the wildest estimates, and possesses an attractiveness that has won contributions from all the world beside, including now a people of over sixty millions, and a wealth approaching that of Great Britain itself. The other nation, occupying just as favorable a territory, with established institutions and the patronage and support and capital of the then wealthiest nation in the world, has attained to a population of only five millions, with one quarter of her native born people in the United States, with an enormous internal and public debt, with an imperfect development in vast material resources and without hope of better days. Yet so loyal, so true are this people to the existing conditions of political existance—conditions that have kept their country a laggard in this continental race—that to talk of political change among her people is to talk of treason. Treason to whom? Not treason to themselves or to their children or to their dependents. No; but "treason to the old flag"—"the flag that for a thousand years has braved the battle and the breeze." To talk of annexation with United States and a change of their political allegiance is to talk of treason to a sovereign 4000 miles away, whose rule is so slight as scarcely to be felt, whose perogative is rarely exercised, and who is represented, not by an army of soldiers or even by a horde of officials, but by a single well-bred gentleman in the person of the Governor-General.

Is it not singular that long ere this the Canadian people, finding themselves outstripped by the great progress of the United States, and realizing how advantageous would be an alliance in this direction, that they have not knocked at the door and asked for admittance. But there has been no esintillation of a sign of this kind. On the contrary, it may be safely affirmed that there is no people in the world so penetrated and permeated with loyalty to existing conditions as are the Canadian people, and there is no people in the world to whom such a sentiment is so disadvantageous. It may be a foolish loyalty, it may be an expensive luxury in which the Canadians are indulging to thus withstand the material temptations which a political union affords, and sacrifice their present and their future to the recollections of the past; but whether it is wise or unwise, the fact so exists, and should be recognized as an essential factor in all the discussions in relation to this subject. The sentiment of loyalty to existing conditions is one which the American people appreciate and admire. To maintain the integrity of their own nationality they made sacrifices greater than any people had ever been called upon to make. A debt amounting to 3,000 millions of dollars, and a sacrifice to the extent of 500,000 lives speak in trumpet tones as to the loyalty of the American to his own country and his own political institutions. Give the Canadian the same credit, that as against temptation, as against poverty and loss, he maintains his attachment to British connection, because under that flag he was born, and under that form of government he was brought up. It is easy enough for an American to feel that the ties that bind colonies to Great Britain set lightly. In the great struggle for their own independence they were justified not only by the then existing conditions, but everything that has since transpired, in throwing these ties to the winds. But with Canada the case is entirely different. Nothing can exceed the liberality of treatment which Canada, as a great colony, has received from the government of Great Britain. Had the same treatment been accorded to the North American colonies prior to 1776, the great schism of the Anglo-Saxon race would never have occurred. The wisdom which was wanting in the English Government in those days, had it been displayed as it has since been displayed in the treatment of dependencies, that great land which to-day fills the world with wonder, and is recognized as the United States, might still have been a part and parcel of the British Empire. It is difficult to conceive that ere this an independent nationality would not have been achieved, but it is equally difficult to conceive that without justification, there could have been a rebellion and a separation. So far as Canada is concerned, and her treatment by the British Government, there is no justification whatever for a change in her political condition. Under such circumstances it is difficult just to see the practical shape which the present agitation in the United States toward annexation can take. It is true that Great Britain might feel that she was more or less at a disadvantage by having so large a portion of her empire, in North America, exposed to attack; and it is true that since the Canadian Government have put a high rate of taxation upon English goods, the same as prevails against American goods, no great advantage results to her from a trade point of view consequent upon the colonial connection. But it is equally true that to give up Canada and to permit over its wide expanse, amounting to 40 per cent. of the British Empire, the spread of republican institutions thus suddenly agreed to, might be considered a most serious matter to the existing conditions in Great Britain itself. The change in sentiment toward republicanism in that country since the lowering of the electoral franchise on the one hand, and on the other the success of Republican government on this side, would be greatly encouraged by such a spread of republicanism as the annexation of Canada to the Union would imply. The aristocratic and official class, forming so large a portion of the governing power in England would therefore look with considerable apprehension upon the movement. It is difficult to see what party or what government could be justified in peaceably and promptly acceding to a request from the United States which would practically yield as much in the shape of territory, as radical a change in the form of government, as was achieved by the Declaration of Independence and the war that followed it. It is true that conditions have vastly changed, and that a union of the Anglo-Saxon people, regardless of territory and form of government, is a dream that many indulge in. But to give such a dream a practical form and to unite even the English speaking nations on the continent of North America under one government, it seems impossible for the moment to contemplate with any hope of realization. It is practical politics to strive for the attainable. To hope and dream for that which a lifetime can only accomplish is well enough, but for men like Senator Sherman, who desire to write the word "immortal" after their names, and to achieve it by breaking down the barriers that separate the people on this continent, there is a disappointment in store, if at their time of life they hope to accomplish a purpose so fast before they are called hence.

Mr. Wiman then proceeded to detail his plan for commercial instead of political union, claiming its perfect practicability and ease of accomplishment within five years. He maintained that, so far as trade and commerce were concerned, commercial union would be just as effective as political union; that to the protectionist it at once opened up an enlarged market, and procured a continental extension of the protectionist idea, while to the free trader it was a welcome instalment in that trade would be thus free over a larger space of the earth's surface than elsewhere on the globe. The way to capture Canada was by assimilation by intercourse, and by making a profit out of her trade, and her marvellous resources, rather than by reprisals, retaliation or bluster. Break down the barbed wire fence between the two peoples, and the future would take care of itself; if this produced annexation well and good; if annexation never came, all the advantages which it implied would have been attained, with none of its drawbacks. Trade knew no political barriers, and in this age it was trade that we were all after.

TOPICS FROM THE CAPITAL

A PETITION FROM THE MONTREAL CIGARMAKERS' UNION.

It is Rumored That Hugh and John Ryan are the Lowest Tenderers for the Sault Ste. Marie Canal Lock Approaches.

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—A deputation from the cigarmakers' union, Montreal, waited on the Minister of Finance yesterday and presented a petition asking that the license for cigar manufacturers be reduced from $75 to $6 in order to enable men of small capital to go into the industry.

The work of extending the fourteen tenders for approaches to the lock of the Sault Ste. Marie canal has been completed but no award has yet been made. The talk amongst the contractors is that there is a very wide difference in the tenders for excavation ranging, so one contractor informed your correspondent, from 63 cents to $4.50 per cubic yard, the wide range being caused by the uncertainty as to the proportion of rock excavation which will have to be made. The rumor is that Hugh and John Ryan, contractors for the lock, are lowest for the approaches.

The Department of justice yesterday issued a warrant for the extradition of DeBaun, the New York bank defaulter now held at Montreal.

It is rumored that both Lieutenant Ouimet and Major Dugas of the 65th battalion have tendered their resignations.

In the C. P. R. arbitration yesterday Mr. Murphy, C.E., of Ottawa who was resident engineer on the British Columbia sections during the construction, was examined and testified that when he left the work it was properly constructed. He had not seen it since. After this evidence the arbitration adjourned to Dec. 27. Messrs. Boyd, Blake, Robinson, Osler and Blackstock left for Toronto last night.

A VICTORY FOR ONTARIO.

The Province Wins the St. Catharines Milling Company Case.

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—The Attorney-General's shrewd eyes were bright and the rosy flush of triumph mantled his cheeks as he good-nauredly turned from his paper-bestrewn desk to chat a moment with a reporter yesterday afternoon. A cablegram had arrived in the morning that the appeal of the St. Catharines Milling Company against the decision of the Supreme Court to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council had been decided in favor of the Province of Ontario. The cablegram read:

"The judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada is affirmed and the appeal dismissed. Held that the Dominion has no power to legislate itself into a title. The province is to assume the burden of the Indian Treaty. No costs."

The question involved was whether the title to certain lands in that portion of Ontario which used to be known as the "disputed territory" was vested in the Provincial Government, under the boundary award defining the limits of the Province, or whether it was vested in the Dominion Government, under certain treaties made with the Indians, the original owners of the lands. The decision is that the title rests with the province which will have to assume the charge of the Indians.

The Premier said: "I don't know that there is anything I can say about it. The cablegram was short, and merely said that the judgments of our courts had been confirmed and the property held to be the property of the Province, subject to our paying the Indians what they were to get under the treaty." Just then Hon. C. F. Fraser, Hon G. W. Ross and Hon. A. M. Ross, came in to attend a cabinet meeting, and hand-shaking and felicitations between the colleagues and their chief raised a little happy commotion during which the reporter withdrew.

This decision of the Privy Council closes a controversy that has continued from court to court and contention to contention since 1871. The dispute has involved a research of geography, ethnology, history and law. During this last battle of the boundary series the examination has delved down series the examination has delved down through centuries of treaties, and has brought up the dealings of European nations with aborigenes whom they displaced by their settlements from the earliest colonization times.

A Toronto Student's Fleck.

ITHACA, N.Y., Dec. 13.—Of a party skating on Dwyer's dam in this city last evening four persons broke through the ice and two were drowned, one a student named Nevins and the other Miss Maggie Sullivan, teacher in the Central School here. A young student named Master of Toronto tied a rope about himself and twice dived down to recover the bodies. He was 20 minutes in the cold water. A young man named Patrick Wall broke his arm in an attempt at rescue.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Lord Randolph Churchill will probably be absent from England until next May. He contemplates visiting the western coast of North America and returning by the United States.

The Empress Frederick and her daughters are sombre figures at Windsor. The Empress wears a widow's cap with long strings reaching nearly to her feet, and her daughters, in addition to their crape robes, wear what would be termed here widow's caps. The Empress has decided to return to Berlin when she leaves England next month, instead of proceeding to Italy, as was her original intention.

The Empress of Russia has been suffering severely from the nervous shock which she sustained on the occasion of the recent railroad accident, and she is in a state of considerable depression and altogether alarmingly unwell. The court physicians are anxious that the Empress should go to Naples for the winter, as they consider a thorough change of scene and lively surroundings to be indispensable to her, but she positively refuses to leave her husband, who is very anxious for her to go, and who, indeed, has been strongly recommended to accompany her; but political considerations keep him at home. Dr. Charcot, of Paris, who is the great authority on nervous complaints, will be summoned to St. Petersburg shortly to see the Emperor and Empress.

It was announced some weeks ago that Emperor William was suffering from a return of the purulent catarrh of the left ear, to which he was formerly subject. The Emperor, as a matter of fact, has been ailing ever since he returned from Rome. There is no danger, but his malady is exceedingly painful and very troublesome.

The Duchess of Sutherland left a special injunction that she should not be buried in the family vault at Trentham. The Duchess had for some time apprehended that her end was approaching, and the spot in the cemetery at Torquay where she was buried had recently been selected by herself for her grave.

All dispatches and letters passing between the Berlin foreign office and the German embassy at Vienna are now conveyed by special couriers, as there is reason to suspect that during the last few weeks the postal correspondence between the embassies, Prince Reust and Count Herbert Bismarck has regularly been tampered with.

Gladstone will reside at Villa Bella at Piegsello during his stay at Naples, which will extend over six weeks. This is one of the most beautiful places in the environs of Naples, and the terrace and grounds command charming views of the bay. It is probable that Gladstone's arrival at Naples will excite a great manifestation of popular enthusiasm, as he has been the public idol there ever since his famous letters to Lord Aberdeen on the cruelty inflicted on political prisoners by the infamous King Bombs. DE LESSEPS WEEPS.

He Announces that the Canal is Made and Many Years are Shed.

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Another scene of excitement was enacted at the office of the Panama Canal Company yesterday. The crush was even greater than that of Tuesday. At 4 o'clock a hush fell over the throng and M. de Lesseps appeared. Mounting a table he said: "My friends: The subscription is safe. Our adversaries are confounded. We do not need the help of financiers. You have saved yourselves by your own exertions. The canal is made." Here M. de Lesseps was so overcome that he wept. Amid cheering, weeping and mutual congratulations all present shook hands with M. de Lesseps. When the excitement had partially abated the news went round that 410,000 bonds had been subscribed for in Paris and the same number in the provinces. Marseilles alone took 86,000 bonds. An official of the company replaced M. de Lesseps and announced that the subscription lists would be kept open until Saturday noon. It is reported that numbers immediately renewed their subscriptions, the receiving clerks being completely overtaxed.

The Future Viewed With Alarm.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—At the meeting of the Parnell Commission yesterday Attorney-General Webster, for The Times, announced that he would proceed with the examination of a number of landlords from County Wexford to show the condition of that county.

Sir Charles Russell, for the Parnellites, protested. He said the Attorney-General had not included Wexford in his opening address. If the other side were going all over Ireland the area of the enquiry would be increased to an alarming extent.

The Attorney-General responded that he was bound to prove that League terrorism prevailed in almost every county.

Justice Hannen said he could only view the future with alarm. The Court had been engaged for many days but had not yet arrived at the end of any one branch of the inquiry. Only two branches had been entered upon and several branches of equal importance remained untouched. He again made an earnest appeal to counsel to do their utmost to compass the enquiry and to avoid wasting years of the life of those engaged in the inquiry.

A Ridiculous Falsehood.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—An Englishman named Jones recently wrote from America to Edward Heneage, M.P. for Great Grimsby, making inquiries with reference to an affidavit made by a Mr. Benson of Iowa to the effect that his (Benson's) father, a clergyman in Grimsby, had written him a specific account of the taxing of British workmen to supply funds for President Cleveland's campaign. Mr. Heneage replies: "There is no clergyman of the name of Benson in Grimsby. Benson's statement is absolutely baseless. I sympathize with Englishmen in America who are suffering from such a false and ridiculous charge.

Count Bismarck Complains of Frosts.

SONS OF ENGLAND SUPPER

A Successful Banquet at the Snowden House.

Toast and Song—Patriotism and Eloquence—A Feast of Reason and a Flow of Soul.

Last night Lansdowne Lodge of Sons of England held their sixth annual supper at Snowden's hotel, and it was the largest, most enjoyable and most successful of the series. The guests were not all Englishmen, other nationalities being present who fraternized in the most cordial manner. The dining room was splendidly decorated with bunting and patriotic mottoes, the beauty of the decorations reflecting high credit on the task of Bro. J. J. Turner. The tables were beautifully laid out and the bill-of-fare was indeed sumptuous, and the viands delicious. After the banquet the toasts followed, Bro. Tivey, president, occupying the chair, supported by the local members of parliament and several members of the town council; Bro. Mitchell occupied the vice chair.

The toast of "The Queen" was proposed by the President and loyally and enthusiastically honored, "God Save the Queen" being sung. Mr. Frank Mitchell made a neat little speech in honor of the toast.

"The Dominion of Canada and House of Commons" was responded to by Mr. James Stevenson, M.P., who said the members of the House of Commons were a credit to the country. Taken as a whole the House would compare in ability with the legislature of any country.

"The Army and Navy and Volunteers" was honored with intense enthusiasm. Mr. Edward Clark sang "The Red, White and Blue" with great fervour, the company joining heartily in the chorus. Mr. Clark responding to a hot encore, responded with the stirring song, "The Flag that Braved a Thousand Years." Mr. Sidney Blade, a Nile veteran, gave a humorous song, followed by George Hardy, in a rollicking ditty, and by Sergt. Bloome in a neat speech.

"The Ontario Legislature" was acknowledged by Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P., who expressed his pleasure at being present, and congratulated the Sons of England upon their prosperity. He referred to the distinctive position of the English character and to the important part played by Englishmen in the development of representative institutions; to her military victories and to her influence in spreading the blessings of civil and religious liberty. It was proper and justifiable for Englishmen to be loyal to the old land, still they should not forget the land in which they lived and enjoyed so much prosperity.

The toast of "The Grand Lodge" was responded to by Bro. GUNN, who, in the course of his remarks, stated that the Sons of England Society was continually extending in membership and influence. A brief sketch of the Order was given and the strength of the Society was between six and seven thousand. Lansdowne lodge was increasing both in membership and finances.

"The Town of Peterborough" was heartily honored and brought responses from Mayor STEVENSON, who proudly stated that Ashburnham should join in making the town a city. He referred to the prosperity of her manufactories, and instanced the Leach Waste as a successful manufactory, employing 140 hands and paying out $600 per week in wages. He complimented the town council on their ability, and paid particular compliment to Mr. Davidson, who, as local finance minister, had proved himself a careful, painstaking, safe financier. (Applause.)

Mr. T. CAHILL had been a member of the council for fifteen years consecutively, and he knew that, as a rule, councillors tried to do their best for the town. He made a neat, pithy, pointed speech.

Mr. DAVIDSON, following, pointed out the capital financial position of the town, superior to that of any town in Canada. Her debt was small and showed a prospect of being totally wiped out.

Mr. MOORE referred to the large amount of capital available for investment in Peterborough and he had great faith in its future.

Mr. HENRY DENNE said he was proud, after a thirty-four year residence, of the progress of Peterborough.

Mr. JOHN MCNAUGHTON pointed out the benefits of beneficiary organizations, as they saved a large expenditure of public money. Continuing he made a pithy, witty speech so full of point that on sitting down he was honored with "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. J. J. Turner gave in good style the song "Sparkling Moselle," which was encored, and Mr. Edward Clark sang a comic song.

"Our Sister Societies" was responded to by Mr. Rundle, of Oshawa, and Mr. John Fanning, D.H.C.R.

The "Learned Professions" was responded to by Mr. W. A. Stratton, Dr. Pigeon and Mr. W. H Moore.

Mr. W. H. Bowman sang in good style the "Weeping Willer," which was wildly encored.

Bro. Barnes, of Bellville, sang with great applause, "The Union Jack of Old England," and to an encore "The Death of Nelson."

The "Press" was responded to by Mr. Stratton, of the EXAMINER, Mr. McKay, of the Review, and Mr. Pettitt, of the Times.

Mr. Pierce sang a capital song, "The Lighthouse by the Sea," and for a repeat "Mr. Mulcahy, Esq."

"The Ladies" was uproariously honored, Messrs. Stevens and Land responding. "Our Host and Hostess" brought responses from Mr. Snowden, host, and Mr. Bowman, caterer.

Mr. Barlow gave a capital rendering of "The Englishman."

Mr. Kingscote sang a patriotic song with an encore.

The entertainment concluded with "God Save the Queen," and three rousing cheers. Lansdowne Lodge is to be warmly congratulated upon the great success of their annual supper, much of the credit of which is due to the efficient committee of management, Messrs. J. J. Turner, W. Roberts, W. Taylor, S. Roadhouse and R. Warham.

The school board held the last meeting of the present year last night in the school room. In the absence of the chairman, the Rev. W. C. Bredshaw, Mr. H. Colcutt filled the position very acceptably, both as regards the management of the business and in occupying all the vacant space in the chair. The only business transacted was the receiving of the principal's report, which showed an average attendance in the whole school for the past month of about 165, and everything working satisfactorily. Some other matters were ordered to be attended to during the holidays.

The saw mill has been closed down for this year, after a busy season's work.

The last meeting of the municipal council of the village will be held on Saturday evening, 15th inst., when the final business of the year will be transacted.

The management of St. Joseph's Hospital will make application to the council to be exempted from taxation.

The teachers and scholars of the Methodist Sunday school, under the direction of their superintendant, Mr. A. Russel, are preparing for their annual entertainment and Christmas tree.

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

Vein of Wealth.

At a meeting of the students of the Peterborough Business College held Tuesday evening, Dec. 11th, it was moved by Miss Salisbury seconded by Mr. Ed. N. Easton, that the students of this College tender their most sincere thanks to the chairman Mr. J. E. Stratton and all those who so efficiently assisted at the "At Home" on Friday evening Dec. 7th, also to Mr. H. S. Griffin for his kindness in providing the decorations.

Grand Results.

For several years R. H. Brown, of Kincardine, suffered from dyspepsia, he says he tried several physicians and a host of remedies with our relief. His druggist recommended B. B. B. which he declares produced "grand results," for which he gives it his highest recommendation. 2w49d

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Census Discloses a Population of 165,000—Brother Baxter in Town.

TORONTO, Dec. 12.—The draft of the proclamation for the annexation of Parkdale has been placed in the hands of the City Clerk. The terms on which annexation is to be carried out are briefly stated as follows: Parkdale's general debenture debt to be redeemed by the city; the town to be a city ward; Queen-street subway to be widened and improved; Dufferin street to be extended to the outlet; Parkdale lake front to be made a part of the city's drive scheme; the waterworks of the town to be utilized by the city as far as practicable, and a western branch established for the payment of rates; the local improvement system to be assimilated to that of the city; the town's hall to be secured as part of the city property; the town officials to be retained by the city as far as possible; the city police system to include Parkdale; the present police force of the town to be taken over by the city, subject to the approval of the Police Commissioners. These terms do not meet the unqualified approval of the city officials and the Executive Committee will meet to-day to consider them.

A man named George Beggs, aged 23, unmarried and an ex-waterworks employe, was killed yesterday morning at Deseronto by the premature explosion of a blast. Another man working near him escaped miraculously.

There was a genuine surprise party at police headquarters yesterday morning. While the Police Court was in session who should walk in but Mr. Jas. Baxter, the Montreal Witness. Stepping up to Detective-Sergeant Reburn, he tapped him lightly on the shoulder. Reburn's astonishment when he looked up and saw Mr. Baxter standing beside him was simply marvellous. They shook hands and the officer introduced Mr. Baxter to the reporters and then took him to the County Crown Attorney, to whom he also presented him. The two B's, Baxter and Bedborrow, had a brief consultation about the third B—Barnett. Mr. Baxter stated that he came to Toronto, having received a letter from a party here advising him that his testimony would be necessary at the case of the creditors of the Central Bank against Archibald Campbell. Spoken to, he said: "I know no more about Barnett than these uniformed policemen standing there. All the talk concerning the case only wind. Now I am in Toronto, and I assert the fullest investigation."

An army of 313 men were spread broadcast over the whole city yesterday to ascertain by an accurate census the exact population. Each man was given a district which he could cover with ease in a day. Many of them got through their work by 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and it is to the evening but five enumerators had to forward from. The returns so far as received bring up the figure to 161,000 and with the five books to come in that number will probably be swelled to 165,000. With Parkdale annexed Toronto will start the new year with a population of 170,000.

The famous appeal case of Rev. W. F. Wilson against a conviction by the Police Magistrate for being disorderly was finished yesterday. The jury retired at 5 o'clock. They returned at 9 o'clock and Judge Morgan was told that the jury could not agree and they were discharged. There were 10 for the appeal and two against it.

Dr. Lehmann, medical inspector of the Provincial Board of Health, who returned Tuesday night from a visit to the country south of French River and Lake Nipissing, reports diphtheria prevalent in that vicinity.

The Congregationalists at their session yesterday passed a resolution favoring the establishment in Toronto of a theological school for young men looking towards ministerial work.

MORE RETALIATION TALK.

The U. S. Commissioner of Navigation on Reciprocity in Wrecking.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—C. B. Morten, Commissioner of Navigation, in his annual report, says: The wrecking by Canadian tugs in American waters and vice versa gives rise to perplexing questions. Efforts have been made to arrive at some agreement with the Canadian Government in regard to the matter. That Government declares itself as ready to enter into reciprocal arrangements in relation to the coasting trade including wrecking but declines absolutely to make any special arrangement in regard to the latter matter. Reports are expressed that the questions involved in the fisheries dispute between the United States and Canada have not been settled by negotiation. The commissioner says that a decision that the Webb has now arrived when retaliation is in order and the Canadians taught that two can play at a game of obstruction to the laws of trade and commerce. It is plain that the Canadians should allow our vessels, permitted under our laws, to visit their ports for commercial purposes, the privileges usually given by foreign governments in such cases or that very decided measures should be taken to lay a burden at least as heavy on Canadian business in the United States.

Committed Forgery for a Girl.

NEWARK, N. J.,—It has been settled beyond a doubt that Edward Fenton Honeywood, who was arrested in this city on Monday night for forgery, is the son of Lady Honeywood of England. He claims to have been sent to New Zealand to reform and that on his return to England he was kept by his brother Sir John until he got his share of the property (£16,000), which he soon squandered and was then induced to come to America. Here he fell in love with Minnie Ayres, the girl for whom he committed forgery.

England's Trade With Canada.

LONDON, Dec. 13.— Exports to Canada show a decrease of 16.8 per cent. for November, and 9.6 for the eleven months. Iron shows the largest decline. Imports from Canada increased 1.99 per cent. for the month, and 11,35 for the eleven months. The live stock, fish, metal and lumber imports expanded, while wheat much declined. The total wheat imports this year were £1,000,000 less than last; flour about equal.

Milwaukee P. E. Bishopric.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 13.—A special council of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the diocese of Milwaukee to elect a successor to the late Bishop Wells is now in session here. There promises to be a deadlock between the High and Low Church advocates.

A Barn and Contents Gone.

RUTH, Dec. 13.—Mr. Gildern's barn, in the township of East Westminch, near Auburn, was burnt to the ground last evening. The barn contained the greater part of last season's crop and implements. No particulars are in.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Death of Hon. Wm. Kelly.

MONTREAL, Dec. 13.—Hon. Wm. Kelly, a member of the Legislative Council of New Brunswick, died yesterday at his son's residence in this city. The deceased was a son of J. M. Kelly who came to the province in 1760. Born at Moncton in 1827, member of Executive Council of New Brunswick with office of Chief Commissioner of Public Works from 1869 to 1878, re-presented Northumberland in Provincial Legislature 1866, appointed to Upper House same year: Liberal in politics. The funeral will take place to-day to Bonaventure station whence the remains will be taken to Chatham.

Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Over one-third of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific have signed the memorial in favor of a friendly agreement. The Canadian Gazette, discussing the question, declares that the language of the Grand Trunk president never tended to promote friendly relations. Even now his attitude is especially unbecoming and provocative. Both companies' issues are down this week.

A Port Arthur Blaze.

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 13.—Tuesday night the residence of James A. Fraser caught fire by a lamp explosion. The fire was well started before discovered, and great difficulty was experienced in subduing the flames and saving the house. The fire was finally overcome before the brigade arrived. Loss $200.

Oil Struck at Tilsonburg.

TILSONBURG, Dec. 13.—The parties engaged in testing for oil here struck a good show on Tuesday with a quantity of gas. The oil is light and fresh in quality. Further testing operations will be proceeded

In a Dreadful Condition.

Hattie E. Manthorn, of Mill Village, Ont says, "My cough was dreadful, I could not sleep at nights on account of it, but when I used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam I had rest and was quickly cured." All druggists sell this invaluable cough remedy. 2w49d

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Philip H. Brant, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says "astonishing good results." 2w46d

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,198 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are $,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assur ance.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,432 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,560 67	196,188 29	1,167,396 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 54	263,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,607 24	4,023,373 66
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Correction.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

DEAR SIR,—I am instructed by the committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home to correct the impression that the circular mentioned in Monday's issue emanated from them It has been issued by a lady, whose kindly exertions on former occasions have amply proved the deep interest she takes in the work of the Home. To her alone is due the credit of this effort.

Yours respectfully,

Acting Secretary.

A Suitable Gift.

To the Editor of the Examiner

SIR,—About this time of year, people are racking their brains on the question, what shall I give * * * for a Christmas present?

I would suggest one that would be acceptable to most persons, that is, a ticket to the Mechanic's Institute. It costs but a moderate amount, and with it old and young, grave and gay, may obtain reading suited to their respective tastes; and the enjoyment is not confined to the holiday season, but lasts for a year.

Yours etc.

A School for Ladies.

Mr. Duff has pleasure in announcing that, after the Christmas vacation, he will, in connection with his educational work, establish a school for young ladies. Mr. and Mrs. Duff will have the supervision over, and share the duties connected with the girls' work. In addition, they have secured the services of Miss Harden, a lady thoroughly fitted, both by education and experience, to further their aims in this respect. The daughter of a north of Ireland clergyman, Miss Harden was educated in one of the best colleges in Dublin, where, in addition to other distinctions, she obtained the medal of the Intermediate Education Board, and the South Kensington certificate for drawing. In this country she matriculated with honors at Toronto University; and has since been engaged in high school work, preparing students for entrance to Toronto University and for second and third class certificates. The subjects taught will include classics, mathematics, French, German, drawing, and all English subjects. The boys' work will continue as heretofore under Mr. Duff's direction. A Fancy Window.

Christmas decorations are all the rage just now and nearly everyone is "fixin' up" more or less for the holiday season. Few, however, have done so with the success attending the window decoration of Mr. W. J. Mason's grocery store. There is an artistic display of holiday goods, of every variety and best quality, that will at once please the eye and attract customers; and the window is but an index to the magnificent stock of seasonable grocery contained in the store. Householders should note the fact and govern themselves accordingly 1d

Change in Confectionery Business.

GREENFIELD GOT 10 YEARS

He Makes a Long Statement to the Court.

Continuation of the Evidence in the Case —Greenfield Pleads into the "Bummer" and Several Witnesses — The Judge's Opinion of the Prisoner—Ten Years in Kingston Penitentiary.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Court resumed at 2 o'clock, and the Greenfield case was continued.

Mr. T. Fitzgerald told of his leaving the horse and buggy (referred to in Mr. McMullen's evidence), tied by the roadside. He next saw the equipage after it had been brought back from Cobourg.

P. C. ADAMS testified to finding a pair of boots and a vest in Gough's store the morning of the burglary, and a parcel at the door containing some loaded revolvers, which it was ascertained had been taken from Stethem's hardware store. (The vest and boots were produced and identified). He also found parcels of goods done up ready to carry away.

Mr. FRED ROBINSON said he had gone down to Cobourg September 1st and got the horse which had been stolen from his father. The Cobourg police told him it had been found in the streets that morning.

Chief ROSSEL recounted the particulars of his trip to Buffalo to identify the prisoner. When he saw him he bore marks of cuts on his right fingers and left wrist. He had brought back a photo of the prisoner which was produced. The boots found were also produced and the Chief said he had tried one of them on the prisoner's foot without a sock, and it seemed to him to be about his size. Prisoner had not admitted to him that he had ever been in Gough's store.

SOME CONFESSIONS.

Mr. TILLMAN WILES, of St. Catherines, who has been an amateur detective or 31 years, said he had occasion to be in Peterborough not long ago, and while here the Chief of Police got him into the gaol for the purpose of ascertaining from the prisoner whether he had committed the job or not. He went into the gaol on Nov. 14th and remained a couple of days. On the second day, after he had become pretty well acquainted with the prisoner, he began talking with him confidentially about crooks and their work. Wiles told Greenfield that his name was Mat Carpenter a well-known "gofor" man, or one who operated on safes. This put them on good terms, and after "Mat" had told him what he had done and recounted a number of exploits, for instance not long ago cracking a safe in Bobcaygeon, Greenfield opened out, and confided a number of the "jobs" he had perpetrated to Wiles and among them what he believed was this one. Greenfield said he was in a store and let the back window down. He said he had not come down here intending to do this job. He and another fellow intended to crack a safe in the big woolen mill here, but on the way down they quarrelled and the other fellow went off with the tools. While he was in the store tying up the goods in his over-alls, he heard a noise and saw a man rise up his head above the window, and he hauled up and shot at him, and the other fellow threw up his hands and gave a yell. Wiles said to him, "I think if I had shot at a man that close I would have killed him." "Well," Greenfield replied, "I thought I did kill him from the way he hollered—I intended to kill him, anyway." Wiles further said the prisoner told him all about his escape. He said he had taken off his boots in the store so as not to make any noise. And he said he was so stunned by the crash in going through the window that he rolled nearly half way out into the road before he could pick himself up. After he had his cuts dressed by the woman, he stole a horse and buggy and drove to Port Hope and there took the train for Toronto. Greenfield told him, he said, that he was about dead from loss of blood.

Mr. MOORE—Did he ever tell you he was in Gough's store at all.

WITNESS—No, I don't think he did. He only said he was in a store where he shot at a man.

A lively passage-at-arms followed between Mr. Moore and the witness, in which it would be difficult to say which came out ahead. Mr. Moore sought to throw contempt on the detective's action, gently insinuating that it was not the most honorable course for a detective to adopt. Wiles met this with imperturbed good-humor, and retorted promptly. He let Mr. Moore into several secrets of the "profesh," accompanying each by the taunting question, "you didn't know that, now, did you, Mr. Moore?" Sharp sallies occurred on each side, and the court was often prompted to laughter. Nothing new was, however, elicited from the witness.

OTHER TESTIMONIES.

GEORGE DOWNER, of Otonabee, said, on 31st August he was down on the Keene road not far from town, and about six o'clock saw the prisoner turning around Mr. Burnham's corner, with Mr. Fitzgerald's horse and buggy. Coming around the corner the horse was on the run, but when it passed him it was trotting.

To Mr. Moore.—Recognized the horse because he had driven it and seen it often. He recognized prisoner because he had gone to school with him in Ashburnham and had seen him since.

ROBERT YOUNG, a prisoner confined in gaol for robbing Mr. Chas. Porter's clothes line about three months ago, was called by Mr. Moore. He was in the same corridor of the gaol with the prisoner. He remembered the visit of Wiles to the gaol, and said it was Greenfield's opinion all the time that Wiles was a detective.

Mr. MOORE then addressed the jury in behalf of the prisoner. His main arguments were that there was a great possibility of a mistake in the identity of the prisoner, and pointed out discrepancies in the evidence of the witnesses.

Mr. WOOD next summed up the evidence for the prosecution.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE.

HIS HONOR, in beginning his address, complimented Mr. Moore on his able defence of the prisoner. There were four counts against the prisoner, but they were substantially the same, and the charge was that he assaulted Constable Stewart with intent to kill. The offence charged was that he fired a pistol at the constable. That was assault; the mere pointing of a revolver constituted an assault. It must be shown, however, that it was this prisoner's intention to kill the constable, and the only gauge of a man's intentions in a case of this kind were his actions. And when a man uses a weapon that is deadly it is implied that he intended to kill. The jury would have to determine whether this prisoner was in Gough's store on Aug. 31st last and shot at the constable. If there was only the evidence of Mr Stewart there might be some doubt thrown upon the identity of the prisoner, and other evidence was necessary. Stewart was positive enough and gave his evidence in a straightforward manner, and His Honor took occasion to compliment officer Stewart on his pluck assuming of course his story was true. Was the prisoner in this vicinity at the time? The prisoner did not choose to show where he was at that time, and that was a matter to take into consideration. Mrs. McNairn, Thos. McMullen and George Downer all say he was in this vicinity at that time. Were they mistaken or not was for the jury to say. And the evidence of Downer regarding the running of the horse and its slowing down was of just such conduct as might be expected of a prisoner to allay suspicion. Then, when old Mr. McMullen asked the prisoner why he went into Gough's store, why did he not deny it? The prisoner neither denied nor admitted it; but the fact that he did not deny it was against him. As regarded the conduct of Detective Wiles, His Honor said very often such men were necessary to ferret out crime. For instance, a detective did the very same thing to unravel the mystery of the murder of Mr. T. D. McGee, who was well known in this town, and who met his death at Ottawa. Then the prisoner's voluntary admission to Wiles that he had intended to kill, and thought he had killed Stewart, made without any influence being used in the shape of bribes or threats, were just the charges on which he was being tried. And it must be accepted that this statement was true when man voluntarily makes a confession against his own interests. Of course there was the possibility that the prisoner had told Wiles all these things because the latter had made himself out such a great man and that Greenfield did not want to be outdone. The evidence of Chief Rossel also went to corroborate the evidence of Mrs. McNairn regarding the wounds on the prisoner's wrist. The whole question resolved itself into this. Is Constable Stewart's evidence as to the offence reliable, and in this the man seen by Mrs. McNairn, Mr. McMullen and Mr. Downer, the same who committed the offence charged. His Honor charged the jury to remove all prejudices from their minds they might have gained from reading or hearsay. If there was any reasonable doubt about the circumstances surrounding the prisoner or the offence, then they should give him the benefit of that doubt.

"GUILTY."

The jury then retired, and in about 40 minutes returned with a verdict of "guilty." The prisoner never changed a muscle as he heard the verdict, but took the matter very coolly.

After a few minute's consideration, His Honor decided to defer sentence, and the court adjourned till morning, no other cases being ready for trial.

THURSDAY.

Greenfield was brought into court to receive sentence, and, in reply to the Judge's question if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, the prisoner said:—

Yes, I would like to say a few words. In the first place, this Mrs. McNairn swears positively she knew me in Peterborough three years ago. Now I can prove she perjures herself in swearing that. You yourself know that three years ago I could not have been here, for I was in penitentiary at that time.

Judge WELLER—Yes, I think you are the young man Ferguson who was convicted while I was County Attorney.

GREENFIELD—You know I was arrested for the larceny of a watch, but I was discharged and re-arrested for robbing Mills Bros.' store. I got three years for that. That was four years ago, and how could I have been here three years ago? She swears positively she knew me in the south ward three years ago. Then this man Downer swears he went to school with me in Ashburnham. I had a half-brother who went to school in Ashburnham by the name of Ferguson. My name is Greenfield; my mother married twice. I never saw the man before till yesterday in the witness box, and I don't think he ever saw me.

JUDGE—Do you think he saw you in that buggy?

GREENFIELD—No, I don't. He swears he saw Ferguson, who went to school in Ashburnham, and he could never have seen me because I never went to school there. The EXAMINER has been working on this case ever since I went to Buffalo. It has been publishing pieces in nearly every paper it issued, so that it prejudiced the jury's mind against me and they could not give me a fair trial. There was a piece published in the Weekly EXAMINER the day the Chief brought me over from Buffalo. It said I was convicted here several times. Gaoler Nesbitt here knows that's not so. It said I was sent up for 20 days for stealing old iron. Now there is no such conviction on record. Then it says I had a hand in the robbing of the priest's house also. That alone would prejudice the jury so that I could not get a fair trial.

GREENFIELD said he had cut four pieces out of the EXAMINER, and held in his hand the lengthy biography clipped from a former issue of this paper entitled "Ferguson's Felonies." The article in question was handed to Mr. Moore, his counsel, and the Judge, and both gentlemen after looking it over remarked that they didn't there was anything in it to his great detriment.

Greenfield, continuing, said,—I saw the reporter and asked him what he published it for. He told me he got the information from the police court clerk. But instead of correcting it he published it three times over. As for Tillman Wiles, I knew him three years ago and I wouldn't be likely to confess anything to him. I would be a fit subject for a lunatic asylum if I did. I have been in penitentiary all right, but after I came out I tried to do right. I went to Hamilton and got work on a gravel train at $1.25 a day, but the men put up a job on me and had me discharged. When I asked why they discharged me, the boss said they didn't want any Kingston goal birds working for them. Soon after, Detective Doyle saw me on the street and asked where I was going. I told him I had been working on the gravel train, and he told me to never mind any gravel train but get out of town inside of an hour or he would have me committed for vagrancy. I was barred from earning an honest living there, but I didn't give up and went to Toronto. I got a job as brakesman on the O. & Q. Division of the C.P.R. This was about four years ago. Not long after, Detective Reburn saw me on the streets of Toronto, and I was called in by the managers of the road and handed my book time and discharged. I asked for a letter of character to help me get work elsewhere, and I was told if I applied to Kingston Penitentiary perhaps I could get it. I was barred twice from making an honest living. What was I going to do? Furthermore, the chief of police here in Peterborough found out I was going to have a counsel from Toronto, and he wrote and had the correspondence stopped so I would not get one. And yesterday when you were charging the jury you said I should have shown where I was at the time of the burglary. That was impossible for me to do. I could not extradite witnesses from the States to show that

The Judge.—Is there anything else.

Greenfield.—Nothing else.

The Judge said, "You don't expect me to believe that on the 31st of August you were in the States in view of all the evidence on the subject, do you?" Continuing he said he considered the prisoner had had a fair trial. The counsel assigned him had conducted his case ably, and it could not have been done better had he had counsel from Toronto. As regarded the complaint that the chief of police had stopped his correspondence, it was prisoner's privilege when the Chief was in the box to question him on the subject, but he had not chosen to do so. The Judge considered the Chief had done nothing more than his duty, and in the whole case he had evidently treated the prisoner with every fairness and consideration, especially in not trying to draw from him admissions that might be used against him. The prisoner's denial that Mrs. McNairn saw him in Peterborough three years ago was not of much importance. She might merely be mistaken as to the time, and in any case it did not affect the value of her testimony in this trial. Regarding the prisoner's complaints against the EXAMINER, the judge said he did not think the newspaper charged him with the burglary of the priest's house. It merely suggested that such might be the case; it was natural to suppose that the man who was so ready with his pistol in Gough's store might be the same man who shot at the priests when their house was burglarized. The prisoner also said he would not likely confess to the detective when he knew who he was; perhaps not, but without the evidence of Wiles His Honor considered there was sufficient testimony to show that the prisoner was guilty. His condition at Mrs McNairn's, and his statement to McMullen, when the latter charged him with being the man who was in Gough's store, all were against him. To McMullen the prisoner had given the same excuse he had just offered to the court—"What was he going to do for a living?" Then the prisoner's statement that he had been followed about by the police and prevented from getting honest work, His Honor thought showed he was down on the criminal calendar as a confirmed criminal. The detectives would not follow a man about like that if they knew he was trying to do right. They knew he was a marked man and dangerous to be at large. "In my opinion," said the Judge, "you have started out with the determination to lead a life of crime before this, and it is altogether likely if you live long enough to get out of the imprisonment to which I am going to put you, you will commence anew the career of crime which will be checked for the present. If I thought there was any likelihood of your endeavoring to obtain your living in an honest way and becoming a good citizen, I would be inclined to give you a very light sentence. But I don't think so according to your own statement that that would be the case." The Judge said he fully believed the prisoner was guilty of the crime charged.

Greenfield here interrupted to explain how it was that the detectives followed him about. There was a class of fellows in the penitentiary called "stool pigeons," who made it their business when they got out and saw another ex convict to inform the detectives. He was himself trying to earn an honest living.

HIS HONOR said he thought if the prisoner had come to any gentleman in town and told who he was and that he wanted to live right, he would easily have got work. But he believed the prisoner was a confirmed criminal, and in order to protect society and that the sentence might act as a deterrent force to prevent others following the same course, a heavy judgment should be pronounced. He had sometimes thought himself that it would be better in certain cases to not name any definite period of imprisonment, but give prisoners a chance to conduct themselves aright and on the certificate of reliable persons, they believed the prisoner intended to do right, let him out, keeping him, however, under the obligation of the police, to whom he should report periodically. But he could only sentence him to some place of imprisonment for a certain term of years—anywhere from life imprisonment to two years. His Honor believed that if the prisoner was confined for only two years he would come out and resume his criminal career. The sentence of the court was, therefore, that he be imprisoned in the Provincial penitentiary at Kingston for 10 years.

Greenfield took the sentence calmly, and was taken back to the cells

[With reference to Greenfield's statements about the EXAMINER, and without any intention of "striking a man when he is down," we might say the article in question was not published three times, but once only in the weekly and daily. Moreover, he received no more attention in these columns than he did in the other local papers. He states that he was never convicted for stealing old iron. We were misinformed as to that—he was discharged for that larceny, but the conviction was made for another offence. His complaint about his being connected with the burglary at the priest's house is answered in the judge's remarks. Greenfield has not much to complain of the EXAMINER's treatment of his case. The article might have been much more explicit than it was and exposed a number of other misdemeanors of which he was guilty.]

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Real Brown in stock.

Dress Goods

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought low. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

THE MAYORALTY!

REQUISITION

To JAMES STEVENSON, Esq.

PETERBOROUGH, 6TH DEC., 1888.

To James Stevenson, Esq., Peterborough:—

SIR,—We, the undersigned ratepayers of the town of Peterborough, hereby request that you again become a candidate for the position of Mayor for the Town of Peterborough for the year 1889, and sincerely trust that, notwithstanding your expressions of unwillingness, you will once more accept the chief place at the Council Board. The great concern you have always taken in municipal matters and your large stake in the town make it of primary importance that you should be in the situation, you have so excellently filled, for securing the advancement of the best interests of the town. We therefore ask you to permit us to nominate you as Mayor and we will do all in our power to secure your return:—

Mr. Stevenson's Reply.

GENTLEMEN,—

Although I had almost definitely decided to retire from active and official participation in municipal matters, yet the desire, as expressed in the foregoing requisition, seems to be of so general and representative a character, that I feel that I would be doing less than my duty as a citizen if I failed to respond to it, therefore, though I do so with personal reluctance, in compliance with the formal demand for my services, I hereby consent to become a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1889. In so doing I think I have a right to feel that my past services have been employed in the best interests of the town, which could hardly be otherwise, when it is borne in mind that I have no small share of material interests to be affected by the administration of the municipal affairs of the town. It is, therefore, my own interest to use my best efforts to secure economical and prudent management of civic matters, and I think my past course is a sufficient guarantee that the public interest will not be t with neglect at my hands. I might suggest that my efforts in promoting manufacturing industries shows that my interest in labouring men is not of a merely sentimental character. I am a comparatively large employer of labor, and endeavor to put my interest in the laboring classes into practical effect, and shall, if again honored with the confidence of the citizens, use my best efforts to maintain the rights and promote the interests of all classes of the community. I do not seek the office of mayor, but if I am chosen I shall not fail to do my best in the future as I have done in the past, to discharge its duties faithfully. I, therefore, place myself in your hands and allow you to put my name in nomination for the position of mayor, assured that I can count upon your assistance in securing my return.

I have the honor to remain, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

JAMES STEVENSON.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Sensational Evidence Given Before the Parnell Commission—A Would-be Murderer on the Stand.

LONDON, Dec 13.—In the House of Commons to-night Sir James Fergusson, Under Foreign Secretary, replying to Lord Randolph Churchill said that the American Minister had presented a notice on the Sackville affair a few days ago, and that it had been referred to Lord Sackville for comment. The correspondence on the subject will not be published until complete.

W. H. Smith was asked whether Sir Charles Warren was to be sent to Suakim. He gave an evasive reply that afforded no information.

A debate followed on a motion by Mr. Whitbread (Lib) that the House record its approval of the Sheehy Committees' report.

Mr. Balfour opposed the motion which he said he considered unnecessary. He had given instructions that no member should have a process served on him under any circumstances whatever in the precincts of the House.

Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt made a long speech in support of the motion.

W. H. Smith followed, speaking to the same effect as Mr. Balfour.

After a long discussion the motion was rejected, 182 to 130.

In the debate on the naval estimates Lord Charles Beresford urged the necessity of strengthening the navy and deprecated the notion that in the event of war England could place her commerce under the protection of a neutral flag or could depend upon allies.

Lord George Hamilton, First Lord of the Admiralty, in replying admitted the justice of many of the remarks of Lord Charles Beresford, but objected to his comparison of the English with the French navy. France, he said, certainly had plenty of vessels, but she was engaged in building so many at a time that it took years to complete them and when completed they were comparatively obsolete and had to be altered. He contended that the admiralty was doing all that it was possible to do with the resources obtained.

A Would-be Murderer's Fee.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—At the meeting of the Parnell Commission to-day Constable Feeley testified that he had attended several League meetings. At one of them Mr. Parnell made a speech. One of his remarks was that "These are days for action, not for words."

A man named Buckley, who said he was a laborer, testified that he was sworn in as a member of the Fenian Brotherhood in November, 1880, at Tralee Causeway. In 1882 a man named Roach had been expelled from the League for giving information to the police which led to the arrest of several members of the league. A meeting was held and it was arranged that witness with Fitzgerald and Phoenix should shoot Roach. Revolvers were given them for the purpose. The three men followed Roach from a court-house, where he had been prosecuting a neighbor for trespassing on his land, to his own house, but they found no opportunity to shoot him. A meeting was held shortly afterwards at the house of a man named Casey, and witness was asked whether he would undertake to shoot Roach if the League provided him with funds to escape to America. Witness consented and was given a revolver and 24 cartridges and advised to practice and improve his aim. It was arranged that after he had shot Roach he should take shelter at the house of a man named Dean and witnesses would be forthcoming to swear that he was not in the vicinity at the time of the murder. Witness afterwards met Roach driving cattle and at emptied toshoot. He pulled the trigger of his revolver three times, but the weapon missed fire, Roach then bolted. Witness was arrested and charged with attempting the crime, but witnesses swore that he was at Dean's house when the attempt was made and he was released. Witness some time after applied to the League for money to go to America and obtained £2 10s. He expressed dissatisfaction with the amount, but Phœnix told him he could not expect any more in view of his failure to shoot Roach. On cross-examination witness averred that his attempt on Roach's life was a genuine one. Before the occurrence he used to practice firing with his revolver at a stone the size of a man's head. This statement caused a sensation.

Mgr. Persico's Report on Ireland.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Mgr. Persico's report on the Irish question is almost completed. He directs attention to the anomalous fact that all the Government authorities in Ireland from the Lord-Lieutenant downward are Protestants and not well disposed towards Catholics. On the other hand he says the agrarian struggle engenders outrage and a total violation of the moral law. He himself has improved the state of affairs but much remains undone. The Irish people refuse absolutely to admit that the plan of campaign is criminal, they consider it a legitimate retaliation upon the landowners who they say must pay for the misdeeds of this class in the past. The land courts sometimes succeed in quieting the people by obtaining concessions from the landlords, but generally they inspired little confidence. The Pope may still do much provided he can convince the Irish people that he is not acting in accordance with an agreement with the English Government. The people must be made to comprehend the moral importance of their acts; they must be taught to accustom themselves to a separation of political questions from moral questions. They must not serve as the instrument of those who under the pretext of nationality lead them to the commission of acts that are contrary to morality. Mgr. Persico expresses the most absolute disapproval of boycotting. He signifies the opinion that Irish political aspirations must be satisfied before peace can be restored

Rejected Despite M. Goblet's Efforts.

PARIS, Dec. 12.—The Chamber of Deputies to-day rejected the proposed commercial treaty between France and Greece despite the energetic support given the measure by M. Goblet, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Another of the Johnson Gang Convicted.

DETROIT, Dec. 13.—Robert Judge, the Port Huron counterfeiter who has been on trial in the United States Court here for some days, was convicted this afternoon. Judge belonged to the famous Johnson gang, eight of whom are now in states prison. Judge was sentenced to pay a fine of $1000 and to imprisonment in the Detroit House of Corrections for 10 years.

ADULTERATED U. S. LARD.

ITS IMPORTATION OPPOSED BY CANADIAN PORK-PACKERS.

New Clothing Being Sent Out for the Letter-Carriers—Rogers & Farrell's $80,000 Lachine Canal Claim.

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—The usual six months' supply of clothing is being sent out by the Postoffice Department for letter-carriers throughout the Dominion.

A deputation consisting of F. W. Fearman of Hamilton, C. L. Wilson of Ingersoll, James Park of Toronto, W. E. Mathews of Peterboro and D. Gunn of Toronto, representing the Canadian Porkpackers Association, waited upon the Minister of Customs to-day and urged that measures be adopted to restrict the importation of adulterated American lard, which is largely made from cotton-seed oil, and which can be sold much cheaper than genuine lard. They also wanted the duty on pork made uniform at 2 cents per pound, instead of 1 cent on pork in barrels and 2 cents on shoulders and hams, as at present. The minister promised that the matter should receive consideration.

The investigation into the claim of Rogers & Farrell for $80,000 in connection with the contract for a section of the Lachine Canal was opened before Mr. John Page, Chief Engineer, this morning. Mr. J. J. Curran, M.P., appeared for the claimants. The evidence of Mr. Rogers was taken to-day.

Arguments in the Edison electric light case will probably be heard before Deputy-Commissioner of Patents Pope on Dec. 18.

The contract for the approaches to the Sault Ste. Marie Canal has not yet been awarded. H. & J. Ryan are said to be the lowest tenderers for the lower end of the canal, the figures being placed at a little under $300,000, and John Nicholson of Ottawa is said to be the lowest for the Lake Superior end.

The Deputy Minister of Fisheries has returned from the Maritime Provinces. Whilst there he visited Chatham, N. B., and had a conference with the smelt fishermen of the Miramichi regarding their grievances. The fishery inspector of that locality has been reporting that bag nets should be prohibited, stringent restrictions should be enforced and high license should be imposed, which the fishermen claim would amount to a prohibition. Lieut.-Col. Tilton fully enquired into the matter and will shortly present a report to the minister. The restrictions complained of by the fishermen may, it is probable, be modified.

No importance is attached by the Department of Agriculture to the agitation among the English agricultural journals against the admission of Canadian cattle into England, as a counter blast to the American agitation for the admission of United States cattle. All the talk on the subject is attributed to local jealousy. Canada, it is believed here, will enjoy the privilege as long as she shows a clean bill of health.

FIRES OF A DAY.

Standard Oil Company's Cooper Shop at Pittsburg Burnt.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 13.—The cooper shop of the Standard Oil Company was burned to-night, loss $80,000. Two firemen were buried under a fallen wall and seriously injured.

"Spontaneous Combustion."

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 13.—About 7.30 this morning a fire in Wilson's furniture warerooms, caused by spontaneous combustion, did $1500 worth of damage, fully insured.

A Blaze in an Indian Village.

QUEBEC, Dec. 13.—At 9 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the house of Jean Baptiste Sioui at the Indian village of Lorette, 9 miles from the city. A demijohn containing coal oil, which had been placed on a mantel piece near the stove, fell, struck the stove and was ignited. So rapidly did the flames spread that Sioui's daughter, aged 25, and an old man named Freeman were severely burned.

Two Persons Burnt to Death.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 13.—This morning a fire occurred in Sweeney's mattress and furniture shop which resulted in the burning of three persons, two fatally.

FROM WINNIPEG.

Wheat Going Up Again—A Farmer Attempts Suicide.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 13.—Market reports this morning state that wheat is going up, there being a slight rise all around. Holders are in good humor over the prospects.

A herd of buffalo recently purchased by a Texan will be shipped South to-morrow.

It is claimed that the evangelists made about 1500 converts, Winnipeg coming next to Ottawa.

Because his wife at Clan William contributed $10 towards the building fund of the Methodist Church, a farmer who is very miserly attempted to suicide by drowning, then by hanging, then by burning himself.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Baxter on the Witness Stand—Rumored Newspaper Amalgamation.

TORONTO, Dec. 14.—Mr. James Baxter of Montreal, whose name for a year has been so intimately associated with reports of Central Bank matters, was on the stand yesterday at Osgoode Hall for seven hours in connection with the case of the liquidators against ex-Liquidator Archibald Campbell. Nothing particularly new or sensational was developed. Mr. Baxter was cool and clear headed and frequently turned the laugh on his questioners. At 6 o'clock an adjournment was had until to-day, and Baxter was ordered to be on hand, although he protested strenuously that he must return to Montreal.

Yesterday at the General Sessions William Kennedy was found guilty of shooting at Constable Welsh on Nov. 8 with intent to do bodily harm.

The second annual banquet of the University of Toronto Medical College was held last evening in the Rossin House. Two hundred guests and students attended, and the occasion was one to be remembered.

The World this morning gives special prominence to the statement that The Globe and The Mail have consolidated into one concern to be known as The Mail-Globe, and under one management. The World says the agreement was actually signed yesterday. Rumors to the effect that a consolidation was contemplated and that negotiations were in progress to that end have been current among well-informed persons and though The World's report may be a trifle premature it is probable that the amalgamation will soon be announced.

At yesterday's meeting of the Mutual Fire Underwriter's Association it was unanimously agreed that there should if possible be established a law to make compulsory the registration of fires, whether insured or not, with value of buildings, amount of insurance, and loss; all registered with the clerk of the municipality, as in the case of births, marriages and deaths, and duly reported to the proper provincial authority.

A SOVEREIGN NATION.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN CANADA.

Professor Schurman of Cornell University Talks about the Dominion's Destiny—The Golden Northwest.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Prof. J. G. Schurman of Cornell University, who is a Canadian, spoke here to-night on the political situation in Canada. He held that Canada had been growing into an independent nation since 1840, especially since the Confederation in 1867. Since 1880 Canada's semi-continental inter-oceanic territory had greatly fostered the sentiment. However, there were influences that might work for annexation. Taxation, general and local was about as high in Canada as in the United States, being in Nova Scotia $9.45 per capita as against $11.26 in Vermont, but the Vermonters' burden would be lessened by $2 before 1900 by the payment of the debt.

The population did not respect the 49th parallel. There were nearly one-fourth as many Canadians in the United States as in Canada, and there were too few in the Canadian Northwest. Still it was shown that from 1790 to 1860 the rate of increase of population had been greater in Canada than in the United States, but from 1861 to 1881 the Canadian increase had been only 33 per cent.

However, neither the finances nor the population, nor even the fisheries required such radical treatment as a political union with the States which Canadian sentiment opposed. Both countries would be benefitted by limited trade reciprocity. Canada had only to wait for the returns from her golden Northwest then she might become in name what she has almost grown to be in fact—a sovereign nation. In the meantime she would retain her present political status.

THE U. S. CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

Actors Moving to Have Their Foreign Professional Brethren Shut Out.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The American actor, like the artisan, wants protection from foreigners coming here under contract to work at small salaries. To-day Louis Aldrich, Harley Merry and Lewis M. Sawyer, a committee representing the Actor's Order of Friendship, appeared before the Ford immigration investigating committee and asked that the contract labor law be so amended as to include professional actors and musicians among the classes prohibited from entering the United States under a labor contract. At present the law specially exempts actors and musicians from its provisions.

Is It Revenge?

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Since the national subscription to cover the German indemnity of 1871, there has not been such spontaneous enthusiasm on the Paris Bourse as there was on Monday when 100,000,000 francs of the new Russian 4 per cent. loan was offered and 350,000,000 subscribed. Financially the loan is an undoubted success, but it is difficult to overestimate its political importance. Russia would develop her military, and France responds. France gave money in 1871 from patriotism. She gives money again in 1888, for what? It is revenge. The most absolute monarchy in Europe asks for money and the most democratic republic in Europe lends the money. Truly les extremes se touchent. M. Floquet announced the result of the subscription to the council of ministers yesterday with great satisfaction, and alluded to it in private conversation as "the financial enfranchisement of Russia from the Berlin banking monopoly."

I saw a diplomatic personage yesterday familiar with the inside history of the loan, and he gave me these facts in brief: Last June representatives of the Comptoir d'Escompte, the Credit Lyonnais and other financial institutions of France, with several private bankers, suggested to M. Vyshnigradsky, Russian Minister of Finance, the advisability of converting the Russian debt and floating a new Russian loan in Paris. Vyshnigradsky reported this to the Czar, who viewed the project with favor. At this time the rouble was much depreciated and the moment was not considered favorable. With the rise of the rouble the scheme became practicable and was put into execution.

The advantages to Russia are many. It frees her from the financial tutelage of Berlin, where hitherto all Russian loans have been floated, and these are owned largely in Germany. The fact enabled Prince Bismarck to put direct pressure on the internal affairs of the Russian empire by lowering at his will the price of the rouble. The iron chancellor could thus practically prevent Russia making war, he could fan social discontent in St. Petersburg, Moscow and Odessa, and he could inflict losses of millions upon the Czar's private fortune and the Russian treasury. Lately the German bankers have unloaded their Russian bonds on the market in the vain attempt to again depreciate the roubles. These bonds have at once been bought up in France, so that the great bulk of the loan is now owned in France.

THE COMBER ELOPERS.

They Will Probably Remember Their Visit to Norwood.

NORWOOD, Dec. 13.—A man named Wm. Allen last evening came into this place and called upon Mrs. House, a lady from Comber, Ont., who had left her husband and three children a short time ago. He had been with her when she first left home, but delayed following her for a short time to throw off suspicion. They intended going to Hastings last night and hired a horse and rig for that purpose, but when entering the rig were surprised, or rather stunned, by a shower of eggs thrown by a crowd of boys who had collected to give them a farewell send off. The crowd then took them out of the rig and sent it back to the livery. The couple then proceeded to the other hotel and from thence to the C. P. R. station, followed by the crowd. They quietly seated themselves to wait for the midnight express, but were not long allowed to rest in this position. He was taken out and presented with a tin ticket, which he thankfully took. They then escorted the lady down town, after which the gathering broke up. To-day Mr. Allen went to Havelock, where he boarded the express going west. Mrs. House took the same train from here.

SMALLPOX AT BUFFALO.

A Serious Outbreak Threatened—Four New Cases Reported.

BUFFALO, Dec. 13.—Still the smallpox continues to menace Buffalo. There were three new cases reported last evening and one new case to-day. The advent of cold weather is quite likely to spread the disease and it threatens an outbreak. Another case was sent from the penitentiary to the quarantine hospital to-day. Since the discovery of the first case here on July 7 there have been 121 cases and the deaths have numbered between 35 and 40.

Jack the Pincher.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Dec. 13.—The city was greatly excited a year ago over the actions of an unknown man, who was in the habit of pinching unattended women on the streets at night recently. He has renewed the practice, and has created a reign of terror in the fifth ward. He is described as a wild-looking creature who is undoubtedly insane.

Questions on "Julius Cæsar."

Prepared by Mr. Barton Earle, English Master at the Collegiate Institute.

1. Give a resume of the history of Rome embraced in the drama of "Julius Cæsar."
2. When was the play of "Julius Cæsar" first printed?
3. Whence did the dramatist derive his historical materials?
4. Who is the hero of the play? Show that the play is rightly named.
5. Compare and contrast the Cæsar of the drama with the Cæsar of history.
6. "The murder of Cæsar hastens and cements the empire." Explain.
7. Account for the unfavourable light in which the dramatist represents Cæsar, especially just before the assassination.
8. By what motives were Brutus and Cassius, respectively, actuated in the assassination of Cæsar? Quote passages in illustration.
9. Compare and contrast the characters of Brutus and Cassius.
10. Sketch fully the character of Brutus.
11. "It has been truly said that the murder of Cæsar was the most senseless act the Romans ever committed." Justify.
12. Justify the title "Tragedy," applied to this play.
13. "In Julius Cæsar, Shakspere makes a complete imaginative study of the case of a man predestined to failure, who, nevertheless, retains to the end the moral integrity which he prized as his highest possession, and who, with each new error, advances a fresh claim upon our admiration and our love." Justify.
14. "It is idealists who create a political terror; they are free from all desire for blood-letting; but to them the lives of men and women are accidents; the lives of ideas are the true realities; and armed with an abstract principle and a suspicion, they perform deeds which are at once beautiful and hideous." Illustrate from this play. Give a prominent example from English history.
15. How are the characters of Cicero, Cassius and Brutus brought out by the dramatist on the night before the assassination?
16. "No relation of man and woman in the plays of Shakspere is altogether so noble as that of Portia and Brutus." Write a note on the nature of this relationship.
17. Sketch the character of Portia.
18. "Brutus is the political Girondin. He is placed in contrast with his brother-in-law, Cassius, the political Jacobin." Explain and justify.
19. Sketch the character of Anthony.
20. "Cassius is much the better conspirator, but much the worse man; and the better in that because the worse in this." Explain and illustrate.
21. "Brutus lives in the abstraction, in the idea; Cassius lives in the concrete, the fact." Explain and illustrate.
22. "It was the spirit of Cæsar which is the dominant power of the tragedy." Justify.
23. "Nor is Brutus, though he worship an ideal of justice, quite just in matters of concrete, practical detail." Illustrate.
24. In every case where Brutus and Cassius differ in opinion Cassius is right, if success be the object aimed at. Give instances.
25. "I know no part of Shakespere that more impresses on me the belief of his being superhuman than the scene between Brutus and Cassius." Briefly criticise this scene.
26. "The want of unity of interest is the common objection that has been most frequently brought against Julius Cæsar." Discuss this question.
27. How are the following words used in Julius Cæsar:—Mechanical, directly, ceremonies, passion, his, conceited, remorse, thought, fantasy, presently, present?
28. What references are there in this play to the battle of Munda, the siege of Troy, the elder Brutus, Cato, Epicurus?

NOTE.—Study the play so as to be able to quote, and locate passages.

Make Home Ready for the Holidays.

There will be a grand home-coming and jocund festivity in a thousand homes this holiday season, and homes should be made as bright and attractive as possible for the Christmas season, which is the time for entertaining, and the best way to prepare the home is to go to the shop of D. Belleghem, the shop furthest west on Hunter street. Here, of course, will be found a magnificent stock of every imaginable kind of furniture required and unlimited chance for selection. This furniture, whether plain or elegant, is of the best quality, and the best part of it is the fact that, in sympathy with the holiday spirit, Belleghem has made a big drop in prices. He offers any or all of his immense stock of furniture at a great reduction in prices. Now is the time to secure bargains in the best of furniture. All over the world times are dull, but Belleghem is bound to boom business. Furniture must be sold and will be sold if reduction in price for all solid values will sell it. Remember that all his furniture is of the highest character, well made from thoroughly seasoned material and finished on the best style throughout. In the head of the family wants to make a Christmas present to his wife, let him go to Belleghem's and buy her a nice set of furniture she has been wanting so long. All persons wanting furniture repaired or special designs made to order will get what they want promptly and satisfactorily at the furniture shop of D. Belleghem, Hunter street Peterborough.

Tea and Entertainment.

A tea meeting was held under the auspices of the Fourth Line I.O. of G.T. Temple, the Jubilee Orange Lodge and the Fourth Line Brass Band on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance, the hall being well filled. Tea was served from 5.30 to 8.30, after which the programme was introduced by Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., who occupied the chair. It consisted of selections by the choir and band, the latter giving evidences of great improvement; Mr. McLean, teacher, sang his solos in good style and was encored. Rev. Mr. Huff was the first speaker, using "Banners" as his subject, and dealing with it in a very impressive manner. Rev. Mr. Ewing gave a highly patriotic speech, showing the great liberties we possessed to-day, owing to the struggles and sacrifices of our forefathers. Rev. Mr. Parker spoke upon the subject of "Courage," handling his subject in his usual able manner. Owing to the lateness of the hour, Rev. Mr. Shorey confined his remarks to congratulations on the success of the entertainment.

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

Christmas Times.

Great reduction in price of ladies kid mits, former price $1 25 and $1.35, present price 75c. per pair. We have a nice lot of woolen goods suitable for the holiday trade, also a large assortment of fancy bordered handkerchiefs for the juniors and silk handkerchiefs for the seniors. Our grey flannels are unexcelled in town for the price. Just received —a new line of Halifax tweeds for boys' wear. W. W. JOHNSTON, d 410 Crystal Block.

Grand Results.

For several years R. H. Brown, of Kincardine, suffered from dyspepsia, he says he tried several physicians and a host of remedies with out relief. His druggist recommended B. B. B. which he declares produced "grand results," for which he gives it his highest recommendation. 2w49d

BERTIE SECORD'S STORY.

Two Boys Drowned While Skating—Wentworth General Sessions.

HAMILTON, Dec. 13.—The police are inclined to make light of the story of Miss Bertie Secord, who asserts that an unknown miscreant has pursued her for nearly two months with threatening letters and made a desperate attempt to carry out his threats. One peculiar feature of her story is that she received similar letters three years ago when she lived near Skippon, and reported them to the corporation authorities then. She suggested a certain man, but he subsequently went to Buffalo.

Wednesday afternoon, after school, Jas. Lilleycrop, aged 13, and Maurice Easterbrook, aged 10, went skating on Lake Medad, a small sheet of water in Nelson Township, about nine miles from Hamilton. The boys ventured out too far, the ice gave way and they were drowned.

In the Police Court to-day Thomas Watkins of Ancaster was fined $20 or two months for a brutal assault on his wife.

At the General Sessions to-day the appeal of Coleman Moses Furlong against a conviction for trespassing on the Grand Trunk's property was quashed on technical grounds. In Omand v. Hamilton Industrial Works, an action for damages under the Factory Act in which it was claimed that the plaintiff lost a hand because of the defendant's negligence in not guarding certain machinery, a consent judgment for $150 was entered. Patrick Hart and Wm. McCausland were convicted of stealing up $17 which one Babcock placed on the bar of Bennet's Hotel in Dundas and returning it minus $4, and were sentenced to three months in the Central Prison.

A farmer named Edward Glover was fined $5 to-day for driving through a funeral procession.

TRANSHIPMENT IN BOND.

No Change in the Government's Attitude —The Halifax Case.

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—Minister of Customs Bowell in conversation with your correspondent to-day with reference to the alleged cases of transhipment of fish from American fishing vessels for transportation in bond, said that the statement, attributed to him in yesterday's Ottawa correspondence of The Mail, that "it had sometimes occurred that a vessel which had contraband on board was allowed either to dispose of its cargo or ship it in bond," was incorrect. He did not say that any permission to ship on board had been given, as none had been. In a few cases where vessels have put in for repairs, as they have a right to under the treaty of 1818, they have been allowed to land their fish on payment of the duty, when it has been apparent that the repairs would take so long that the fish would spoil if not landed. After the duty was paid the fish might be sent anywhere.

The Minister of Customs stated emphatically that no change whatever had been made by the Government in its interpretation of the treaty of 1818, either on the question of transportation in bond or any other point.

Mr. Bowell also said with regard to the two cases specially mentioned in Halifax despatches to American papers, that they had not been reported at all to the department, so the collectors could not have considered there was any violation of the regulations. Telegrams were sent to-day asking particulars about these two cases.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, also said that there had been no change whatever on the part of the Government with regard to transhipment in bond.

Attempted Bank Robbery.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 13.—Two strangers from Arizona entered the San Bernardino National Bank this morning. One of them presented a check and asked that it be cashed. E. H. Morse, the cashier, told him he would have to be identified. Some words followed when the stranger drew a revolver and shot Morse through the body. The latter returned the fire and put two balls into his assailant. Six or seven shots were fired. The two strangers ran but were arrested. It is believed the men entered the bank with the design of robbery.

Cashier Morse died in half an hour after the shooting. The man who did the shooting gives the name of John Oakes but refuses to talk. It is said that a third man who has not yet been arrested was seen trying the side door of the bank while the shooting was going on. Oakes' wounds are not serious.

Died in the Woods.

ARICHAT, N.B., Dec 13.—Last evening the dead body of a young man, 19 years old, was found in a camp at Skeens Ridge, and is supposed to have been there about a week. The boy came up to Tobique with Dixon and McCullum, lumbermen, and came from their camp to this place with the portage team. The boy said his name was Hill, and that he belonged to Fredericton. He did not appear to be in sound mind, and possibly cold and hardship was the cause of his death.

To Marry a Socialist Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Lucy A. Parsons, the Anarchist agitator, who arrived a day or two ago on the Cunard steamer Aurania from London, Eng., is shortly to be married to Mr. Bernstein, the editor of The German Social Democrat of Zurich, Switzerland, but which is really published in London, where Mr. Bernstein resides.

Where, Oh Where?

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 14.—Frank Fletcher, who has been conducting a weekly payment store in [illegible] for Mr. J. E. Ayres, of [illegible] is missing. It is said Mr. Fletcher has also collected sundry moneys from weekly payment customers and failed to remit the cash to Mr. Ayres. He sold his household effects a few days ago, and is reported to be $130 short. It is said there is a woman in the case.

He Left Seven Widows.

ALLEGHANY CITY, Pa., Dec. 13.—Henry Lagerfeld, a steel worker, quarrelled with his wife this morning. He then blew his brains out. He was prominently identified with the Anarchists and had been married seven times, all of his wives being alive.

A Fatal Collision.

WABASHA, Minn., Dec. 13.—In a collision between a passenger and a freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway this morning, a brakeman was killed, a conductor fatally injured and an engineer seriously hurt.

Miscellaneous Men. etc.

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 13.—Rev. C. F. Knight, D. D., rector of St. James Episcopal parish, this evening received official announcement of his election as Bishop of Milwaukee diocese to succeed Bishop Welis.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—The passenger rate war to Kansas City still continues and further cuts were made to-day.

Astounding Crookedness.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Interstate Commerce Commissioners Cooley and Morrison left for the east last evening. Judge Cooley says the revelations of crookedness were simply astounding, and evidence had come into the possession of the commissioners that would warrant criminal prosecution against several railroad officials. The worst feature was that every official examined admitted the facts, but declared he had to do it because others were doing it. Some of them went so far as to justify their illegal action on the ground that the law was oppressive and unjust. The commissioners, he said, would not promptly hereafter in every case of violation of the law that came to its notice and the guilty parties would be punished to the full extent of the law.

Selected by the Northern Pacific.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 13.—A special from Stevens Point says the master car builders of the Wisconsin Central line have received orders to mark all cars repaired and rebuilt "Northern Pacific" instead of "Wisconsin Central." This is taken as a sign that the Northern Pacific Company is to absorb the Wisconsin Central system. Nothing can be learned of the matter here.

New Trotting Stakes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The executive committee of the National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders continued their session to-day. The executive committee have arranged that open stakes are to be trotted for during the present year and also stakes in 1891 to which they added over $6000. They are for 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 year olds. They are divided into classes, graded and free to all, and are in addition to the regular fixed events. The president appointed a committee of three to confer with the National and American Trotting Association upon the subject of records made for registration.

PHELAN VS. RUBIDGE.—An action brought by Peter Phelan against Thos. Rubidge, C.E., for $187, wages at a dollar a day, claimed by the plaintiff for taking charge of defendant's summer cottage on the shores of Clear Lake during the winter of '87 and '88. The evidence showed that the plaintiff had been employed for three or four summers previously, but not during the winters. In 1887 Phelan remained at the lodge till October, when the defendant sent word to him that his services were no longer required and paid him $27 in full of account; but asked him when he was around to keep an eye on the place and report if anything was wrong. Plaintiff during the winters was in the habit of going almost daily to the vicinity to fish, having lines set in front of defendant's house, and then perhaps he would look into the house and see that all was right. Plaintiff claimed wages for this time. Verdict was given for defendant. John Burnham for plaintiff, W. H. Moore for defendant.

MONCRIEF VS. MONCRIEF.—This is an action brought by Henry Moncrief against his mother, Jane Moncrief, and his brother, George Moncrief, all of the township of Cavan, to recover the value of certain farm stock and implements claimed by the plaintiff, but in the possession of the defendants, who refused to give them up to the plaintiff, valued at $200.00. Plaintiff claimed partly under the will of his father, who died 30 or more years ago, and partly that he was working the farm on his own behalf, and had by his own labour accumulated the property. Defendants claimed that the farm became the property of the defendant, Jane Moncrief, about seventeen years ago under a deed from plaintiff to her and that the chattels on farm at that time became her property by arrangement between the parties and delivery of possession: also that the farm has ever since been worked by Jane Moncrief for her own benefit, and that the goods in question were all acquired from the proceeds of farm as worked by her. Verdict for plaintiff for $100. Sawers & Stone for plaintiff; Edmison & Dixon for defendants. Mr. Edmison asked his Honor to withhold judgment until term.

RITCHIE GETS TWELVE MONTHS.

The trial of Alex. Ritchie, indicted for larceny, was next begun. Mr. E. B. Edwards defended the prisoner.

Mr. MICHAEL MANSFIELD, from whom the horse, buggy and harness were stolen early in September, said the prisoner had been in his employ up to the day before the larceny, when he had been discharged. The day after, while absent from home, the horse was taken by Ritchie, and he did not see it again till it was recovered at Toronto.

Mr. JOHN MCDONALD an old man in the employment of Mr. Mansfield, said the prisoner came to him on the date of the larceny and asked to have the little mare to drive down the road a piece, saying Mr. Mansfield had told him to come and get it. He promised to be back in a couple of hours, but didn't return.

HUGH BARRY, of Toronto, told of meeting the prisoner in Toronto and offering to trade horses. Prisoner told him his horse came from about 30 miles back of Peterborough. They traded, and Barry afterwards traded the little mare he got from Ritchie for one of John Christie's, another city horse dealer. The latter put the stolen animal out to pasture on the Don flats, where it was recovered by Mr. Mansfield.

WM. BUNTIN detailed his detective experiences in tracing up the prisoner, appearing to be in Peterborough early in September, Mr. Mansfield told him of the theft of the horse and buggy and gave him a description of Ritchie. Not long after in Toronto, about the second week of the Exhibition, Buntin saw a man on Adelaide street who answered the description of the person wanted. He followed him to a house on Cameron street and had him brought over to the police station, but nothing could be got out of him. He was let go, and then Buntin returned to Peterborough and had his suspicions confirmed that that was the right man. He shadowed the house on Cameron street. Ritchie had left town, but Buntin ascertained he was in Lockwood, Ont., near Guelph. Meanwhile he had traced the horse through its several transfers and located it on the Don flats. Mr. Mansfield was telegraphed for and came up and claimed the animal, and Buntin went to Rockwood and arrested the prisoner.

To Mr. Edwards—Witness stated he had the authority of the Deputy Attorney General for his actions. That was his first detective experience, but since that he had done a good deal of it.

After the jury had been charged they retired and brought in a verdict of "guilty." The Judge sentenced the prisoner to twelve months' imprisonment in the county gaol.

FRIDAY.

The court sat at ten o'clock.

Alex. Ritchie was arraigned and pleaded guilty to the charge of unlawfully appropriating the horse, buggy and harness of Michael Mansfield, of Galway. His Honor sentenced him to twelve months' imprisonment in the county gaol, the sentence to run concurrently with the sentence for larceny of the said property of Mr. Mansfield imposed the day before.

On account of the absence of witnesses the case of Queen vs. Shouldice, housebreaking and larceny, was laid over to the June Sessions.

The petit jurors were discharged, and the court took up the case of LAPLANTE VS. BANK OF TORONTO.—An interpleader issue, to determine the possession of certain goods claimed by plaintiff, Mr. N. T. Laplante, under chattel mortgage, and which were seized by the Bank of Toronto under an execution against Thomas Laplante the mortgagor. Judgment reserved. Messrs. Dumble & Leonard, for plaintiff; Mr. W. H. Moore, for defendants.

This concluded the business of the court.

In Masonic Circles.

Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, Elect Their Principal Officers—The Grand Master's Visit, &c.

At the regular communication of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, A. F. & A. M., held on Wednesday evening, the following elective officers were chosen for the ensuing year:—

Wor. Bro. Col. H. C. Rogers	Wor. Master
Bro. E. A. Peck	Sr. Warden
Bro. Thos. A. Hay	Jr. Warden
R. Wor. pro. Rev. V. Clementi	Chaplain
Wor. Bro. R. A. Morrow	Treasurer
Bro. T. K. Bradburn	Secretary
R. Wor. Bro. E. H. D. Hall	Tyler

The appointed and representative officers will be chosen on the night of the 27th instant, the annual festival of St. John the Evangelist.

A committee was appointed to arrange with a similar one from Peterborough Lodge, with instructions to prepare a banquet to be given to the Grand Master during his official visit to Peterborough next week, when he will review the work of the craft at the sessions of the District Lodge of Instruction, to be held in the Masonic House, on the 18th and 19th instant. A sub committee was afterwards selected, with Wor. Bro. D. Belleghem as chairman, who were charged with the duty of completing all arrangements for providing suitable refreshments for the occasions.

After the lodge closed down a very pleasant time was spent in the dining hall by the members and their visitors.

On Thursday evening the Past Master's Association held its annual conference preparatory to the ceremony of installation to be held on the evening of the anniversary of St. John the Evangelist (27th inst). The same evening the Masonic Board of Relief met and discussed matters which especially lie within the points of their compass.

The Banquet Committee also met last night and decided that the banquet to the M. W., the Grand Master should be held in the Masonic Hall on the evening of the 18th inst.

The Evangelical Alliance.

A Branch of the Evangelical Alliance Formed in Peterborough.

A public meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. room last evening for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Evangelical Alliance of the Dominion of Canada.

The meeting having been called to order, Rev. Mr. Torrance, B.A., was appointed chairman, and Rev. A. C. Wilson, secretary. It was unanimously agreed that the name of this branch be "The Peterborough Branch of the Evangelical Alliance of Canada," and that the constitution of the branch be the same as articles 2, 3 and 4 of the Evangelical Alliance of the Dominion of Canada.

Article two gives the objects—to manifest and strengthen Christian unity; to vindicate religious liberty; to promote co-operation in Christian work, without interference with the internal affairs of the different denominations.

Article three gives the doctrinal basis, under nine heads; it being, however, distinctly declared that the article is not to be regarded in any formal or ecclesiastical sense as a creed or confession; nor the adoption of it as an assumption of the right to define authoritatively the limits of Christian brotherhood, but simply as an indication of the class of persons whom it is desirable to embrace within the Alliance.

Article four, relating to membership, says: Any communicant member of an Evangelical Church may become a member by signing the constitution and paying annually a fee of one dollar; the payment of $50 at one time constitutes a person a life member of the Alliance, provided such member maintain his church relation.

It was further resolved that there shall be a president and vice-president, a secretary-treasurer, and a general committee of management of this branch, with not less than 15 nor more than 30 persons, the quorum of which shall be seven. The regular meetings of this branch were appointed to be held the first Monday of each month at the hour of 8 o'clock p. m.

The following gentlemen were nominated a committee to nominate the officers of the branch for the coming year, viz., Messrs. Carnegie, G. M. Roger, Yelland, Fletcher, O. C. Rowse, Samuel Courtice and the chairman and secretary. The chairman was asked to secure, if possible, the services of the Hon. John Macdonald to address a public meeting in Peterborough in the interest of this branch. Nominating committee to meet Thursday next.

Police Court.

THURSDAY, Dec. 13.

At four o'clock in the afternoon a wages case came up for trial. Samuel Delong, plaintiff, claimed wages were due him from Chas. Delline. The difficulty rose this way: Delong was in the employment of Delline, but work becoming slack, the latter told Delong he had better go out to Bridgenorth and get work with Mr. Rose. Delong did so, but could not collect his wages. He understood he was in the employment of Delline all the time, and had gone out to work for Rose as ordered. The defendant claimed Rose should pay him. The case was enlarged till Friday to get Mr. Rose's evidence.

Personal.

Mr. John Babb returned home on Wednesday from his long visit to England. He had a very rough passage home—twelve days—and, while crossing, fell on shipboard and fractured one of his ribs. He is still suffering from his injuries, though able to be about.

Mr. J. A. Gillogly, of the Lindsay Post, passed through town to-day en route to Hastings to attend the funeral of his niece, the six-year-old daughter of his brother Mr. Joseph Gillogly of Hastings.

Mrs. Thos. Brooks' many friends will regret to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. E. J. Hotchkiss, at Cheshire, Conn., yesterday. Mrs. Brooks, it will be remembered, left town last Saturday morning on receiving a summons announcing her mother's serious illness. Mrs. Hotchkiss was 77 years of age. The funeral takes place to-morrow.

Burned in His Shanty.

Old Thomas McMullen Burned to Death in His Shanty—A Tragic Death.

About nine o'clock last night a silent tragedy occurred at a little shanty in the outskirts of Ashburnham that to the heartless world perhaps means nothing more than the destruction of one life among the many millions of the earth, and that, too, of a very aged and almost unknown man, who, by reason of his infirmities, had evidently not much longer to live; but the circumstances surrounding his death are sad in the extreme.

Old Thos. McMullen, the same who gave evidence in the Greenfield case, lived just east of the village of Ashburnham, near Hosp's brickyard. He occupied a lone, log shanty, his nearest neighbors being an English family named Wattley, who have recently moved into the house in which the McNairns formerly lived. Like their predecessors, the Wattleys lent the old man such neighborly assistance as they could, and as he some of the family frequently visited the place. Mr. McMullen was over 70 years of age, and had lived in the shanty a long time. He has relatives in Dummer township. He was very infirm, and was suffering from cancer in the throat. It is said he had not tasted solid food for many years previous to his death.

Last evening the old man returned from town, and after tea was seen in his shanty by Bert Wattley, who tried to induce him to go to bed or come down to his father's house, but he would do neither. The young man left him sitting on the couch and returned home. About nine o'clock he went out to his father's stable to feed the horse and noticed smoke pouring from every crevice in the old shanty. He ran to the place and opened the door, but was met by a rush of smoke and flame that drove him back. He called to the old man to come out, that he had the door open, and he says he heard the old man stumble about and mumble a few words, and then all was silent. He could not see anything. Then young Wattley ran for assistance, and got his father and a number of neighbours, but nothing could be done. They watched the old shanty slowly as the flames speedily devoured the logs, and when it had been razed to the ground they could see the outline of a charred and unrecognisable human form among the glowing embers. The body lay about four feet from the door, and it was evident from this that the old man had tried to escape from his peril when aroused, but had been overcome.

It is feared his death was directly due to drink. It was known he had bought liquor in the afternoon, and young Wattley had tried to coax him into giving up a bottle of liquor on his first visit early in the evening, but the old man sent him away. It is conjectured he fell into a drunken sleep, and upset the lamp, and did not awake in time to escape the awful consequences of his solitary debauch.

The remains were taken care of by friends and the unfortunate old man will receive decent interment.

Successful Apron Sale and Supper.

The apron sale and supper, under the auspices of the ladies of St. John's south ward Sunday school, held in the Snowden Block on Wednesday evening, was a most delightful success. The sale of aprons and other articles was good and the tea was most liberally patronized. The refreshments were of extraordinary excellence, and their arrangement was very tasteful. For over two hours the tables were crowded with guests. The abundant supply of edibles contributed by the friends of the Sunday school, though thought to be superfluously abundant, were all disposed of, and the financial outcome of the sale and tea will net in the neighborhood of $90 for the funds of the school and a Christmas feast for the children. The ladies desire to express their gratitude to the many kind friends who afforded assistance, and wish specially to thank Mr. Matthews for the present of a fine ham and Mr. J. E. McIntyre of the Oriental Hotel, for the present of a choice turkey, ready for the table. The ladies are much cheered with the success of the occasion and the evidence of the appreciation of their labours it elicited.

Murdered in Bed!

It is not often a man is murdered in his bed in Peterborough, but sleep is murdered every night by the worry of making ends meet. But those persons are not troubled in this way, who buy their boots and shoes at the store of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men. There is no trouble to make ends meet when choice and first class boots and shoes are sold at gough bros.' for less than half the price charged by high price dealers. Think this out, and see what it means. You can't make money faster than buying your boots and shoes where you get first-class goods and the lowest prices. A fine, well selected stock of boots and shoes going at gift prices. Don't neglect this chance, but remember that the place to get boots and shoes at the lowest prices in Canada, is at gough bros.' store, 375 george street

Young Men's Guild.

The regular meeting of St. Luke's Young Men's Literary Guild was held last night in the school room. Mr. J. H Long, M.A., LL.B., read a very exhaustive paper on the subject of Imperial Federation and Annexation. A spirited discussion followed, in which Messrs. H. C. Rogers, the Rev. Geo. Warren, E. B. Burt, J. J. Rooney and the reader of the paper took part. Each speaker gave expression to his loyalty to the mother country, although it was admitted that there was a strong annexation feeling among the people of certain parts of the Dominion. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Long for his very able paper with which every one was highly pleased. At the next meeting, which will be held on Jan. 10th, a debate will take place on the subject, "Is prohibition necessary or desirable?"

Superior English Cutlery.

We were shown to-day by Mr. Statham his last importation from John Clarke & Son, Sheffield, England, per steamer "Vancouver," of their elegant pocket, pen, sportsmen's and ladies' knives; carving knives and forks, table steels, and ivory handled table and dessert knives, and must say that we have never seen goods their equal. The makers are one of the oldest in England, making nothing but the finest goods. This lot, with his last importation of the celebrated B & Any pocket and butcher knives, enables Mr. Statham to show a line of cutlery that cannot be surpassed in the largest cities of the continent for quality and appearance, and being direct from the makers the goods are being sold as cheap as are goods of inferior quality and finish. Call and see them. Mr. Statham will be pleased to exhibit them to each and every one. t th w

Spirited Debate.

At the Otonabee Canoe Club meeting last night there was quite an interesting debate on the subject of Free Trade vs. Protection. A Free Trade policy for Canada was advocated by Messrs. A. Clegg and Thomas Barrie and policy of Protection by Messrs. W. H. Hill and Harry Stock. The Chairman would not decide which had won, so it was called a draw. The Club will meet again on Dec. 27th to discuss the merits and demerits of married life against single life. The subject is, "Resolved, that Married Life is Preferable to Single Life." The leader of the affirmative will be Mr. James Little, and of the negative Mr. A. E. Dixon; Chairman, Mr. John Millar.

The English Band.

The fine Household Troops band of the Salvation Army arrived in town again to-day and will appear at the barracks to-night. On the march up from the station they played an inspiriting march tune. The music produced was of course excellent, and the vigorous manner in which the drummer handled the sticks and "polished off the sheepskins" was an exhilarating sight indeed for such a chilly day. There will, no doubt, be a large crowd at the barracks to-night.

Greenfield Goes to Kingston.

This morning Greenfield, the convicted assailant of Constable Stewart, started for Kingston under escort of Constable Lytle and a son of Sheriff Hall. As he walked through the court to the cab with his ankles chained, he smiled significantly to the persons in the hall, and shook hands with Gaoler Nesbitt as nonchalantly as though he were merely going for a drive. The gaol officials, in view of the fact that he had made an attempt to escape through the ceiling of his cell, were anxious to be relieved of so troublesome a charge.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths.
Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods
We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds
Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery
Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons
The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value. Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.
Skin entirely Gone. Flesh a Mass of Sloughs. Leg Disfigured one Third in Size. Condition Hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.
For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of sloughs. Many physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

THE GREAT TIMBER CASE.
FULL TEXT OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL'S JUDGMENT.

Exclusive Powers and Interests of Dominion and Province in Lands Reserved for Indians Defined.

Attorney-General Mowat has received the following report by cable of the judgment of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in the case of the Queen v. the St. Catharines Milling and Lumber Company, involving the right of the Province to the timber and minerals in Northwestern Ontario.

After a preliminary statement of the facts of the case, the judgment of their Lordships proceeded as follows:

Although the present case relates exclusively to the right of the Government of Canada to dispose of the timber in question to the appellants, yet its decision necessarily involves the determination of the larger question between that Government and the Province of Ontario with respect to the legal consequences of the Indian Treaty of 1873. In these circumstances, her Majesty, by the same order which gave the appellants leave to bring the judgment below under the review of this Board, was pleased to direct that the Government of the Dominion of Canada should be at liberty to intervene in this appeal, or to argue the same upon a special case raising the legal question in dispute. The Dominion Government elected to take the first of these courses, and their Lordships have had the advantage of hearing from their counsel an able and exhaustive argument in support of their claim to that part of the ceded territory which lies within the Provincial boundaries of Ontario.

The capture of Quebec in 1759 and the capitulation of Montreal in 1760 were followed in 1763 by the cession to Great Britain of Canada and all its dependencies, with the sovereignty, property and possession and all other rights which had at any previous time been held or acquired by the Crown of France. A royal proclamation was issued on the 7th of October, 1763, shortly after the date of the Treaty of Paris, by which His Majesty King George erected four distinct and separate Governments, styled respectively Quebec, East Florida, West Florida and Grenada (specific boundaries being assigned to each of them). After reciting that it was just and reasonable that the several nations and tribes of Indians who lived under British protection "should not be molested or disturbed in the possession of such parts of our dominions and territories as not having been ceded to or purchased by us, are reserved to them as their hunting grounds," it is declared that no governor or commander-in-chief in any of the new colonies of Quebec, East Florida or West Florida "do presume, on any pretense, to grant warrants of survey or pass any patents for lands beyond the bounds of their respective governments, or until our further pleasure be known upon any lands whatever, which, not having been ceded or purchased as aforesaid, are reserved to the said Indians or any of them."

It was further declared to be "our royal will for the present as aforesaid to reserve under our sovereignty, protection and dominion, for the use of the said Indians, all the land and territories not included within the limits of our said three new Governments, or within the limits of the territory granted to the Hudson Bay Company." The proclamation also enacts that no private person shall make any purchase from the Indians of lands reserved to them within these Colonies where settlement was permitted, and that all purchases must be on behalf of the Crown in a public assembly of the Indian, by the governor or commander-in-chief of the Colony in which the lands lie.

The territory in dispute has been in Indian occupation from the date of the proclamation until 1873. During that interval of time Indian affairs have been administered successively by the Crown, by the Provincial Governments, and since the passing of "the British North America Act, 1867," by the Government of the Dominion. The policy of these administrations has been all along the same in this respect, that the Indian inhabitants have been precluded from entering into any transaction with a subject for the sale or transfer of their interest in the land, and have only been permitted to surrender their rights to the Crown by a formal contract duly ratified in a meeting of their chiefs or head men, convened for the purpose. Whilst there have been changes in the administrative authority, there has been no change since the year 1763 in the character of the interest which the Indian inhabitants had in the lands surrendered by the treaty. Their possession, such as it was, can only be ascribed to the general provisions made by the royal proclamation in favor of all Indian tribes then living under the sovereignty and protection of the British Crown. It was suggested in the course of the argument for the Dominion that inasmuch as the proclamation recites that the territories thereby reserved for Indians had never been ceded to or purchased by the Crown, the entire property of the land remained with them. That inference is, however at variance with the terms of the instrument, which show that the tenure of the Indians was a personal and usufructory right, dependent upon the good-will of the sovereign. The lands reserved are expressly stated to be parts of "our dominion and territories, and it is declared to be the will and pleasure of the sovereign that, for the present they shall be reserved for the Indians as their hunting grounds under his protection and dominion." There was a great deal of learned discussion at the bar with respect to the precise quality of the Indian right, but their Lordships do not consider it necessary to express any opinion upon the point. It appears to them to be sufficient for the purpose of this case that there has been all along vested in the Crown a substantial and paramount estate, underlying the Indian title, which became a plenum dominium whenever that title was surrendered or otherwise extinguished.

By an Imperial statute passed in the year 1840 (3 and 4 Vic., cap. 35), the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, then known as Upper and Lower Canada, were united under the name of the Province of Canada; and it was inter alia enacted that, in consideration of certain annual payments which her Majesty had agreed to accept by way of civil list, the produce of all the territorial and other revenues at the disposal of the Crown arising in either of the United Provinces should be paid into the consolidated fund of the two Provinces. There was no transfer to the Province of any legal estate in the Crown lands, which continued to be vested in the sovereign; but all moneys raised by sales or in any other manner became the property of the Province. In other words, all beneficial interest in such lands within the Provincial boundaries belonging to the Queen, and either producing or capable of producing revenues, passed to the Province, the title still remaining in the Crown. That continued to be the right of the Province until the passing of the British North America Act, 1867. And the Indian inhabitants of the area in question released their interest in it to the Crown at any time between 1840 and the date of that Act, it does not seem to admit of doubt, and it was not disputed by the learned counsel for the Dominion, that all revenues derived from its being taken up for settlement, mining, lumbering and other purposes, would have been the property of the Province of Canada.

The case maintained for the appellants is, that the Act of 1867 transferred to the Dominion all interest in Indian lands which had previously belonged to the Province. The Act of 1867, which created the Federal Government, repealed the Act of 1840, and restored Upper and Lower Canadas to the condition of separate Provinces, under the titles of Ontario and Quebec, due provision being made by section 142 for the division between them of the property and assets of the united Province, with the exception of certain items specified in the 4th schedule, which are still to be held by them jointly. The Act also contains careful provisions for the distribution of legislative powers, and of revenues and assets, between the respective Provinces included in the union on the one hand and the Dominion on the other.

The conflicting claims to the ceded territory, maintained by the Dominion and the Province of Ontario, are wholly dependent upon these statutory provisions. In construing these enactments it must always be kept in view that wherever public land, with its incidents, is described as the property of, or as belonging to, the Dominion or a Province, these expressions merely import that the right to its beneficial use or to its proceeds have been appropriated to the Dominion or the Province, as the case may be, and is subject to the control of its Legislature, the land itself being vested in the Crown. Section 108 enacts that the public works and undertakings enumerated in schedule 3 shall be the property of Canada.

As specified in the schedule, these consist of public undertakings which might be fairly considered to exist for the benefit of all the Provinces, federally united; of lands and buildings necessary for carrying on the Customs or postal service of the Dominion, or required for the purpose of national defence, and of lands set apart for general public purposes. It is obvious that the enumeration cannot reasonably be held to include Crown lands which are reserved for Indian use.

The only other clause in the Act by which a share of what previously constituted Provincial revenues and assets is directly assigned to the Dominion is section 102. It enacts that all duties and revenues over which the respective Legislatures of the United Provinces "had and have power of appropriation, except such portion thereof as are by this Act reserved to the respective Legislatures of the Provinces, or are raised by them in accordance with the special powers conferred upon them by this Act, shall form one consolidated fund, to be appropriated for the public service of Canada." The extent to which duties and revenues arising within the limits of Ontario, and over which the Legislature of the old Province of Canada possessed the power of appropriation before the passing of the Act, have been transferred to the Dominion by this clause can only be ascertained by reference to the two exceptions which it makes in favor of the new Provincial Legislatures. The second of these exceptions has really no bearing on the present case, because it comprises nothing beyond the revenues which Provincial Legislatures are empowered to raise by means of direct taxation for Provincial purposes in towns of section 92. (2) The first of them, which appears to comprehend the whole sources of revenue reserved to the Provinces by section 109, is of material consequence. Section 109 provides that "All lands, mines, minerals and royalties belonging to the several Provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick at the union, and all sums then due or payable for such lands, mines, minerals or royalties, shall belong to the several Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, in which the same are situate or arise, subject to any trusts existing in respect thereof, and to any interest other than that of the Province in the same."

In connection with this clause, it may be observed that by section 117 it is declared that the Provinces "shall retain their respective public property not otherwise disposed of in this Act, subject to the right of Canada to assume any lands or public property required for fortifications or for the defense of the country." A different form of expression is used to define the subject matter of the first exception, and the property which is directly appropriated to the Provinces, but it hardly admits of doubt that the interests in lands, mines, minerals and royalties, which by section 109 are declared to belong to the Province, include (if they are not identical with) the duties and revenues first excepted in section 102. The enactments of section 109 are, in the opinion of their lordships, sufficient to give to each Province, subject to the administration and control of its own Legislature, the entire beneficial interest of the Crown in all lands, within its boundaries, which at the time of the union were vested in the Crown, with the exception of such lands as the Dominion acquired right to under section 103, or might assume for the purpose specified in section 117. Its legal effect is, to exclude from the duties and revenues appropriated to the Dominion all the ordinary territorial revenues of the Crown arising within the Provinces. That construction of the statute was accepted by this Board in deciding Attorney-General of Ontario v. Mercer (eight appeal cases, 767), where the controversy related to land granted in fee simple to a subject before 1867, which became escheated to the Crown in the year 1871. The Lord Chancellor, Earl Selborne, in delivering judgment in that case said (8 appeal cases 776):—"It was not disputed in argument for the Dominion at the Bar that all territorial revenues arising within each Province from lands, in which form must be comprehended all estates in land which at the time of the union belonged to the Crown, were reserved to the respective Provinces by section 109; and it was admitted that no distinction could in that respect be made between lands then re-granted and lands which had previously reverted to the crown by escheats but it was insisted that a line was drawn at the date of the union, and that the words were not sufficient to reserve any lands afterwards escheated which at the time of the union were in private hands, and did not then belong to the Crown."

Their Lordships indicated an opinion to the effect that the escheat would not in the special circumstances of that case have passed to the Provinces as "lands," but they held that it fell within the class of rights reserved to the Provinces as "royalties," by section 109.

Had its Indian inhabitants been the owners in fee simple of the territory which they surrendered by the Treaty of 1893 the case of the Attorney-General of Ontario v. Mercer might have been an authority for holding that the Province of Ontario could derive no benefit from the cession in respect that the land was not vested in the Crown at the time of the union. But that was not the character of the Indian interest. The Crown has all along had a present proprietary estate in the land, upon which the Indian title was a mere burden. The ceded territory was, at the time of the union, land vested in the Crown, subject to any interest other than that of the Provinces in the same within the meaning of section 109, and must now belong to Ontario in terms of that clause unless its rights have been taken away by some provisions of the Act of 1867, other than those already noticed.

In the course of the argument the claim of the Dominion to the ceded territory was rested upon the provisions of section 91 (24), which, in express terms, confer upon the Parliament of Canada power to make laws for "Indians and land reserved for the Indians." It was argued that the exclusive power of legislation and administration carried with it, by necessary implication, any patrimonial interest which the Crown might have had in the reserved lands.

In reply to that reasoning counsel for Ontario referred us to a series of Provincial statutes prior in date to the Act of 1867, for the purpose of shewing that the expression "Indian reserves" was used in legislative language certain lands in which the Indians had, after the royal proclamation of 1763, acquired a special interest by treaty or otherwise, and did not apply to land occupied by them in virtue of the proclamation. The answer might have deserved consideration if that expression had been adopted by the British Parliament in 1867, but it does not occur in section 91 (24), and the words actually used are, according to their natural meaning, sufficient to include all lands reserved upon any terms or conditions for Indian occupation. It appears to be the plain policy of the Act that, in order to ensure uniformity of administration, all such lands, and Indian affairs generally, shall be under the legislative control of one central authority. Their Lordships are, however, unable to assent to the argument for the Dominion founded on section 92 (24). There can be no a-priori probability that the British Legislature in a branch of the statute which professes to deal only with the distribution of legislative power, intended to deprive the Provinces of rights which are expressly given them in that branch of the Act which relates to the distribution of the revenues and assets. The fact that the power of legislating for Indians, and for lands which are reserved for their use, has been entrusted to the Parliament of the Dominion, is not in the least degree inconsistent with the right of the Provinces to a beneficial interest in these lands, available to them as a source of revenue whenever the state of the Crown is disencumbered of the Indian title.

By the treaty of 1873 the Indian inhabitants ceded and released the territory in dispute (in order that it might be opened up for settlement, immigration and such other purposes as to Her Majesty might seem fit) to the Government of the Dominion of Canada, for the Queen and her successors forever. It was argued that a cession in these terms was in effect a conveyance to the Dominion Government of the whole rights of the Indians, with the consent of the Crown. That is not the natural import of the language of the treaty, which purports to be, from beginning to end, a transaction between the Indians and the Crown, and the surrender is in substance made to the Crown. Even if its language had been more favorable to the argument of the Dominion upon this point, it is abundantly clear that the commissioners who represented Her Majesty, whilst they had full authority to accept a surrender to the Crown, had neither authority nor power to take away from Ontario the interest which had been transferred to the Dominion by this clause can only be ascertained by reference to the two exceptions which it makes in favor of the new Provincial Legislatures. The second of these exceptions has really no bearing on the present case, because it comprises nothing beyond the revenues which Provincial Legislatures are empowered to raise by means of direct taxation for Provincial purposes in towns of section 92. (2) The first of them, which appears to comprehend the whole sources of revenue reserved to the Provinces by section 109, is of material consequence. Section 109 provides that "All lands, mines, minerals and royalties belonging to the several Provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick at the union, and all sums then due or payable for such lands, mines, minerals or royalties, shall belong to the several Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, in which the same are situate or arise, subject to any trusts existing in respect thereof, and to any interest other than that of the Province in the same.

In connection with this clause, it may be observed that by section 117 it is declared that the Provinces "shall retain their respective public property not otherwise disposed of in this Act, subject to the right of Canada to assume any lands or public property required for fortifications or for the defense of the country." A different form of expression is used to define the subject matter of the first exception, and the property which is directly appropriated to the Provinces, but it hardly admits of doubt that the interests in lands, mines, minerals and royalties, which by section 109 are declared to belong to the Province, include (if they are not identical with) the duties and revenues first excepted in section 102. The enactments of section 109 are, in the opinion of their lordships, sufficient to give to each Province, subject to the administration and control of its own Legislature, the entire beneficial interest of the Crown in all lands, within its boundaries, which at the time of the union were vested in the Crown, with the exception of such lands as the Dominion acquired right to under section 103, or might assume for the purpose specified in section 117. Its legal effect is, to exclude from the duties and revenues appropriated to the Dominion all the ordinary territorial revenues of the Crown arising within the Provinces. That construction of the statute was accepted by this Board in deciding Attorney-General of Ontario v. Their Lordships indicated an opinion to the effect that the escheat would not in the special circumstances of that case have passed to the Provinces as "lands," but they held that it fell within the class of rights reserved to the Provinces as "royalties," by section 109.

Had its Indian inhabitants been the owners in fee simple of the territory which they surrendered by the Treaty of 1893 the case of the Attorney-General of Ontario v. Duncan McIntyre Selected to Adjust the Issues Between the C. P. R. and G. T. R.

MONTREAL, Dec 15.—The Herald's special from London says: Mr. Duncan McIntyre has been invited by the joint committee of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific shareholders to undertake the settlement of the difficulties between the two companies. He has been promised full powers and will doubtless accept and proceed to Canada at once. The selection of Mr. McIntyre is received with general satisfaction. Mr. McIntyre is probably the only Canadian who is largely interested in both properties and he has the advantage of a thorough knowledge of the situation. He has also the confidence of the Stock Exchange. A favorable result is confidently expected.

TRANSATLANTIC MAILS.

Resolution of Quebec's Board of Trade—

QUEBEC, Dec. 15.—At a meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade yesterday it was resolved:

"That this Board is impressed with the importance of having a first-class Transatlantic mail service. A liberal subsidy is required from the Government at Ottawa for an essentially Canadian line. That the President do address the Ottawa Government on the matter and press the urgency of the Quebec route."

It was shown in favor of the Quebec route that the time from Toronto to New York is 12 hours, New York to Liverpool 8 days, Toronto to Quebec 17 hours, Quebec to Liverpool 7 days, showing a saving of 19 hours.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Legislature to Meet Jan. 24—Central Bank Liquidators' Fees.

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—At a meeting of the Ontario Cabinet yesterday it was decided to summon the Legislature for the dispatch of business on Thursday, Jan. 24, 1889.

The immigration returns for the Province of Ontario for November are as follows: The total arrivals were 3118. Of these 739 came by Quebec and 4788 through the United States; 4386 persons went to the States, 14 to Quebec, 241 to Manitoba, and 803 settled in the province. The nationalities were: 411 English, 138 Irish, 107 Scotch, 62 German, 26 Scandinavian, 52 American and 7 from other countries. The total who have settled in the province for the eleven months of this year is 19,906, against 18,978 for the same period of 1887.

The lumbermen have taken another step in their proceedings against the tariff rates of the Grand Trunk Railway. Four weeks ago they held a meeting and decided to present their grievances to Hon. O. Mowat, and ask him to attempt their redress through the courts. The Premier after four weeks' consideration has accepted a retainer and has instituted into the lumbermen sanguine expectations of the outcome of the coming struggle.

At a meeting of the Fire and Gas committee yesterday it was decided to recommend that tenders be advertised for 200 ore lights, from 350 to 500 incondescent lights and 200 Gordon lights.

The Mail threatens The World with a libel suit for its article on the reported Mail-Globe amalgation unless retraction is made, but The World doesn't retract.

At Osgood Hall yesterday the Master-in-Ordinary read a long judgment in the matter of the liquidators' claim of $55,000 for services and expenses during the year. The basis of remuneration suggested by the decision is 3 per cent. on all amounts collected by pressure and 1½ per cent. on other collections, the $203,915 taken over from Mr. Campbell not being considered.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1888.

EXAMINER IMPROVEMENTS.

During the past fortnight there have been added to the already large stock of fancy and fine-work type, several new fonts of the latest styles of type, and the job department is now specially well equipped for producing all kinds of fine printing, in typographical style not to be surpassed in city offices. In order to make the weekly edition of the EXAMINER even more worthy of the support of its readers and advertising patrons, an order was placed about three weeks since for a Brown Combination Folding machine, which will be ready for use at the beginning of the new year. This machine cuts, folds and pastes the paper as it is delivered from the press, and produces a newspaper which opens like a book and is much more convenient for the reader to handle. Besides, it makes the advertisements placed on the inner pages as easily accessible to the reader as those now on the "outside" of the weekly in its present form, and the advertiser, as well as the reader, gets the benefit of the new arrangement. The use of a folding machine will enable us to keep the forms open for news to a later hour, and ensure prompter delivery of the evening edition. The increasing subscription lists of both the daily and weekly editions of the EXAMINER compel us to meet the demand for more rapid means of printing and publication. The expense of making these additions to the facilities of the EXAMINER is not inconsiderable, but the publisher is determined to meet the demands of the public and to maintain, in every respect, the lead the EXAMINER, in both its newspaper, printing and other departments, has gained; and, while duly grateful for the encouraging patronage of the public, will leave no reasonable means unemployed to make both daily and weekly EXAMINER, as well as all other departments of the business, increasingly worthy of public appreciation and support. The above-mentioned improvements are only a beginning of the application of a policy which will tend to the strengthening and improvement of the EXAMINER in every department.

Baptist Sunday School.

Annual Meeting—Reports of the Different Departments.

The annual meeting of the Murray street Baptist Sunday school was held Thursday evening. There was a large attendance and the reports presented were most satisfactory.

The finance report presented by Miss M. L. Stratton, secretary-treasurer, showed a balance on hand of $75.25. The collections during the past year amounted to $88.94, an increase on last year. An account of $13.46 for re-binding Sunday school books was met by the librarian. The infant class gave the best collections of the year, $15.27, the Bible class next $14.84, then Mr. Gillespie's with $7.36 and Mr. Matthews' with $7.16. Other less important financial details were included in the report.

The average attendance during the first half of the year was 16 officers and teachers, and 117 scholars; total 133. During the last half it was 15 officers and teachers and 96 scholars, a total decrease of 22. This was due to the fact that two branch schools have been organized, one on Dalhousie street with an attendance of 56, and another in Auburn with an attendance of 48; total 104. So that there is a large increase of scholars receiving Baptist instruction in the town. The teaching staff has been increased from 12 to 13, Mr. Graham having taken in a class of boys from the infant room. Several changes in the staff were noted. Miss M. no had gone to the mission school and Mr. Eastwood had taken her class. Mr. Matthews, librarian, had removed to Lindsay, and the pastor, Rev. P. C. Parker, had taken charge of the Bible class. The continued ill health of Mr. Stevens was regretted.

After a few appropriate remarks the report closed.

THE LIBRARY.

Last year there were 305 books; this year 363. All of the $50 grant to purchase new books had not been spent, and it was hoped next year to have a full senior library. As a consequence of the additions of new books an increased interest was shown among the pupils. The junior library had also been increased by 64. The total number of books exchanged during the year was 2,573—1,750 senior and 823 junior, an average of 53 for each Sunday of changing, and an increase of five over last Sunday. Mr. Geo. S. Matthews was librarian and Mr. L. Croly assistant.

MISSION BAND.

The average attendance for the year, Sept. '87 to Sept. 88, was 25, aggregate, 279; largest attendance 45, smallest 10. Meetings were held every month but one, and by the regular quarterly box openings which had been established, members' fees and concerts, of which a number were held, about $50 had been raised. The President was reported untiring in her efforts to inspire the Band and still better things were hoped for the future. This report was presented by Miss Ada Aldridge, secretary.

"If a woman is pretty,
To me 'tis no matter.
Be she blonde or brunette,
So she lets me look at her.

An unhealthy woman is rarely, if ever, beautiful. The peculiar diseases to which so many of the sex are subject, are prolific causes of pale, sallow faces, blotched with unsightly pimples, dull lustreless eyes and emaciated forms. Women so afflicted can be permanently cured by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; and with the restoration of health, comes that beauty which, combined with good qualities of head and heart, makes women angels of loveliness. Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. o

Removal Sale.

W. J. Green, having decided to remove to more convenient premises on Hunter street, will, for the next few days, give great bargains, so as to reduce his stock. Gents' tweed suits, gents' fine suits, gents' underclothing, gents' shirts, collars, ties, etc., etc.; gents' hats, this season's stock; also big bargains in tweeds, worsteds, nap and beaver overcoats, (cut and finish guaranteed) at specially reduced rates. Now is the time to order your clothing, and especially overcoats, as this is a genuine sale. Liquor tea notice. I will clear out my entire stock of the famous Liquor teas at one half price, as I will not have space for them in my new premises. Parties holding vouchers will please call at once and get their prizes. Opposite the town clock, George street. Marriage licenses issued by W. J. Green, merchant tailor. dw

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

Literary Notes.

BRYCE'S PUBLICATIONS.—The latest issues of Mr. Wm. Bryce's prolific press are: "Galloping Days at the Deanery," by Chas. James, and "The Silent Witness," by Mrs. J. H. Walworth. Both samples of first class fiction. Price 25 cents each, at all the bookstores.

CANADA FROM SEA TO SEA—is also published and copyrighted by Mr. Bryce. It is a splendid illustration of the beauty, civic an scenic, of Canada, from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. It contains over sixty splendid illustrations, with descriptive letter press from the graceful pen of Mr. G. Mercer Adams. No more beautiful and appropriate Canadian holiday souvenir, of permanent value has been issued. Only $1.00 at all the bookstores.

THE DOMINION ILLUSTRATED—for Dec. 15 is a delightful number, a credit to Canadian art. A year's subscription to it would make a handsome and valuable Christmas present.

Christmas Times.

Great reduction in price of ladies kid mits, former price $1.25 and $1.35, present price 75c. per pair. We have a nice lot of woolen goods suitable for the holiday trade, also a large assortment of fancy bordered handkerchiefs for the juniors and silk handkerchiefs for the seniors. Our grey flannels are unexcelled in town for the price. Just received—a new line of Halifax tweeds for boys' wear.

Grand Results.

For several years R. H. Brown, of Kincardine, suffered from dyspepsia, he says he tried several physicians and a host of remedies with out relief. His druggist recommended B. B. B. which he declares produced "grand results," for which he gives it his highest recommendation. 2w49d

Mrs. Gascon's Light Sentence for Killing Her Husband—Inland Revenue and Government Savings Bank Statements.

OTTAWA, Dec. 14.—In the Supreme Court yesterday judgment was given in the Haldimand election case unseating Dr. Montague on account of the action of Harrison, one of his scrutineers, in inducing one Mixon to take the oath that he was a farmer's son and entitled to vote, when his father had been dead for some time. The Chief Justice delivered the judgment and Judges Strong, Fournier and Taschereau concurred, Judge Gwynne dissenting.

LA.-Col. Dawson, R. G., who is here, says he has received an application for extension of leave from Capt. Marston thinks he will have to remain in England to superintend the conversions.

At the Aylmer assizes yesterday Judge Malhiot sentenced Mrs. Gascon, who was found guilty of killing her husband last July, to six months' imprisonment.

Warden Redeau of Stony Mountain Penitentiary is here on his way to Ireland, whither he will be accompanied by Maurice Clark, who was recently an inmate of the penitentiary. Twenty years ago Clark, who was then a private in the 16th Regiment stationed at Montreal, killed a comrade and was sentenced to imprisonment for life. He was taken to Kingston Penitentiary and rapidly developed symptoms of insanity. In one of his fits he killed a fellow prisoner and was then removed to Rockwood Asylum where he remained eighteen years. Recently he showed such signs of improvement that he was removed to Stony Mountain, where he has recovered his reason, and three weeks ago was pardoned by the Governor-General and is now on his way to Ireland where he has a brother who will look after him.

ELOPED WITH HIS OWN SISTER.

A Strange Story from Ferry Point—Fred Achilla's Unnatural Love.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 15.—A strange story comes from Ferry Point. Fred Achilla, fireman on the ferry steamer Mary Ethel, has eloped with his sister, the mother of six children. She has been living for several years with a man named Davy at Niagara and came home about three months ago on a visit to her brother who is married and has three children. The brother fell passionately in love with his own sister and the neighbors allege their conduct has been unbecoming. They took the Grand Trunk east on Tuesday night. Achilla left his wife and children penniless.

THE MAYORALTY!

REQUISITION

To JAMES STEVENSON, Esq.

PETERBOROUGH, 6TH DEC., 1888.

To James Stevenson, Esq., Peterborough:—

SIR,—We, the undersigned ratepayers of the town of Peterborough, hereby request that you again become a candidate for the position of Mayor for the Town of Peterborough for the year 1889, and sincerely trust that, notwithstanding your expressions of unwillingness, you will once more accept the chief place at the Council Board. The great concern you have always taken in municipal matters and your large stake in the town make it of primary importance that you should be in the situation, you have so excellently filled, for securing the advancement of the best interests of the town. We therefore ask you to permit us to nominate you as Mayor and we will do all in our power to secure your return:—

Mr. Stevenson's Reply.

GENTLEMEN,—

Although I had almost definitely decided to retire from active and official participation in municipal matters, yet the desire, as expressed in the foregoing requisition, seems to be of so general and representative a character, that I feel that I would be doing less than my duty as a citizen if I failed to respond to it, therefore, though I do so with personal reluctance, in compliance with the formal demand for my services, I hereby consent to become a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1889. In so doing I think I have a right to feel that my past services have been employed in the best interests of the town, which could hardly be otherwise, when it is borne in mind that I have no small share of material interests to be affected by the administration of the municipal affairs of the town. It is, therefore, my own interest to use my best efforts to secure economical and prudent management of civic matters, and I think my past course is a sufficient guarantee that the public interest will not meet with neglect at my hands. I might suggest that my efforts in promoting manufacturing industries shows that my interest in labouring men is not of a merely sentimental character. I am a comparatively large employer of labor, and endeavor to put my interest in the laboring classes into practical effect, and shall, if again honored with the confidence of the citizens, use my best efforts to maintain the rights and promote the interests of all classes of the community. I do not seek the office of mayor, but if I am chosen I shall not fail to do my best in the future as I have done in the past, to discharge its duties faithfully. I, therefore, place myself in your hands and allow you to put my name in nomination for the position of mayor, assured that I can count upon your assistance in securing my return.

I have the honor to remain, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES STEVENSON.

HOW CATARRH IS CURED.

Read the Evidence.

3 Clarence St., Toronto, Dec. 3, '88.

Messrs. Fulford & Co., Brockville.

Gentlemen—I notice in your circulars that you are always happy to hear from those whom your medicines have been cited. I wish here to testify to the unequalled healing powers of your Nasal Balm. I have been troubled for three years by what the doctors call post nasal catarrh and have tried everything in the city that could be obtained, in the shape of catarrh cures and found no permanent relief from any of them, till a friend one day advised me to try your Nasal Balm, and I find that even one bottle has done me more good than all the medicines put together that I have prescribed myself with before I was very much troubled with spitting and hawking, especially in the morning, so much so that my throat was continually in a raw condition, but am now beginning to know what it is to speak freely. I shall not fail to recommend it to any of my friends suffering from a like disease.

Yours faithfully,
T. D. D. LLOYD.

24 Daly street.
Ottawa, May 3, 1887.

I am pleased to state that the Nasal Balm has already relieved my catarrh to a very great extent. I have not used one bottle, but the nauseous droppings from the head into the throat have almost ceased. I breathe easy now; rest better sleep, and altogether feel and appreciate the wonderful virtue of the "Balm." Its merits cannot possibly be exaggerated for catarrhal troubles, as a CURE I believe it to be GENUINE.

Yours, &c.
JAMES G. TENNET.

W. H. GABEL, Berve Ont, Ont., says: I feel it my duty to write to you and report the result of my using Nasal Balm. I have been a severe sufferer from that loathsome disease, catarrh, and tried several remedies, but got no relief till I purchased a bottle of Nasal Balm. I used it according to directions and it has completely cured me. It is a great pleasure to recommending it to all suffering from catarrh who come into my shop.

MR. THOMAS ROCHE, Rochefort, Ont., says: I have suffered severely from catarrh, and never got any relief at all I used Nasal Balm. I never thought I could find so sure a cure. It is a pity all afflicted with catarrh do not know of and use this wonderful medicine.

Yours, &c.

Sudbury, Ont., May 5th, 1888.

Messrs. Fulford & Co.

Gents,—I may state that I have been afflicted with catarrh for seven or eight years and it was attended by such equally symptoms as a foul breath constant dropping into the throat, hawking and spitting partial deafness ringing in the ears, and sickening pain in the head directly over either eye. I have used powders and doctored, but all to no effect, the only result arising from the use of such was temporary relief followed by the usual symptoms in a more aggravated form. The results arising from the use of Nasal Balm are: sweet breath stoppage of the dropping into the throat consequently less hawking and spitting, clearness of hearing and not once since I began its use have I had pain in the head. In fact it is my opinion that a careful and persistent use of the "Balm" will effect a cure in the worst case of catarrh.

Yours truly,
ALEX. BURNS.

Gents,—For some years I was troubled with a severe case of catarrh, and was seldom free from catarrhal headache. I tried many remedies but without avail. I procured a bottle of Nasal Balm, and in less than a week my head had disappeared together with all other symptoms of catarrh. I believe Nasal Balm is a boon to all sufferers from this terrible malady. Yours

Greenfield's Confessions.

All the Crimes He was Suspected of Confirmed—He's a Bad 'un.

On the way down to Kingston penitentiary in company with Constable Lytle, Greenfield made some confessions. He thought as his "game was up" he might as well make a clean breast of it, and proudly stated to the constable that he was the man who shot at P. C. Stewart in Gough Bros.' store last August. He declares, however, that Stewart was never in the store with him, but that he fired while the officer was at the window. Greenfield told Constable Lytle that if he did serve his time he would never again be able to make an honest living after this, and he would be compelled to do as he had done in the past.

It has since transpired that Greenfield made other confessions to Detective Wiles in gaol. He admitted being one of the three men who attempted to in Mr. Haslitt's office last spring, on suspicion of which they were afterwards arrested in Toronto, but discharged as nothing could be proven. He also related to the detective full details of the robbery of the priest's house, in which also he said he had a hand. Then to the Chief of Police, on the trip over from Buffalo, he confessed having gone through LeBrun's store last summer to the extent of several hundred dollars' worth of goods. All these "jobs," excepting that at Mr. Haslitt's office, were perpetrated since Chief Rossel's arrival in town, and it will be interesting to the people to have all these hitherto mysteries cleared up.

Greenfield further let the detective into the secret of his plans for cracking the safe at the

AUBURN WOOLLEN MILLS.

It will be remembered there was some mention of this in the evidence at the trial. He and a pal came down from Toronto to do the job and they had the affair well planned. They knew that every other Thursday night there was a large amount of money in the woollen mills' safe. The hands were paid semi-monthly, and Thursday before pay-day the wages in money were put into envelopes and locked up till next day, when they were distributed. Every other Thursday between $2,500 and $3,000, wages of employes, was stored in the safe. It would have been a grand haul, but the two "gophers" quarrelled and separated, the other fellow taking the tools. Greenfield came on to Peterborough, and instead entered Gough's store, with the result that is already known. Since these revelations have been made a change has been made in the manner of paying the men at the woolen mills, so that there will be no further risk run from burglars.

These confessions were made by Greenfield in the knowledge that they could not be turned against him, as the only charge on which he could be tried was shooting with intent to kill, the one on which he was extradited.

The EXAMINER was not so far astray after all in laying these crimes at Greenfield's door.

The "Examiner" Christmas Supplement.

The Christmas supplement of the EXAMINER is issued to-day. It is the ninth, and by all odds the handsomest, of the series. It is in a new form, that of a large pamphlet of 20 pages, 11x15 inches, with stitched and cut leaves, printed on tinted paper, and the cheery reading matter, bright pictures and artistic advertisements, make it a publication that will be treasured in the home and read and re-read, thus insuring to business men the utmost value for their announcements. The edition printed is a very large one, over a ton of paper being used, and to-day a copy is being mailed to every home in the county, and a copy will be left in every house in town. When the advertisers see our Christmas supplement, we are sure they will be delighted, both with the setting of their advertisements and with the wide publicity and diligent perusal they will secure in thousands of homes, where the Christmas supplement is sure to be valued as an elegant holiday souvenir.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Branch—The Secretary's Farewell Report.

The sixth annual meeting of the Peterborough Auxiliary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was held in the Sunday school-room of St. Paul's church on Friday afternoon.

It was largely attended by its own members and friends from other churches. St. Andrew's, Baptist and Methodist, some of whom took part in the devotional exercises. The Mission Band had charge of the singing, handed round the ballot papers, acted as ushers and scrutineers, took up the collection and finally helped in the distribution of refreshments at the close of the proceedings. Mrs. Ewart, of Toronto, President of the General Society, gave an excellent address, too long for insertion here, and altogether too good to be abridged. Her presence gave general satisfaction, and her pleasure in again being present with the ladies of the Society was expressed in most kindly and gratifying terms.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The result of the ballot for the election of officers for the year 1889 was as follows:—

PRESIDENT.—Mrs. Fairbain, re-elected.

1ST VICE PRESIDENT.—Mrs. James F. Dennistoun.

2ND VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mrs. Henderson, sen.

SECRETARY.—Mrs. Albert Loch.

TREASURER.—Mrs. Isaac, re-elected.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—Mrs. Alex. Smith, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Mrs. Robert Hall, Mrs. W. G. Ferguson, Miss Moore and Miss Roger.

REPORTS.

The secretary's annual report and that of the Mission Band were read by their respective secretaries, and, on motion, adopted. The treasurer presented her financial statement, showing the funds amounted to $450. Several hymns were sung and prayers offered at appointed times, the choir rendering with good effect the late Miss F. R. Havergal's spirited missionary hymn, "Tell it out among the heathens that the Lord is king," and a pretty and appropriate kindergarten song was sweetly sung by the members of the juvenile mission band, ably led by Miss Sophie Cameron, Miss Annie Cameron presiding at the organ. Votes of thanks were tendered to Mrs. Ewart for so kindly coming to us, and to those other ladies who had taken part in the meeting, which was brought to a close by prayer and the singing of the hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds."

At the conclusion of the meeting the ladies adjourned to the dining-room, where a supper had been prepared. This was a most pleasant termination to the proceedings of the sixth annual meeting.

The lengthy report of the secretary, Mrs. Haultain, to whose kindness the EXAMINER is indebted for the above report of proceedings, is unavoidably crowded out of to-day's issue. It will be published in full Monday. It was understood among the ladies of the society that this would be the last appearance of Mrs. Haultain among them, at least for some time, as she is about leaving Peterborough, and many were the expressions of regret at her withdrawal, not only of her kindly, sympathetic and inspiring personal presence, but also of her indefatigable and efficient labors in behalf of the society, which have been so successful in the past.

A Persevering Collector.

Mr. Peter Hamilton's collecting agent is a man who will not allow trifles to stand in the way of his collecting an account. He had a certain point to reach to collect a bill. He drove part of the distance, skated part of it, swam a part of it and walked the rest of it. He drove to a certain point, having taken along his skates to use to shorten a long round-about distance. In crossing the ice on his skates he broke through and had to swim to shore, but, nothing daunted, he pursued his journey on foot and "got there" in a double sense—he reached his destination and collected his bill. The creditor who escapes Mr. Nicholls will require to rise early.

Band Music at the Barracks.

The fine band of the Household Troops of the Salvation Army, London, Eng., was the attraction at the Simcoe street barracks last night that drew out a large audience. The proceedings were just the same as on the occasion of their previous visit. A number of songs and choruses and band selections were rendered, and Bandmaster Appleby made an appeal for money to help Commissioner Coombs out of his financial difficulty. The collections were made by Horatia No. 2. The meeting was a most successful one. Everyone was delighted with the superior music, both vocal and instrumental, of the band.

Officers Elected.

The officers of St. Peter's Branch, No. 21, of the Emerald Benevolent Association were elected Thursday night. Rev. Father McEvay presided at the meeting and delivered an address. The officers are:—

President	Wm. Lee
Vice-President	E. R. Ward

In the wages case, Delong vs. Delino, plaintiff secured judgement for $12.83 and costs

A number of small boys were charged with throwing stones and breaking windows. They were dismissed with a warning.

James Hayes, drunk, was fined $2.

A Masculine Manifesto.

The occasion will show what the men can accomplish, and will be an indication of the ability of the gentlemen to act independently of the ladies. A unique entertainment will be given in the Baptist church on Thursday evening, Dec. 27th. The programme will be supplied by gentlemen only. The tea will be supplied and served by the gentlemen. Every detail will be carried out by the men. Positively no assistance from the ladies allowed. Tea from 6.30 to 8 p.m. Interesting programme to commence at 8 p.m. Tickets, 25 cents. d

St. John's Church.

The regular Friday evening service at St. John's church has been changed in character and the first of the new series was held last night at 7.30. It consisted of a shortened form of evening prayer after which special intercessions were offered on behalf of church workers, parochial organizations and the different needs of the parish. The attendance was satisfactory for a beginning and is sure to increase. Revs. J. C. Davidson and J. C. Cox took part in the service.

The man or woman has yet to come forward and put their finger on the spot where Turnbull has advertised any thing he could not give you. Look out for his column and locals elsewhere. dw

They Take the Lead.

The competition in the grocery trade is very keen, but there is not the slightest doubt that Elliott & Tierney have the largest and best assorted stock of groceries in Peterborough, and their prices are right. The finest Xmas fruits are to be found at the Palace Grocery. New and fresh teas of all qualities and grades; best values. Call and get samples. dw

Mission Band.

The annual meeting of the Mission Band of St. Paul's Church was held Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance of young people. The treasurer's statement showed a balance on hand over expenditures for mission work of $168.50. Miss Rose, returned missionary from India, also gave an address that was full of interest.

Still Going On.

The great reduction sale of groceries, provisions, &c., still going on at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, and giving such good satisfaction to the customers that Mr. Green was obliged to procure more new goods from the eastern markets and engage an extra young man in the store to fill the many holiday orders now coming in for supplies of choice family groceries, provisions, &c. A special bargain in teas, only 25 cents per lb., which cannot be equalled in the trade, and is selling freely. Fresh eggs, butter, fruit and vegetables received daily from farmers and others and sold out at low prices. Picked over winter apples only $1.50 to $1.75 per barrel, delivered to any part of the town. A trial order is respectfully solicited. R. H. GREEN, corner Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterborough. 3d1w

Y. P. A. vs. Endeavor Society.

Remember that the long talked of debate between the Young People's Association of the George street Methodist church and the Endeavor Society of the Charlotte street church will take place on Monday evening next in the George street church. The subject will be: Resolved that Canada is a better country to live in than the United States. Six most talented and world-wide debaters will mount the rostrum at 8 o'clock sharp. A choice programme has been prepared as an additional attraction. 1d

New Law Offices.

The new law offices of Messrs. Stratton & Hall, over Muckleston's hardware store in the new Cox block on Hunter street, are perhaps the most commodious and elegant in town. There is a general office and waiting room, off which on each side are large and handsomely furnished private apartments for the respective members of the firm. Both these private offices have also an entrance off the landing at the head of the stairway, and each is supplied with a vault. In their comfortable new quarters the law firm of Stratton & Hall will, no doubt, find its business increase rapidly, as the industry and ability of its members merit.

Pianos and Organs.

Jackson & Co. have the largest stock of pianos and organs in Peterborough to select from at lowest factory prices. Terms to suit everybody. All instruments sold by Jackson & Co. are guaranteed for five years and kept in tune for two years free of charge. Pianos and organs taken in exchange and the best value allowed for them. Second hand pianos and organs from $50. Sole agents for the Karn Organs, prices from $47.00 up. Tuning and repairing done. Jackson & Co., corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets. dw

Sudden Death.

Yesterday evening Mr. Joseph Secord fell dead from his chair at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Robert Weatherhead, corner of Union and Edinburgh streets. The deceased was 78 years of age and one of the pioneer residents of the town, and was held in respect by the scores to whom he was familiar. The funeral takes place on Sunday at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Weatherhead.

Carton's Change of Base.

Mr. George Carton, grocer, to-day occupied his new shop, corner of Charlotte and George streets, opposite the market. He has a splendid shop stocked to the ceiling with an entirely new supply of goods. He will celebrate his removal by an opening sale of groceries at immense reductions.

Handsome Christmas Souvenirs.

Mr. G. B. Sproule has issued a set of three little books of splendid views of scenery of the town, churches, public buildings, streets, etc, of great artistic excellence, and making charming Christmas presents. See them at book stores.

For Rickets, Marasmus, and all Wasting Disorders of Children.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites is unequalled. The rapidity with which children gain flesh and strength upon it is very wonderful. "I have used Scott's Emulsion in cases of Rickets and Marasmus of long standing. In every case the improvement was marked." J. M. Main, M. D., New York, Sold by all Druggists, 50c. and $1.00 4w49eod

A Very Good Idea.

To the public in general W. J. Morrow shows a very good way of returning his thanks by placing during the holiday season, only, his entire stock of groceries at cost. So those who are anxious to purchase their Christmas supplies will do well to call. Our sale is now going on. 340 George street dw

Turnbull is determined to clear out all his remnants of dress goods. All the ends of dress goods that sold from 25c to 50c a yard, will be sold at 15c during the holidays. First come, first choice. dw

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

THIS COLUMN

Tells about the BARGAINS being Offered at

TURNBULL'S

Mantles and Mantle Cloths. Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods. We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds. Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought jobbing. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery. Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons. The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and daring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

SUPREME COURT CASES.

A NUMBER OF JUDGMENTS DELIVERED SATURDAY.

Prosper's Appeal Dismissed—The Decision in the Manitoba Granting Case to be Given Next Saturday.

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—After delivering judgments in the Supreme Court yesterday Chief Justice Ritchie announced that the decision in the Manitoba granting case would be given next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Judgment was given in the Jaltette election case confirming the judgment of the court below, unseating Mr. Guilbault on the ground of bribery by agents.

In Prosper v. the Queen, an appeal from the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, the appeal was dismissed, Judges Strong and Fournier dissenting. This was an appeal on behalf of Prosper, who is sentenced to be hanged on Jan. 4 for the murder of Peter Doyle, on the ground that certain evidence taken at the trial should not have been admitted.

Brisbois v. the Queen—Appeal dismissed, Judges Strong and Fournier dissenting. This was an appeal on behalf of F. X. Brisbois, sentenced to death for murder at St. Scholastique. An appeal from the judgment of the trial judge was made to the Quebec Court of Appeals on the ground that one of the jurymen was not qualified to act, having taken the place of another man of the same name, but the appeal was dismissed. An appeal was then made to the Supreme Court and was dismissed on the ground that the court did not have jurisdiction. Chief Justice Ritchie held that the Court of Appeal at Montreal had no jurisdiction to try the case and consequently the Supreme Court had no jurisdiction. He advised that the only way for Brisbois to proceed was by writ of error.

Foote v Foote—Appeal in a will case from Nova Scotia, dismissed with costs.

Trainer v Black Diamond Steamship Company—An action to recover damages for damaged goods, Trainer's appeal dismissed with costs.

MacArthur v Brown, et al.—Dismissed with costs. Bernard v Molson—Dismissed with costs.

Longueil Navigation Company v Montreal—Allowed with costs.

Allan v. Merchants' Marine Insurance Company—Dismissed with costs.

Immigration returns to Nov. 30 show the total number of arrivals for eleven months 156,180, being an increase of 18,018 over the same period last year. The number of settlers in Canada was 32,947, showing an increase of 10,406 over last year.

It is understood that Lieut.-Colonel J. Pennington Macpherson, late commander of the guards, has been appointed an extra A. D. C. to the Governor-General.

AN OPIUM HUNT.

Important Seizure in the Wilds of Michigan—126 Boxes of the Drug Captured.

PORT HURON, Dec. 16.—This evening on the Sand Beach express there arrived here the most important seizure of opium ever made in the Huron district. It may be remembered that last summer a little schooner, the Emma, owned by Capt. Harry Durant, was seized at Sand Beach on a charge of participating in the opium smuggling trade. Capt. Durant was arrested, but was let off at the time, the government preferring to wait bigger game that appeared to be in prospect. A watch was set on Capt. Durant, and he was kept under strict surveillance by the officers under the direction of Special Agent S. W. Dey, who had complete charge of the case.

Shortly after nightfall on Thursday Harry Durant was seen on horseback at Sand Beach headed for Port Hope. Detective Dey and his deputies followed him. After about twenty miles of travel they came to a lumbering road, which took them into a dreary woodland, miles from a house and leading there was no telling where. They had not gone far on the road before they divided, the gang single file, some distance apart. The leader, after some traveling, heard some one coming toward him and quickly returned to his companions, who secreted themselves by the roadside. Durant came up cautiously, revolver in hand, and occasionally uttering a sharp whistle, as though he expected some one. As he came near at hand, the officers jumped up and ordered him to halt. Durant did halt, but his revolver came to the front at the same time, and he banged away at the officers, and they in turn banged away at him. The reception was too warm for him, and off he sailed into the bushes and took leg bail for dear life. The officers caught his horse and made after the fugitive, but in vain.

Making their way back to the lumbering road they followed it up in hopes of finding the opium which they were certain Durant had been to visit. After several miles' travel they came back to the logging road, where they found hidden behind fallen trees and bushes the much coveted opium, 126 long tin boxes, which had at one time been covered by paper, but which now showed evidence of having been buried in the earth.

A Big Opium Smuggling Conspiracy.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 16.—The United States secret service officers here are on the track of a gigantic opium smuggling conspiracy. The deputy collector at St. Vincent, Minn., went west to a point on the Dakota line on Wednesday last and intercepted a wagon load of 900 pounds of opium in a crude form, concealed under a layer of buffalo hides. The whole outfit was seized and the driver of the wagon arrested. Two government detectives left St. Paul for the north Friday night. They are after the man to whom the opium was consigned.

Mr. Gilbert is Sensitive.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Mr. W. S. Gilbert, referring to his differences with Mr. Clement Scott, the dramatic critic of The Daily Telegraph, declares that he will write no more plays, as he will no longer submit to the insolent gibes of Scott. Scott retorts that Gilbert, if he persists in his expressed intentions, will commit suicide, and then paradoxically charges him with having damaged his future fame in writing "Brantinghame Hall." Mr. Gilbert will, however, continue to write operatic librettos in connection with Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Federation of Labor.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 16.—The American Federation of Labor yesterday elected these officers: President, Samuel Gompers, New York; first vice-president, Daniel McLaughlin, Braidwood, Ill.; second vice-president, William Martin, Pittsburg; secretary, P. J. McGuire, Philadelphia; treasurer, Henry Emrich, New York. Trustees—Hugo Miller, August Delabar and Josiah P. Dyer, New York. By a close vote Boston was selected as the place where the next annual meeting will be held. The federation adjourned until the second Tuesday of next December.

Sunk in The Hudson.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Dec. 16.—The steamboat Oswego of the Cornell line struck a rock in the Hudson River Friday night and sank. She was floated yesterday. No lives were lost.

The Outcome of a Seed Wheat Deal.

WHITBY, Dec. 16.—Police Magistrate Harper committed for trial Joseph James, charged with perjury, and J. W. Rymal, charged with fraud, the two witnesses for plaintiff in Wilkes v. Hodgson, a case growing out of A. Hope of Brantford's seed wheat speculations amongst Pickering farmers.

THE KHALIFA'S LETTER.

EMIN PACHA AND A WHITE TRAVELER IN CHAINS.

Heavy Firing at Suakim—A Reconnoissance Made on the Rebels' Position—Mr. Gladstone's Limehouse Speech.

SUAKIM, Dec. 16.—The Khalifa's letter to Osman Digna states that a steamer expedition to the equator commanded by Osman Saleh on arriving at Lado had Emin Pasha and a white traveler delivered to them in chains by Emin's officers and the troops. Osman Saleh in his letter to the Khalifa stated that he reached Lado on Oct. 11 and that the Khedive had sent a white traveler named Stanley with a letter telling Emin to go with Stanley and offering the remainder of the force the option of going to Cairo or remaining. They refused to enter the Turkish service and gladly received Osman Saleh. Osman Saleh found a large quantity of feathers and ivory. He heard that another traveler had visited Emin but had gone and he was searching for him.

A reconnoissance was made in the left and rear of the rebels' position to-day. The party was headed by Gen. Grenfell, and advanced under a heavy fire from the forts. The Arabs opened fire but did no damage. Firing continues on both sides and the Arabs' earthworks have been damaged.

Mr. Bright's Condition.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Mr. Bright has passed a quiet day, and generally speaking his condition remains about the same although his lungs are in a worse state than in the morning.

The Panama Canal Matter.

PARIS, Dec. 16.—Most of the papers here consider the rejection of the Panama Canal bill a mistake. Some describe the vote in the Chamber of Deputies as pusillanimous, while others declare that it will prove fatal to the republic.

A Golden Opportunity.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—In his speech at Limehouse yesterday, Mr. Gladstone said it was folly to hope to govern Ireland in a manner opposed to the constitutionally declared and overwhelming sense of the country. The present time afforded a golden opportunity to alter the prevailing system, when moderation and wisdom were being shown by the people of Ireland and their representatives in Parliament. The Home Rule policy, he declared, was thoroughly practicable, and he believed that at the next election the number of Home Rule members of Parliament would be increased. Ireland had always been loyal when there was a disposition to show her even the shadow of justice.

The Universal Penny Postage Scheme.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—John Henniker Heaton, M. P. for Canterbury, will visit the United States next year and will endeavor to have a bill submitted to Congress providing for the adoption of his scheme of universal penny postage.

Harmless Firing at Suakim.

SUAKIM, Dec. 16.—A body of mounted infantry and Egyptian cavalry made a reconoitring expedition in the direction of Handoub yesterday. The enemy remained in their trenches. There was some firing, but it was harmless.

MASON CITY, Ia., Dec. 17.—A. Cowen, aged 79 years, an old and highly respected citizen of this place, is out with a challenge to any man of 79 in the United States to run him a forty or eighty rod race and at the end of the race jump and strike his heels together three times. He will wager $500 to $10,000 on the result.

A Burning Village.

WHITBY, Dec. 16.—Fire is raging in the village of Brooklin, six miles north of here. It commenced about 7 o'clock in Ketchen's blacksmith shop, burning The Times office, and everything is going on the west side of Main-street. Our fire brigade has gone out with the steamer Merryweather.

INTERESTING ITEMS BY WIRE.

Great uneasiness exists at Panama regarding the crisis in the affairs of the canal company.

Prince Eugene of Savoie-Carignan is dead at Turin. He was 72 years of age and was an Admiral in the Italian army.

W. H. Ingalls & Co.'s wholesale boot and shoe house at Louisville, Ky., was burnt Saturday night; loss $40,000, insurance $33,000.

The works of the Putnam Wire Nail Company at Greencastle, Ind., were destroyed by fire Saturday night; loss $12,000, insurance $6000.

Jem Selby, the best and most celebrated coach whip in England, is dead. He drove a coach from Hatchett's, in Picadilly, to Brighton.

Edward Davey of Little Falls, Minn., has been left $250,000 and a valuable tract of North Carolina land by an aunt who recently died in London, Eng.

Prohibition Alderman Holmes of Rockford, Ill., found a dynamite bomb on his piazza Saturday morning. The fuse had been ignited but expired.

The steamer H. Barsdale, loaded with cotton seed, was burnt at Yazoo City, Miss., Saturday; loss on steamer $12,000, on cargo $45,000; the latter is insured.

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Deputies to consider the bill postponing the payment of the Panama Canal Company's liabilities has rejected the measure, 362 to 188.

Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic University in Washington, is in Rome on business in connection with the institution whose statutes he has submitted to the Pope.

At New York Saturday night William Johnson smashed a jewelry store window and stole a diamond necklace valued at $4500. He was arrested and the necklace recovered.

Henry Meredith, who shot and wounded Gambler Phil Daly, has been recognized as Lewis Carleton, who is wanted to complete 5 years of a 7-years' sentence for forgery in states prison at Columbus, O.

Fire Saturday night in the building on Pine-street between Third and Fourth, St. Louis, caused a loss of $100,000 on building and $200,000 to printing and publishing concerns occupying the building.

The woman Gallagher, who was arrested at Queenstown with 50 dynamite cartridges in her possession, is a widow who has lived in Cleveland, O., many years and left there Dec. 7 with 20 other Irish men and women.

Lord Dufferin was given a banquet at Bombay before his departure for England. In a speech he reviewed the condition of Indian affairs and declared that he handed over the country to Lord Lansdowne with a cloudless political horizon.

The British Government has issued an order restricting the functions of prison doctors in Ireland, requiring them to furnish a printed form stating their recommendation of change of diet, etc., together with the reasons upon which such changes, etc., are based.

An Illinois Central Train Robbed.

GRENADA, Miss., Dec. 16.—Friday night passenger train No. 2 on the Illinois Central Road was robbed by two masked men one mile north of Duckhill. The robbers took $3000 from the express car. Chess Hughes of Jackson, Tenn., ran out with a Winchester rifle. He was fired upon, one shot striking him in the left arm and another going through his stomach, inflicting a fatal wound.

THE WORLD OF LONDON.

SPECULATIONS ABOUT EMIN PACHA AND STANLEY.

The Situation at Suakim—Degradation of French Politics.—English and Irish Politics—Personal.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The Government express no opinion respecting Osman Digna's letter announcing the capture of Emin Pacha and Mr. Stanley. It is, however, known that the letter has been for some days in the possession of the authorities at Suakim, but the contents were not allowed to become public till General Grenfell and others had reluctantly come to the conclusion that the story was probably true. Even now the letter, though published in Egypt, has not been telegraphed in full to London. A summary of its contents appeared yesterday in The Standard exclusively. That journal, and to-day every other journal I have seen, lean to a belief in the genuineness of the news. No one seems able to explain how the Mahdi or Osman Digna could have obtained otherwise the letter which the Khedive gave Mr. Stanley in Cairo for Emin Pacha. The most plausible suggestion is that the letter was captured in some encounter not necessarily involving Mr. Stanley's capture. General Grenfell recognizes the letter as genuine. It is not impossible that a copy was sent to Osman from Cairo, where treachery is common as sunlight. What motive had Osman in concocting this news? Ask those who credit it. Lord Randolph Churchill unwittingly supplied an answer in the House of Commons. He pressed the Government, in view of this news, to negotiate for the release of Emin Pacha and Mr. Stanley before beginning an attack upon the besiegers of Suakim. Osman may very well have pressed that with such hostages as Mr. Stanley and Emin Pacha in the Mahdi's hands, the English would think twice before taking any step calculated to increase the peril in which they stand. Osman's reputation as one of the most notorious and ingenious of living liars may also count for something. To such slender straws do the sinking hopes of the world now cling.

Meanwhile the whole policy, or want of policy, at Suakim, is once more challenged, and the absurdity of the situation comes out more clearly than ever. England keeps up the fiction of Egyptian authority and acts in the name of her puppet. The Khedive refuses to look the facts in the face. Suakim cannot be abandoned. But how long is it to be held under a teasing fire of slave-trading Arabs? If they are driven further back and a new fort built, that fort will be besieged. Then what? Such are some of the questions the public are beginning to ask, to which no answer is ready.

Mr. Butterworth's proposal to open negotiations for the annexation of Canada to the United States has been cabled here. It is received in confidence by the press in general, and with gentle sarcasm by such papers as notice it.

The bankruptcy of the Panama Canal surprises nobody here. What does surprise people is M. de Lesseps' resignation, which is regarded as a final confession of failure. The intervention of the French Government is considered a desperate expedient to avert a catastrophe for the moment only.

The very worst symptom of degradation French politics have yet seen is the election of "General" Cluseret in the Var. Some unexplained influence was at work, since Cluseret had but 14,000 votes, while 67,000 abstained. He was one of the vilest of Communards.

Mgr. Persico's report to the Pope on the fate of Ireland pleases neither party. Unionists dislike it because it favors aspirations for Home Rule. Nationalists dislike it because it condemns boycotting, the Plan of Campaign, and other illegal methods which the nationalists deem essential to success. Whether the report will have much practical effect is disputed.

The Maidstone election does but little toward clearing up the political situation. The Tory majority is reduced by hard work on the Liberal side and the Liberals claim a moral victory. The Tories, who set less value on moral victories, are satisfied to retain the seat.

The breach of privilege case which made such a stir in the House of Commons a fortnight since has collapsed. Mr. Sheehy is no longer either a hero or a martyr, and Mr. Sullivan is not destined to become a victim or spend the rest of his days in the Clock Tower. The committee adopted a mild report, but one clause seemed to Mr. Smith so objectionable that he opposed Mr. Whitbread's motion that the House should concur in the report, which was accordingly tabled and is dead. The Moroney case, too, has ended quietly with the release of the bankrupt by Judge Boyd on motion of the landlord who had made him a bankrupt. His champions in the House for some reason declined to ask the court to release him. Prisoner or otherwise, no more capital is now to be made out of him.

The National Liberal Club troubles attract more and more attention. Lord Hartington has actually resigned. It is admitted that the club's finances are not prosperous, and admitted that something must be done to retrieve its fortunes if any considerable secession should occur. There are nearly 6000 members. Yet so heavy have been the expenses connected with the new buildings, and so low is the yearly subscription, $20, that the club does not pay its way. To put it on a paying basis is of urgent importance to the Home Rule party, who have practically taken possession of the buildings and of the organization. To raise the yearly subscription is thought unwise. The amount is kept low to enable everybody to join it. Never was it so useful as now to the Gladstonians, and never in such difficulties.

Sundry papers publish a denial of the statement that Lord Randolph Churchill is to start in January for South America and remain abroad till May. My authority was Lord Randolph himself. Messrs. Longmans announce a collection of Lord Randolph's speeches, selected and edited by Mr. Jennings, who will write a political and biographical preface, annotate the speeches and add some correspondence rather meagingly described as of considerable interest. Lord Randolph himself corrects the text. I imagine this publication is meant as a kind of appeal from Lord Salisbury and his Cabinet to the great body of the Tory party and public opinion generally. There can be no doubt of its exceeding interest to all who care for current English politics, or for one of the most striking English personalities of the time.

The sale of Sir Frederick Leighton's fine Captive Andromache to Liverpool for £4800 is hailed in the provinces as a kind of triumph over London. The picture goes to Berlin, where a photogravure will be executed. Neither the provinces nor London hail this as a triumph. How is it that the reproduction cannot be done in England? ask friends of English art. Answer, there is none. G. W. S.

Heffernan, $9.45; County of Peterborough, $9.91; Kingan & Co., $25.47 and $230.88.—Adopted.

The report of the Court of Revision was read and adopted.

THE SCHOOL DEBENTURES

Mr. Davidson moved, seconded by Mr. Winch, that the Clerk be authorized to write the trustees of the school board, that this council are not the possessors of the debentures asked for, but would refer them to Mr. E. Pearce, Secretary of the Commissioners of the Town Trust, who will cheerfully furnish them with all information asked for in their resolution.—Carried.

THE "EXAMINER" DIRECTORY.

Moved by Mr. Kelly, seconded by Mr. E. H. D. Hall, that this council having inspected the new directory of the town issued by the EXAMINER office, hereby tender its thanks to the publisher, especially for the fullness and completeness of its descriptive introduction in which its manufacturing, transport and other facilities, and its advantages as a business centre or place of residence, are set forth in such a manner as to attract manufacturers and capitalists, as well as population to the town, and to conduce to the development of its resources and its general prosperity.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Mr. A. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. E. H. D. Hall,—That a contract in the form attached with the Electric Light Co. for supplying 42 electric lights at $60 each per year for five years, be entered into, and that the same be signed by the Mayor and the corporate seal attached thereto, when the same is properly executed by the Electric Light Co.

Mr. T. G. HAZLITT made a brief address, in which he stated that the expenses in connection with the extension of the electric light service had been very large, and he thought that the council should contract for a definite term of years. He believed the company had always given a satisfactory service, and they intended keeping up to the standard in future. It would be more satisfactory to the company to have a definite contract, and not have to trust to future councils to remain by the agreement.

Mr. KELLY asked Mr. Hazlitt if some arrangement could not be made with the Electric Light Co. to have the lights burn all night.

Mr. HAZLITT replied that he was ready at any time to do so when the council agreed to pay the actual running expenses of the overtime.

The motion was allowed to stand over till next Friday night, to which time the council adjourned.

THE STATEMENT.

It was thought by a great many that the annual financial statement would have to be presented at this meeting, but the statutes read that the meeting shall be held on the 15th, and immediately after the statement shall be published in the newspapers. The meeting is merely held to wind up the financial affairs so that the statement can be issued before the end of the year.

Ashburnham Brevities.

The Mark Street Methodist Sunday school hold their entertainment on Christmas night. Mr. J. Z. Rogers has very kindly supplied them with a large boat to be used as a "gift ship" for the children's toys.

The ladies of St. Luke's Church will be engaged during the evenings of this week putting up decorations in the church for Xmas. It has been decided to have their Sunday school Christmas tree on the 3rd of January.

On Friday night as a number of boys were skating on the Little Lake, one of them got separated from the rest and went off on a tour of inspection of the ice, and seeing some which looked particularly inviting, made for it and taking an extra spurt on entering it, he was very unpleasantly surprised to find himself immersed in open water, which he mistook for ice. With a rare presence of mind he struck for the ice and managed to get out without the assistance of his companions. Had he shouted for help, there is little doubt they would have got in also. One wet suit was enough for such a cold night.

A youth of the village, one of those cold nights, got into rather frigid difficulties. Having remained out too long with his best girl, he returned home to find himself barred out. His bedroom window being immediately over the kitchen and it being slightly raised, and a small ladder at hand, a bright idea occurred to him to get in that way instead of arousing some of the inmates. Accordingly he ascended the ladder, and in order not to arouse any suspicion and thinking all was clear sailing ahead, he pushed the ladder back out of reach and managed to reach the ridge of the roof. Here he disrobed, taking off his boots and great coat and, arrived at the window, he safely deposited them inside. But in doing this he let the window drop, and it being held down by a self-fastener, the young man was in a serious predicament. To descend was impossible, to shout would have brought out the neighbors who were all in bed long before and to roost on the roof in his sock-feet and combinations would have allowed jack-frost to get the better of him. What sorrows, what remorse, what regrets, what resolutions filled his troubled breast as he sat astride the ridge of the kitchen roof can better be imagined than described. Being exasperated with the biting cold he made one unearthly yell and brought to his assistance a number of the family, but he first resolved never to be out again after the old man had turned the key.

IMPORTANT.

We have just been advised, and we are sure the people of Peterborough will be pleased to know that A. L. Davis & Co. have decided to put the whole of their stock of books, stationary, and Fancy Goods on the market at cost price commencing 1st December, and their stock, being in such good condition, the public are sure to get dollar for dollar. This sale is made necessary on account of extensive improvements which are to be made this winter in their store.

Removal Sale.

W. J. Green, having decided to remove to more convenient premises on Hunter street, will, for the next few days, give great bargains, so as to reduce his stock. Gents' tweed suits, gents' fine suits, gents' underclothing, gents' shirts, collars, ties, etc., etc.; gents' hats, this season's stock; also big bargains in tweeds, worsteds, nap and beaver overcoats, (cut and finish guaranteed) at specially reduced rates. Now is the time to order your clothing, and especially overcoats, as this is a genuine sale. Liquor tea notice. I will clear out my entire stock of the famous Li-quor teas at one half price, as I will not have space for them in my new premises. Parties holding vouchers will please call at once and get their prizes. Opposite the town clock, George street. Marriage licenses issued by W. J. Green, merchant tailor. dw

FOR PROGRESSIVE ACTION.

The German Reichstag Favor a Vigorous Colonial Policy.

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—The debate in the Reichstag on Dr. Wintherst's motion relative to the suppression of the East African slave trade has dispelled many errors which were current among those who believed that Germany would never stir a foot or spend a penny, directly or indirectly, to assist the East Africa Company over its straits. Though the suppression of slavery was ostensibly the object of the motion, its real aim was simply to elicit the sense of the nation concerning the commercial and political future of the East Africa Company and to provide a basis for further Government action. It is an open secret that Prince Bismarck was reluctant to embark in a spirited colonial policy until the nation should have clearly expressed its will on the matter. This has now been done in a manner so decided as to render the Chancellor's future course clear. The debate marks an important development in the colonial policy. The Reichstag has declared in favor of progressive action and completely dispelled the illusion that Germany's action to recover lost ground and to safeguard her imperilled positions on the Zanzibar litteral would be confined to blockading operations on the sea.

The attitude of the Russian and German press does not improve. The Hamburg Correspondent's article of Thursday on the relations between Germany, Austria and Russia was issued by a semi-official telegraph agency and may accordingly be accepted as authentic. But fortunately, in spite of its semi-official character and the strong feeling it displays, the article has not produced much effect either on the Bourse or on the public mind, although it is made from the fact that semi-official writers again threaten to publish the Austro-Russian treaties of 1870 and 1877 that political relations with Russia must be strained.

The North German Gazette, referring to the article, expresses the hope that the Russo-German newspaper war will not be renewed, and intimates that if it is the Russian Pan-Slavist press will be left to stew in its own juice, while The Tageblatt advises the public not to be alarmed at the journalistic war, but to wait until The Reichsanzeiger publishes the treaties.

Friday's debate in the Reichstag was memorable as the occasion of Count Herbert Bismarck's maiden speech. The greatest interest was shown and more than three hours present than on any other day during the session. The public galleries were also crowded. Count Herbert's speech occupied over thirty minutes. His voice, enunciation, gestures and abrupt delivery vividly reminded the audience of his father. He cannot exactly be said to have the gift of eloquence, yet he acquitted himself of his task remarkably well.

Emperor William continues to work hard. He receives Generals von Waldersee and von Wittich daily. It is reported that the latter is engaged in explaining in minute detail the possibility of Germany sustaining a war against France and Russia simultaneously.

A Fight in Court.

JACKSON, Tenn., Dec. 16.—During trial before 'Squire Exum in this county yesterday over a settlement between Tom Brown and a colored family named Hicks, Will Hicks cross-examined Miss Fannie Brown in a rather abrupt manner and was told by her brother Tom to be more careful. The negro replied with an oath and knocked Brown down. Other negroes and Peter Brown, brother of Tom Brown, joined in a general fight. Tom Brown cut one or two negroes with his knife and stabbed the mother of Will Hicks in the throat. Tom Brown and his brother were also badly hurt. At last accounts the negroes were arming and there was much excitement.

Irene Hawes' Body Found.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 16.—The body of Irene Hawes was found in the lake at Lakeview near Birmingham yesterday. There were no marks of violence. The find caused no excitement as people had expected for a week that it would be found near where the mother's body was discovered. When told that the body of his other missing child had been found Hawes had nothing to say except to ask in an indifferent sort of way where it was. He then refused to answer any questions. No trouble is expected, but the guard at the jail has been increased as a matter of precaution.

Ammunition and Rifles for Hayti.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The steamer Andes sailed yesterday for Port-au-Prince. It is reported on good authority that she carried several hundred thousand cartridges and 1000 Winchester and Remington rifles for the Haytian Government.

The report that a crew has been sent to Port-au-Prince to bring back the steamer Haytian Republic before the United States war vessels get there is credited in shipping circles, and is considered a wise move on the part of Preston, the Hayti an minister.

A Chicago Judge Beats the Divorce Record.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Yesterday was divorce case day in Judge Jameson's court. The court was tired of the droning of lawyers over details, so he took the matter of getting at the facts in his own hands, with the result that another record was beaten and a mark set for future judges to shoot at. In one hour the court had gone through thirty-five cases, of which six were tried—one every 10 minutes.

Regulating the Railroads.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 16.—The State Senate has passed by overwhelming majorities two bills to prevent railroads from consolidating in this State without permission of the Legislature and to enlarge the authority of the Railroad Commission by giving it absolute power to prescribe and regulate freight and passenger tariffs and prevent unjust discriminations.

Sale of an Historic House.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Dec. 16.—The house at Seminary Ridge, occupied by General Lee as his headquarters during the great battle, was sold yesterday by Hon. Edward McPherson, executor of the Thaddeus Stevens estate, to a resident of this place for $740.

The Whisky Trust's War.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—It is announced that the whisky trust has decided on a campaign of extermination against the distillers who have refused to come into the combination. This is to be inaugurated on Jan. 1 by a decided reduction in the price of whisky.

Letter Thieves Convicted.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Frederick von Oberkampf and Thomas Mack, on trial for wholesale robberies from street letter boxes, were found guilty last evening, and will each doubtless receive a long sentence to the penitentiary.

THE MAYORALTY!

REQUISITION

To JAMES STEVENSON, Esq.

PETERBOROUGH, 6TH DEC., 1888.

To James Stevenson, Esq., Peterborough:

SIR,—We, the undersigned ratepayers of the town of Peterborough, hereby request that you again become a candidate for the position of Mayor for the Town of Peterborough for the year 1889, and sincerely trust that, notwithstanding your expressions of unwillingness, you will once more accept the chief place at the Council Board. The great concern you have always taken in municipal matters and your large stake in the town make it of primary importance that you should be in the situation, you have so excellently filled, for securing the advancement of the best interests of the town. We therefore ask you to permit us to nominate you as Mayor and we will do all in our power to secure your return:—

Mr. Stevenson's Reply.

GENTLEMEN,—

Although I had almost definitely decided to retire from active and official participation in municipal matters, yet the desire, as expressed in the foregoing requisition, seems to be of so general and representative a character, that I feel that I would be doing less than my duty as a citizen if I failed to respond to it, therefore, though I do so with personal reluctance, in compliance with the formal demand for my services, I hereby consent to become a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1889. In so doing I think I have a right to feel that my past services have been employed in the best interests of the town, which could hardly be otherwise, when it is borne in mind that I have no small share of material interests to be affected by the administration of the municipal affairs of the town. It is, therefore, my own interest to use my best efforts to secure economical and prudent management of civic matters, and I think my past course is a sufficient guarantee that the public interest will not meet with neglect at my hands. I might suggest that my efforts in promoting manufacturing industries shows that my interest in labouring men is not of a merely sentimental character. I am a comparatively large employer of labor, and endeavor to put my interest in the laboring classes into practical effect, and shall, if again honored with the confidence of the citizens, use my best efforts to maintain the rights and promote the interests of all classes of the community. I do not seek the office of mayor, but if I am chosen I shall not fail to do my best in the future as I have done in the past, to discharge its duties faithfully. I, therefore, place myself in your hands and allow you to put my name in nomination for the position of mayor, assured that I can count upon your assistance in securing my return.

I have the honor to remain, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES STEVENSON.

AN IMPORTANT BUSINESS CHANGE

An intimated in our issue of Saturday, the purchase of the new Brown Folding Machine for the EXAMINER office and the addition of new type, etc., was but the beginning of improvements we intend carrying out. We are in a position to announce to-day an important business change. We could not make the announcement on Saturday, because the negotiations were pending as the paper went to press. On Saturday evening arrangements were definitely completed for the purchase from Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co., by the EXAMINER of the entire book store business conducted by the firm, including every department—books, stationary, wall papers, fancy goods, etc. Mr. Davis retires from the business for the purpose of assuming increased responsibilities with Mr. Cox which will demand all his time and energy. A lease has been executed with Mr. Geo. A. Cox of the entire three stories and basement of the building now occupied by the book store and the adjoining premises on the floor over Mr. Stenson's boot and shoe store. The whole premises will be re-organized and re-fitted for the accommodation of the joint book and stationery, wallpaper, job printing, book binding and newspaper business. The premises over Mr. Stenson's will be specially fitted up for the wall-paper department exclusively. The first floor will be divided by an elegant screen—wood below and glass above—the front will be the book store, as at present, and will be thoroughly and handsomely refitted with casing of the most improved design, and the rear will be the press-room of the newspaper, fitted with slides, hoists, chutes, etc. The business office will be in the rear of the front shop. The second floor will be occupied in front by the editorial rooms and Mr. Stratton's private office, the news room occupying the rear half of this floor. The third and fourth floors will be divided between the bindery and job printing departments. These premises will be fitted up in the manner best suited to the needs of the business. Arrangements have been completed with the William Hamilton Company for a new steam boiler, and with Mr. Adam Hall for entirely new heating appliances, piping, coils, etc.

Mr. Cox has entered into an agreement to have the new premises refitted ready for occupation by the first of February, when the EXAMINER'S premises will be removed from their present situation to the new site, and we take possession of Mr. A. L. Davis & Co.'s business on the 31st of January This important new departure is a transaction involving about $14,000 or $15,000, and is an indication that the EXAMINER, encouraged by the marked appreciation by the public of its enterprise and study of public needs, is determined to make itself more worthy of increased patronage. Regarding improvements to the newspaper and other departments, more will be said hereafter. The new departure is made in the belief that the patronage of the public, which has followed the EXAMINER in its past career, will receive additional appreciation, and amply justify the course adopted.

Personal.

Rev. J. C. Davidson has taken up his residence at 384 Stewart street.

Mr. Shire, of Mt. Albert, is relieving agent at the G.T.R. station while Mr. Sandrette is away.

Rev. A. Bell, pastor of St. Andrew's, will next Sunday evening continue his reply to Rev. Dowling's lecture. The subject of his discourse will be:—The Bible—who gave it to us and what purpose it was given for.

Mr. R. T. Walkem, of Kingston, Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada, will arrive in town on the 9 o'clock G.T.R. train this evening. He will pay an official visit to the Masonic lodges of the town to-morrow night. During his stay in town Grand Master Walkem will be the guest of Mr. R. E. Wood.

An Explanation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

SIR,—My attention has been called to a letter in Saturday's Review from the pen of Mr. D. W. Dumble, which contains several inaccuracies which I cannot allow to pass unchallenged.

I do not think Mr. Dumble understands the nature and object of the meeting held last week. The meeting was a public one, called for the purpose of discussing municipal matters. Mr. Dumble, as a servant of the public, on the Board of Education, was privileged to be present, and have his say along with the others. Mr. Dumble intends to mislead the public when he says that I am unwilling to assist in educating my neighbors' children. This is not true. I am as willing so he is to uphold the public schools, but what I do say, and what the voice of the meeting referred to clearly expressed, is that I am opposed to keeping up an expensive staff in the Institute, for the benefit of the few.

I believe that our system of education has no equal in the world, so far as our public schools are concerned, but I contend that we should try and draw the line there, and endeavor to make the Collegiate Institute more self-sustaining than it is. With this object in view, I moved a resolution at a recent meeting of the Board of Education appointing Mr. Dumble and three others as a committee to attend the school convention in Toronto. My intention was to have them urge upon the convention the necessity of taking united action to get the Legislature to pass a law making it imperative that the portions of the county adjacent to towns having High Schools should be compelled to assist in supporting them, especially where nearly one-half the students come from the country. Mr. Dumble did not think it worth while to attend that convention.

Mr. Dumble, along with the general public, is aware that in one or two instances high salaries have been paid to teachers in certain branches when, as a matter of fact, there were not half a dozen pupils for these "professors" to teach! Surely he does not pretend to believe that this money is well spent.

He supported the appointment of Mr. Rundle, the so-called "truant master," whose chief occupation appears to be to teach the boys and girls to "point sticks" at each other, and go through certain manœuvres, at a cost of $300 per annum to the ratepayers. As was stated at the meeting referred to there is many a poor mother who would rather have her daughter's assistance at the washtub than frittering away her time in such a useless manner.

Mr. Dumble would also make it appear that I am opposed to furnishing suitable school accommodation. Such is not the case. I am, and always have been, in favor of good common schools, well ventilated and cheerful. I thoroughly agree with him that more school accommodation is urgently required, and as everybody knows, did my best to have a school erected in the North Ward.

Mr. Dumble makes a very unworthy fling at the workingmen of Peterborough when he insinuates that they are opposed to having our common schools first class in every respect. I will venture to say that there is not a workingman in Peterborough who is not ready to defend our common school system. In conclusion, Mr. Editor, let me say that I have "no axe to grind," and can look back on my long record as a member of both the Town Council and Board of Education, with the knowledge I did what I considered to be my duty without "fear, favor or affection," and I defy Mr. Dumble or anyone else to show that I ever committed an act in my public career that was unpatriotic or for my personal benefit.

HENRY DENNE.

Peterborough, Dec. 17.

A Singularly Melancholy Death.

A telegram was received this morning by Mr. W. Daly conveying the extremely sad intelligence of the death of his brother-in-law, Dr. Cumberland, Port Huron. It will be remembered that about six weeks ago Dr. Cumberland and Miss Ella Daly were united in marriage, and that Dr. Cumberland was attacked with illness the day following the ceremony. He has been prostrated since that time, his robust physique being unable to cope with a complication of typhoid fever and pneumonia. The deceased gentleman is a brother of Rev. James Cumberland, Presbyterian minister at Amherst island (near Napanee), whither the body will be conveyed to-morrow for interment. The widowed bride, in her terrible bereavement, will receive the cordial sympathy of the hosts of friends, whom her beautiful character and noble, womanly qualities have attracted to her.

The Height of Folly.

It is the height of folly for the people to expect honest representatives if they are selected, not for their ability or usefulness, but for some particular fad they affect, and it is also the height of folly for people to expect that they can get the best of boots and shoes at the lowest prices at any other place than the store of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men. They don't make a spurt of low prices for a day or two, but they make a business of selling the best of goods at real rock-bottom prices. Their profits are small, but the immense business they do makes the profit. At their shop, 375 george street, there is a continual rush of customers, and still they come, and still there are boots and shoes of the best quality for thousands more, and sold, remember, at less than half wholesale cost. The boom in bargains is one continuous roar.

Pianos and Organs.

Jackson & Co. have the largest stock of pianos and organs in Peterborough to select from at lowest factory prices. Terms to suit everybody. All instruments sold by Jackson & Co. are guaranteed for five years and kept in tune for two years free of charge. Pianos and organs taken in exchange and the best value allowed for them. Second hand pianos and organs from $50. Sole agents for the Karn Organs, prices from $47.00 up. Tuning and repairing done. Jackson & Co., corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets. dw

Large Shipment.

Elliott & Tierney have received direct from Japan a large shipment of Japan teas, which they will dispose of at great bargains. Ask for samples and, after drawing, you will be convinced the Palace Grocery is the place to purchase teas. A large and well selected stock of fine Xmas fruits at lowest prices. dw

Sixth Annual Report

Of the Peterborough Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's Church.

It must always be a solemn thought to Christian workers that each year as it passes leaves the record with Him who searches the heart for its motive and weighs every action in a just and righteous balance. The year 1888 has now closed upon this Auxiliary, its opportunities have forever passed, its work if ill done can never now be altered, nor can any good it has been permitted to perform be fully known till Christ returns in the glory of His kingdom, bringing Himself crown with Him.

In presenting this report your committee most humbly pray that the weak endeavors of this Society to hasten on that kingdom may be accepted by the King as done in His name for those who shall with themselves form the "one flock under the one Shepherd." The minutes of the past year show a steady advance in membership—six ordinary and three life members having been added, while subscribers for the Missionary Leaflet have increased, and the average attendance at the monthly meetings has been larger than in preceding years.

Early in the year the Auxiliary sustained a serious loss in the removal, by death, of Mrs. McEwen, of Lakefield, President of its Presbyterial Association. Her presence and excellent address at our last annual meeting will long be remembered. Truly her memory is blessed—her "faith let us follow."

In April Miss Taylor represented this Auxiliary at the annual gathering of the General Society held in Guelph. Her report, full, concise and interesting, well merited the vote of thanks accorded to it.

In May, Miss McGregor, lately a missionary, but now on furlough from India, accepted the invitation of the committee to visit this Auxiliary, and gave an instructive and interesting public address, which was well attended. The letters received from the resident missionary on the Assiniboine Reserve, Indian Head, N.W.T., to whom the boxes of clothing, etc., etc., sent from the auxiliaries of this and other Presbyteries, were consigned, are full of expressions of grateful thanks for the bountiful supplies furnished in 1887, and it is but fair to say that through the efforts of two or three indefatigable members, the Peterborough box will not fall short this year, one lady alone having collected a large sum of money, with which new material was purchased. This collecting is a work involving the "taking up of the cross;" but it will presently receive its reward

The resignation of the secretaryship early in the year, held for several years by Miss Haultain, called forth mutual expressions of regret at the unavoidable severance of pleasant ties. A successor was appointed pro tem.

The annual thanksgiving service was held in October, but for some unknown cause it was not as well attended as on former occasions.

The treasurer's statement will speak for itself; the funds, if not greatly exceeding those of other years, have an added value, inasmuch as voluntary donations have found their way into the treasury from unexpected quarters, such, for instance, as the sum of ten dollars ($10.00) from the Stewart settlement Sabbath school, for the which our thanks are duly offered. In reviewing the work of the past year, we may justly thank God for health and strength accorded, and for the inestimable privilege bestowed in being permitted to be "fellow helpers with the Lord Jesus Christ," and with so many of His devoted missionary servants and others, in the glorious work of spreading the knowledge of salvation to the ends of the earth. Our thanks are gratefully tendered to the editors of our local papers for sundry insertions and advertisements during the past year, also to Mr. Woods, caretaker of the church, for having, with certain inconvenience to himself, received and taken charge of the numerous boxes and bales of goods sent from other Auxiliaries for the Northwest mission station.

Before closing this report, it may not be considered out of place to mention the following encouraging facts concerning missionary work—facts gathered from reliable sources—facts that will surely lead to greater earnestness in prayer, and to the exercise of a firmer faith. They are these:—The adherents of the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ to-day outnumber the followers of of any other faith in the world. Christian missions number more than two million adherents on heathen soil, and at the present rate of increase will include twenty millions before this century closes. A hundred years ago there was no open field for the Gospel to enter the heathen world; to-day, practically the whole world is open; the sun has never seen a grander service than the mission field now offers, nor one to which culture and high power could yield so vast a blessing to the millions of earth's inhabitants. Luther saw no such golden opportunities; Paul himself fell on no happier days.

In conclusion, your committee earnestly pray that God's rich blessing may continue to abound towards us; that the harmony, activity and goodwill which prevail amongst the members of this auxiliary may ever characterize it; that the work of the Lord may prosper, and that great glory may accrue to Him whose Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and whose Dominion shall be to earth's remotest bound. And let our individual prayer be—

"Teach me to live! no idler let me be,
But in Thy service hand and heart employ.
Prepared to do Thy bidding cheerfully;
Be this my highest and my holiest joy."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HELEN HAULTAIN,
Secretary pro tem.

Church Chimes.

At St. Paul's church Sunday night Mr. G. M. Roger assisted the pastor by reading the Scripture lessons.

Rev. Geo. H. Dewey preached in the George Street Methodist Church Sunday morning and evening. His sermons were evangelistic in tone and delivered with his accustomed vigor and impressiveness. The subject was worldly amusements, and he proceeded to point out the objectionable pastimes from a Christian standpoint.

Rev. M. L. Pearson, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, preached anniversary sermons in Lindsay Sunday.

In St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday an encyclal was read from the Pope, commanding the churches to hold a special thanksgiving service on the last day of the year—the Pope's jubilee—December 31st. The service is to be one of thanksgiving for the many blessings showered upon His people by the Creator during the past year. At St. Peter's there will be the rosary, singing of the Te Deum and Tantum Ergo, and the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Rev. Father Conway, of Norwood, with the choir of the Norwood church, celebrated high mass at the new R. C. church at Havelock on Sunday. This was the opening service of the new church, which is included in Father Conway's parish. Rev. Father Dubie, of Peterborough, conducted services in the Norwood church in his absence.

Auction Sale.

The auction sale of crockery, china, glass and fancy goods will be continued on Water street, next Jas. Stevenson's office, on Wednesday, the 19th inst., afternoon and evening, and every evening until after Christmas. The balance of the immense job lot of useful crockery and glassware will be opened up and sold, together with a full line of Christmas goods, etc., making in all as fine an assortment of these goods as was ever offered in Peterborough in any way. As our regular trade for the next week will be far greater than we can handle at Chine Hall, we have decided on this way of dividing our selling power, and all those who cannot be supplied on George street will find a full and first-class stock on Water street from which to buy at their own prices. Nothing but first-class goods will be offered and if anything is imperfect it will be so stated before sold. Beginning Wednesday, the 19th inst. J. HAGGART, auctioneer. dw

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Clothe are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

THE MAYORALTY!

Address to the Electors:

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1889. In accepting this candidature, I have been influenced by various reasons.

In the first place, Mr. Stevenson openly declared last year that he would not again be a candidate for the position. He not only stated so publicly, but has repeatedly assured me personally that he would, on no consideration, consent to become a candidate for another term, and that, as another member of the council was anxious for the position, he (Mr. Stevenson) preferred that I should be the candidate.

In the second place, I do not think that it is in the interests of the town that any one man, no matter how good a man he may be, should occupy the positions of Mayor of the town, Chairman of the School Board, Chairman of the Town Trust Commission, and President of the Gas Company,—all directly affecting the interests of the ratepayers.

These different concerns involve a large expenditure of the people's money, and it is desirable, and it is obviously proper, that the necessarily conflicting personal and corporation interests that are at issue should be administered by an official, not personally concerned in getting the best end of a bargain at the expense of the town.

In the third place, I am opposed to the large expenditure in connection with the Collegiate Institute, of which my opponent is the foremost champion. I am not in favour of educating rich men's sons at the expense of the poor, but, on the other hand, believe that the most liberal expenditure of money is justifiable in maintaining and adding to the efficiency of our public schools. I am in favour of having the public schools brought to so high a standard that when a poor man's son is compelled to leave them, as he has to do at the age of 14 or 15, he may be thoroughly equipped with a practical education that will fit him for any business career he may see fit to enter upon. Those who wish to go higher in the educational scale have access to a provincial university maintained at the public expense.

I am opposed to the importation of outsiders to fill places of trust in town, when as good men, if not better men, are available at home. I could cite many flagrant instances of disregard of this fair principle, but have not space in this brief address to advert to them.

There are many other questions, such as the assessment of the homes of the middle class, to their highest dollar of value and placing a half assessment on the palatial homes of the wealthy, thus tending to the adoption of a policy for making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer; these are of interest to the ratepayers, upon which, if I receive the confidence of the public, I will always be found arrayed on the side of the people, as against cliques, corporations and monopolies of all kinds.

I need only to mention, in order to enforce the glaring impropriety of a parliamentary representative occupying the Mayor's chair. The interests of the representative, no matter how just and crying the needs of the town may be, will be directed as we have had frequent examples of, to the promotion of personal and family interests, leaving those of the town to take their precarious chances on their own merits.

During my past record in the council I have endeavored to stand up fearlessly in defence of what I considered just and in the best interests of the town, irrespective of any person, and if honored with your confidence I will in the future pursue the same course.

Hoping, electors, that you will show on polling day that you are opposed to one man being placed year after year in a position in which an opportunity is presented of advancing personal and other interests at the expense of the town,

I remain, very faithfully,
HENRY DENNE.

Peterborough Dec. 17, 1888.

TOPICS FROM THE CAPITAL

THE EDISON ELECTRIC LIGHT CASE ARGUED YESTERDAY.

Lumbermen Oppose the Request of the Park Posters for Increased Duty on Barrelled Pork.

OTTAWA, Dec. 17.—Argument in the Edison electric light case before Deputy Commissioner of Patents Pope was fixed for Wednesday next, but on Saturday afternoon Mr. Pope received a request from the counsel engaged in the case that they be heard to-day, they stating that they would be able to get through to-night. He assented and argument was commenced at 1.30 and concluded to-night. Messrs. Z. A. Lash, Q.C., and R. D. McGibbon appeared for the petitioners, the Royal Electric Light Company, and Hector Cameron, Q.C., and D. Macmaster, Q.C., for the Edison Company. Judgment was reserved.

A deputation of lumbermen waited on the Minister of Customs Saturday and urged that the duty on barrel pork be not increased as recently requested by a deputation from the Park Packers Association.

General Middleton has accepted an invitation to attend the Toronto Board of Trade dinner.

It is reported that Major Prevost of the 65th Battalion has been appointed A. D. C. to the Governor-General.

The contracts for the work of making the approaches to the Sault Ste Marie Canal were awarded Saturday. The western or upper section goes to Messrs. Allan & Fleming of Ottawa, while the successful tenderers for the lower or easterly section are Messrs. Ryan & Hanley of Toronto. The aggregate amount of the two contracts is between six and seven hundred thousand dollars.

Hon. John Robson, Provincial Secretary of British Columbia, left for home to-night. While here he had a conference with members of the Government on a number of questions affecting the province, amongst them the payment of the Skeena River expedition, the Alaska boundary, the placing of a revenue cutter on the Pacific coast and the appointment of county court judges.

It is understood that the law will be allowed to take its course in the case of James, the British Columbia murderer.

Sir John Ross, commandant of the British forces at Halifax, returned from the Pacific coast and had a conference to-day with General Cameron, commandant of Kingston Military College.

DEATH OF CANON O'MEARA.

Port Hope's Venerable Clergyman Drops Dead at the Railway Station.

PORT HOPE, Dec. 18.—Rev. Canon O'Meara dropped dead at the Grand Trunk railway station yesterday morning while waiting for a train. For over twenty years he had ministered to the spiritual wants of the congregation of St. John's Church here, and during that time he had endeared himself to the people of all denominations. A conscientious Christian with a broad faith that was too large for the restrictions of any denomination he, by his labors and sympathy, did much to further unity of endeavor among the Protestant churches of the town, and was ever foremost in any work that had for its end the advancement of Christ's church at large. He occupied a position in the hearts of the people here that only such rare characters can hope to possess, but his influence and usefulness had a wider reach and in the Synod of his church his kindly voice, and wise, liberal counsels will be sorely missed. He was nearly 80 years of age and had been a member of the Synod for 40 years. For almost 30 years he labored among the Indians of the Lake Superior districts giving to his missionary work all his wonderful vigor, among other of his achievements being the translation of the New Testament into the Indian language. His wife, the faithful help-mate of his missionary and rector's work, died a little over a year ago; his family are: Rev. Canon O'Meara of Winnipeg, Rev. T. R. O'Meara of Toronto, A. E. O'Meara, barrister of Toronto, and Miss O'Meara who lived with her father.

FIRES OF A DAY.

An Exploding Lamp at Brooklin Causes a Serious Conflagration.

WHITBY, Dec. 18.—Sunday night's fire at Brooklin was caused by an exploding lamp in the house occupied by Blacksmith Hooper, which, with his shop and contents, was destroyed. Insured for about $400. Spreading south the flames consumed the harness shop occupied by T. H. Watson, insured in the Phœnix for $600. McMarshall's tailor shop and house, owned by Thomas Morris of Oshawa, were also burnt; loss about $700, insurance unknown. The printing office and adjoining dwelling were badly scorched and the furniture damaged.

A Blaze at Windsor.

WINDSOR, Dec. 18.—Sunday evening flames were discovered issuing from the building occupied as a grocery store by E. P. Drouillard. The building and contents were entirely consumed. Loss on building, which was owned by J. Colby, $3000, with no insurance; loss on Drouillard's stock and fixtures $2200, he also being uninsured. Mr. Drouillard's family, who lived over the store, had barely time to escape from the burning building. The adjoining building, occupied by Mr. Drouillard as a butcher shop, was damaged $200. Origin of the fire unknown.

Belleville Briefs.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 17.—Dr. Wright, head master of the High School, fell while skating on Saturday and broke his left arm.

A 6-year-old daughter of Wm. Black fell in her father's house on Sunday and broke her right arm in two places.

A. F. Douglas, V.S., died Sunday night, aged 35. Deceased was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, which entitled his widow to $1000.

Mrs. Charles Nelon, one of the oldest residents, died yesterday morning, aged 80.

George Sibley, a vagrant, died yesterday morning in the jail, aged about 50.

It is believed that a man who was seen on Saturday struggling in the water near Cedar Island and whose cries were heard was drowned as he had disappeared when parties went to the spot to assist him.

The Herbert boys, who were drowned on Saturday, were buried yesterday in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Charles Gardiner, who stole $25 from his brother, was yesterday liberated on suspended sentence. At the preliminary trial the prisoner confessed that he took the money in hope of recovering money lost playing draw poker, but he only got the deeper in the hole. The proprietor of the hotel where the gambling took place was prosecuted for allowing the gambling but was discharged.

Kicked to Death by a Horse.

GUELPH, Dec. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Noice received the sad news from Drayton yesterday morning by telegram that their eldest boy, a bright lad of 14 years, had been fatally kicked by a horse while visiting at his uncle's, and was dying. Mr. Noice left at once on the morning train.

To Suspend Coal Mining for a Week.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—There is a movement among the anthracite coal companies to suspend mining operations entirely for a week beginning with Christmas.

$50,000 Lost by a Water-pipe Bursting.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 13.—A water-pipe running from the running from the pumping station to Fairmount reservoir burst last night and an immense volume of water poured through Division and Hanover-streets tearing up trees by the roots, cutting deep ravines and undermining buildings. The damage will reach $50,000.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

TALKING ABOUT SUAKIM.

LORD RANDOLPH RAISES A BREEZE IN THE HOUSE.

The Suakim Expedition—The Snowville Episode—The Czar Writes a Friendly Letter to the Shah of Persia.

LONDON, Dec. 17.—In the House of Commons to-day Lord Randolph Churchill asked what would be the estimated cost of sending reinforcements to Suakim, and whether it was the intention of the Government to impose the whole or part of the expense upon Egypt in the face of Lord Salisbury's speech of March 16, in which he said he did not think that the retention of Suakim would be an advantage to Egypt and advised the abandonment of the place.

Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, said it was impossible to estimate the cost. Lord Salisbury's utterance was merely a personal opinion in a speech made outside of the House of Lords. There was no reason to believe that the Egyptian Government intended in the opinion so intended to abandon Suakim.

Mr. John Morley described Sir James Ferguson's answer as extraordinary. He declared that it would be repugnant to the House to separate without learning whether steps would be taken to avert the threatened fate of Tewfik Bey and Mr. Stanley. He urged the Government to issue a proclamation to the great tribes stating that whatever happened Egyptian dominion would not be extended as far as beyond Suakim.

Mr. Gladstone said it was essential to determine whether the occupancy should be British or Egyptian. If it were Egyptian it would be mischievous, while British occupation was necessary. The matter ought to be submitted to the judgment of the House. He hoped was adverse to any occupation.

Lord Randolph Churchill said he regretted the resumption of a course which he had denounced when it was taken by the Liberals. He still he denounced it.

Mr. Chaplin and Mr. Beresford advocated the detention of Suakim.

Mr. Morley, in order to obtain a division, moved to reduce the vote for Embassies by £500.

The motion was rejected by a vote of 165 against 76.

Mr. Labouchere moved that a reduction of £5000 be made in the salary of the British Minister at Washington. He then censured Lord Salisbury for his delay in appointing a successor to Lord Sackville and for his unfriendly attitude toward America.

Sir James Fergusson said he regretted the tone of Mr. Labouchere's remark, and that it was impossible to enter fully into the matter now because it was only within the last two days that the Government had been placed in possession of the reasons for Lord Sackville receiving his passport. He denied the truth of Mr. Labouchere's assertion that there was a disposition to sneer at America. No declaration of an intention to delay the appointment of his successor until the new President was installed had been made.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt was pleased to hear the last statement. He urged that a successor to Lord Sackville be immediately appointed.

Mr. Labouchere then withdrew his motion and the vote was agreed to.

The Emin Relief Expedition.

LONDON, Dec. 17.—The Foreign Office has made public a series of despatches giving the history of the Emin Relief Expedition. These despatches show that England from the first had no direct communication with Stanley and never officially recognized the expedition. It is noteworthy that the most gloomy advices received by the committee from Stanley were despatched from Wadelai at the end of June, 1887.

The Arab Trenches Shelled.

SUAKIM, Dec. 17.—The Arab trenches were heavily shelled by the forts to-day. The Twentieth Hussars and two companies of the Fifth Egyptian Battalion have arrived here.

The Panama Canal Trouble.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—A meeting of Panama Canal shareholders will be held here at the end of the week. The [redacted] Chamber of Deputies has given rise to a threatening agitation in the provinces.

The Czar and the Shah.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 17.—A despatch from Teheran describes the report recently published by The Independence Belge to the effect that Russia had decided to send an ultimatum to Persia in regard to the difference between the two countries. The Czar has written a friendly letter to the Shah of Persia.

H. G. I. Barnett Committed for Trial—Jealousy Causes a Stabbing Affray.

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—At the Police Court yesterday Roland Gideon Israel Barnett was charged with fraudulently appropriating to his own use a $285 promissory note, the property of C. F. Bunbury, and with fraudulently converting to his own use two negotiable securities, of which he was trustee, for $5250 each, the property of the Central Bank. The Magistrate committed him for trial in both cases, remarking in the latter that if he were trying the case himself he would not hesitate to convict. Bail was granted in two sureties of $6000 each, but in default Barnett was locked up.

Pasquin Regia was committed for trial yesterday on the charge of stabbing another Italian.

At the meeting of the census committee yesterday Chairman Dodds announced that the figures so far show a population of 168,809.

The box at the door of St. Alban's, Lowther-square, for the reception of offerings for the poor, was broken open some time yesterday, and the contents taken.

The faculty of law in connection with the University of Toronto is now in shape, only the order-in-council appointing the lecturers being required and that will pass to-day. Yesterday the first lecture was delivered by Hon. David Mills on Constitutional and International law.

Dr. Bryce reports 23 diphtheria cases in Innisfil Township, all of which have been traced to Bradford. There have been nine deaths up to the present. A medical health officer has been appointed by the Board of Health and other steps are being taken for disinfection and isolation.

The Federation Sunday contributions realized $15,476 for the scheme. There is already a contribution of more than $150,000 towards the $200,000 which it is sought to raise in Toronto.

James Foley, who was charged with having feloniously wounded his young wife on Saturday morning last, elected yesterday morning to leave his chances in the hands of a jury. The deputy chief reported that Mrs. Foley could not leave the General Hospital on account of the severity of her injuries. He applied for a week's remand, which was granted.

Jealousy caused a rupture in the friendly relations between James Fletcher and John Hawthorne. A woman caused the ill feeling. The parties met in a house on Markham-street on Saturday night and quarrelled. In the progress of the scuffle Hawthorne was stabbed in the side, the blade of the knife striking a rib and glancing off, otherwise the knife blade would have reached a vital spot. Hawthorne bled profusely. Fletcher was arrested and denies having inflicted the injury. He will be tried on Thursday if Hawthorne is in condition to appear in court that day.

Yesterday morning a well connected and well dressed young man answered to the name of Henry J. Bysshe and listened patiently while His Worship read an indictment charging him with stealing certain articles, the proper ty of Thomas Woodhouse, his employer. John White was also accused of robbing Mr. Woodhouse, whom he served as a clerk. The prisoner elected to be tried by a jury and entered a negative plea. The detectives have recovered a quantity of the goods that are supposed to have been stolen by Bysshe and White.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

BLOODY BATTLE IN A MISSISSIPPI VILLAGE.

The Outcome of a Quarrel Between Blacks and Whites—Conflicting Reports—Several White Men Known to Be Killed.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18.—A special to The Picayune from West Point, Miss., says: News has reached here of a horrible tragedy enacted at the quiet little village of Wahalah, Miss., 60 miles south of this city on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Sunday night, when four white men were killed outright and eight wounded, three mortally, by a volley of lead from the hands of a desperate mob of bloodthirsty negroes. The only particulars to be had are as follows:

Some two months ago a white farmer living a few miles from the almost desolate village lost his gin-house, together with eight or ten bales of cotton, by a fire, which was evidently the work of an incendiary. Suspicion was directed to one or two negroes living in the vicinity with whom the farmer had some trouble. The officers in the meantime had been searching for evidence against the negroes, and at a late hour Sunday night, sufficient evidence having been secured, one of the negroes was approached by an officer, who demanded that he surrender. The negro became furious and horribly assaulted the officer, after which he made his escape. This outrage aroused the indignation of the few white citizens in the neighborhood who organized themselves to capture the negro. The woods in the vicinity were scoured but without result—not a trace of him could be found and it was decided by the posse to act in a body and surround his premises. They had proceeded only a few miles in the direction of the negro's house when from an ambush came a deadly volley. Fifty well-armed negroes composed the mob. After every white man had fallen to the ground the negroes dispersed. The horror-stricken people have telegraphed for aid.

Another special, from Wahalah, says that the cause of the riot was the killing of a negro in a quarrel with a white man, and that as the result of the disturbance, 12 white men and 150 negroes lie dead in the little hamlet.

Another Account.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 18.—The Picayune's Macon (Miss.) special says: Our people have been excited over the killing of Henry Maury, Cobb and Vaughan, three prominent whites, by negroes in Kemper, by negroes and the wounding of other whites. No negroes were killed or wounded. Twenty of our young men have gone to the scene of the trouble. The negroes are said to be well armed and assembled en masse and seem determined to fight it out. The trouble originated in two negro men whipping a white boy. It is feared there will be bloody work as the negroes are concentrated and nearly every town in East Mississippi is sending aid to the whites. The scene of the killing is about seven miles from Wahalah, hence no means of communication.

More Fighting in Prospect.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 18.—A special despatch from Columbus, Miss., to The Picayune says: Several gentlemen reached this city yesterday morning from Artesia bringing news of the wholesale slaughter of a constable's posse near Wahalah, a small station on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad near Macon, Miss. On Friday last a negro and a white boy got into a fight. The white boy's father attempted to separate them when he was set upon by the negro and terribly beaten. On Sunday the white man swore out a warrant for the negro's arrest and Constable Seth Cobb went to the negro's house to execute it when he was attacked by a number of negroes and beaten. He then summoned a posse of 12 men and went Sunday evening to arrest the negro. The posse were fired upon from ambush and five killed outright and six wounded more or less seriously. The news spread rapidly and the negroes were strongly reinforced. Wahalah telegraphed along the line for help and Meridian responded with about 75 well armed men. They were joined at every station and reaching Wahalah marched immediately to the scene of bloodshed. The negroes were barricaded and refused to surrender or give up the dead whites. At noon the forces were supposed to be about equal and what the result is, no one here knows. Yesterday afternoon news was received that the belligerent negroes have retreated to the swamps and are stubborn, while the non-combatants are fleeing to the woods in terror. Captain McDowell of the Columbus Riflemen telegraphed to the Sheriff of Kemper County that his men were ready if he should ask the Governor for military assistance. The telegram was not delivered as the Sheriff was not in town. Following is a list of the killed and wounded:

Killed—Henry Maury, Seth Cobb, Tom Nicholson, Bill Vaughan, Bill Hare.

Wounded—Frank Maury, Tom Giles, Bob Harper, John Dew, Jeff Thomas.

Troops Ordered Out.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Dec. 18.—Reports from the scene of the riot are conflicting. It is now stated that no negroes were killed but that 12 white men lost their lives. A special train left here at 1 p.m. yesterday bearing troops for the scene of the trouble.

Stock Thieves in Westminster Township.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 18.—For some time past the farmers of Westminster Township have been subjected to the serious annoyance of having their live stock stolen from their fields. About a month ago Mr. John Begg, of the 15th concession, sustained the loss of two heifers, and on Dec. 2 15 sheep out of a flock of 16 belonging to Mr. John Kerr were stolen. In the latter case not the slightest clue has been secured as to the thieves, and Mr. James Anderson and the Protestive Union of Westminster have offered a reward of $150 for their apprehension, and at Saturday's meeting of the Council this reward was supplemented by an additional $100.

A Crash on the Grand Trunk.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 18.—A Grand Trunk freight train, which left this city shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday night, broke in two when nearing the Cove. Attached to the rear end of the train was a pony engine, the driver of which, unaware of the mishap, put on steam when the grade was reached. The result was a crash, which was plainly heard in the city, and three or four heavily loaded cars derailed. No other damage was reported, and the track was cleared in a couple of hours.

Mcauliffe Beats Sam Collyer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—A six-round glove contest between Jack McAuliffe, the champion light weight of America, and old Sam Collyer the former feather-weight champion who fought many notable battles away back in the sixties, occurred last night at the Palace Rink, Williamsburg. Collyer was knocked out in the second round. Charley Johnson, the Brooklyn sport, acted as referee.

LOCAL NEWS.

A School for Ladies.

Mr. Duff has pleasure in announcing that, after the Christmas vacation, he will, in connection with his educational work, establish a school for young ladies. Mr. and Mrs. Duff will have the supervision over, and share the duties connected with the girls' work. In addition, they have secured the services of Miss Harden, a lady thoroughly fitted, both by education and experience, to further their aims in this respect. The daughter of a north of Ireland clergyman, Miss Harden was educated in one of the best colleges in Dublin, where, in addition to other distinctions, she obtained the medal of the Intermediate Education Board, and the South Kensington certificate for drawing. In this country she matriculated with honors at Toronto University; and has since been engaged in high school work, preparing students for entrance to Toronto University and for second and third class certificates. The subjects taught will include classics, mathematics, French, German, drawing, and all English subjects. The boys' work will continue as heretofore under Mr. Duff's direction. The date of re-opening will be announced later. 6ecd-2w

Saturday Night at the "Y."

The execrable weather Saturday evening was no doubt the cause of the small attendance at the "Y," but in contrast with the exterior atmospherical discomforts was the pleasant and joyous time spent in the comfortable rooms by the few who had faced the drizzling rain. An hour and a half was spent in cheerful social conversation, enlivened and diversified by parlor games and a musical and literary programme. Miss Gray read "Miss Maloney on the Chinese Question," and later gave a piano solo. Mr. Arthur Tebb contributed a song, "Italian Serenade," and Mr. Herbs. on read "The Singing School," by Will Carleton. The programme was brief but meritorious, the readings being especially good. Next Saturday night a Rose, Shamrock and Thistle programme will be presented, particulars of which will appear in Saturday's paper.

Exploring for Silver.

Two men from Midland City, the Campbellford Herald says, are at present in the neighborhood of Stanwood, Seymour township, engaged in blasting and digging in a cave near Chard's Bridge, at Crow River. These enterprising fellows are under the impression that this spot is the famous "Bleecker's Cave" about which so much has been said in the days gone by as being a rich silver-deposit. They commenced operations about two weeks ago, and have been busy prospecting and digging from that time to the present. A gang of men has been assisting at times in the work, one of the number being a resident of Campbellford. The prospectors are very reticent about their operations, and beyond what has been stated nothing can be learned from them.

Baptist Tea.

A tea meeting will be held under the auspices of the Baillieboro Baptist church, in the town hall, Baillieboro, on Christmas Day, December 25th. Tea will be served from 4 to 7 p.m. After tea, an adjournment will be made to the church, where a musical and literary entertainment will be given, consisting of addresses, recitations singing and music by the choir. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Messrs. Reddick, of Port Hope; Souter, of Cramahe; McOamus, of Fraserville; Huff, of Lakefield; Bennett, of Smith, and Jackson, pastor of the church. The chair will be taken at 7 p.m., by Mr. J. K. Stratton, M.P.P. Admission to tea and entertainment, 25c. The committee are doing their utmost to make this entertainment a great success. All are invited. Mr. John Riddell is chairman of committee, and Mr. H. J. Porter, secretary of committee. 1d1w

The Christmas "Globe."

It is not too late to refer to the magnificent Christmas edition issued by the Globe. Pressure of duties has hitherto prevented a careful and critical examination of it, which having been made was a perpetual delight and justifies the expression that it is the most meritorious special edition ever issued by a Canadian publisher. Its best characteristic is its destinctive Canadian tone. Its literary merit is of the highest order, approaching therein the best standard literature on holiday subjects. Its artistic merit is also very high, and the contributions of Mr. John Kelly, the talented young artist, are something to be proud of. As an example of artistic typographical work it cannot be surpassed. The Globe, as well as the public, have every reason to be proud of its capital Christmas edition.

THE GALT HOLINES CASE.

Six of the Heretics Expelled from the Presbyterian Church.

GALT, Dec. 18.—On Saturday the Session of Knox Church, Galt, and the Assessors appointed by the Presbytery, met here to take action in regard to the well known holiness case, referred to them to deal with by resolution of the Presbytery. The accused were all present with the exception of David Caldwell. They still held to their former belief and on motion of Rev. Dr. Wardrope, seconded by Rev. Dr. Middlemiss, they were suspended from membership in the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Caldwell's case will be dealt with in two weeks' time. On Sunday Rev. Mr. Jackson read the resolution, suspending six of the accused parties, from the privileges of Knox Church. They will apply to the Presbytery for leave to appeal to the Synod of Toronto and Kingston.

Customs Book-Keeping in the U. S. Treasury

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Some ancient history of legislation was brought to the surface yesterday by a bill introduced in the House by Congressman S. V. White of New York under the provisions of which he undertakes to correct the treasury books and dispose of a nominal surplus of over $29,000,000 which has long been carried from year to year in every treasurer's report as "unavailable," says Mr. White, most of it has not been in the treasury nor in the command of the people of the United States for more than fifty years. In the closing year of President Jackson's administration an act was passed providing that the surplus in the treasury over $5,000,000 should be deposited with the states in proportion to their representation in Congress, and accordingly there was distributed in 1836 $28,101,644 among the then existing 26 states of the Union. This money has never been called for through all the exigencies of hard times and the war of the rebellion, but has been reported as cash on hand during the entire time. The bill which Mr. White has introduced seeks to make the bookkeeping conform to the facts, by charging the cash in the general treasury with that amount and crediting it to the states from which there is no intention on the part of any person to attempt its recovery. There are also about $1,250,000 carried on the treasury books as cash which have been lost to the Government by default, failures of national banks, the confiscation of mints during the war and otherwise. These items Mr. White's bill refers to the Attorney-General with request for a report by Dec. 1, 1889, in order that action may be taken to dispose of them also.

Hyde Park Has a Whitechapel Fiend.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Now it is the women of Hyde Park who live in nightly terror. The wandering maniac, who has made two deadly assaults within the last week and is called by some the murderer of Eva Mitchell, is responsible for this. The women say he lurks around their houses at night, trying fastenings, turning door-knobs, rattling blinds, and peering in at windows with a horrible leer. Stories of his mysterious appearance and weird doings are on everybody's tongue up in Hyde Park. He came near killing Hulda Johnson last night. She gave the police an accurate description of the maniac, but the old sleuths of Hyde Park have not traced him. Many of the villagers aver a belief that he is the veritable Whitechapel fiend, but the detectives think he is only a crazy man, who has been affected by reading the Whitechapel stories.

Knocked Out by the Canadian.

NEWARK, Dec. 18.—A savage seven-round fight near Elizabeth took place last night between James Donnelly of Kansas City, a cow-boy, and McLaffin, ex-champion middleweight of Canada. London prize ring rules governed, and the purse was $200. Both men were in good condition. McLaffin had the advantage from the start, and punished Donnelly terribly, but the latter was game. In the seventh round McLaffin by a left-hander on Donnelly's jugular knocked him senseless. It took twenty minutes to restore him.

The Millers' Conference.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 18.—An important conference of millers is being held in this city. About 100 millers from all parts of the country are present.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

Leading Features of the Grain and Produce Markets At Home and Abroad.

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—The St. Lawrence market was flat yesterday. The supply was small and the demand poor. Prices were unchanged.

Only a few loads of hay were offered and sold at $19 to $21.

On the street grain market trade was very quiet. Receipts were small and prices steady. The sales were 100 bushels of wheat at $1.02 for white and red, $1.03 and $1.04 for spring and 89 and 90 cents for goose; 300 bushels of barley at 58 to 65 cents, and one load of oats at 36.

On the Call Board $1.02 was bid for No. 2 spring wheat, $1.05 for No. 2 red winter, and $1.20 for No. 1 Manitoba hard, with none offering.

PORK AND WHEAT IN CHICAGO.

In Chicago the bears continued the raid on pork for January delivery, which was so successful on Saturday. The market opened at $13.20, an advance of 2½c. over Saturday's closing price, and fluctuated between $13.15 and $13.22½ during the morning. The receipts of hogs on Saturday were larger than was expected, and the prospects for the large supply obstructing are bright. The bears evidently have the pull, and intend to keep it.

The American wheat markets continue firm, with a slight advance in the prices of all options. In Chicago December, January and May quotations show an advance of one cent over Saturday's prices. In New York the May option is the one receiving the most attention, the rise being about one cent.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Bearbahm reports:—Floating cargoes—wheat firm; corn steady. Cargoes on passage—wheat firm; corn steady; flour firm. French country markets steady. English farmers' deliveries of wheat during the past week, 33,033 qrs.; average price 30s 10d, was 31s 8d. Liverpool—spot wheat steady; corn steady.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Liverpool reports: Wheat, quiet; demand poor; holders offer moderately. Corn, quiet; demand poor. Spot wheat [illegible] No 1 Cal. [illegible] 6d; No 2 Chicago [illegible] 6d; No 2 red Western winter [illegible] 6d; No 1 Cal. [illegible] 6d; No 2 red

FOUR CANDIDATES CHOSEN

The Workingmen Nominate a Labor Ticket for Councillors.

A Digest of the Speeches—Grave Charges Made Against Members of the Council! The Electric Light Contract - The School Question Again Discussed — Several Speakers Run Foul of Each Other.

Another largely attended meeting of the workingmen of the town was held in the K. of L. hall on Water street Monday night.

Mr. GEORGE ROSE again occupied the chair and in opening referred to Mayor Stevenson's announced candidacy for the Mayoralty. The long list of names attached to the requisition had been pointed out to him, and he supposed they had all seen it in the paper. But the workingmen could have got just as as long a list as that if they had wanted to make any spread. He considered, however, the Mayor should step gracefully down and out. Referring to Mr. Dumble, he said he had it on good authority that the words he attributed to Mr. Dumble at the last meeting were correct, though Mr. Dumble denied them. Then, Mr. Dumble, in his corrections, stated that he (Mr. Rose) was opposed to the education of the workingmen's children. That, he (the speaker) wished to deny emphatically. No one placed a higher value on education than himself. But the school affairs of the town were mismanaged, and he blamed Mayor Stevenson and Mr. Dumble largely for it. Mr. Rose proceeded to point out where the Collegiate Institute was of no use to the workingmen. The average school age of workingmen's children was 14 or 15 years, in which time they probably went through the public schools, but after that only a very few of them were able to continue at the Institute. What was wanted was better public school accommodation, but instead of that they are clamoring for a Collegiate Institute. He said the real name of the scribbler who had been writing to the press on the subject was known to him, but, as all nameless contributions should be, he treated the letters with contempt.

NOT THE WORKINGMAN'S FRIEND

Mr. GEO. BALL referred to the cry of Mr. Stevenson's party that he was the workingman's friend; but if that were so, how was it, he asked, that not the name of a single mechanic nor laboring man appeared on the requisition, and why were none of them asked to sign it? It was the names of proprietors, and capitalists and "men of influence" they wanted, not workingmen. And not one of those men who signed the requisition ever got on a platform in Peterborough and advocated labor. These men looked upon the workingmen as of no use only for a couple of hours on election day; but if the laboring men would vote for their interests and not which ever way they were told it would soon be different. It was the duty of every true laboring man and mechanic to vote for the candidate of the party, the choice of the workingmen. Referring directly to the school question, he contradicted the statement that the workingmen were opposed to education. What they wanted was superior common school education for the direct benefit of the workingmen's children, and not that the workingmen, who numbered two thirds of the population, should pay taxes for the benefit of the rich men. The others wanted to put money on places of adornment—

A voice.—Luxury.

But the workingmen wanted it spent the way it would help them.

Mr. E. C. HILL and Mr. JOHN MCNAUGHTON made some remarks, the latter stating that he did not know whether he would be a candidate for councillor in No. One Ward or not, though 162 ratepayers had asked him to stand. If he did and he was elected he would always do his duty independent of any society. He didn't want any society to bring him out, because he would always do as he thought right.

ONE OF THE CANDIDATES.

After many cries of "Hartley," "Hartley," and applause, Mr. J. J. HARTLEY came forward and made an address, in which he pointed out that he had always acted conscientiously in the past and had worked for the interest of the town, where his all was staked. He vindicated the position of the council with regard to school matters, in which he said it had no voice, neither in the management of the Board nor the expenditure of the money. As a matter of fact the council had control of about one third of the town's funds. He only thought they would all agree with him that the present council has been an economical one, and had compared our low rate of taxation with that of Lindsay, Belleville, Port Hope and Cobourg. It was feared by some ratepayers that the school board was going to build another Collegiate Institute. He pointed out that they had not the power to do that until the people had voted upon a by-law and decided in favor of it; so they had the matter in their own hands. He also drew attention to the fact that in these things the school board were only doing their duty, as they were required by law, or the standing of the school would be lowered. As regarded his own position, he said he had always acted fearlessly and conscientiously in the discharge of his duties.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON enquired of Mr. Hartley why he voted against the petition of 672 ratepayers of the town, 75 per cent. of whom had as good judgment about appointing a policeman as himself? He (Mr. Hartley) had said at the time that the ratepayers sent him there and it was no matter what they thought. Mr. McNaughton considered it wrong that the interests of 9,000 people should be left in the hands of two or three such men.

Mr. HARTLEY replied that he had voted as his judgment dictated and because he had good reason to know that Mr. Adams was not qualified for the position at all; and he could satisfy any ratepayer that he would have acted just the same had he been in his place. He always voted for the interests of the people—

Mr. MCNAUGHTON—But you didn't do it.

Mr. HARTLEY—That is only your opinion—

Mr. MCNAUGHTON—Yes, and the majority of the ratepayers.

Mr. HARTLEY—You may think so, but I don't think your opinion sufficient to influence me to vote. (Laughter.) Continuing, he said he never voted on the line of policy as Mr. McNaughton did, in order to get votes. He was always ready to explain his actions to the ratepayers.

THE NOMINATIONS.

The following nominations were then made as labor candidates for councillors:

No. 1 Ward—Mr. Geo. Rose, proposed by Mr. P. McNamara and seconded by Mr. Ben Johnson.

No. 3 Ward—Mr. Adam Dawson, proposed by Mr. Wm. Hickey, seconded by Mr. Robt. McGregor.

No. 4 Ward—Mr. J. J. Hartley, proposed by Mr. H. Sherwood, seconded by Mr. J. Parnell; Mr. H. C. Stabler, proposed by Mr. Jas. Bogue, seconded by Mr. H. Sherwood.

The nominations were put to the meeting and declared carried without a contrary vote being asked.

Mr. HILL drew the attention of the chairman to the fact that one of the writers in the press had mentioned this matter in connection with the last meeting.

Mr. ROSE replied that he would take no notice of the scribbler's remarks. He didn't propose to let any man who was ashamed to sign his name to a letter dictate to him.

MR. HILL AGAIN.

The chairman asked for discussion, and Mr. E. C. HILL came forward and began a very lengthy speech. He contended that the council could not take much credit to itself for the good standing of the town, and entered into a fierce diatribe against the "upstarts in life," the "bloods" of the town, who looked down on the workingmen. For himself, he could say he was as good as any of 'em, and though they were trying to keep him and the rest of the common people down, he was the worm that was going to squirm and do his best to make a change in affairs. He cast scorn on the "dudes," and said: "take the laboring men of the town out and there wouldn't be enough men left to put out a fire—they would be too lazy." He urged the people to use their votes rightly and they would govern those who would govern them. He said some $50,000 was collected in taxes and nearly one-third of it is spent on the schools. Do you get value for it? he asked. (Several voices—No, we don't.) The workingmen, he said, paid for a school they did not use. He referred to the Collegiate Institute, and said: "I would throw Latin out into the gymnasium and Uslid (sic) into the woodshed, and go on the European plan—pay for what you get and get what you pay for."

The chairman, who had been nervously fingering his watch, urged Mr. Hill to "cut it short."

Mr. HILL—"All right, I'll quit if you say so," and then he sat down.

A LITTLE BREEZE.

But not for long. Mr. ROBT WEIR, from the rear of the hall, shouted—"Mr. Hill, how much of that $22,000 goes to the Institute?"

Mr. HILL—Well, it's all wrongly spent, and I object to the whole thing.

A voice—Go down and ask Collector Cumming.

Mr. WEIR (excitedly)—I ask Mr. Hill that question. It's the right of one ratepayer when another makes a statement to ask him any questions.

In response to invitations to come forward, Mr. Weir marched up, with pale cheek and flashing eye, and at once began a speech on the Collegiate Institute question. He put it this way. A workingman pays taxes on say $1,000 property, and just $1.10 of that went to the support of the Institute. Of the $22,000, the Institute, he said, received only $5,000 or $6,000 a year. He further proceeded to point out that the Institute was of more benefit to the poor man than the rich. The latter could send their children to colleges, but by means of the Institute the workingmen's children were enabled to compete with the "bloods," as Mr. Hill called them. He said the staff of the Institute was a good one—

Voice—You play too much with Mr. Rundle, though, Mr. Weir.

Mr. WEIR replied that a certain course of physical training was required by law, and the board had to get it supplied. They got this man very cheaply. There were other things called for by the Government, but because of the niggardliness and meanness of some of the ratepayers who did not want a good Institute, the Government grant was cut down to about $500. Now the board could borrow money and put the Institute in shape, and the extra money received from the Government would pay the interest on the borrowed capital.

WHO GOES THERE.

Mr. ROSE—What is the number of children going to that Institute?

Mr. WEIR—I think about 160.

Mr. ROSE—And how many of them are non-residents of the town?

Mr. WEIR—About one quarter.

Mr. ROSE—Well, how many of the children going there belong to workingmen—to mechanics earning $1.25 and $1.50 a day?

Mr. WEIR—There may be one-third. And the outside pupils pay $2.50 a month.

Mr. ROSE—But we pay all the taxes.

Mr. WEIR said that just showed that higher education cost something extra. In the old days when every man educated his own children very few of them got even a fair education, while by the system of today all helped to pay for the general education.

Mr. HILL—How many children have you going through the Collegiate Institute?

Mr. WEIR—I have none at present, but I sent four of them at one time.

Mr. HILL—How much taxes do you pay?

Mr. WEIR—Not a great deal.

Mr. HILL—Still you are on the school board and help expend this $22,000.

Mr. WEIR—Ah, here is a man opposed to a workingman acting on the school board.

CHARGING FAVORITISM.

Mr. JAMES BOGUE didn't believe in the council exempting rich men, such as Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Hilliard and others, from taxation when the poor men had to pay for this high school education. But if other towns had institutes he didn't favor doing away with ours. Referring to municipal matters and the town council, he said the only serious fault he had to find was with the Street and Bridge Committee. The Dickson Company were exempted and yet all lumber was bought from them but not by competition. Then the committee had dug the town well and incurred other useless expenses. He thought there was a "ring" in the Street and Bridge Committee, and it should be busted. Then he held the council should have published a statement of accounts Saturday night for the people to consider, but they had not.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT CONTRACT.

Mr. WM. HICKEY said he had noticed in that night's EXAMINER that at the council meeting Saturday night the question of electric lights came up. Mr. Hamlett wanted the council to sign an agreement there and then for five years for certain lights at certain figures, and, Mr. Hickey said, made the statement that he didn't know how he was going to handle the next council. The speaker thought there was something strange about it. It looked as if Mr. Hamlett was able to twist the old council around his fingers and was afraid he might not be able to do it with future councils. But Mr. Hickey protested against any such contract, for the simple reason that every day improvements were being made in electric light machinery, and probably in five years the light could be produced at half the present cost. The town should not enter into an agreement for more than one year. He protested especially against the actions of the members for No. 3 ward on the matter.

MR. HARTLEY made an explanation of the "statement" matter referred to by Mr. Bogue, (as given in the EXAMINER'S council report Monday.) Referring to the electric light matter, Mr. Hartley corrected Mr. Hickey's statement of what Mr. Hamlett said. The contract had been presented to the council but referred for consideration. As regards school matters there was no man who had any children (this with a meaning glance at Mr. Hill) but would like to see them well educated. Look at the past and see how many have been deprived of it.

Mr. HILL—You're taking against time now.

Mr. HARTLEY—I say I'm not. Mr. Hill is not a friend of the working man or he would not run down education the way he does.

Mr. GEORGE BALL stated there would be passed at the next session of parliament an act regulating monopolies. He asked Mr. Hartley as a councillor, in the face of this, would he feel justified in binding the people of Peterborough to any monopoly? Would he feel justified in voting for this electric light contract?

Mr. HARTLEY—Well, you may say they intend to pass that law, but you don't know anything about it.

Mr. BALL—I think they will.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE.

Mr. BOGUE here enquired of Mr. Hartley the cost of electric lamps and gas to the town, and was told $3,000 or $4,000.

Mr. BOGUE further asked the costs of the pads the councillors had got. He said they cost about seven times as much as they should.

Mr. HARTLEY said he was not on the printing committee and knew nothing about it.

Mr. BOGUE said he asked because there was an idea that some sort of collusion existed between members of committees and their friends.

Mr. BOGUE—Are you aware there was any councilman last summer had any interest in some of the town contracts?

Mr. Hartley was not aware of it.

Mr. BOGUE—I might say it was some councilman in No. 3 Ward who was said to be connected with it.

Mr. HARTLEY replied that there was a law that any councillor having a contract with the town, directly or indirectly, shall be unseated. He was not aware of any such thing, however.

Mr. BOGUE—I was told a certain member of the Street and Bridge Committee made all the bolts for one of those bridges.

Mr. STAPLES made a few remarks anent the school question, condemning the Institute as useless and saying he believed it cost the individual workingman more than the $1.10 for $1,000 property or 55c. for $500 property.

The chairman read from the EXAMINER, which had been handed him, the statement of Mr. Hazlitt at Saturday night's council meeting, after which the meeting dispersed.

Plea for Higher Education.

Mr. Adam Dawson has received the following letter from Mr. J. J. Wright, a Peterborough oltizen. As it deals with a matter now engaging public attention, it is reproduced:

Mr. Adam Dawson:

MY DEAR SIR,—I have just read Peterborough papers, with account of your Monday evening meeting, I saw with great pleasure the word you put in for higher education. Education on the line or the greatest good to the greatest number, ought to need no defence in these days. Even on selfish grounds workingmen ought not to say that our national education is for the rich instead of the poor. Every man, too, has a duty to his neighbour, for no man is doing his duty who liveth for himself alone. The tide of national life ought to bear up every man. Perhaps it is not a good time to form opinions during the excitement of an election campaign, but you did well to express an honest opinion in face of some whose partyism may have run away with judgment. Perhaps in sober moments men might think twice before blowing up every institution against which outcry is directed during campaigns. Mind you, I do not say our system is perfect—strange if it were. The great problem of the near future is how to unite manual labour with education. All honest labour is noble, and, though their calling be different, honest men's dignity is the same. Do you not think that levelling up in this matter would be better than levelling down? The man of ideas and the man who gives these ideas practical shape, in wood or iron or stone, are brothers. As to education, I think labor organizations would do well to direct attention to the establishment of technical schools, or the introduction of manual training as options, instead of Latin and Greek. A knowledge of geometry, perspective drawing and of architecture would make a better builder, surely. To a practical man this may seem visionary, but theory and practice are but two halves of the arch—one without the other is incomplete.

I wish you great success in your work of bettering the condition of your fellow men. Perhaps you will be surprised at receiving this, but when I read the account of that meeting, I thought I would like to greet you.

Yours very truly,
J. J. WRIGHT.

The Directory of Peterborough.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

DEAR SIR,—I notice in the Review of last evening a reference to some inaccuracies and omissions in the directory issued at the EXAMINER office. As the compiler of the names, permit me to say that the names published are as complete a record of the inhabitants of the town as it is possible to secure, immediately after the numbering of the streets, and it seems to me that the remarks made are not indicative of a too generous spirit.

Yours truly,
C. N. BROWN.

The Mystic Tie.

Visit of the Masonic Grand Master — The District Lodge of Instruction in Session.

Grand Master R. T. Walkem, of Kingston, arrived in town last night on an official visit to the Masonic fraternity of the Ontario District. He will remain over, and at this afternoon holding a lodge of instruction in the Masonic Hall on Water street, which will be continued this evening and to-morrow forenoon. A number of Grand Lodge officers accompany the Grand Master, as well as a good representation of the Masons of the district.

To-night the visiting Grand Master and suite will be tendered a complimentary banquet at the hall. District Deputy G. M. Shortly, assisted by the Peterborough brethren, has been assiduously laboring the past few days in preparing for this important event to the brethren of the mystic tie. The banquet to-night will be on an elaborate scale, and one of rare interest to the fraternity.

News Nuggets.

—Service in St. John's Church this evening at 8, instead of to-morrow evening, which was previously engaged for the Toy Symphony. A Bible reading will follow the service at 8.40.

—Chief Rossel returned to day from Norland, near Coboconk, where he went Saturday, to investigate a rumor that Charles Pope had been seen in the vicinity. He returned without finding any clue to the man wanted.

—A meeting of the Committee of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Federation League, will be held to-morrow, Wednesday, at 5 o'clock, in Mr. J. H. Burnham's Law office, (O'Meara & Burnham), to arrange for the visit of the President, Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., and others from Toronto during the vacation.

—Considering the inclemency of the weather there was a very fair attendance at the W. C. T. U. meeting yesterday afternoon. Arrangements for an Evening of Song by the Rev. Mr. Dewey, are being made, under the auspices of the W.C.T.U. and Y. Arrangements for sending literature to the lumbering men were completed, also for social to be held in their hall on Thursday evening next.

Personal.

Dr. E. G. Stratton, of Detroit, is home for the holidays.

Mr. W. J. Delaney "dropped in" to town yesterday on his way back to Montreal. He had been in Toronto, as representative of the McGill College to the annual dinner of the Toronto University Medical School.

Canada Forever.

There was a large attendance at the debate in the George street church Monday night between representatives of the Endeavor Society of the Charlotte street church and the Young People's Association of the George street church. Mr. A. Clegg occupied the chair. Before the debate a short programme was run through. Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Jones sang solos; a piano and violin duet by Mr. and Miss Jones, a recitation by Miss Gorman, and a duet, mouth-organ and guitar, by Messrs. Walke and Norton, were all well rendered and deservedly encored. Then followed the debate on the subject:—"Resolved, that Canada is a better country to live in than the United States." The patriotic champions of our country were Messrs. A. Tebb, Thos. Barrie and I. Richardson, while on the opposition was ranged Messrs. F. H. Dobbin, W. A. Dixon and A. E. Pearson, B.A. After a lively and interesting debate the judges, Messrs. W. H. Hill, Wm. Stock and J. Herbison, decided that the affirmative had won. The decision seemed to meet the approval of the audience. The return inter-union debate will be held in the Charlotte street church in about a month.

The Luck of the Golden Horseshoe.

Mr. H. LeBrun this morning received a registered letter from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, North-West Territory, which shows in effect the far-reaching value of the EXAMINER as an advertising medium, and the confidence its readers repose in the square dealing of Mr. H. LeBrun, of the City Clothing Store. The letter contained the cash for three suits of clothing. The writer says he saw the advertisement in the Peterborough EXAMINER of Mr. LeBrun's great clearing sale, and having confidence in Mr LeBrun, sends the cash and wants the goods forwarded in parcels by sample post, "as the Dominion Express Company do not come within 260 miles of here." Mr. LeBrun has reason to be proud of the reputation he has secured for honest dealing and superior goods. Here is a customer, 260 miles beyond civilization, sees the advertisement of a live business man in a live newspaper and forwards an order for three suits of clothing to be sent by mail! Mr. LeBrun's clearing sale has been, and continues to be, a great success because he gives solid values and first-class goods at low figures.

A Night to be Waited For.

Messrs. Rush Bros. will have their choice stock of well assorted goods ready for inspection on Thursday evening next, Dec. 20th. The public are cordially invited to call and see the best display of high class goods in all lines of groceries ever before shown in Peterborough. A Merry 'Xmas to all. d

Auction Sale.

The auction sale of crockery, china, glass and fancy goods will be continued on Water street, next Jas. Stevenson's office, on Wednesday, the 19th inst., afternoon and evening, and every evening until after Christmas. The balance of the immense job lot of useful crockery and glassware will be opened up and sold, together with a full line of Christmas goods, etc., making in all as fine an assortment of these goods as was ever offered in Peterborough in any way. As our regular trade for the next week will be far greater than we can handle at Odeon Hall, we have decided on this way of dividing our selling power, and all those who cannot be supplied on George street will find a full and first-class stock on Water street from which to buy at their own prices. Nothing but first-class goods will be offered and if anything is imperfect it will be so stated before sold. Beginning Wednesday, the 19th inst. J. Haggart, auctioneer. dw

A Delightful Entertainment.

Everybody is on the qui vive for the entertainment to be given in the Opera House on Friday evening next by the pupils—girls and boys—of the Collegiate Institute. A splendid programme full of life and variety has been prepared with great care, and all who attend will enjoy a decided treat. Fancy military movements, of clock-work precision; calisthenic exhibitions; thrilling tableaux; and inspiring music will combine to make an evening of rare enjoyment. 4d

LeGros' Christmas Boxes.

Mr. Charles Legros is not neglecting the demands of Christmas in his barber shop and tobacco store business. He has now in stock a fine display of plain and fancy pipes, cigar cases and cigar holders, fancy match cases and all other fine goods required by smokers. A new line of choice imported cigars. The finest brands sold singly or by the box. The barber shop is conducted in first class style. Hot and cold baths ready at all hours. Remember the place, 329 George street. d

A Very Good Idea.

To the public in general W. J. Morrow shows a very good way of returning his thanks by placing during the holiday season, only, his entire stock of groceries at cost. So those who are anxious to purchase their Christmas supplies will do well to call. Our sale is now going on. 340 George street dw

Barber Shop Closing.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Having seen in your paper of yesterday that the barbers of Peterborough have agreed to keep open their shops until nine o'clock during the winter, I beg to say that myself and thirteen other barbers know nothing whatever of any such an arrangement. So not wishing the public to be hoaxed we will be greatly obliged if you will contradict the statement appearing in yesterday's papers, as there has been no meeting or action whatever taken towards changing the present hours of closing our shops. Nor can I see how the hours can be changed until the by-law is repealed, as we are under the Early Closing Act. And I hope that, as the hours are long enough for those engaged in the trade, that the chief of police, whose place, I am informed, it is to look after the closing of shops under the by-law, will pay more attention in the future than he has in the past to our fraternity and kindly oblige those who wish to keep the present hours provided for by law. By publishing this you will greatly oblige,

Yours, etc.,
J. MITCHELL.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.00, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600.00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.00.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assur. risks.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$189,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	26,560 67	195,186 29	1,197,326 14
1880 to 1884, four years	126,976 84	283,254 31	2,922,924 00
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 80	475,977 24	4,022,373 86
Total in 1887	$426,531 54	$1,750,004 45	$10,372,777 00

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

VOL. VII. NO. 143. PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1888. PRICE TWO CENTS.

AUCTION SALE.

The Auction Sale of CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS and FANCY GOODS will be continued on Water street, NEXT JAS. STEVENSON'S OFFICE, on WEDNESDAY, the 19th inst—afternoon and evening, and

EVERY EVENING UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS

The Balance of the Immense Job Lot of Useful Crockery and Glassware will be opened up and sold, together with a full line of Christmas Goods, &c., making in all as fine an Assortment of these Goods as was ever offered in Peterborough in any way.

As our regular trade for the next week will be far greater than we can handle at China Hall, we have decided on this way of dividing our selling power, and all those who cannot be supplied on George street will find a full and first class Stock on Water street, from which to buy at their own prices. Nothing but First Class Goods will be offered, and if anything is imperfect it will be so stated before sold. Beginning Wednesday, 19th inst.

JOHN HAGGART, AUCTIONEER.

THIS COLUMN
Tells about the BARGAINS being Offered at
TURNBULL'S

Mantles and Mantle Cloths — Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for,as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season,we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods — We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds — Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery — Our hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be had.

White Grey Cottons — The ends our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

THE MAYORALTY!

Address to the Electors:

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1889. In accepting this candidature, I have been influenced by various reasons.

In the first place, Mr. Stevenson openly declared last year that he would not again be a candidate for the position. He not only stated so publicly, but has repeatedly assured me personally that he would,on no consideration, consent to become a candidate for another term, and that, as another member of the council was anxious for the position, he (Mr. Stevenson) preferred that I should be the candidate.

In the second place, I do not think that it is in the interests of the town that any one man, no matter how good a man he may be, should occupy the positions of Mayor of the town, Chairman of the School Board, Chairman of the Town Trust Commission,and President of the Gas Company,—all directly affecting the interests of the ratepayers.

These different concerns involve a large expenditure of the people's money, and it is desirable, and it is obviously proper,that the necessarily conflicting personal and corporation interests that are at issue should be administered by an official, not personally concerned in getting the best end of a bargain at the expense of the town.

In the third place, I am opposed to the large expenditure in connection with the Collegiate Institute, of which my opponent is the foremost champion. I am not in favour of educating rich men's sons at the expense of the poor, but, on the other hand, believe that the most liberal expenditure of money is justifiable in maintaining and adding to the efficiency of our public schools. I am in favour of having the public schools brought to so high a standard that when a poor man's son is compelled to leave them, as he has to do at the age of 14 or 15, he may be thoroughly equipped with a practical education that will fit him for any business career he may see fit to enter upon. Those who wish to go higher in the educational scale have access to a provincial university maintained at the public expense.

I am opposed to the importation of outsiders to fill places of trust in town, when as good men, if not better men, are available at home. I could cite many flagrant instances of disregard of this fair principle, but have not space in this brief address to advert to them.

There are many other questions, such as the assessment of the homes of the middle class, to their highest dollar of value and placing a half assessment on the palatial homes of the wealthy, thus tending to the adoption of a policy for making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer; these are of interest to the ratepayers, upon which, if I receive the confidence of the public, I will always be found arrayed on the side of the people, as against cliques, corporations and monopolies of all kinds.

I need only to mention, in order to enforce the glaring impropriety of a parliamentary representative occupying the Mayor's chair. The interests of the representative, no matter how just and crying the needs of the town may be, will be directed as we have had frequent examples of, to the promotion of personal and family interests, leaving those of the town to take their precarious chances on their own merits.

During my past record in the council I have endeavored to stand up fearlessly in defence of what I considered just and in the best interests of the town, irrespective of any person, and if honored with your confidence I will in the future pursue the same course.

Hoping, electors, that you will show on polling day that you are opposed to one man being placed year after year in a position in which an opportunity is presented of advancing personal and other interests at the expense of the town,

I remain, very faithfully,
HENRY DENNE.

MEETING OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

War Office Plans for Cipher Telegrams—A Deputation of Loan Company Managers Interview the Minister of Finance.

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—The Railway Committee of the Privy Council met to-day, Hon. J. H. Pope presiding and Sir Hector Langevin, Sir John Thompson, and Hon. John Carling being present. At the request of Mr. Germully, who appeared for Attorney-General Martin, the application of the Manitoba Government for approval of the plans of two bridges across the Assiniboine River at Winnipeg and Portage la Prairie was postponed until the next meeting of the committee, as the plans had not arrived from Winnipeg. The application of the Lake Erie, Essex and Detroit River Railway Company to cross the track of the Canada Southern Railway at Pelton and Colchester was granted, the two companies having agreed in the matter. The applications of the Canadian Pacific Railway for permission to cross the street railway track at London, and of the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company for approval of the plans of the first ten miles of the road from Richmond-street, London, were postponed until the next meeting of the committee on Jan. 4.

A copy of plans for cipher telegrams has been received from the War Office by the Militia Department.

Mr. Beaucsell, M.P., President of the Montreal and Maskinonge Railway Company, had an interview with the Minister of Railways and Canals to-day with reference to the payment of the Government subsidy earned.

The Militia Department was informed this morning that work on Quarters for "C" battery at Victoria, B. C., had been suspended, the appropriation being exhausted.

A deputation of managers of loan companies, consisting of Messrs. Cameron of Hamilton, president; Mason of the Canada Permanent, Buller of the Ontario Debenture Company, Tomlinson of the British Canadian and Lees of the Western Canada, had an interview with Hon. G. F Foster, Minister of Finance, this morning with reference to the class of securities now accepted by the Finance Department as deposit required by the Government. The deputation wished the minister to accept certain securities which are not at present taken by the department. The minister promised that the matter should receive attention.

Hamilton Presbytery Beings—Trades and Labor Council Officers.

HAMILTON, Dec. 18.—At the meeting of the Hamilton Presbytery to-day the call from Ancaster to Rev. Mr. Drumm was declined by him. A committee was appointed to report on the matter of the pastorate of St. John's Church. Having accepted the resignation of Rev. Thomas Goldsmith as pastor of that church the Presbytery placed on record their appreciation of his ability and faithfulness.

At the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council these officers were elected: Wm. Derby, president; Wm. McAndrew, vice-president; D. R. Gibson, recording and corresponding secretary; Fred Walter, treasurer. The remaining officers will be elected at the next meeting. A resolution in favor of a free public library was unanimously adopted. The council will meet in the Bricklayers' hall on the second and fourth Monday of each month.

The Hamilton and Milton road company yesterday afternoon notified their toll-gate keeper to discontinue collecting tolls until further orders.

Seneca Swazie, who was arrested on a charge of assaulting, cutting and wounding his wife, was remanded by the Police Magistrate to-day until Friday next. Mrs. Swazie, who was struck upon the head with an axe, was unable to appear. Her injuries are not considered dangerous, she having dodged the blow sufficiently to avoid its full force. Swazie is now in the county jail, and Governor Ogilvie thinks he will escape delirium tremens, which had almost overtaken him when he was arrested. He refuses to take any food.

CAPT. DURANT IN SARNIA.

The Alleged Opium Smuggler Denies Being Implicated.

PORT HURON, Dec. 19.—It will no doubt surprise many to learn that Capt. Harry Durant, the alleged smuggler who so cleverly escaped from Government officers near Port Hope, Mich., on Friday night, is now cosily located in the Belchamber house at Sarnia. Being called upon by a reporter, he denied having had anything to do with the smuggling. A couple of shots fired by the officers went uncomfortably close to him. When asked how he got away from Michigan, he said: "That is no matter. I will say this, however: I was on this side before they got back to Sand Beach."

"You must have taken a train?"

"Well, I might have met friends. I don't care to say how I came to get out, but you see that I am whole."

Durant would not say anything that in any way implicated him. He seemed somewhat worried over what some sensational papers said, and added that there was two sides to the story. He particularly enquires about the officers, and may have a big debit account against them for future settlement, at least for those who fired the close shots. He is satisfied the officers shot to kill.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Mysterious Shooting Case at Allandale—Only Slightly Wounded.

BARRIE, Dec. 19.—On Monday morning between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock, Lemuel Little, a wiper in the employ of the Grand Trunk, had occasion to go from the round house to the station. As he was passing the end of the blacksmith shop he heard the report of a pistol, and felt a sudden pain in his left hand, which began to bleed. He ran back to the roundhouse for assistance, and was taken to Barrie, where Dr. Wells extracted a bullet of 22 calibre from his hand. Search was made for the miscreant who fired the pistol, but he escaped, although footmarks showed where he had been waiting.

A $2500 Blaze at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 18.—Fire in Elvins' building, Front-street, this morning destroyed all the effects in Dorcland Smith's apartments, where it originated, injured the building considerably and damaged the stock in Elvins' grocery to the amount of $2000. Mr. Elvin's was insured for $1000 in the Western on stock and $1500 in the North British and Mercantile on building. Smith's loss is estimated at $500.

Prince Eugene's Obsequies.

TURIN, Dec. 18.—The obsequies of Prince Eugene of Favois-Cariguan took place to-day and were very imposing. The Duke of Aosta attended the ceremony on behalf of King Humbert. The cabinet ministers and distinguished persons were also present. The body was laid in the tomb of the royal families.

Tin-Cup Trotting Records.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—About twenty men, representing the National Association of trotting horse breeders, assembled in the Fifth-avenue Hotel here yesterday and endeavored to settle the much vexed difference between "tin-cup" records and those made in public contests by trotting horses. After hours' of debate the whole matter was referred to the Executive Committee.

A CONSERVATIVE VICTORY IN TH COLCHESTER ELECTION.

Disbandment of the Honorable Artillery Company—Illness of Gen. W. H. Smith—Mathematics Volunteers.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—A parliamentary election was held in the Colchester division yesterday to fill the seat made vacant by the death of Mr. Trevor :(Con.) Mr. Brooke (Con.) received 2122 votes, and Mr. Gordon (Gladstonian) 1699. In the last election the Conservative candidate received 1999 and the Liberal 1701.

The Honorable Artillery Company, the oldest military body in the world, has been disbanded. The Prince of Wales had become discontented with the manner in which the finances of the organization were managed and also with the lack of discipline which existed in its ranks. He had urged the members to abandon their charter privileges and become part of the regular volunteer forces. This suggestion was opposed by a majority of the officers and as a consequence the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Portland and others sent in their resignation, and forwarded a complaint of the condition of the company to the Queen. Her Majesty withdrew the company's warrant and the effect of her action is to dissolve the company as a military body.

The work and worry of the past few weeks have had an effect on the health of Mr. Smith, which no longer can be ignored. He has been frequently compelled of late to leave the House long before the debate was over. If he had not he would probably long since have broken down completely. He has frankly told Lord Salisbury that unless he derives considerable benefit from his sojourn abroad he will be wholly unable to lead the House any longer. It is an open secret that he has for some time manifested a strong desire to retire, and it is generally believed that the coming session will be unusually arduous and that Goschen, not Smith, will lead the Conservative party next year. If Smith be removed to the Upper House, as, all disclaimers notwithstanding, is more than probable, he will, like the late Lord Iddesleigh, be asked to retain the post he now holds.

Gen. Grenfell, in the first instance, early applied to the Government for about 200 cavalry to follow up the enemy when they had been dislodged, but the Government felt that to prevent a catastrophe it was best to let him have more troops than he applied for. They had ordered a regiment of infantry to proceed to Suakim when Lord Randolph made his attack upon the Government. They telegraphed to know if he was sure he had men enough, and seeing that it was their intention to send him further assistance, he applied for a larger force. The Government avers that their only intention is to drive the enemy away from the wells and protect them by putting them beyond the enemy's fire. In consequence of the delay in sending the reinforcements, it is just possible that it has given the Mahdi's troops an opportunity of fortifying their position, making it more difficult to attack. There seems no lack of professional enthusiasm among the British officers. Those who have volunteered for Suakim within the last few days may be numbered by hundreds. But as experience shows that small wars are the most fruitful of reward, it is not, perhaps, surprising that the desire should be manifested on the part of young officers to get out to Egypt. Many of those who have served in our little wars there are now wearing four decorations.

MERRITT BROKE UP A KENO JOINT

The Ex-Pedestrian Uses an Axe with Great Results.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 18.—Sam Merritt, who took second money in the Rowell-Leary walking match a few years ago, took the law into his own hands last night and demolished a keno joint. For a long time the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been trying to supress the gambling-places in the city, but have failed. Last Tuesday night Bob Moran's faro-bank was raided by the police, a number of players arrested and the "tools" of the gamblers seized. Sam Merritt is said to have been connected in some way with Moran's game. The complaint against Moran's place was made by one Hanson, formerly a member of the Salvation Army. Hansen found a ten cent piece in the Atlantic Hotel and played it at Moran's place. He left after winning $12. He returned and wanted to play again, but was not allowed to. Hanson then swore that "if he could not play, nobody else could." The next night the place was raided. Sam Merritt, it seems, thinks that Hanson was used as a cat's-paw, and the real complainant was someone connected with Andy Farrell's keno joint, on Middle-street. Last evening the tall pedestrian marched down Water-street into a hardware store and bought an axe. He was followed by his friends, and the party proceeded to Farrell's keno rooms, where Merrit chopped tables, chairs and everything else in the place into kindling-wood. No arrests were made.

Prosecuting-Attorney Chamberlain, asked if he intended to issue a warrant for Merritt's arrest, replied: "Sam deserves a gold medal. If he entered the place with evil intent, he is liable to be arrested for burglary. If he entered with good intentions, he is not."

Emin and Stanley.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—Mr. Thomson, the African explorer, writes that it is only too probable that the Mahdi has captured Emin Bey. He expressed unhesitatingly the conviction that Stanley never reached Emin, but was annihilated with his whole party in the region to the west of the Albert Nyanza. In this region, he says, there are dense forests and swamps, and Stanley and his followers must have had to march single file and to fight for their daily food. The absence of news, he says, is quite natural, because there is no slave or trade route by which an Arab merchant could carry the news. The disaster was wholly due to the selection of the Congo route. Why that route was selected still requires an explanation.

Mr. Troupe, the transport officer of the Stanley expedition, writes that there was not a single Snider rifle nor any ammunition for that kind of rifle in the whole caravan when it left Yambuuza.

THE CHARLTON INQUEST.

MEDICAL MEN PRESENT THEIR POST MORTEM.

The Bereaved Mother Tells of Her Wayward Girl's Fate — The Inquiry Adjourned—Toronto Topics.

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—The Lillie Charlton inquest, which had been formally adjourned, was really commenced last night, when the medical report on the post mortem was submitted to the coroner's jury. The two prisoners, Dr. Valentine and Ally Wilkinson, were in the courtroom with their counsel, Messrs. Murphy and Bigelow. Dr. Richardson, the jail surgeon, who in conjunction with Drs. Wilberforce, Aikins and Strange, had made the post mortem was the first witness. He submitted a lengthy document containing the report, which, stripped of the legal verbiage which bristled through the statement, in effect was that death had resulted from peritonitis caused by inflammation of the abdominal region. All the organs of the body, with the exception of those affected by inflammation, were in their normal condition and healthy. Dr. Richardson said he could not conceive that peritonitis could be produced by anything but mechanical injury, and he did not think that the injury would have been so great had it not been for the introduction of poison germs. Dr. Strange, who attended the deceased in her last illness, said that he was first requested to visit her by druggist John O. Wood, who said he came from Dr. Valentine. Her case was hopeless from the first. Mrs. Charlton, mother of deceased, said that two weeks before her illness Lillie told her she was associate Ally Wilkinson had been keeping company with Lillie since last May, and witness understood that they were married. He used to be at the house almost every evening. After the discovery of the girl's condition Wilkinson called at the house and told witness that he was responsible for her daughter's trouble, and would see what he could do. On the Tuesday week after that Lillie was taken ill. The coroner seemed to be under the impression that the witness was holding something back, and tried various arts and wiles to elicit the facts. At midnight the inquest was adjourned until the evening of Dec. 22.

At the General session yesterday the Grand Jury found true bills against Frank Miller, two charges of larceny; Walter Camp, larceny of $5 from a registered letter at Davenport; Pasquin Rugero and George Angelo, felo ious wounding; Daniel Farrel, receiving stolen goods; Donrill and James Jardon, receiving stolen goods.

At the Police Court yesterday Edward Rice was sent to jail for 10 days for stealing a couple of scantlings. Polly Brodin, alias Mary Patterson Hill, had her bail enlarged for another week, the Colonel remarking that on Dec. 26, he would commit her for trial for bigamy. The gambling charge against Phip Spohn was further adjourned till this day week. William McMullen admitted an unintentional overcharge in distress of $2.93, the complainant being Hugh McGilvray. The defendant was fined $10.35 and costs. Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, a faith curist, was fined $50 and costs or thirty days for practising medicine without being duly registered. A similar case against J. H. Stewart stands for a week.

Broker Baxter was again before the Master yesterday at Osgoode Hall and testified regarding his dealings with Cox and Campbell.

The storm over New Jersey yesterday was reported from the Observatory at 11 o'clock last night as then central over Cape Breton. It caused a gale throughout the lake and eastern districts, which was especially severe in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. There was a general snowstorm in Quebec, rain in the Maritime Provinces and local falls of snow in Ontario.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

Ten Cars Derailed on the Grand Trunk Near Clarkson.

HAMILTON, Dec. 18.—An accident occurred this morning on the Toronto branch of the Grand Trunk about a mile west of Clarkson, which blocked the road and delayed travel. A special freight left here at 4.40 in charge of Conductor Saville and Engineer Blackall. A mile west of Clarkson an axle of one of the cars broke, throwing it off the track. Nine other coal cars followed suit, and were piled up in a shapeless mass, blocking the track for a considerable distance. The locomotive did not leave the track. All the passenger trains from Toronto were sent around by way of Georgetown, and all of them were late. Nobody was injured. The loss will be several thousand dollars.

HAPPY ST. KITTS.

It is Said the C. P. R.'s Chicago-Niagara Falls Line Will be Laid Through the City.

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 18.—The Star to-day says that General Manager Van Horne has definitely decided to bring the main line of the Canadian Pacific road, from Chicago to Niagara Falls, through Hamilton, St. Catharines and Merritton. The location of the line between Hamilton and the Niagara River has not been finally arranged. The only favor the Canadian Pacific asks of St. Catharines is a right of way through the city.

The Government Inspector went over the St. Catharines and Niagara Central Railway yesterday. He stated that his suggestions had been fully carried out. The permit to run passenger trains is expected daily.

The Work of the Storm at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 18.—Among the accidents due to the severe storm of yesterday and to-day, which has delayed trains and played havoc generally, the most serious was the fall at 6.30 this morning of the large chimney of Roger's and King's foundry on Craig-street. The chimney, which rose about 30 feet above the foundry, itself 60 feet high, made a big jagged hole in the roof, breaking through two flats, smashing the central shaft and reaching the basement an enormous pile of brick, mortar and splintered wood. Had the accident occurred after the 150 employes had gathered the disaster would have been tragic.

Mill Improvements.

The Peterborough roller mills have been supplied with a new set of the Cochrane rolls, manufactured at Dundas, Ont., and new driving wheels. The improvements will just double the capacity of the mill, which now reaches 225 to 250 barrels a day. In addition to these, three new Dobson reels and one centrifugal reel have been put up in the second flat, and five whirlwind dust collectors. Besides this, there was all the new spouting, etc., in connection with these machines. The improvements were made under the personal supervision of Mr. Meldrum, and for just two weeks the mill was shut down while the work was going on. Last Thursday another start was made and the new machinery worked without a hitch. The mill has been running night and day since, stopping only for Sunday. Messrs. Meldrum & Davidson are a pushing firm. These recent improvements cost about $5,000, but they expect an increased business to repay them. This week they made their first shipment (five carloads) of flour to Glasgow since August last. Owing to the high price of wheat in Canada they could not ship flour to the old country market, where wheat was cheap, but since the drop in wheat they have been able to manufacture their superior flour at a cheaper rate.

Traitors in the Order.

Considerable excitement has been created in the Loyal True Blue Association over the traitorous conduct of two Toronto brethren, named Christopher Tuite and John E. Howe, formerly of Belleville, who became possessed of a degree ritual and the cypher of the lecture, and one of them wrote to several of the leading officers saying he had possession of the secret work and demanding $20 as hush money; saying that if he did not receive that sum he would have the secret work published in the Toronto papers. The officers refused his offer, tell him to go ahead and expose it, and he would find brains enough in the association to form new work. He went to all the newspaper offices in Toronto and was refused publication. The grand master then issued a circular abolishing all the secret work and called the secret committee together, and new work was issued at once. Tuite and Howe were promptly expelled from the association, and their names were ordered to be published. They belong also to an Orange Lodge in Toronto, but a charge has been instituted against them, so they will get expelled from that association as well.

Benafort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The meeting of the patrons of the Benafort cheese factory for the winding up of the business of the past season was held, according to announcement, on Thursday, the 13th inst., but owing to misrepresentation on the part of certain unofficial parties, the meeting was not well attended. Another meeting will be called in January to receive the auditors' report and to elect officers for the coming season.

DOMINION GRANGE.

Opened in Guelph—90 Members Present—The Master's Address.

GUELPH, Dec. 19.—The Dominion Grange met here yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Catholic Union Hall. There were probably 50 members present, Mr. Chas. Moffat occupying the chair. Mr. Glendenning acted as Secretary.

The Master's address was a lengthy one. It stated that the meeting in this locality was peculiarly appropriate, being in the midst of what was considered one of the best and most advanced districts in the service of the profession of agriculture and under the shadow of that great agricultural institution of our province which has and is still exercising itself with as much energy and with a large measure of success for the promotion and improvement of the agricultural interests of the country.

There were many laws on the statute books which they felt were grievous, and which they felt it their duty to enquire into so that the laws might be amended or abolished as the interests of their calling and the country at large. Through class legislation, other interests than those of the farmer who is the principal wealth-producer of the nation were able to absorb more than a just share of his labor. The master here drew attention to the unequal assessment and pensioning still obtaining, a class which, although largely in possession, while they themselves, if overtaken by sickness or the infirmities of old age, had to rely on their own savings for support. Nearly every important industry in the country was enjoying the benefit of helpful legislation, while the farmer was handicapped and discriminated against by railway monopolies and by an unjust system of taxation, and yet so intricately arranged and so carefully guarded was this legislation that it was almost impossible to follow up or to show exactly where or how it operates against the prosperity of the farmer.

He urged upon them the duty of getting the assessment law amended. He considered that professional politicians looked upon the farmer as their legitimate prey, because the farmer with his head filled with party politics shuts his eyes to his own interests and devotes his whole energies for the good of those who turn round and despise them. He asked them not to be ashamed to acknowledge and support any good measure irrespective of whatever political source it may emanate from, and to bring into exercise their moral courage.

He referred in suitable terms to the death of Bro. P. Darden, worthy master of the National Grange and a zealous worker and devoted friend of the fraternity. In conclusion he thanked the officers and members of the subordinate granges for their words of encouragement and hoped the meeting would be pleasant and profitable.

Matters of minor interest occupied the evening.

A JUVENILE PARRICIDE.

A Fifteen-Year Old Boy Kills His Father.

OLEAN, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Murder was committed Saturday night in the town of Hinsdale, seven miles from this city. The house where the crime occurred is situated in a bleak and lonely ravine in the Cattaraugus hills, three miles from the village of Hinsdale. Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Luddington, their son Harvey, aged 15 years, and several small children sat at the supper table about 7 o'clock Saturday evening when Harvey and his father got into an altercation as to whether millet was good for chickens. The dispute grew warm and finally the boy forbade the father threshing any more millet.

Upon the old man asserting that he would, Harvey threw a heavy chair across the table. One of the rounds struck the parent a terrific blow upon the left side of the head just above the ear and felled him to the floor. The chair was broken and Luddington's skull was fractured by the blow. He arose, whereat the boy began to kick him.

Mrs. Luddington bound up her husband's head and started for the door, intending to send for a doctor, when he boy forbade her and kicked her back into the room. The wounded man staggered down to the residence of his mother, a short distance away, sat down upon a sofa and fell into a comatose state from which he never awoke. He died at 6 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dr. Vincent, of Hinsdale, and Constable Bryant were notified and reached the house about midnight. The guilty boy did not attempt to escape, but surrendered himself into the constable's custody. He had nothing to say, and did not seem to realize what he had done.

Coroner Coon impanelled a jury yesterday and took the testimony of Mrs. Luddington and several other witnesses. Mrs. Luddington was very reticent, and did all she could to shield her son. She said she did not see him throw the chair, but supposed he did throw it. Ethel Luddington, aged 8 years, testified that she saw Harvey hurl the chair after her father.

Drs. Vincent of Hinsdale, and Sears, of Olean, held an autopsy and found that the blow fractured the skull and burst an artery, death resulting from pressure of blood upon the brain. The inquest was adjourned.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely Gone—Flesh a Mass of Sores. Leg Discharged one Third in Size—Condition Similar Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was afflicted with the painful sore that from my knee down to my ankle the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of sores. The doctors pronounced it a bad case. It discharged so much matter that the sore on the leg was one third smaller than the other, and I was in a helpless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded by my pastor, Rev. Mr. Thomas, and the best of citizens of Ashland, Ohio, to use the Cuticura Remedies. I used one set of the Cuticura Remedies, and at that time was pronounced by the physician who was attending me as completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bones (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, but slowly, and for nearly two years past, my leg, as far as the sore was, stood in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

E. C. ATKINS, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Terrible Suffering From Skin Diseases

I have been a terrible sufferer for years from diseases of the skin and blood, and have taken almost all the blood purifiers in the market, and been under the care of physicians, but have found no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have cured me and left my skin as clear and my blood as pure as a child's.

Municipal Matters.

To the Editor of the Examiner

DEAR SIR,—I notice in the EXAMINER of 18th inst., where I am reported to have said, in discussing municipal matters, that the Dickson Company was exempt, yet all the lumber used by the council was bought from them, but not by competition. I simply stated that the Dickson Company would have been exempt only for Mr. Henry Dunne, although that company received a large share of the town's taxes for lumber and electric light. My other remarks about lumber bought without competition had no reference to that company whatever. It was bought from Mr. Chas. Wynn, which, I presume, the chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee can explain, or the town engineer, who is disinterested in Mr. Wynn's dealings with the town and county. There is also a common report that more money was spent on the creek between Charlotte and King streets than was required, and that there was an understood arrangement before Mr. Langford was appointed to increase the value of the property of other councillmen, who find him a willing tool in their hands. The Street and Bridge Committee have charge of the largest expenditure of any committee of the council, and some independent person should have charge of that committee instead of Mr. Langford, who is virtually a servant of a number of the councillors who compose the company who bought the Deanestoun property.

Yours truly,
JAMES BOGUE.

Peterborough, Dec. 19th, 1888.

[The reporters of the EXAMINER and Review, understood Mr. Bogue to say that the Dickson Company was exempt, and it was so stated in each report.—ED. EXAMINER.]

Ashburnham Brevities.

The Rev. Mr. Cox is in the village canvassing for a magazine published in the interests of the Church of England.

Mr. John Moloney, of Douro, was in the village yesterday, bidding adieu to his many friends before his departure for Montana, for which place he purposes to start on Friday. His family remains behind for some time. Mr. Moloney has grand prospects for a bright future, having refused a salary of $900 from a man in Belleville to manage a cheese factory near that city.

Although the elections are causing an excitement in municipal affairs in town, everything is perfectly serene in the village, not even one aspirant for municipal honors having made his name public. The Roman Catholics have large interests in the village, particularly in connection with St. Joseph's Hospital, and may wish for a representative.

'Prentice Boys' Ball.

Jubilee Lodge of 'Prentice Boys distinguished itself last night by giving a grand ball in the Orange hall, corner Simcoe and George streets. The place was nicely decorated, and about fifty couples were present to enjoy the pleasures of the dance. Sherrard's orchestra supplied music, and a fine supper was spread at Roddy's hotel. The ball was a most enjoyable affair, and much credit is due to the following gentlemen who had the preparations in charge:—Committee—W. Sanders, J. Flanery, Wm. Lyons, A. Marshall, J. Ferguson; Floor Director—A. Jamieson; Floor Managers—F. Briggs, H. Sanders, H. Robison. The ball was gotten up to provide funds for the entertainment of the officers of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, which holds its annual session in next June. The officers of Jubilee Lodge will be elected Thursday night.

A Fraternal Tribute.

Before the weekly Bible-reading in St. John's church last evening, Rev. J. C. Gibson alluded feeling to the sudden death which took place on Monday of Rev. Dr. O'Meara. Full of years and energy, even at his advanced age, with a buoyant step and an eye of fire, the faithful veteran had been called—as doubtless he himself would have wished it straight from his post of active duty to rest in Paradise for Christ weary years. Dr. O'Meara had laboured long and faithfully, and his death would be deeply felt throughout the diocese.

The Late James Edwards.

The Death of a Gentleman Prominently Associated With Peterborough for Half a Century.

This morning James Edwards, Esq., one of our oldest, most prominent and most highly respected citizens, passed away at the age of eighty two years. The deceased gentleman had been fairly active and in good health up to within a few days of his death, though he felt the infirmities of age creeping on. Last Saturday he walked from his residence, "Rocklands," in the suburbs, to town and transacted business. At the time he felt the fatigue of the walk and remarked that he felt that the end was approaching, and, in spite of efforts to induce him to take a more cheerful view, he still retained the forboding that has been sadly justified. On Thursday he took to his bed. Up to the last two days he retained his mental faculties, comparatively unimpaired. Towards the last, however, he became unconscious to earthly surroundings, and this morning peacefully passed away without a struggle.

Mr. Edwards was a native of Scotland, having been born in Leith, in August 1806. He received his education at Portsmouth England. In 1819 he came with his parents to Canada, the latter settling on the banks of the Ottawa river, in the township of Clarence. Here Mr. Edwards remained for a time. Between 1820 and 1822, he accompanied the vessel containing the surveying parties determining the water boundaries between Canada and the United States, including the boundary in Lake St. Clair, which has engaged so much attention recently. In 1838 he came to Peterborough, with the intention of settling here. The journey was made by horse and sleigh, in the middle of winter; it consumed a week and was made at a time when the troubled state of the country increased the risks, dangers, and hardships, of long journeys in the early days of the country. In the following spring Mr. Edwards came to Peterborough to reside. At first he engaged in teaching at the Indian village, Lake Chemong. He afterwards came to town and engaged in milling and other business. He built the first three-story brick building in Peterboro, on Hunter street, opposite St. John's Church, since destroyed by fire. To show the primitive condition of the building art in town in those days, it may be pointed out that the third story was finished by bricklayers imported from Port Hope, the local mechanics, not being accustomed to work at such great heights, complaining of becoming dizzy and declining to work at such great risk. In 1857 Mr. Edwards was appointed town clerk, and held the position for twenty years, till 1877, when he was succeeded by the late C. D. Macdonald. He also became treasurer, in 1877, and held the position till it passed to Mr. McDonald in 1880. Mr. Edwards also held the position of inspector of weights and measures. He took an active part in the promotion of educational interests, occupying for some time the position of trustee on the school board. He made active efforts to make the provincial university free and, in many other ways, he exerted a large influence in advancing the intellectual culture of the community. Mr. Edwards was also secretary of the Little Lake Cemetery Co. from its organization till the time of his death; indeed the last business that called him down town was in connection with the affairs of that company.

In 1857 Mr. Edwards removed to his late farmstead residence, "Rocklands," on the western boundary of the town. In 1831 he was united in marriage to Miss Euphemia Cameron, and they lived to celebrate their golden wedding—in 1881. Mrs. Edwards died two years ago. The offspring of their marriage was seven sons and five daughters, one son having died in infancy. Of these, ten are living. The sons are scattered pretty well over the country. The eldest, J. W. Edwards, is on the Pacific coast, having gone thither in 1882. J. O. Edwards, is in Lindsay; C. H. Edwards, Toronto; E. B. Edwards and Geo. D. Edwards, town; D. C. Edwards, Inspector of the Citizens Insurance Company, Montreal—all occupying prominent positions of trust or responsibility in their respective places of abode.

In political faith the late Mr. Edwards was a pronounced Liberal, and in earlier days was an energetic and active worker in the advancement of Liberal principles and at a time when their advocacy was attended with more risk than reward. In religion he was of the Baptist faith. His literary attainments were of no mean order, he occupying for a couple of years the editorial chair of THE EXAMINER, during the proprietorship of Mr. Alex. Graham. For the past few years he has lived a life of comparative retirement in his pleasant home, "Rocklands," enjoying the fruits of a life of business thrift and enjoying the high respect of the entire community in which for half a century he moved a prominent figure, spending his energies in promoting its welfare in moral and material ways. His funeral takes place on Friday afternoon at 2 30 o'clock.

Personal.

Mr. Councillor Hartley has been appointed by the local union as their representative at the 23rd annual convention of the International Bricklayer's and Mason's Association of America, which meets at Cleveland on Jan. 12th, 1889.

The venerable and beloved Rector of St. John's church, Port Hope, the Rev. Dr. O'Meara, died suddenly Monday morning on the platform at the Grand Trunk station, where he had gone to take the train for Toronto, to attend a Synod committee meeting. His death was instantaneous, caused, no doubt, by appoplexy of the heart.

THE COMPASS AND SQUARE

An Important Gathering of Masonic Delegates

District Lodge of Instruction—Visit of the Grand Master—Large Attendance of the Fraternity—Banquet to the Grand Master.

The important event which has been awaited with interest by the members of the Masonic fraternity of Peterborough and the Ontario District, was commenced on Tuesday afternoon in the Masonic Hall, Water street. There was a large attendance of the brethren from the town and district, including a strong representation of prominent members of the craft from Oshawa, Port Hope, Lindsay, Omemee, Lakefield, Keene and other sections. The presence of the distinguished visitor, R. T. Walkem, Esq., Q.C., of Kingston, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, largely contributed to the interest of the occasion, and gave a special importance to the event.

The Lodge of Instruction was officially opened on Tuesday afternoon by R. Wor. Bro. E. Shortly, D.D.G.M. for Ontario District. The M. W. the Grand Master occupied a seat of honor in the East, supported by a numerous retinue of Past Masters and officials of rank and skill, together with a full complement of assistant officers. A general exemplification of work followed, throughout which great interest was manifested.

In the evening the attendance was considerably augmented. Actual work in the 3° was taken up, when the exposition of the impressive ceremonies by the officers of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges elicited marked attention. The elaboration of the work and the knowledge imparted was of the most valuable nature. The Grand Master was pleased to bestow high praise upon the efficiency of the officers and members, and gave the Peterborough brethren numerous expressions of his pleasure for their efficiency which he so frequently saw demonstrated during the session.

Banquet to the Grand Master.

At the close of the Lodge work the brethren sat down to a banquet which was provided in honor of the Grand Master. About one hundred Masons surrounded the tables which were laid out in the Chapter and Blue rooms. The scene presented was one of more than ordinary attractiveness. The luxurously furnished rooms lent a charm and brilliancy to the mystical surroundings. The tables loaded down with an abundance of rich and tempting viands were thickly decorated with handsome flowers and foliage plants; while the brethren gave ample evidence of harmony and vivacity during the evening. The spread was in charge of Mr. W. Bowman, and was pronounced an elaborate affair.

R. Wor. Bro. E. Shortly occupied the chair, having on his right the Grand Master, Wor. Bro. Dr. Boucher, and Wor. Bro. R. E. Wood; and on his left, R. Wor. Bro. W. L. Hamilton, of Belleville, P.D.D.G.M., and R. Wor. Bro. E. H. D. Hall. The Vice Chairs were occupied by V. Wor. Bro. H. Rush and W. Bro. Adam Dawson.

The Chairman proposed "The Queen and the Craft," which was responded to with appropriate honors.

The toast of the evening, "The Most Worshipful the Grand Master," followed, which was received with round after round of applause.

THE GRAND MASTER, on rising, said he was exceedingly obliged to the brethren for the very hearty manner in which his health had been received. He remarked that, having addressed them on several occasions during the day, he would not undertake to make many lengthened remarks now. He said the progress of Masonry throughout the world was most remarkable. Its genius seems to be entirely in accord with liberty. There was no organization in the world that has ever achieved such extraordinary progress. He claimed, therefore, that there must be something good in Freemasonry which enlisted such wide-spread sympathy so heartily. It included among its members the heir to the British throne, who was the present G. M. of England, and many other illustrious personages in England and in every other part of the world. The Grand Lodge of Canada was one of the most intelligent bodies in the world. The work of that body was a work of very severe labour, and the representatives sent there certainly did not have any "picnic" to enjoy when they went there. There was no time lost or talk wasted, but hard routine work was the rule. The work of charity in connection with the Grand Lodge was next touched on. Over $10,000 was annually expended in meeting the charitable demands made upon it, in addition to large amounts which were spent in other ways. The work of charity carried on by the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada was one of the most noble works of the Order. No demand ever was made of a worthy character which was not heartily responded to, and the lives of aged and infirm Masons and Masons' widows and orphans were being constantly blessed by the brotherly hand of relief extended to them by the Grand Lodge. After some further interesting references to the noted harmony and intelligent character of the members composing Grand Lodge, the speaker resumed his seat amid loud applause.

Song, "Sparkling Moselle," by Bro. J. J. Turner.

The health of R. Wor. Bro. W. L. Hamilton, of Belleville, was next proposed. He spoke in very warm words of the able representative who was present with them this evening, who occupied the Grand East, the highest position in the gift of his brethren, and paid a fitting tribute to his merit and ability. He alluded to the pleasure it gave him to be present with them at this Lodge of Instruction. He congratulated the Peterborough brethren on their magnificent suite of rooms, and expressed his surprise at the proficiency of the work displayed by them. He dilated on the delights of such occasions, where they could meet together as one family, free from the corroding cares of business and every day life—"away from the busy haunts of men"—with not even the turmoil of politics to trouble them. He also dwelt upon the high state of progress made by Masonry, and concluded an able speech by returning thanks for the compliment paid him.

A student's song was well sung and heartily received.

Bro. H. PIGEON, M.D., made a few appropriate remarks in reply to the toast of the "Grand Lodge of England."

Wor. Bro. R. E. WOOD proposed the toast of "The Visiting Brethren." He expressed the pleasure it gave the Peterborough brethren at having with them that evening so many representatives from the various sections of the District. He coupled the names of Wor. Bro. Hallet, Wor. Bro. Scott and Bro. Dench, each of whom returned their thanks for the toast, and the pleasure it gave them to be present.

The GRAND MASTER proposed the health of D. D. G. M. Benj. Shortly. He gave testimony to that officer's zeal and interest for the welfare of the craft and for his active work in his district. Bro. Shortly had been elected for the second time to the important office, which was an evidence of his popularity in his district.

R. Wor. Bro. SHORTLY returned thanks in an appropriate manner. He gave a brief resume of the work involved in his office, and showed that to perform the duties faithfully a sacrifice of much time and attention was demanded.

The CHAIRMAN proposed the "Governor-General and the Federal and Local Governments."

Bro. H. DENNE, in the absence of Bro. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., who had retired, briefly replied to the toast.

Bro. E. E. HENDERSON proposed the health of the "Past Masters of Peterborough," which was responded to by a number of the P. M's.

Wor. Bro. RANDALL, formerly of Oshawa, proposed the toast of the "Peterborough Brethren." He believed that all the visitors present felt as he did about the handsome manner in which they had been received by their brethren in Peterborough, and would ask them to give them a rousing bumper.

The toast was replied to by Wor. Bros. DAWSON and ROSS.

Bro. E. A. PECK proposed the Junior Warden's toast, "Happy to meet, sorry to part," which was followed by "Auld Lang Syne" and "God save the Queen," after which the gathering broke up.

Return Visit

Worth Thousands an Inch.

To the merchants of Peterborough at the present time a fall of snow would be worth a thousand dollars an inch, in the way of increasing trade. That is, to most of the merchants, but not to gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, for they make a business of selling boots and shoes at such marvellously low prices that snow or no snow the public rush to them. They can't stay away. The prices and goods draw them like a magnet. The goods are of the highest quality and the prices are the lowest in the world. Thousands have tasted of the sweets of gough bros'. low prices and there is a taste for thousands more. Splendid goods at 'Xmas-box prices. Don't waste your money on high price dealers but come to the philanthropists in leather, gough bros., 375 george street.

Neat and Complete.

The EXAMINER has had an opportunity of seeing the completed report of the evidence taken by Miss Harper, stenographer, in the Greenfield trial. It is transcribed by the type-writer and contains every question and answer during the course of the trial. The work is exceedingly well done, and shows Miss Harper to be a shorthand expert of the foremost rank. Such as she is as a practical shorthand writing, such is she as a teacher, and those desiring a first class knowledge of shorthand should secure her services. Her classes will re-open on Jan. 7th.

The finest brands sold singly or by the box. The barber shop is conducted in first class style. Hot and cold baths ready at all hours. Remember the place, 329 George street. d

Cupid's Query.

We have received the following letter with a request for its publication:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

Would any person of common sense
Believe it was only coincidence
When gallants three, with voices sweet,
Stopped on the pave of a certain street
And sang, with harmony's highest art—
The time being beaten with cupid's dart—
A song 'neath the window where reside
Three charming widows, side by side.
Yours affectionately,
DAN CUPID.

Attractive Furniture.

A peep into the north window of A. Clegg's furniture warerooms is enough to make any good housekeeper envious. A magnificent solid mahogany drawing-room suite, upholstered in velour silk plush, which quite eclipses anything Mr. Clegg has shown heretofore; also a beautiful screen with hand painted panels, and silk drapery, to say nothing of the beautiful pictures, and a hundred other articles that a look into the background reveals, including a large variety of chairs, &c., suitable for presents. 1d1w

Matrimonial.

The event of last week at Tweed was the uniting in marriage of Miss Frances M. L., oldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Prentice, of Huntingdon, to Mr. Wm. Watt, of Peterborough. Rev. W. Limbert, of Tweed, tied the nuptial knot. A large circle of friends and relatives were present to witness the ceremony; and the presents were numerous and valuable. The band from Tweed serenaded the company during the evening and joined in the wedding festivities.

Auction Sale.

The auction sale of crockery, china, glass and fancy goods will be continued on Water street, next Jas. Stevenson's office, on Wednesday, the 19th inst., afternoon and evening, and every evening until after Christmas. The balance of the immense job lot of useful crockery and glassware will be opened up and sold, together with a full line of Christmas goods, etc., making in all as fine an assortment of these goods as was ever offered in Peterborough in any way. As our regular trade for the next week will be far greater than we can handle at Chime Hall, we have decided on this way of dividing our selling power, and all those who cannot be supplied on George street will find a full and first-class stock on Water street from which to buy at their own prices. Nothing but first class goods will be offered and if anything is imperfect it will be so stated before sold. Beginning Wednesday, the 19th inst. J. Haggart, auctioneer. dw

A Delightful Entertainment.

Everybody is on the qui vive for the entertainment to be given in the Opera House on Friday evening next by the pupils—girls and boys—of the Collegiate Institute. A splendid programme full of life and variety has been prepared with great care, and all who attend will enjoy a decided treat. Fancy military movements, of clock-work precision; calisthenic exhibitions; thrilling tableaux; and inspiring music will combine to make an evening of rare enjoyment. 4d

A Very Good Idea.

To the public in general W. J. Morrow shows a very good way of returning his thanks by placing during the holiday season, only, his entire stock of groceries at cost. So those who are anxious to purchase their Christmas supplies will do well to call. Our sale is now going on. 340 George street dw

HOW CATARRH IS CURED.

Read the Evidence.

8 Clarence St., Toronto, Dec. 3, '88.
Messrs. Fulford & Co., Brockville.
Gentlemen,—I notice in your circulars that you are always happy to hear from those whom your medicines have benefited. I wish here to testify to the unequalled healing powers of your Nasal Balm. I have been troubled for three years by what the doctors call post nasal catarrh and have tried everything in the city that could be obtained, in the shape of catarrh cures and found no permanent relief from any of them, till a friend one day advised me to try your Nasal Balm, and I find that even one bottle has done me more good than all the medicines put together that I have prescribed myself with before. I was very much troubled with spitting and hawking, especially in the morning, so much so that my throat was continually in a raw condition, but am now beginning to know what it is to speak freely. I shall not fail to recommend it to any of my friends suffering from a like disease.
Yours faithfully,
T. D. D. LLOYD.

24 Daly street,
Ottawa, May 3, 1887.
I am pleased to state that the Nasal Balm has already relieved my catarrh to a very great extent. I have not used one bottle, but the nauseous droppings from the head into the throat have almost ceased. I breathe easy now; get better sleep, and altogether feel and appreciate the wonderful virtue of the "Balm." Its merits cannot possibly be exaggerated for catarrhal trouble, as a CURE I believe it to be GENUINE.
Yours, &c.
JAMES G. TENNET.

W. H. GABEL, Bowe Ont, Ont., says: I feel it my duty to write to you and report the result of my using Nasal Balm. I have been a severe sufferer from that loathsome disease, catarrh, and tried several remedies, but got no relief till I purchased a bottle of Nasal Balm. I used it according to directions and it has completely cured me. I take great pleasure in recommending it to all suffering from catarrh who come into my shop.
MR. THOMAS ROCHE, Rochefort, Ont., says: I have suffered severely from catarrh, and never got any relief until I used Nasal Balm. I never thought I could find so sure a cure. It is a pity all afflicted with catarrh do not know of and use this wonderful medicine.
Yours, &c.

Sudbury, Ont., May 8th 1888.
Messrs. Fulford & Co.
Gents,—I may state that I have been afflicted with catarrh for seven or eight years and it was attended by consequent symptoms such as foul breath, constant dropping into the throat, hawking and spitting, partial deafness, ringing in the ears, and sickening pain in the head directly over either eye. I have used powders and douches, but all to no effect, the only result arising from the use of such was temporary relief followed by the usual symptoms in a more aggravated form. The results arising from the use of Nasal Balm are: sweet breath, stoppage of the drop ping into the throat consequently less hawking and spitting, clearness of hearing, and not once since I began its use have I had pain in the head. In fact it is my opinion that a careful and persistent use of the "Balm" will effect a cure in the worst case of catarrh.
Yours truly,
ALEX. BURNS.

Messrs. Fulford & Co.
Gents,—For some years I was troubled with a severe case of catarrh, and was seldom free from catarrhal headache. I tried many remedies but without avail. I procured a bottle of Nasal Balm, and in less than a week my headaches had disappeared together with all other symptoms of catarrh. I believe Nasal Balm is a boon to all sufferers from this terrible malady. Yours
GORDON A. STARR,
Agent C. P. Railway.

CAUTION. The reputation achieved by NASAL BALM from its wonderful curative properties has induced certain unscrupulous parties to place imitations on sale closely resembling the style of our package, and with names similar in sound. Beware of all preparations styled Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for NASAL BALM and see that you get it.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths.—Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods.—We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds.—Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery.—Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be

White Grey Cottons.—The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value. Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

THE MAYORALTY!

Address to the Electors:

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1889. In accepting this candidature, I have been influenced by various reasons.

In the first place, Mr. Stevenson openly declared last year that he would not again be a candidate for the position. He not only stated so publicly, but has repeatedly assured me personally that he would, on no consideration, consent to become a candidate for another term, and that, as another member of the council was anxious for the position, he (Mr. Stevenson) preferred that I should be the candidate.

In the second place, I do not think that it is to the interest of the town that any one man, no matter how good a man he may be, should occupy the positions of Mayor of the town, Chairman of the School Board, Chairman of the Town Trust Commission, and President of the Gas Company,—all directly affecting the interests of the ratepayers.

These different concerns involve a large expenditure of the people's money, and it is desirable, and it is obviously proper, that the necessarily conflicting personal and corporation interests that are at issue should be administered by an official, not personally concerned in getting the best end of a bargain at the expense of the town.

In the third place, I am opposed to the large expenditure in connection with the Collegiate Institute, of which my opponent is the foremost champion. I am not in favour of educating rich men's sons at the expense of the poor, but, on the other hand, believe that the most liberal expenditure of money is justifiable in maintaining and adding to the efficiency of our public schools. I am in favour of having the public schools brought to so high a standard that when a poor man's son is compelled to leave them, as he has to do at the age of 14 or 15, he may be thoroughly equipped with a practical education that will fit him for any business career he may see fit to enter upon. Those who wish to go higher in the educational scale have access to a provincial university maintained at the public expense.

I am opposed to the importation of outsiders to fill places of trust in town, when as good men, if not better men, are available at home. I could cite many flagrant instances of disregard of this fair principle, but have not space in this brief address to advert to them.

There are many other questions, such as the assessment of the houses of the middle class, to their highest dollar of value and placing a half assessment on the palatial homes of the wealthy, thus tending to the adoption of a policy for making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer; these are of interest to the ratepayers, upon which, if I receive the confidence of the public, I will always be found arrayed on the side of the people, as against cliques, corporations and monopolies of all kinds.

I need only to mention, in order to enforce the glaring impropriety of a parliamentary representative occupying the Mayor's chair. The interests of the representative, no matter how just and crying the needs of the town may be, will be directed as we have had frequent examples of, to the promotion of personal and family interests, leaving those of the town to take their precarious chances on their own merits.

During my past record in the council I have endeavored to stand up fearlessly in defence of what I considered just and in the best interests of the town, irrespective of any person, and if honored with your confidence I will in the future pursue the same course.

Hoping, electors, that you will show on polling day that you are opposed to one man being placed year after year in a position in which an opportunity is presented of advancing personal and other interests at the expense of the town,

I remain, very faithfully,
HENRY DENNE.

THE DOMINION MILITIA.

MAJOR MAYNE'S SPEECH AT KINGSTON RAISES A BREEZE.

What General Middleton and Adjutant-General Powell Say About the Organization of a Standing Army for Canada.

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—Hon. P. R. Lowdey, M.P., who is here, has submitted a new proposal to the Government on the question of winter communication with Prince Edward Island. The Buctouche and Moncton Railway has been completed from Moncton to Buctouche, thirty-two miles, and the proposition is to extend the road eighteen miles to Richibucto Cape and to establish a ferry between that point and the west point of Prince Edward Island instead of the present route between Georgetown and Pictou. It is claimed the Richibucto and west point route presents several advantages.

Considerable comment has been caused in military circles here by the reported speech of Major Mayne of the Kingston Royal Military College, delivered during a debate in Queen's University, in which he is said to have advocated the establishment of a paid regular army of four or five thousand men in Canada and the entire abolition of the militia system, which he characterized as insufficient, incapable and wholly inadequate in its present shape. General Middleton, in conversation on the subject to-day, said: "This sort of thing must be put a stop to. Here are we, trying all we can do to make the militia as sufficient as possible, but our efforts are marred by officers who talk as Major Mayne appears to have done. The rules of discipline forbid the use of any such language as that quoted and policy requires that suggestions of the kind must be made in the proper way and through the proper channel."

Colonel Powell, Adjutant-General, also disapproved of the altered remarks of Major Mayne. He said that to maintain an army of four or five thousand men would cost twice as much as our pre-sent militia system. "We have no need for a standing army. The militia have shown that it is quite adequate to maintain law and order." It is understood that Major Mayne has been called on for an explanation of his conduct.

An order-in-council has been passed cancelling twenty-seven grazing leases in the Northwest, covering nearly 700,000 acres, owing to the failure of the leaseholders to comply with the Government regulations. In several sections, especially in the Calgary and Fort McLeod districts, complaints have been made that the leases were only held for speculative purposes, the ranches not being stocked as provided by the regulations, and the Government has acted promptly in cancelling such leases.

At a special meeting of the Licensed Hotelkeepers Association last night a resolution was adopted binding the members to refrain from selling liquor after hours or on Sunday, and providing for the prosecution of any member of the association breaking the rule.

The Department of Justice has been informed that the judgment in the case of minerals in the railway belt in British Columbia will be delivered by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council some time between now and February.

: FIRES OF A DAY.

Disastrous Blaze at Woodbridge—Loss Heavy—Insurance.

WOODBRIDGE, Dec. 19.—Our village was visited by a disastrous fire about 7 o'clock this morning, by which the printing establishment of C. T. Chancey and the tailoring establishment of G. W. Martin were totally destroyed together with nearly all the contents. The fire originated in the tailor shop while the hands were at breakfast and spread with great rapidity. Before the fire brigade and engine were on hand the flames had gained great headway. The printing establishment, which joins the other, was soon an easy prey. Wallace Bros.' general store being in close proximity to the burning buildings was saved from any damage by a continuous flow of water from the engine, which did valuable service. Mrs. Chancey, who was in bed in the up-stairs room, had a narrow escape. There was no insurance on either buildings or stock. Loss about $3000.

Hop House at Colborne Burnt.

COLBORNE, Dec. 19.—About 10 o'clock tonight a fire broke out in a large evaporator and hot house one mile east of here, owned by W. D. Bailey, resulting in the complete loss of the building and contents, partly covered by insurance.

Three Persons Burned to Death.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Dec. 19.—The house of Martin Requa, three miles north of here, was burnt last night. Two children of Mr. Requa and their grandmother, sleeping in the same bed, were burnt to death. Requa and his wife escaped but were terribly burned.

THE DOMINION GRANGE.

Reports of Committees Presented Yesterday—A Visit to the Model Farm.

GUELPH, Dec. 19.—There were about 75 delegates present when Mr. Charles Moffatt took the chair this morning. Committees were appointed on education, legislation, agriculture, good of the order, temperance, constitution and bylaws, home and subordinate granges and Grange attractions.

The Committee on Temperance reported, as did also the Executive Committee, the latter showing the standing of the Grange to be satisfactory. The report of the Committee on Temperance said that though the Scott Act had proved a failure they believed the country was ripe for prohibition.

Mr. W. Copeland delivered an excellent address. This was followed by a report from the chairman of the Committee on Legislation, Mr. Smith, M.P. for South Ontario, which will be taken up to-morrow for discussion.

A visit was paid to the Model Farm in the afternoon.

CANADA AND AUSTRALIA.

Principal Grant Interviewed at Winnipeg—Trade Relations—The Pacific Cable.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 19.—Rev. Principal Grant of Queen's University passed through here today. Speaking of the possibility of developing trade relations with Australia he said in spite of the fact that we have no means of communication by cable or direct steamship line some Canadian firms are finding buyers for their goods in Australia. The Canadian firms represented at the Melbourne Centennial Exhibition said they were doing a good business which was sure to increase.

The Doctor said that he had no doubt of the ultimate success of the cable scheme. The cost of a message now is nearly $3 a word, and each a cable as was proposed would bring the rate down to 75 cents. The feeling in Australia is strongly in favor of the scheme.

"There is an immense world," he said, "to be developed, not only in Australia but in the groups of islands which surround it, islands teeming with undeveloped wealth."

NEWS FROM OVER THE SEA

SENSATIONAL SPEECH IN THE FRENCH SENATE.

Rebellious University Students at Rome—Effective Firing at Suakim—Panama Canal Company Matters.

PARIS, Dec. 18.—In the Senate to-day during the debate on the budget, M. Challemel-Lacour said the present was not the moment to consider the French finances, but the future of France. He condemned the policy now pursued in the schools which he said struck at the root of the traditional principle of parental control. The main cause of existing evils was the radicalism which relentlessly pursued the old founders of the republic and gave promises that were impossible to fulfil. France had abandoned the most glorious of monarchies and was about to fall at the feet of the least of men. The cabinet's duty was to check the movement towards the abyss, but instead of doing this the cabinet was hastening the movement. It was time to return to a policy of good sense. He appealed to the Right to unite with the party of the Left, which was the upholder of order and liberty, and together save the country.

The speech created a sensation, and at its conclusion the senators arose en masse and enthusiastically cheered the orator.

M. Leon Say moved that the speech be printed and posted in public places throughout the country.

It was ultimately decided that M. Say's motion should not be voted on until the next sitting.

Premier Floquet remarked that the speech of M. Challemel-Lacour might be analyzed as an act of repentance and an act of good faith. M. Challemel-Lacour had urged that France should look to the Right for salvation.

Several Senators protested against this remark.

M. Floquet asked for a few moments, forbearance. Continuing, he said that he had not solicited the power which had been imposed upon him, but during office he had tried to effect a concentration of the parties of the Left. The Cabinet's policy had been wise and republican. In forming this policy he had introduced a proposal to re-establish single member constituencies in order to be able to continue the struggle. M. Floquet at this point suddenly left the tribune. This action caused general astonishment.

M. Say warmly approved M. Challemel-Lacour's speech. He said he regretted the reply made by M. Floquet, and declared that the Premier had not risen to the occasion.

A great uproar thereupon ensued.

M. Fokin defended the policy of the Ministry and contended that the whole evil was caused by the Conservatives refusing to adhere to the Republic.

M. Floquet announced that he would, if necessary, introduce new legislation to combat the Boulangist danger.

The House rose amid great excitement.

A DESPERATE DETROITER.

Attempts to Murder His Divorced Wife and Three Children.

DETROIT, Dec. 19.—Herman Luther a German 55 years old, made a desperate attempt to murder his divorced wife and three grown-up children at the Griswold-street entrance of the City Hall yesterday afternoon. He had been a spectator to the auction sale of some property, the proceeds of which were to be divided among Mrs. Luther and the children. The attorneys had just left to draw up the necessary papers, when Luther suddenly drew a revolver and fired a shot at his wife, the bullet passing over her head. Close to Mrs. Luther were her daughters Martha Luther and Mrs. Minnie Ruppel and her son Paul Luther.

Paul and the two daughters attempted to grapple with the assassin. He turned the weapon on his son and a bullet imbedded itself in his neck. Martha had an umbrella in her hand and with it struck her father's arm in the attempt to knock the pistol out of his hand. Like an enraged tiger he sprang toward the two daughters, but, seeing their danger, they ran swiftly down the steps screaming in fright, while the father sped after them.

Of a sudden Martha, panting with terror and exhaustion, slipped and fell to the sidewalk, and a bullet sped over her. He, seemingly, did not notice the girl's misfortune, but ran on after Mrs. Ruppel, uttering bloodcurdling threats. He was within a few feet of her with the pistol poised squarely at her back, when the crowd rush d upon the would-be murderer. Sheriff Littlefield and Under Sheriff Archer were early on the spot, and soon had the desperate man in the patrol wagon going towards the lock-up. The officers had no little difficulty in preventing the excited crowd from lynching their desperate prisoner.

"I meant to kill my son and the old woman," Luther said to Roundsman Cahoon at the Central police station. "They threw me out of my own house, and to still further disgrace me brought me into a court. Oh, God! I wish I had killed 'em both!"

Luther is 54 years old and his wife about 60. The shooting was the outcome of a chapter of domestic troubles. Early last spring Mrs. Luther filed a bill for a divorce on the grounds of cruelty and a decree was granted. Mrs. Luther did not ask for alimony, but insisted that a house and lot on Catherine-street which she and her husband owned jointly, should be sold, and the proceeds divided, as she had always contributed largely to the support of the family. The sale had just concluded when Luther made his murderous onslaught on his family.

Reinhold Bart, a laborer, had a narrow escape. He had stepped off from a Michigan-avenue car and was on his way to Whitney's music store when the second shot was fired. The bullet whizzed past his face and tore off a piece of his ear.

Young Sherman Keeps His Bride.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Mrs. Burn, the mother of young Mrs. Sherman, who had caused her son-in-law and the whole of his family to be indicted for conspiracy in depriving her of her daughter, asked leave at the last moment to withdraw her charge and stay the proceedings, being afraid of submitting her family differences to a public inquiry. Young Sherman, therefore, remains in undisputed possession of his pretty bride.

THE OUTRAGES IN ALASKA.

EVIDENCE OF WITNESSES BEFORE A U.S. HOUSE COMMITTEE.

The Company's Agents Said to Respect Neither the Laws of God Nor Man—Shocking Instances of Immorality.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Several of the witnesses subpœnaed by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries testified to-day regarding the alleged outrages in Alaska. Wm. Gavitt, a special treasury agent in the Seal Islands in Behring Sea, swore that the Alaska Company's agents at the Island in their conduct respect neither the laws of God nor man. They had furnished liquor to a number of women on the Island, not openly, but in an underhand manner. He could not say how it was brought on the island. Mr. Webster, the agent of the Alaskan Company, had said to witness that he would give liquor to the natives whenever he desired to do so. Witness had also seen cases of habitual drunkenness on the island. Regarding the natives witness said they were peaceful, law-abiding people, but there seemed to be dissatisfaction with the company's management of affairs in the winter time. The witness said that the whole island was a place of licentiousness from one end to the other.

Witness gave several instances regarding the charges of immorality against the company's agents. At one time a Mr. Eck said he would whip any Government officer who interfered with his business, meaning his business with women. Another case was that in which an agent of the company had declared he would break a man's head if he refused to bring his wife to him. Witness said that if he owed any apology to the Government, it was that he did not have Webster, the company's agent, shot.

In response to questions the witness admitted that the social relations of the natives on the island were peculiar and that the women were probably loose in character. He said he would rather serve a term in the penitentiary than go through again what he and his wife experienced on the island. Witness offered several affidavits which he said supported the statements he had made concerning the conduct of the company's agents.

Witness said the Government agent at the Island of St. George occupied a position like a whipped dog, and that he and his wife were constantly in danger of their lives and that they did not expect to get back to the United States alive. In cross-examination witness said that one of the seven employees of the Company on the Island he had had trouble with six. Speaking of Agent Webster he said he did not know of any agent of the Government who had not had trouble with him. George Wardmen, who was a special agent at the Island of St. George from 1881 to 1884, was next called. He said he never knew a woman or girl upon the Island to be outraged or a man or boy to be abused by any of the company's agents, nor did he ever know of a native woman in the company's house with one of the employees. Regarding Webster, the company's agent, witness said he was a querulous, dyspeptic old man with whom he had one minor difficulty.

T. F. Ryan, another special agent at the Seal Island of St. George from April, 1885, to 1887, was next called. Mr. Ryan attributed the lack of discipline and the loose morals on the island partly to the improper conduct and neglect of duty of some of the Government agents, which was in turn instituted by the agents of the company. The chief trouble with the company's employes was that they assumed too much authority, and seemed to have the impression that the company owned the island and the sea beside.

THE FLOUR OUTPUT.

Last Week' Production Little Over Half That For the Same Period in 1887.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 19.—The Northwestern Miller to-day says: "The mills running last week were seriously bothered during the last four days by low water and floating ice. On this account the output was kept below the amount that the mill in operation would ordinarily make. The week's production was 64,000 barrels, against 58,000 the week before, and 119,000 for the corresponding time in 1887. The water power is again poor this week and acts as an agency for keeping the output restricted to small limits. Low water and floating ice were especially bad during Monday and yesterday and few of the mills running could do much. These obstacles were somewhat less troublesome to-day and there were 10 mills moving, grinding at the rate of about 13,000 barrels daily. Two of them are using steam to some extent and a third would be running with the same kind of power had it not met with an accident. Next week most all the mills will shut down on account of the holidays. It is a question not definitely posted as to what has will be the full extent of production after Jan. 1. Stocks of flour in the country are evidently smaller than a year ago. The visible supply is rather larger on the Atlantic coast but is smaller in the interior. The invisible supply in many parts of the interior is notoriously small. How much is held by small dealers throughout the interior is at best largely a matter of speculation. Bradstreet's flour stock estimate of last week has been found radically wrong and has the past week been corrected, reducing the visible supply to 580,900 barrels from the statement a week ago. Most millers report the flour market excessively dull and say that they do not look for any change for the better until the holidays are over."

THE CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

Precautions to be Taken to Prevent an Alleged Contemplated Infringement.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—It was stated to-day that a movement has been discovered in this city to engage the services of a large number of laborers from the Canadian frontier to work in the United States during the winter, in direct violation of the Contract Labor Law. The movement was precipitated, it is said, by the "Border Horse and Cart Law." The attention of the Custom officials will be called to the intended infringement of the law and precaution taken to prevent it.

The Blockade Ineffectual.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The United States consul at Cape Haytien has forwarded to the State Department a copy of the statement dated Nov. 27 and signed by the consuls of Austria, Italy, Sweden and Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Germany, Spain, the Dominican Republic and the United States residents at Port Haytien, certifying that that port has never been effectively blockaded since Oct. 26, when a Haytian war vessel came in sight of the port for the purpose of blockading. The consuls state further: "That no steamer had been stationed off this port according to the prescription of international maritime law, but has always been cruising from here to Fort Liberty and beyond. We further certify that since Nov. 26 no blockading vessel has been seen in these waters, and we moreover certify that sighs barks and two schooners have entered Cape Haytien since the existence of this fictitious blockade."

The Reeves Decision.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—In the House today Mr. Edmunds introduced and had referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations the following:

Resolved—That the Government of the United States will look with serious concern and disapproval upon any connection of any European Government with the construction or control of any ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien or across Central America, and must regard any such connection or control as injurious to the just rights and interests of the United States and as a menace to their welfare.

Resolved—That the President of the United States be requested to communicate this expression of the views of Congress to the Governments of the countries of Europe."

A U. S. Flagship at Panama.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The United States steamer Trenton, flagship of the Pacific station, is now at Panama, with Rear Admiral Kimberly on board, and it is proposed to keep her there until all danger of trouble on the Isthmus is past.

Slight Earthquake in York State.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1888.

Mr. Earle's Questions on "Macbeth."

1. Discuss the character of Macbeth, and trace the influence of circumstances in developing the innate tendencies of his nature.
2. Show in what respects the Macbeth of history differs from the Macbeth of the drama.
3. What does the poet represent as the chief impelling motive to the murder of Banquo?
4. Sketch the character of Lady Macbeth.
5. Why is the murder of kings a very prominent subject in Shakespere's tragedies?
6. Mention the allusions to James I. in the play.
7. Explain the relative positions of Macbeth and his wife previously to the murder of Duncan, and illustrate the change which afterwards takes place.
8. Why is the character of Banquo represented in so favorable a light by the dramatist?
Contrast the Banquo of the drama with the Banquo of history.
9. Name other plays into which Shakspere introduces supernatural elements.
10. Did Shakspere intend to depict Macbeth as naturally prone to be the subject of illusions with regard to supernatural appearances, or as having been brought into such a state of mind that he was disposed to become the subject of such illusions; or did he intend to represent the various appearances as real? Discuss fully.
11. "The interest of Macbeth is not an historical interest. It matters not whether the action is true, or has been represented as true; it belongs to the realms of poetry altogether." Explain.
12. Should the Ghost in the banquet scene be represented on the stage? Give the arguments on both sides.
13. Sketch the characters of Macduff and Malcolm.
14. "The theme of the drama is the gradual ruin through yielding to evil within and evil without, of a man, who, though from the first tainted by base and ambitious thoughts, yet possessed elements in his nature of possible honor and loyalty." Discuss this.
15. "The witches are the supernatural beings of terror, in harmony with Shakspere's tragic period, as the fairies of the M.N.D. are the supernatural beings of his days of fancy and frolic, and as Ariel is the supernatural genius of his latest period." Explain. Name other plays belonging to each of these periods.
16. When does Shakspere use rhymed tetrameters? When rhymed pentameters? When prose?
17. "There is in the atmosphere a zymotic poison of sin; and the constitution which is morally enfeebled supplies appropriate nutriment for the germs of disease; while the hardy moral nature repels the same germs." Illustrate this from the play.
18. Gervinus thinks that "the weird sisters are simply the embodiment of inward temptation." Discuss this.
19. Why does Banquo first see the witches? Why does Macbeth "start" when he is greeted by them?
20. Explain the poet's conception of time in the speech of Macbeth beginning, "If it were done, when 'tis done."
21. Describe the artifices by which Lady Macbeth draws her husband on to the murder of Duncan.
22. What passage in the Porter's scene is almost certainly Shakspere's?
23. Account for the bad metaphors in the speech of Macbeth beginning, "Who can be wise, amazed, etc."
24. By what artifice does the poet, in Act III, prevent the necessity of bringing the horses on the stage?
25. "Is is the peculiar characteristic of Shakspere's heroines, that they seem to exist only in their attachment to others." Show from other plays that this is true.
26. "The last words of the witches in the opening scene of the play are the first words which Macbeth himself utters." Is there any significance in this?
27. "There is a line in the play of Macbeth, uttered as the evening shadows begin to gather on the day of Banquo's murder, which we may repeat to ourselves as the motto of the entire tragedy, 'Good thluge of day begin to drop and drowse.'" Discuss this.
28. "The Weird Sisters are as true a creation of Shakspere's as his Ariel and Caliban." Discuss.
29. What is the true reason for the first appearances of the witches?
30. "In the progress of the action, this piece is altogether the reverse of Hamlet." Explain.
31. State by whom, and on what occasion, each of the following was uttered:—
(1.) "Present fears
Are less than horrible imaginings."
(2.) "False face must hide what the false heart doth show."
(3.) "In the great hand of God I stand."
(4.) "Nought's had, all's spent,
Where our desire is got without content."
(5.) "Things at the worst will cease, or else climb upward."
(6.) "The grief that does not speak
Whispers the o'er fraught heart, and bid it break."
(7.) "The night is long that never finds a day."
(8.) "Throw physic to the dogs, I'll none of it."
32. Write brief explanatory notes on the following:—
(1.) "Whose murder yet is but fantastical."
(2.) "Unset him my genius is rebuke."
(3.) "Champion me to the utterance."
(4.) "Security is mortal's chiefest enemy."
(5.) "That two-fold balls and treble sceptres carry."
(6.) "Their malady convinces the great assay of art."
(7.) "Now minutely revolts upbraid his faith breach."
(8.) "Why should I play the Roman fool, and die
On mine own sword?"

A Polemic Challenge.

THE PARSONAGE, CHEDDAR, 4th Dec., 1888.

the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Some time since I published in the Toronto and local papers a challenge I had forwarded to the official paper of the re-organized Church of Latter-day Saints, published at Lamoni, Iowa, U.S.A. The nature of the challenge was a debate between myself and that paper on the truth of their theological teaching as compared with the Bible. The merits of the debate to be judged by two professors of divinity belonging to the Church of England and two ditto of the Latter-day Saints.

I was induced to take this step owing to an elder of the Saints coming into the back country to make converts for his church. I accused this elder of bringing a strange Gospel to people quite unable to answer his arguments. Wherefore he affirmed he would debate the correctness of his teaching before any audience I chose, either in Toronto or Peterborough.

I have just received a reply from the editor of the Saints' Herald, Joseph Smith, son of the Smith who said he found the "Book of Mormon," refusing my challenge. Evidently the son of the "Prophet and Seer" fears a thorough investigation into the truth of the Saints' teaching by competent divinity scholars. The Provost of Trinity University College, Toronto, had consented to act as one of the judges. It may be well for your readers to know the Saints' refusal to have their teaching investigated, and also well for the Saints that they have refused.

Morphine Smuggled Into the Jail by Dr. Valentine—Educational Conference.

TORONTO, Dec. 20.—The authorities of the Toronto jail are taking particular precautions against any poison or fatal drug of any character whatever reaching Dr. Valentine, at present held for the murder of Lillie Charlton. The cause of this extra care arises from the fact that on two different occasions, while under confinement in the jail, packages of morphine were found on his person. How or where he got the drug, or for what purpose, remains a mystery.

In the General Sessions yesterday the case of Thomas Smith and William Telford, accused of gross immorality, was tried and the jury, after being out 6 hours, returned a verdict of not guilty. William Mathers, charged with having assaulted Constable Lougheed, was found guilty of common assault and fined $10. William Alderdice was tried on the charge of having stolen a watch, chain, lockets and some rings from Sarah Zufelt of 763 Queen-street west. He proved an alibi and was acquitted. Frank Miller pleaded guilty to having stolen a cap from Alexander Woods and dress from Annie Palmer. James E. Beatty, the ex-letter carrier convicted a week ago of having stolen a money letter, was arraigned on two other charges, but the Crown offering no evidence he was discharged on these charges. Peter Green was placed on trial for having obstructed Inspector Stephen and other police officers in the discharge of their duty while searching for liquor in his eating house on York-street. He was found guilty and let go on his own bail to appear this morning.

The examination for admission into Collegiate Institutes and High Schools commenced yesterday. About 150 candidates were in attendance.

The trustees of the Central Bank proceedings at Osgoode Hall was slightly relieved yesterday by the interesting evidence that Edward Strachan Cox gave when persistently pressed with pertinent questions. Mr. Cox stated that he had known Campbell for years and was under him at the Royal Canadian Bank at one time. He was a broker and he (witness) knew nothing about him in connection with the Central Bank. A mild sensation was produced by the statement that Baxter wanted some discounts at the Central Bank, which Allen refused. Baxter had in his possession a bundle of letters to Roland Gideon Israel Barnett from Allen, which Allen wanted to get hold of, and he told Cox that if Baxter would deliver up to him these letters he would give him the discounts. In one of the letters Allen said to Barnett that his gripsack was packed and he was ready to skip out. The letters to Barnett from Allen were very compromising. Baxter's original price for these letters was $100,000. Cox got the letters from Baxter, gave them to Allen, and then gave the four deposit receipts of $10,000 each, for which Baxter gave his notes. That was the inception of the whole affair.

In the Police Court yesterday John Crowley was fined $30 and costs for assaulting his wife. The pair do not live together, and Mrs. Crowley's offence consisted in her going to her husband's room and asking for a couple of dollars to help support his children. W. F. Maclean pleaded not guilty to libelling M. A. Massey, and the case was set for Dec. 28.

In accordance with a circular issued by Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education, inviting the attendance of manufacturers, skilled mechanics and others to attend a conference to discuss the advisability of establishing in the school of Practical Science full courses of instruction in applied chemistry, applied mechanics and architecture, there was a well attended meeting of prominent citizens in the Normal School lecture room yesterday afternoon. The Minister of Education was in the chair and read an address, giving the opinions and knowledge he had derived from a visit to the United States. The theoretical teaching there was good, but not exactly what was wanted here. Across the border, however, a vast deal of enthusiasm was manifested in technical instruction and a great deal of money was invested in schools there. In conclusion he spoke of the great need in Ontario for instruction in technical knowledge. Mr. William Poison, Sir Daniel Wilson, Mr. Leonard of London, Mr. Inglis, Mr. Edward Gurney, Mr. J. J. Withrow and others spoke on the same theme in its various phases, and this resolution moved by Rev. Dr. Wild, and seconded by Mr. Gurney, was adopted: "That we express our gratitude to Mr. Ross for calling this council and trust he will receive the support and sympathy of the country."

CHOSE DEATH ON THE RAIL.

One Because He Had a Wife, and the Other Because He Had Lost One.

ELIZABETH, Dec. 20.—Rocha Bolonna, an Italian, killed himself on Sunday night in Raritan. He and his wife had quarrelled because he was out of work. He stepped from her side as they were walking near the track, coolly laid his neck on the rail before a rushing train, and was beheaded.

PLAINFIELD, Dec. 20.—Andrew Phrem, a shoemaker in Bound Brook, who had become insane over the double misfortune of losing his wife by death and his store by fire, killed himself on Saturday. Earlier that day he got in the way of an approaching train, but was quickly hustled out of danger. A little later he succeeded in being cut to pieces by a locomotive. He leaves six children.

A Murderous Brawl.

FAIRBAY, Dec. 20.—A desperate fight occurred here on Saturday night in which twenty men took part. Pistols, knives, clubs and stones were freely used. Every one who engaged in the fight was more or less seriously hurt. A Spaniard named Leon da Colmia was shot in the head and is dying. A young man named Campbell is also dying of his injuries. The cause of the fight is hard to discover.

HALIFAX, Dec. 20.—A. R. Dickey, Liberal-Conservative, and E. B. Eisenhardt, Third Party, were nominated in Cumberland yesterday.

Charged With Murder.

BOSTON, Dec. 18.—Thomas Mullen was today arrested charged with the murder of his wife yesterday. An autopsy showed that the woman died from accidental poisoning.

THE MAYORALTY.

In another column of this issue appears the address to the electors of Mr. Henry Denne, who announces himself as a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1889. Mr. Denne, in his address, deals with several subjects and his position on them is so distinctly defined that the electors are fully placed in possession of his sentiments. Mr. Denne's past record in connection with municipal matters is before the people, and this, taken in connection with his address, gives the electors ample opportunity of deciding upon his claims to their support.

West Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers—Arranging for Future Meetings.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held in the council chamber on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., was voted into the chair and explained the objects of the meeting. He hoped the farmers of the riding would interest themselves in the success of the Institute. All other classes in life had their organizations, and the farming community should avail themselves of the advantages offered at these Institute meetings for adding to their knowledge of their profession.

The minutes of the previous meetings were approved of.

The Treasurer, Mr. John Stothart, stated that the receipts for the past year amounted to $33. The accounts paid were $30, leaving with the government and county grants a balance of $53.00 cash, out of which perhaps $5 of accounts yet remained to be paid. This showed the financial standing of the Institute to be in a good condition.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

PRESIDENT.—Mr. Dawson Kennedy.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.—Messrs H. C. Garbutt, R. D. Dundas and Jos. Tully.

SECRETARY.—Mr. John A. Davidson.

TREASURER.—Mr. John Stothart.

DIRECTORS.—Messrs. John Riddell, Hugh Davidson, Wm. Collins, G. J. Galvin, James Baptie, M. K. Sanderson, T. N. Willan, T. E. Bell, J. J. Bennet, Jos. Barnard and John Mooney.

AUDITORS FOR 1888.—Messrs. Hugh Davidson, T. E. Bell.

AUDITORS FOR 1889.—Messrs. John Garbutt and F. J. Bell.

It was moved by Mr. Collins, seconded by Mr. Dundas, that five directors and the President constitute a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors.—Carried.

PRESIDENT'S THANKS.

Mr. Stratton retired and called upon the newly elected President to take the chair. President Kennedy thanked the gentlemen for the honor conferred upon him in electing him to the office, and hoped they would have successful meetings and that the farmers would interest themselves in the Institute.

A resolution of thanks was moved to the retiring President, Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, and to Mr. J. R. Stratton, and was duly acknowledged.

On motion of Mr. Collins, seconded by Mr. Hugh Davidson, thanks were also tendered the press for their able reports of the last Institute meetings.

It was moved by Mr Stratton, seconded by Mr. Garbutt, that the secretary be instructed to communicate with Prof. Mills, of the Ontario Agricultural College, and Prof. Saunders, of the Dominion Experimental Farm, with a view to securing their assistance at a series of meetings to be held in January and February; and that a meeting of the directors be held in the council chamber on Saturday next, 29th Dec., to complete necessary arrangements and to prepare a programme for the first meeting.—Carried.

All the gentlemen present then paid their membership fees of 25c. each, and the meeting adjourned.

It will pay you to put in a supply of Note Paper and Envelopes from A. L. Davis & Co.'s cheap clearing sale at Cost Prices.

A Chance for Bird Fanciers.

The Toy Sinfonia.

An Unique Entertainment in St. John's School Room.

The small audience that climbed the devious walk to St. John's school room last night witnessed an novel a performance as has ever been presented in Peterborough. This was the rendition of Romberg's famous Toy Sinfonia for the first time in Peterborough. The entertainment was opened by a a solo and chorus, "Jingle Bells," accompanied by chimes, in which Mr. Chas. Shaw took the solo part, the chorus comprising Messrs. Budden, Hewson, Charteris, Schofield, Brown and Johnston. Little Lilly Jackson sang "Sweet Sabbath Bells," and was most deservedly encored. Miss Gorman's recitation of "The Women of Mumble's Head," rendered with spirit and evidence of elocutionary ability, was followed by another solo and chorus, "Virginia Rosebud," Miss Errett taking the solo part, Mrs. Stapleton and Messrs. Budden and Shaw joining in the quartette. Next came the event of the evening, the Toy Sinfonia. The orchestra, comprising twelve pieces, was under the leadership of Mr F.W. Millar, and included almost every sort of toy instrument—bells, triangle, snare drum, tin horn, corn cracker, imitation cuckoo and canary bird, and a couple of other nameless instruments of auricular torture. These were led by a couple of violins, bass viol and piano. The music at times was sweet and melodious, but when all the instruments came together with a dolefully discordant crash, the noise was weird and unearthly. However, the Toy Sinfonia pleased the audience well from the very novelty of the thing, and its manner of rendition showed careful rehearsal and diligent practice.

The second part of the programme was inaugurated by a solo and chorus, "Away up in the Mountain Top," Miss Errett and Mr. Budden leading, the chorus comprising Mrs. Stapleton, Miss Chaddie Errett, Messrs. Shaw, Schofield, Hewson and Charteris. Another encore awaited Lilly Jackson's singing of "Two Robin Redbreasts," a quartette, "Golden Slumbers," following. In this Miss Errett, Mrs. Stapleton, Messrs. Shaw and Budden took part. The shadow pantomime concluded the entertainment. The school room was darkened and a strong light in the rear of the stage threw out in bold relief against a white sheet in the foreground the mimic actions of several young men who figured in the pantomime. A couple of amputations extraordinary were performed by amateur sawbones, a victim of toothache had the troublesome molars extracted painlessly (?), and a little domestic scene brought about by the promptings of the green-eyed monster was gone through with in pantomime. The moving silhouettes were clearly outlined on the canvas, and their every action easy of understanding. After the National Anthem the audience dispersed, well pleased with the entertainment. Mr. Chas. Shaw acted as master of ceremonies and announced the different numbers on the programme. Much of the success of the concert was due to the intelligent piano accompaniments played by Mrs. E.A. Peck.

Bellegham's Greeting.

At this festal season, when everybody is giving congratulations and good wishes, D. Bellegham desires to wish all his numerous patons and the people in general a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. He wishes also to extend to his customers his most cordial thanks for the liberal patronage they have extended him during the past year and to solicite a continuance of their kind favors. He promises them, when they again come to him (for he is sure they will come) for furniture to give them equally good satisfaction. Mr. Bellegham would be glad to extend the benefits of dealing with him to others who have not yet favored him with orders. He will guarantee to please them in furniture in style, finish and price. He urges upon the public the wisdom of calling on him to get prices and compare goods before making their purchases. He will guarantee them satisfaction in every respect.

Superior English Cutlery.

We were shown to-day by Mr. Stethem his last importation from John Clarke & Son, Sheffield, England, per steamer "Vancouver," of their elegant pocket, pen, sportsmen's and ladies' knives; carving knives and forks, table steels, and ivory handled table and dessert knives, and must say that we have never seen goods their equal. The makers are one of the oldest in England, making nothing but the finest goods. This lot, with his last importation of the celebrated B & Any pocket and butcher knives, enables Mr. Stethem to show a line of cutlery that cannot be surpassed in the largest cities of the continent for quality and appearance, and being direct from the makers the goods are being sold as cheap as are goods of inferior quality and finish Call and see them. Mr. Stethem will be pleased to exhibit them to each and every one. t th w

A Teacher's Hospitality.

The young men comprising Sergt.-Major Rundle's Sunday school class were treated to an oyster supper at the Major's house last evening. After justice had been done to the excellent supper provided a splendid impromptu programme was rendered, including several recitations by the Major in his native dialect. A pleasant evening was spent by all.

Christmas Times.

Great reduction in price of ladies kid mits, former price $1 25 and $1.35, present price 75c. per pair. We have a nice lot of woolen goods suitable for the holiday trade, also a large assortment of fancy bordered handkerchiefs for the juniors and silk handkerchiefs for the seniors. Our grey flannels are unexcelled in town for the price. Just received—a new line of Halifax tweeds for boys' wear. W. W. JOHNSTON, d 410 Crystal Block.

Turnbull has piles of remnants of mantle cloths which will be sold at decided bargains. Call early and secure some of them. dw

Obituary.

Mr George Hoobey, of North Monaghan, who died on Monday, December 17th, has been a resident of North Monaghan for 62 years, (his age at the time of death) he having been born on the farm where he lived and died. He leaves behind him a wife and two children and a memory associated with the life of an honest, upright man and valued citizen. He was in religion a Presbyterian and in politics a staunch liberal. His large funeral on wednesday testified to the high esteem in which he was held.

An Apology.

It is but a few weeks ago since we placed on the road a second express for the delivery of goods, and owing to the increase in my business we have to tender to our customers an apology for the unreasonable hours their goods have been delivered, which of course goes on to show how the public appreciate our bargains. Our new fruits are being bought by everyone, our cheap teas are surprising all. People wonder how we sell at the prices. But we buy for cash and in quantities and give the public a grocer's picnic. W. J. Morrow 340 George street.

FINE seal and beaver gauntlets and caps for ladies and gentlemen. Sable, beaver, and lynx boas 3½ yards long; also beautiful storm collars, at MILLS BROS.

They Remain with the Company.

The reports that have been circulated through the press and otherwise, that Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, Manager at London of the British Empire Mutual Life Assurance Company for Western Ontario, and that Mr. R. H. Matson, Superintendent, had severed their connection with the "British Empire," were unauthorized, both these gentlemen still retaining their official relations to the British Empire company, in their respective positions.

Sanderson's Holiday Goods.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson, the jeweler, has received the first importation in town of Waterbury watches for ladies. These beautiful time-pieces are stem-winders and stem-setters, and are sold at the low price of $4.50—a marvel of cheapness and excellent time-keeping qualities. They are fully warranted, say that we have never seen goods their equal. The makers are one of the oldest in England, making nothing but the finest goods. This lot, with his last importation of the celebrated B & Any pocket and butcher knives, enables Mr. Stethem to show a line of cutlery that cannot be surpassed in the largest cities of the continent for quality and appearance, and being direct from the makers the goods are being sold as cheap as are goods of inferior quality and finish Call and see them. Mr. Stethem will be pleased to exhibit them to each and every one. t th w

Turnbull is determined to clear out all his remnants of dress goods. All the ends of dress goods that sold from 25c to 50c a yard, will be sold at 15c during the holidays. First come, first choice. dw

Pianos and Organs.

Jackson & Co. have the largest stock of pianos and organs in Peterborough to select from at lowest factory prices. Terms to suit everybody. All instruments sold by Jackson & Co. are guaranteed for five years and kept in tune for two years free of charge. Pianos and organs taken in exchange and the best value allowed for them. Second hand pianos and organs from $50. Sole agents for the Karn Organs, prices from $47.00 up. Tuning and repairing done. Jackson & Co., corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets. dw

FOR first-class laundry and toilet soap go to M. R. Kidd. He is selling at destruction prices. dw

For Ladies and Children.

Miss Delaney is at present showing a very fine lot of ladies' underwear, children's aprons and infants' outfits, which is being offered at the lowest prices, and to which she takes pleasure in calling the attention of those interested. As usual, her stock of millinery, mantles, etc., is well selected and fashionable, and she cordially invites the ladies to call and inspect for themselves. 5d141w

Large Shipment.

Elliott & Tierney have received direct from Japan a large shipment of Japan teas, which they will dispose of at great bargains. Ask for samples and, after drawing, you will be convinced the Palace Grocery is the place to purchase teas. A large and well selected stock of fine Xmas fruits at lowest prices. dw

In His New Quarters.

Mr. W. J. Green, merchant tailor, has removed to his new premises on Hunter street, next McClelland's jewelry store. The store has been neatly fitted up and, besides being a much better business stand, will give Mr. Green increased facilities for turning out first-class work.

Ready for Business.

The official recognition of Mr. A. V. R. Young's appointment as United States Consular agent at Peterborough has been received from the Secretary of State at Ottawa, and Mr. Young will enter on his duties in connection with the position to-morrow. His office is at Mr. A. P. Poussette's law office, Water street.

English Mesmerist

Removal.

W. J. Green, merchant tailor, has removed his place of business to 145 Hunter street, lately occupied by Dawson Bros., where he will continue to give good bargains in honest goods. Parties requiring suits of clothes, overcoats, etc., etc., made to order can do so. Also gents' furnishings in endless variety. Also issuer of marriage licenses.

To Pay Expenses.

A meeting of the committee of the Imperial Federation League was held last night, when it was decided to solicit the financial support of the public in bringing Mr. Dalton McCarthy to Peterborough during the winter. It is intended to make the meeting at which Mr. McCarthy will speak free to the public, who are in turn to be asked to subscribe enough money to cover actual expenses.

A Masculine Manifesto.

The occasion will show what the men can accomplish, and will be an indication of the ability of the gentlemen to act independently of the ladies. A unique entertainment will be given in the Baptist church on Thursday evening, Dec. 27th. The programme will be supplied by gentlemen only. The tea will be supplied and served by the gentlemen. Every detail will be carried out by the men. Positively no assistance from the ladies allowed. Tea from 6.30 to 8 p.m. Interesting programme to commence at 8 p.m. Tickets, 25 cents. d

Thoroughbred Jerseys.

Mr. Robert Walton, of Smith, has returned home with a fine herd of six thoroughbred Jerseys—five heifers and bull. The animals are from the stock of Mr. Valancey E. Fuller, the well known breeder of thoroughbred Jerseys. Mr. Walton has a laudable weakness for the creamy Jersey and he has just reason to be proud of his splendid new herd

Remembering Their Teachers.

The pupils of three rooms in the south ward school this morning presented their teachers with Christmas gifts in token of their appreciation of the patient, skilful and kindly manner in which they performed their duties. The teachers so honored were Miss McLeod, Miss Irwin and Miss Martin, who were each presented with a complimentary address by their respective classes, accompanied by gifts of value and beauty.

Local Literateurs.

In the current number of the Textile Designer appears one of a series of papers—"Talks on Oils," by "J.M.", and a well considered article on "The Selection and Preparation of Wools," by "J.H." The first initials are understood to represent Mr. J. M. Masson, of the Blythe Woollen Mills, and the second, Mr. James Hendry, designer to the Auburn Woollen Mills. Both gentlemen are to be congratulated on the prominence given their practical contributions in one of the most important trade journals published on this continent.

This Evening.

Copp, Clark & Co.'s Almanacs.

The EXAMINER takes pleasure in cordially thanking Messrs. Copp, Clark & Co. for a copy of their incomparable Canadian almanac for 1889. This sterling publication has a scope of useful information familiar to the public for over forty years. It is a complete encyclopædia of current Canadian statistical lore, and this year it seems to be brighter and completer than ever. Accompanying the "Old Reliable" was a copy of the first edition of the "Illustrated Canadian Almanac," bright out with pictures and full of valuable information. The initial number is full of merit. Copies of both at the bookstores.

The "Globe" and "Mail."

The Toronto World published a rumour to the effect that the Globe and Mail newspapers were to be amalgamated. This both journals emphatically deny. There is no reason to doubt the correctness of the denial, and the World is likely to find itself in considerable trouble in connection with rumours to which it gave such emphatic and elaborate utterance. Criticism of the editorial dealings with public affairs is legitimate, but vindictive strictures of its business management and discussion of its business affairs and relations are in very bad form, besides being, as a rule, dangerous to indulge in. The rumour is preposterous in the face of it. The record of the Globe has been such that its amalgamation with a paper with the antecedents of the Mail is an impossibility.

Don't fail to see him.

Imperial Federation.

Mr. J. A. Barron, M. P., South Victoria, was invited to address the Peterborough league on the above subject, and he explains the reason why he is compelled to decline the invitation, in a letter to the secretary, which will be published to-morrow.

News Nuggets.

—Belleville has sleighing.

—To-morrow, the 21st, is the shortest day of the year, the winter solstice.

—The public schools of the town will close Friday afternoon for the holidays.

—Says the Colborne Enterprise:—The rapid and solid growth of the town of Peterborough is second only to Toronto, the boom increasing as the years roll past.

—The bankrupt stock of groceries of Mr. Chas. Brown was sold yesterday by auction to Mr. George Taylor. Mr. Chas. Stapleton was auctioneer.

—At the police court this morning a drunk and disorderly case was adjourned till Saturday, and Wm. Gunn was fined $2 for being drunk.

—East Peterborough Farmers' Institute holds its first public meeting at Norwood Jan. 12th. Speakers from a distance and others from the riding will be present.

Personal.

Mr. John Walsh, warden of the county, is in town to-day and informs THE EXAMINER that he is again a candidate for the reeveship of Asphodel.

Mesmeric Mystery.

Prof. Reynolds gave another good mesmeric entertainment at the opera house last night. Some good subjects were procured and the audience was greatly amused. There is no more amusing, wonderful or mystifying entertainment to be witnessed than that given by Prof. Reynolds, and his performances are well worthy of patronage. This is his last night in Peterborough, and he should be given a bumper farewell house.

A Red Letter Night.

Everybody is on the qui vive for the entertainment to be given in the Opera House on Friday evening next by the pupils—girls and boys—of the Collegiate Institute. A splendid programme full of life and variety has been prepared with great care, and all who attend will enjoy a decided treat. Fancy military movements, of clock-work precision; calisthenic exhibitions; thrilling tableaux; and inspiring music will combine to make an evening of rare enjoyment. 4d

TURNBULL'S

Mantles and Mantle Cloths. Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Clothe are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods. We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds. Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery. Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be White Grey Cottons. The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and for bad business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

THE MAYORALTY!

Address to the Electors:

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1889. In accepting this candidature, I have been influenced by various reasons.

In the first place, Mr. Stevenson openly declared last year that he would not again be a candidate for the position. He not only stated so publicly, but has repeatedly assured me personally that he would, on no consideration, consent to become a candidate for another term, and that, as another member of the council was anxious for the position, he (Mr. Stevenson) preferred that I should be the candidate.

In the second place, I do not think that it is in the interests of the town that any one man, no matter how good a man he may be, should occupy the positions of Mayor of the town, Chairman of the School Board, Chairman of the Town Trust Commission, and President of the Gas Company,—all directly affecting the interests of the ratepayers.

These different concerns involve a large expenditure of the people's money, and it is desirable, and it is obviously proper, that the necessarily conflicting personal and corporation interests that are at issue should be administered by an official, not personally concerned in getting the best end of a bargain at the expense of the town.

In the third place, I am opposed to the large expenditure in connection with the Collegiate Institute, of which my opponent is the foremost champion. I am not in favour of educating rich men's sons at the expense of the poor, but, on the other hand, believe that the most liberal expenditure of money is justifiable in maintaining and adding to the efficiency of our public schools. I am in favour of having the public schools brought to so high a standard that when a poor man's son is compelled to leave them, as he has to do at the age of 14 or 15, he may be thoroughly equipped with a practical education that will fit him for any business career he may see fit to enter upon. Those who wish to go higher in the educational scale have access to a provincial university maintained at the public expense.

I am opposed to the importation of outsiders to fill places of trust in town, when as good men, if not better men, are available at home. I could cite many flagrant instances of disregard of this fair principle, but have not space in this brief address to advert to them.

There are many other questions, such as the assessment of the homes of the middle class, to their highest dollar of value and placing a half assessment on the palatial homes of the wealthy, thus tending to the adoption of a policy for making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer; these are of interest to the ratepayers, upon which, if I receive the confidence of the public, I will always be found arrayed on the side of the people, as against cliques, corporations and monopolies of all kinds.

I need only to mention, in order to enforce the glaring impropriety of a parliamentary representative occupying the Mayor's chair. The interests of the representative, no matter how just and erying the needs of the town may be, will be directed as he has had frequent examples of, to the promotion of personal and family interests, leaving those of the town to take their precarious chances on their own merits.

During my past record in the council I have endeavored to stand up fearlessly in defence of what I considered just and in the best interests of the town, irrespective of any person, and if honored with your confidence I will in the future pursue the same course.

Hoping, electors, that you will show on polling day that you are opposed to one man being placed year after year in a position in which an opportunity is presented of advancing personal and other interests at the expense of the town,

I remain, very faithfully,
HENRY DENNE.

Rush Bros'. Store
A Look Through Their Large and Complete Grocery Establishment.

Messrs. Rush Bros. especially invite the ladies to call at their store during the holiday week, and see the finest display of groceries ever shown in Peterborough. The firm are hard taxed to wait upon all their customers, but they nevertheless find time to decorate their store and set the goods out to best advantage. Mr. T. O. Rush manages the store, and is ably assisted by Messrs. George Miller and C. H. Stapleton who all thoroughly understand the business in every detail, and are able to give customers anything they ask for from the large and complete stock, which is the best th markets of the world can produce. There is as fine a selection of fowl as it is possible to get together, fresh oysters received from Baltimore three times a week, California canned and evaporated fruits, Malaga grapes, California oranges, and in fact seasonable fruits of all kinds; fresh fish of every variety, lobsters, the finest apples for all purposes, kippered herrings in boxes of nine dozen at 40c. a box and the choicest goods of all kinds. Anything you want in their line Rush Bros. can give you. They keep the purest and best cider, both cured and sweet, and in teas cannot be beaten, a 5-lbs 6 lb., of Japan, new season, for $1.00, and 5 lbs. of another kind, new season Japan, for $1.00. Their celebrated pineapple cheese, cured by themselves is a luxury to be procured nowhere else. A superb lot of fresh sea salmon just received. In fact their stock is unsurpassed in the country and while everything is of the best, it is also cheap in price, because Messrs. Rush Bros. buy for cash and sell at a small margin. They are bound to lead the trade.

Their store just now is a beauty spot to visit. It is handsomely decorated for the holiday season and the remarkably fine stock of goods is displayed to good advantage. The windows are beautifully set out. In one of them is an elk head, the finest specimen in the county, belonging to Mr. Clurton, and a moose head owned by Mayor Stevenson. There are nice pictures and other ornaments that make the place attractive, and an Indian war club, picked up after a battle between two tribes in the Northwest. It is a formidable looking weapon, and from its appearance has no doubt killed many a red warrior.

At night, Chinese lanterns shed their fantastic glow, and numerous small flags and other tasteful decorations, make the shop a scene of beauty. The decorations, in both design and execution, are the work of Mr. Charley Stapleton, and they reflect great credit on his taste.

The little colored boy in a neat uniform is there to help customers, and patrons of the firm of Rush Bros. can rely upon getting the best service possible, as well as the finest goods in the market at the fairest prices.

Just received. One Car of Florida Oranges at Ostrom's.

North Harvey.

The anniversary services in connection with the north Harvey Methodist Church were conducted by Rev. Mr McAmmond, of Fenelon Falls. Although suffering from indisposition the reverend gentleman filled the pulpit with his usual ability. On Monday the anniversary tea took place in the school house opposite the church. The ladies of Harvey prepared an excellent repast. After the tea an adjournment was made to the church, when an entertainment took place, the pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Bobcaygeon, presiding. The choir furnished excellent music and addresses were given by Mr. R. R. Hall, Rev. F. McAmmond and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P. Subscriptions were taken to assist in relieving the debt, with such result that only a balance of $50 of debt remains. The church is a very comfortable one, and during the evening was named Zion Church. Those concerned are to be congratulated on the success of their entertainment. The receipts at the door amounted to nearly $40.

Still Going On.

The great reduction sale of groceries, provisions, &c., still going on at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, and giving such good satisfaction to the customers that Mr. Green was obliged to procure more new goods from the eastern markets and engage an extra young man in the store to fill the many holiday orders now coming in for supplies of choice family groceries, provisions, &c.

A special bargain in teas, only 25 cents per lb., which cannot be equalled in the trade, and is selling freely. Fresh eggs, butter, fruit and vegetables received daily from farmers and other and sold out at low prices. Picked over winter apples only $1.50 to $1.75 per barrel, delivered to any part of the town. A trial order is respectfully solicited.

A Red Letter Night.

Everybody is on the qui vive for the entertainment to be given in the Opera House on Friday evening next by the pupils—girls and boys—of the Collegiate Institute. A splendid programme full of life and variety has been prepared with great care, and all who attend will enjoy a decided treat. Fancy military movements, of clock-work precision; calisthenic exhibitions; thrilling tableaux; and inspiring music will combine to make an evening of rare enjoyment. 4d

CHICAGO'S PORK PACKERS

SEND A REPRESENTATIVE TO THE CAPITAL.

Who Pleads for the Windy City's Whole-some Mixture of Cottonseed Oil, Beef Fat and Hog Lard.

OTTAWA, Dec. 20.—Carl Dreier, representing M. A. Fairbank & Co. and other Chicago pork packers, had an interview with Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, to-day with reference to the recent action of the Canadian Pork Packers' Association in asking legislation regulating the importation of adulterated lard and increasing the duty on pork. He claimed that the term adulteration was a misnomer, as lard made from cottonseed oil, beef fat and hog lard was not an adulteration, but a mixture producing a wholesome article of commerce. He also claimed that there was not enough pure hog lard produced in the world to meet the requirements of commerce, and that it was unfair to attempt to exclude a harmless and useful article of food. The Minister gave the usual assurance that the representations should receive consideration.

Chairman Andrew Robertson, H. Belmer and Andrew Allan of the Montreal Harbor Commissioners had an interview with the Ministers of Public Works and Marine to-day with reference to the maintenance by the Government of a buoy service in the ship channel between Montreal and Quebec. Heretofore the Government has made the Harbor Commissioners an allowance of $7000 per annum on account of this service, but the Commissioners state that it has cost much more, and now that the Government has assumed the maintenance of the channel and taken over the channel fleet it should also assume the whole expense of the buoy service. Mr. Tupper said the matter would be laid before Council.

The corporation of Winnipeg having refused to respond to the call of the Deputy Adjutant-General for the payment of expenses in calling out the local militia during the recent railway trouble, the matter has been referred to the Department of Justice for an opinion, as to the liability of the city, as although the scene of trouble was not actually within the limits of the city the requisition was signed by the Winnipeg magistrates. In this connection it might be interesting to note that a riot occurred at Lusignan Mines, N.S., in 1883 and the militia were called out. The local municipality refused to pay the costs, $1400. The matter was taken to the courts and brought up to the Supreme Court of the province and in each case the municipality lost. They notified the Militia Department a few days ago that they were willing to pay the $1400 at once and stop proceedings.

Captain A. Roy of the 65th Battalion has been appointed Brigade Major of the Sixth Military District, in place of Major Hughes, resigned.

Judge Church, representing the Pontiac and Pacific Junction Railway, and Messrs. Bryson, M.P., and Poupore, M.P., had a conference here yesterday with reference to the settlement of the claim of the railway to a bonus of $100,000, voted by the County of Pontiac several years ago but not paid. No decision was arrived at and the matter was postponed until the return from France next month of M. J. Beemer, President of the company, when another conference will be held.

At a meeting of the Imperial Federation League last evening it was decided to hold the annual meeting on July 18. It was also agreed to endeavor to get Principal Grant to deliver a lecture before the league.

Boring for natural gas was begun yesterday on the Hickey property. The first attempt was not a success, quicksand showing itself a short distance from the surface, necessitating a change of location. To-day, however, the required rock strata were found and operations that it is hoped may be successful will be shoved vigorously forward.

The Postoffice Department is taking steps to correct abuses of the franking privilege accorded the civil service, and in future greater care will be exercised to prevent abuse. It is stated that not long ago a bag of wheat weighing 60 pounds was franked as a parcel.

Argument in the arbitration case of Rogers' claim for $80,000 arising out of a contract on the Intercolonial was concluded by Mr. J. J. Curran, M.P., to-day before Mr. Page, Chief Engineer of Railways and Canals, and the case taken en delibere.

Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron leave for Quebec Saturday morning to spend the Christmas holidays.

Recruiting for the Northwest Mounted Police will commence in the eastern provinces next March, when the time of about 100 will expire.

CHARGES AGAINST A JUDGE.

Investigation at Milton of Mr. Eager's Complaint Against Judge Miller.

MILTON, Dec. 20.—As an outcome of certain charges made on the nomination day before the last election at Milton by Mr. W. L. P. Eager against Thomas Miller, Esq., Judge of Halton County, an investigation into these charges at the latter's request was held here to-day before Deputy Attorney-General Johnson.

The case of course possesses great interest for Halton folk, and the court-room was crowded with Milton residents and a sprinkling of outsiders.

Mr. Eager has been a resident of Milton for thirty-five years and has held the position of Registrar and County Court Clerk since 1856. The charge he has made against Judge Miller is a grave one, and if sustained would affect his judicial position very seriously. It is that of partiality in judgments which he has given in cases in which Mr. Eager has been interested. The latter states that this alleged partiality has arisen from his refusal to collect fees for the grantine of probates of will and of letters of administration, on the ground that such fees were unwarrantably high.

Mr. Johnston gave no decision to-day, but will place a mass of evidence before the Ontario Government for consideration.

Liquor Seizures at Paris the Little.

PARIS, Ont., Dec. 20.—An unusual incident occurred here this morning in the way of a Scott Act violation on the part of the Bradford House. Two strangers, reported to be special informers, accompanied by Inspector Pyke, made a successful raid on the above hotel and removed the contents, lager beer, ale, etc., to the street and afterwards loaded it and left town with their booty. It may be mentioned that the repeal agitation is just commencing in this county and by appearances there will be friends made enemies, as both sides are very determined.

THE DOMINION GRANGE.

Discussion on the Report of the Committee on Legislation.

GUELPH, Dec. 20.—The Dominion Grange this morning discussed the report on legislation. The second clause was in regard to assessments in rural districts. A resolution from subordinate granges had been presented asking that farm property be only assessed once in every five years. This clause was referred back to be amended in accordance with the expression of the meeting. Clause 3 was in reference to representation in county councils. As the law stands the power to reduce the number rests with the council and the deputy reeves are the parties who would be cut off in the case of any change. It was considered advisable to take this power out of the hands of the council and relegate it to the people. The report was referred back for this change. Discussion on the different reports was resumed during the afternoon session and called up again this evening.

THE ARABS ON THE RUN.

A BRILLIANT LITTLE ENGAGEMENT AT SUAKIM.

Slight Loss on the British Side—Four Hundred Rebels Slain—Lord Salisbury Says That Suakim Must Not Be Abandoned.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—A despatch from Suakim says the combined forces of British and Egyptians made an attack yesterday upon the rebel position. They stormed the redoubts and trenches and, after a brilliant engagement lasting half an hour, drove the enemy into the bush. The British are encamped in the rebels' position. The victory was complete. The British loss four killed and two wounded during a gallant cavalry charge. The Egyptians and black regiments charged the trenches and carried them brilliantly, losing two killed and 20 wounded. The only officers wounded in the attacking force were two Egyptians. The rebel loss is stated to have been 400.

A feature of the fighting was the determined rush upon the trenches by the blacks and Egyptians. The dervishes fought with the utmost bravery, a great many of them dying in the trenches. The charge of the Hussars is also especially mentioned. When the dervish cavalry saw them coming they dismounted from their horses and planted their spears in the ground, but these proved no obstruction to the Hussars, who swept down upon the dervish horsemen like an avalanche, cut through their ranks and left half of them dead upon the ground. The Hussars then re-formed and charged the remaining dervishes, who fled. A large portion of the rebel force was not engaged in to-day's fighting, being absent camping at Handoub and the wells beyond that place. It is believed the rebels will be reinforced and make an attempt soon to retake their lost position.

Three zeribas and a stockade were built over filled trenches and manned by four Soudanese battalions and British soldiers. The space between them and the works was occupied by a battalion of horse artillery. The Emir of Trinkitat is a prisoner. He is wounded. Osman Digma's nephew and 12 Dervishes have been captured. All were wounded. Serious complaints are made concerning the quality of the sabres and revolvers furnished to the troops. Several cavalrymen returned with broken sabres and in many instances their revolvers clogged and were rendered useless.

Suakim Will Not Be Abandoned.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—In his speech at Scarboro yesterday Lord Salisbury said the ministry had no intention of entangling the country in a new Soudan expedition but they would not abandon Suakim. The English, Egyptian and Turkish ministries were unanimously of opinion that Suakim must not be abandoned.

Lord Salisbury continued: "As long as the Khedive desires it we shall maintain the Red Sea ports. We are bound under the promise made by Mr. Gladstone's Government to do so. A British statesman's first duty is to prevent foreigners from thinking that every change of Government must necessarily mean the changing of our foreign policy. It would be madness to surrender Suakim when we are on the eve of suppressing slavery, because the final struggle with the slave dealers must be fought upon the Red Sea. By the treaty of Paris we are bound to uphold the integrity of the Sultan's empire."

Zanzibar's Sultan Warned.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir James Fergusson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, stated that instructions had been sent to the British consul at Zanzibar to protest in the strongest terms against a repetition of the cruel executions which occurred in the streets of Zanzibar. He had also been instructed to invite the other foreign consuls to co-operate w. . him in warning the Sultan of the disastrous consequences that are likely to follow his disregard of this protest.

The Zanzibar Murders Continue.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 20.—Four more executions took place here to-day.

The Thunderer's Many Proprietors.

EDINBURGH, Dec. 20.—In the case of Mr. Parnell against The London Times the court to-day considered the proofs of the validity of the agreements which had been made by the plaintiff. Two Edinburgh advertising agents testified that plaintiff had arrested small sums which they owed The Times. Neither witness knows who the proprietors of The Times were. Their recollections were made to Mr. Wright, one of the proprietors.

Mr. Hayman, representing the registrar of newspapers at Somerset House, proved that Mr. Walter was now the registered proprietor of The Times in behalf of himself and others, The Times' solicitors having written that there would be great difficulty in registering the names of all whom the act might construe as proprietors, because some of the proprietors were minors, some were married women and some resided abroad. They also said that in many cases the interest held was very small.

Mr. Walter testified that he had given no authority to register him as proprietor, but he had expressed willingness to act as registered proprietor. He did not have a list of the proprietors. He own interest in The Times was one sixteenth and a half of the office's printing business was his.

Mr. Soames, The Times' solicitor, said there were a hundred proprietors of The Times.

The court adjourned to enable the solicitor to produce a list of the proprietors.

For Emin's Relief.

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The Emin relief committee announces that after a careful examination of Osman Digma's letter they have concluded that proof of Emin Pasha's capture has not been established. They will therefore start Lieutenant Wissmann's expedition for Emin's relief at the earliest possible moment. Dr. Junker declares that Emin's forces were armed with Snider rifles.

Looking After French Interests.

PARIS, Dec. 20.—The Minister of Marine states that France has now one unarmored cruiser, the Roland, at Panama, and that another, the Duquesne, has orders to sail for that station. The mission of the vessels is simply to look after the interests of a great many Frenchmen who are employed as workmen on the Panama canal.

Jack's Honeymoon.

PORT HURON, Dec. 20.—Wm. Jack, arrested a few days ago for perjury in securing a marriage license to wed a 14-year-old girl, was released to-day by Prosecuting Attorney Farrand, who claims the license is illegal as both Jack and the girl are residents of Canada. The County Clerk claims the right to issue marriage licenses to foreigners. Jack and his girl bride are spending their honeymoon in this city.

Death of Editor J. N. Matthews.

BUFFALO, Dec. 20.—James N. Matthews, editor and proprietor of The Express, and senior partner in the large railroad printing house of Matthews, Northrup & Co., died at his residence in this city this evening.

The Keely Motor Co.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—About 35 stockholders of the Keeley Motor Company met here yesterday for the annual meeting at which it was expected that seven directors would be elected. Most of the stock was represented by proxy, but there was not enough for a quorum and the meeting adjourned without fixing a date for future meeting.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

The Sentiments of Mr. J. A. Barron, M.P., on the Subject.

Below is given Mr. J. A. Barron's letter in response to an invitation to address a meeting of the local Imperial Federation League, sent to Mr. F. J. Bell, Secretary:—

A slight illness has prevented my answering until now your kind letter, written in behalf of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Federation League, inviting me to address a public meeting in the town of Peterborough some day next month. I am very sensitive of the honor conferred upon me by this invitation, and hope my appreciation of such a compliment will be stated to, and understood by, your branch of the League. This compliment does not make it less easy for me to explain why I feel compelled, against my pleasure, to decline your invitation.

I think we are all—at least we ought to be—most anxious for a more united empire. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished; but the desire is one thing, its fulfilment another. It is possible to have a wish, and yet possible to see no means of accomplishing that wish. Such is my case, and I shall tell you why.

One feature—in fact the main feature—of Imperial Federation is, that Great Britain shall discriminate in favor of her colonies, and against foreign importation. This is established by the notice of motion given by your President in Canada, Mr. Dalton McCarthy, during the last session of the Dominion Parliament. This notice of motion reads as follows:—

"That it would be in the best interests of "the Dominion that such changes should be "brought about in the trade relations be-"tween the United Kingdom and Canada, "as would give Canada advantages in the "markets of the mother country not allowed "to foreign states, Canada being willing, for "such privileges, to discriminate in her "markets in favour of Great Britain and "Ireland; due regard being had to the "policy adopted in 1879, for the purpose of "fostering the various industries of the "Dominion, and to the financial necessities "of the Dominion."

Now, it might be to the advantage of Canada and her sister colonies that Great Britain should discriminate in their favour (and, as a Canadian, for Canadian interests first, I would be glad of such advantage); but is England likely to overlook the necessities of her masses, by taxing 70 per cent. of her imports, to let the other 30 per cent. in free? The colonies and dependencies east (about) 20 per cent. of Great Britain's total imports; the balance, (about) 70 per cent., enters England from foreign countries. It will, perhaps, be contended that, with discrimination, England's foreign imports will decrease, and her non-dutiable imports increase, and thus in time, that the ratio be so far reversed, that colonial exports to Great Britain will absorb the British market. From a colonial standpoint this result would be desirable, but prophesy is playing with any one who seriously looks for such result. But, for a moment, admit its possibility. Is it not an economic fact, that the price to the British consumer of the colonial article, would be increased by (or nearly by) the amount of duty placed on the foreign article, to keep the latter article from coming in competition with that of the Colony. If you say not, then the Canadian setter would unanimously cease to practice on the British consumer, the lesson he has learnt so well, the last few years, at the expense of his fellow-Canadian. No matter how favorably you think it out, discrimination will increase the price of food to England's masses, and this Great Britain would never tolerate. Her answer to such a proposition now, can be surmised from the reply of the Imperial Government in 1848, to the emphatic protest of Canadians, against the removal by Great Britain, of the then discrimination in favor of Canadian wheat and flour. This reply was in these words:—

"The interests of Canada have occupied "the place to which they are justly entitled "in the deliberations of Her Majesty's "Government, upon this important subject "and upon others which are akin to it. At "the same time I need hardly point out to "your Lordships that there are matters in "which considerations immediately connect-"ed with the supply of food for the people "of this country, and with the employment "of its population, must be paramount."

If then Great Britain will not discriminate in favor of her colonies and dependencies (and is any one really in earnest who thinks she will) Canada then has nothing to gain but everything to lose, by changing her present condition. Canada now enjoys free entry into the Imperial market. This advantage can only, if at all, be improved by discrimination, but discrimination England will not grant. It is proposed, nevertheless, to form a federation. If so we should gain no advantage, which we do not now possess, while we would be called upon to bear our proportionate expense of the Empire. What this expense possibly might be in the future, in the item alone of "War expense," may be estimated by England's wars since Queen Victoria ascended the throne. In 1839 there was the Afghan war; in '39, the Aden rebellion; in '40, the Syrian war; in '41, the China war; in '41, the Cabul insurrection; in '43, the Scinde war; in '45, the Sikh war; in '47, the second Sikh war; in '50, the Kaffir war; in '51, the Burmese war; in '54, the Crimean war; in '56, the China war; in '57, the Persian war; in '57, the Indian mutiny; in '60, the China war; in '60, the New Zealand war; in '63, the Ashantee war; in '65, the New Zealand war; in '67, the Abyssinian war; in '73, the Ashantee war; in '79, the Afghan war; in '81, the Transvaal war; in '82, the Egyptian war, in '84, the Soudan war and in '88 a second Soudan war.

Taxation for such purposes would have to be borne by Canada as part of the Empire. There could not be taxation without representation. It was the violation of this principle that produced the American revolt. Such representation would be possessed not alone by Canada, but, on this hemisphere, by the Bahamas, Bermudas, Falkland Islands, Guiana, Honduras, Jamaica, and Turk's Islands, Leeward Islands, Newfoundland, Trinidad, and the Windward Islands, with a population of not more than 8,000 000 people: at the antipodes, by Queensland, South Australia, West Australia, N. S. Wales, New Zealand, Victoria, Tasmania and the Fiji Islands, with a population of not more than 5,000,000 people; by England's 1,750,000 subjects in Africa, and by her 175 000 subjects in Malta, Heligoland, and Gibraltar, and, in India and Asia, by her subjects numbering now nearly 200,000,000.

When the vastness of this Empire and the varied and distinctly opposite interests of its parcels are considered, one is forced to look upon Confederation of the Empire as a dream scarcely to be realised. India and Asia with their representation could control the destinies of all British subjects, a most dangerous contingency, you must admit. Canada's 6,000,000 view with alarm, and perhaps rightly so, the influence of 60,000,000 of American citizens under a policy of Commercial Union. How much more would Canada have to fear from the disturbing disposition of 200,000,000 of an Asiatic and Indian population, whose religion is repugnant to that of Christianity, and whose interests and sympathies are out of touch with those of the Canadian people.

You will observe that your President, Mr. McCarthy, while proposing, in his notice of motion, mutual discrimination between Great Britain and Canada, carefully guards against interference with the policy of 1879—the National Policy, as it is known. This policy, it is claimed, has created a home market in Canada. If it is not proposed by federation to interfere with this policy, where, may I ask, is the market for the British exporter, which is to be a quid pro quo for Imperial discrimination in favor of Canadians? Preserving the 35 per cent advantages for the manufacturers in Canada, may be pleasing to them, but, I surmise, the farmers and consuming classes generally, would look askance at a policy which, in one line, proposes better trade relations, but, in the next, retains protective prices.

Another reason why I must decline your invitation is this. I believe I see in this agitation at the present time, a result to be deplored by all lovers of the British crown, and a result certainly not contemplated by those who take part therein. The agitation is in itself a confession of the weakness of Confederation, a suggestion of a need for change, and results to encouraging the unholy war against British connection, carried on by annexationists, who point to it, as an admission by men, who are loyal, that a change must come. I say there is no need for change. Let us sell in the dearest and buy in the cheapest market, and the provinces will be welded together closer than the fasces of old. In so doing we shall be doing that which England's example tells us to do. Internal dissensions will then disappear. Our homes will be homes of plenty, and with the love of Britain adding strength to our arms, it would not be long before, as a happy, united, contented, and prosperous people, Canada would lower the fasces to no nation upon earth.

Yours very faithfully,
JOHN A. BARRON.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Liquidators' Suit—The Law Faculty—Normal School Closing Exercises.

TORONTO, Dec. 21.—A week ago the Master-in-Ordinary expressed himself very strongly against the inflated bill which Messrs. Howland, Gooderham and Lye, the Central Bank liquidators, had presented. He gave a provisional decision reducing the amount very considerably—fully one-third. This amended percentage will in future be adopted, and as no further evidence for or against the Master's proposition has been received it will be issued as a definite judgment.

At a Cabinet meeting yesterday it was decided to issue the proclamation with regard to the annexation of Parkdale to Toronto.

Dr. Barwash, J. N. Lake, Dr. Potts and J. J. Withrow yesterday located the site of the new Victoria College in Queen's Park. The main door will be immediately at the head of the East Drive and on a line with St. Mary's-street.

The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council yesterday approved these appointments in the new faculty of law in the University of Toronto:

PROFESSORS.	SUBJECTS.
Hon. Justice Proudfoot,	Roman Law.
Hon. D. Mills,	Constitutional and International Law.

FIRES OF A DAY.

Flouring Mills Near Picton Burnt—1500 Bushels of Grain Consumed.

PICTON, Dec. 20.—The Hallowell mills, 1½ miles east of Picton, were burned last night together with the contents; no insurance. Loss about $6000. About 1500 bushels of grain belonging to farmers were in the mill.

Woolen Mills Scorched at Kincardine.

KINCARDINE, Dec. 20.—At 7 o'clock last night fire was discovered in the boiler house of James Fraser's woolen mills in Harbor-street. The fire was extinguished in about an hour. The loss can hardly be estimated as the lighter and inflammable parts of the machinery were burned. It is thought that about $800 will cover the loss to building and machinery, fully covered by insurance in the Phœnix of London.

Fired by the Sun.

MONTREAL, Dec. 20.—Inside of Mrs. Marcotte's millinery show window on St Catharine-street is a lamp with a reflector upon which the sun's rays are focussed and reflected back. To-day a smoking cap was hanging in the path of the sun's rays and the heat became so great that it caught fire. The incipient blaze was noticed, however, and extinguished before any damage was done.

Kindled by a Bursting Lamp.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 20.—A coal oil lamp burst in the kitchen of Mr. Ralph Purdy's house in William-street last night. Damage $200, covered by insurance in the Liverpool, London and Globe.

SHE CALLED FOR CARL.

A Husband Seen for Divorce Because of Words She Spoke in Delirium.

READING, Pa., Dec. 20.—A divorce for words spoken in a delirium was the outcome of a suit heard in Justice Denhard's court. Christena Keppen is a pretty young Russian, wife of Edward Keppen. She was married to a man in Russia. He came to the United States a few years ago, and then the wife heard that her husband had been killed below this city. He was never heard from afterward.

The young widow came to America, settled in Reading, and married a bright young machinist, Edward Keppen by name. She was a most excellent housekeeper and the couple got along very well. A child was born to them a year after their wedding. A few months later the young husband began a suit for divorce, asserting that while in the delirium of childbirth the wife had called out repeatedly the name of another man. She was told of this when well, and thereupon she admitted that the name she called out was that of her first Husband, who was dead. Proof of death was demanded. She could not produce it, a scene followed, and divorce proceedings began.

A few days ago the young wife alleges she placed her infant in the cradle to go down town, and the parents of her husband, imagining she intended to desert the child, ran after her, beat her and pulled out her hair. The old folks were arrested for assault and battery had placed under bonds to answer. The young wife says that her first husband and her brother came to America together and that her brother informed her that her husband had been killed. Her first husband was Carl Koubstatter, and her repeated calls for Carl excited the second husband's suspicions

FIRST ANNUAL FEAST.

Peterborough Lodge, Sons of England, at Supper.

A Patriotic Gathering at the Croft House — "Merrie England Forever" — The Toasts and Speeches.

It was an enthusiastic and good-humored little group of Englishmen that gathered at the Croft House Thursday night to attend a dinner under the auspices of Peterborough Lodge, Sons of England. It is not a year since Peterborough Lodge was established as the offspring of old Stanley Lodge, but the new lodge has grown with the vigor and rapidity of youth until it is in a prosperous and thriving condition. Thursday night its members and a number of their friends assembled at the Croft House and partook of the edibles prepared for them. The dining hall was gorgeous with pendant Union Jacks and banners lavishly displayed. The bill-of-fare provided was up to the good old English standard, beginning with roast beef and concluding with plum pudding. It was a thoroughly patriotic spread, and harmonized well with the spirit of loyalty and British allegiance that possessed all the Englishmen gathered there and warmed the cockles of their hearts. "Rah for dear old England," was the universal sentiment that found expression in the utterance of the speakers and the vigorous applause of those who listened.

The President of Peterborough Lodge occupied the chair, and Mr. Somerville the vice-chair. After the tables had been cleared, the Chairman, in a neat speech, introduced the toasts.

"The Queen" and "Prince of Wales and Royal Family" were first honored, a toast to "The Governor-General and Lieut.-Governor, and Parliaments of Canada," following.

Mr. Jas. STEVENSON, M. P., replied on behalf of the Dominion Parliament, pointing out the prosperous condition of Canada, which he thought was as good as we could ever expect to see, or at least it was as good as our forefathers ever saw it in the past. He also briefly referred to the Governor-General in his official capacity. Mr. Stevenson hoped the new lodge would prosper and grow, and he had no doubt, from their having such an able president, that such would be the case, though he was sorry the latter was not just now enjoying the best of health.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M. P. P., expressed his pleasure at being present at this the first annual supper of Peterborough Lodge, and said his belief was that a division of the Sons of England in a town of this size would be beneficial to both lodges. After referring to the Lieut.-Governor, he spoke a few words in behalf of the Legislature, which he considered a more representative body than the Dominion Parliament, for the reason that it attracted fewer professional politicians; and as a body, the Legislature was unsurpassed anywhere for intelligence and ability. The speaker made patriotic references to England and England's greatness, her grand old flag that was emblematic of eternal liberty, justice and truth, and her commercial and social eminence. But while those assembled were doing honor to the land of their birth, he urged them not to forget the land in which they lived, a land of promise and liberty for all classes.

Sergt.-Major Rundle sang "The Ivy Green."

The next toast was, "The Army, Navy and Volunteers."

Col. H. C. ROGERS replied in a patriotic speech, extolling England's civilizing and christianizing influences, and commending the sentiment that revives and cherishes the memories dear to every British heart. This sentiment had been the means of establishing this Society of the Sons of England. The mother country had not only left us these glorious traditions of past progress and triumphs, but a nobler heritage in this land of ours, this fair Dominion, which would compare favorably with any country under the sun. The speaker referred to the annexation cry, and said he did not see where there was anything to be gained by it. It was only 21 years since that the Dominion was formed by the confederation of a few straggling states, and this confederation was brought about by the unity of the statesmen of the time, whose example might well be followed by the politicians of to-day. The Dominion compared well with the United States, which was a great country, that had made marvellous progress, but in the 21 years of the Dominion's existence statistics showed that our progress had not been equalled even by the States, taking into consideration the proportion of population. Canada could, he said, benefit by the experience of the States, but we were, besides, backed by the greatest empire under the sun and by the "Army, Navy and Volunteers." Referring to the Volunteers, he thought the name could be quite appropriately changed to "The Home Guards." He felt certain if the occasion should ever arise the volunteers of Canada would not be found wanting.

Sergt.-Major Rundle sang "Three Cheers for the Red, White and Blue," the company joining in the chorus.

The toast to "The Most Worthy Grand President and Grand Lodge Officers of the Sons of England," was proposed by the Vice-President. The President of Peterborough Lodge, the only Grand Lodge officer present, replied briefly, pointing out the objects of the Order, which were not only for the benefit of needy Englishmen, but primarily for the maintenance of a spirit of fealty to the mother land. Englishmen were proud of their country, the greatest under the sun, and one that had done more for the world than any other nation. Englishmen, too, were the best men to colonize a new country, as witness our own Canada. One particular portion of their obligation was to cling to and protect the Union Jack on all occasions, and Englishmen would always be ready to fight in its defence. The Sons of England was a praiseworthy institution and deserving of the co-operation and support of a British public.

"Kindred Societies" was next proposed by the Vice-President, and was replied to by Mr. H. C. Winch on behalf of the Masons, Mr. Jas. Morris for the Oddfellows, and Mr. A. Clegg for the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Mr. Morris said the Oddfellows of Peterborough could not be beaten in the province. Mr. Clegg gave some interesting statistics regarding the beneficiary advantages connected with the Workmen. His sentiment was "Canada first," though he was a descendant of England, and further statistics were given to show Canada's supremacy.

Mr. R. Tivey recited "Vagabond Joe" and was encored. Mr. Wm. Croft followed with the recitation of the contents of a love letter.

"Our Parent Lodge, Lansdowne, and Sister Lodges," was responded to by President Tivey, who commented upon the progress made by Lansdowne Lodge and the Order in general. Eighteen new lodges had been instituted during the past year and the individual lodges were all in a prosperous condition.

"The Host and Hostess" was replied to by Mr. Croft, who gave a humorous address that brought down the house.

To "Englishmen and Women Everywhere," Messrs. Geo. Smith and G. J. Kearney replied briefly.

Mr. Tom Clethrow sang a song composed on the death of General Havelock, and responded to an encore with "The Irish Christening."

Mr. Harry Winch also contributed a song and Col. H. C. Rogers told a humorous story entitled "Led Astray."

The proceedings were closed by the singing of the National Anthem, the chairman remarking that he hoped they would next year have three times as many as were now present, and that in the meantime everything would go well with them all.

Before dispersing, Mr. Croft gave the company a Philadelphia counsel's charge to the jury in a murder case. It was very laughable and an appropriate conclusion for such a jolly and convivial occasion.

May Peterborough Lodge never see its shadow grow less, but rather may it go ahead and become the banner lodge in the Order.

A Narrow Escape.

A rather peculiar accident occurred Wednesday afternoon at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets. Directly over Mr. R. H. Green's store in the third story of Mrs. Sutherland's boarding house is the room of Mr. Wm. Scollie. Mr. Scollie keeps a loaded rifle in his room, and Wednesday afternoon Mr. Scollie's fifteen year old son went to the room and took down the rifle In examining it, the gun was accidentally discharged, muzzle downwards, and the ball went whizzing through the floor, perilously near a dressmaker on the second flat. Pursuing its course downwards, the bullet passed through the second floor, into Mr. Green's grocery shop below, tearing away the plaster and striking the writing desk, penetrating the wood about half an inch, the ball rebounding into the middle of the floor. Mrs. Green had been writing at the desk but luckily left it only an instant b fore the bullet struck it directly over where she had been sitting.

An Oddfellows' Farewell.

Mr. R. J. Kidd Presented With an Address and Practical Tokens of Regard.

Mr. R. J. Kidd leaves next week for Port Perry, where he proposes to take up residence, and being a prominent and popular Oddfellow, as well as an estimable citizen, the members of the Order to which he belonged decided to practically express the regret they felt at his approaching departure. A meeting of the three branches to which Mr. Kidd belonged was held in Peterborough Lodge rooms Thursday evening, when the following address, which doubtless contains the sentiments of all of Mr. Kidd's many friends, was read by Bro. D. Moore, P.G., the presentation being made by Bro. Wm. Savigny:—

To Bro. R. J. Kidd:

DEAR SIR,—We, the chevaliers of Canton Peterborough, No. 10, Patriarchs of Mount Hebron Encampment, No. 56, and members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I. O. O. F., wish to express to you, "an esteemed and worthy member of these three branches of our Order," in a tangible form, our regard for you, previous to your departure from our midst. To endeavour in an elaborate manner to enumerate all your good qualities, &c., is not our present object. We content ourselves with simply saying that on every occasion during your association with us, extending over a period of six years, you have been a consistent and faithful Oddfellow, wearing with honor the emblems of our Order, the three links of Friendship, Love and Truth. While we are sorry to part with you, we trust that in going to another field of usefulness it may be greatly to your benefit and success in life, and we extend to you our best wishes that it may be so. Before allowing you to depart, we feel that we cannot do so unless you take something with you to your new home to remember us by. You will, therefore, kindly accept this family Bible and pair of fur gauntlets as a token of our regard. Wishing you and your esteemed wife the best things that the world gives and the blessing of God on all your undertakings in life, we extend to you the right hand of fellowship in an affectionate farewell.

PETERBOROUGH, 20th December, 1888.

Needless to say Mr. Kidd was agreeably surprised at the kind expressions in the address, and his reply, though brief, was feeling and grateful in tone. He said he would always have a warm remembrance of Peterborough and Peterborough Oddfellows.

Holiday Greetings.

Everybody now greets everybody else with "the compliments of the season," but in many cases it is a mere habit—an empty formality. But enough here in giving this greeting to their beloved public, mean what they say, and show they mean it by their acts, for they give a Christmas present with every pair of boots and shoes they sell, one-half the price buys the goods, and the other half which you would have to give at the high price shops, represents a Christmas box. This generosity is not confined to the holiday season, for from month to month in the past and in the future, the best of boots and shoes will be sold at the same astounding prices. Don't let the golden chance pass you by, but go to gough bros., and buy your winter's supply of boots and shoes, and the goods you get and the prices you pay will make your Christmas a merry one.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. TURNBULL'S

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Dress Goods

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Canadian Tweeds

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Provinces. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be

Our Hosiery

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely Gone. Flesh a Mass of Matter. Leg Diminished one Third in Size. Condition Hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.
S. G. AHERN, Dublin, Dodge Co., Ga.

Terrible Suffering From Skin Disease

I have been a terrible sufferer for years from diseases of the skin and blood, and have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors. Have used the best of physicians, and spent hundreds of dollars, but got no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have cured me and left my skin as clear and my blood as pure as a child's.

A Short Session.

The Town Council Meet Again—A Question of License Discussed—A Stain Laid Down for a Reckoner's By-law—Reports of Committees.

It was a quarter to nine o'clock before the town council got itself down to business Monday night. Mayor Stevenson was in Toronto but was expected back on the 7.50 train. The councillors assembled in the clerk's office, and after waiting patiently for some time for the civic head to appear, he, as business with Mr. T. Cahill in the chair. The councillors present were Messrs. Kendry, Lungford, Douglass, Moore, A. Hall, R.E.D. Hall, Kelly, Davidson and Winch.

Mayor Stevenson came in afterwards and took the chair.

The clerk read a communication from Mrs. J. Irwin, Charlotte street, asking refund of dog tax, which she had paid for a tenant of hers. On motion of Mr. Winch the remission was made.

PRO RATA LICENSES.

Another was read from Messrs. Wyatt & Turner, asking for an auctioneer's license for the balance of the license year (to March 1st) and for the year '89 '90, offering to pay a pro rata license for fourteen months.

Messrs. Douglass, Lungford and Kendry protested against giving a pro rata license, because the months of January and February were the best in the business, and however there was a motion on the books prohibiting the granting of pro rata licenses.

Mr. CHAS. STAPLETON was given a hearing, and also urged that it would be unfair to him. When the motion referred to was framed, he had understood it had been for the purpose of protecting regular practitioners like himself.

Mr. DAVIDSON contended that a pro rata license was not asked for, but that the petitioner merely wanted his license year changed to Dec. 22nd instead of March 1st.

Mr. MOORE believed a sliding scale, such as adopted in the cities, would obviate difficulties of this kind.

Mr. Davidson moved, seconded by Mr. A. Hall, that Wyatt & Turner be granted a license for the balance of the year for $100, and in case they renew the license on the 1st of March they be allowed a rebate of $50.

Mr. Kelly moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee.—Carried.

MR. ADLAM'S CLAIM.

From Mr. E. A. Peck, solicitor, directing attention to Mr. Adlam's claim for damages resulting from alleged cruel treatment by a police officer, and stating that $150 would be accepted in full of damages, or an action instituted.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Jas. A. Ellis applied for remission from statute labor tax, as he was assessed for property qualification.—Granted.

THE HACKMEN'S BY-LAW.

The following communication was read:

To the Mayor and Council of the town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN,—We the undersigned hack owners of the town of Peterborough would humbly suggest a tariff on the following basis, viz., of charging 25 cents per head within the limits of say, Smith street on the north, Otonabee river on the east, Lake street on the south, Park street on the west. Trunks and valises 10c. extra, and outside of those limits not more than 50 cents per head, and for night calls not less than 50 cents to and from any part of the town.

W. WHELAN, H. DRAKE,
R. GIBBS, P. MOFFAT,
WM. SNOWDEN.

The communication was referred to the License Committee.

A BIG CHARITY BILL.

Mr. A. Hall, chairman of the Charity Committee, reported an expenditure for the month of $151.64. Mr. Hall explained that the bill was unusually large this month because Mr. Yelland's bread account, which had been running all summer, was included. The report was adopted.

The council then adjourned at the call of the Mayor.

Just received, One Car of Florida Oranges at Ostrom's.

Sanderson's Holiday Goods.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson, the jeweler, has received the first importation in town of Waterbury watches for ladies. These beautiful time-pieces are stem-winders and stem-setters, and are sold at the low price of $4.50—a marvel of cheapness and excellent timekeeping qualities. They are fully warranted. Mr. Sanderson is also agent for Masonic aprons and other Masonic goods. He has a splendid stock of silver plate ware, and a full assortment of jewelery suitable for holiday gifts. Holiday buyers should not fail to inspect his stock. dw

For Plush Goods, Toilet Sets, &c., go to A. L. Davis & Co.'s cash clearing sale at Cost Prices.

THE DOMINION'S TRADE

STATEMENT OF EXPORTS AND IMPORTS FOR NOVEMBER.

Circulation and Specie—Postoffice Savings Banks—Sir Charles Tupper to Come to Canada in April—Godin's Extradition.

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—The statement of exports for the month of November shows a total of $10,072,289, of which $9,491,394 is the produce of Canada and $580,875 the produce of other countries. Compared with the same month last year this shows a decrease of $894,126 in the produce of Canada and $304,326 in the produce of other countries. In the produce of Canada the decreases are:

Agricultural products	$286,676
Fisheries	220,659
Mines	43,736

The increases are:

Forest	$162,259
Animals and their products	126,146
Manufactures	6,049
Miscellaneous	4,561

In goods not the produce of Canada agricultural products show a decrease of $262,713, and every item shows a slight decrease except cut and tallow, which is $17,600 more than last November.

The statement of goods entered for consumption during November is:

Dutiable	$4,806,870
Coin and bullion	19,436
Free	2,613,983
Total	$7,438,289
Duty collected	$1,061,602

The aggregate of circulation and specie shows the amount outstanding Nov. 30 $16,506,34, being an increase of $70,429 over last month. The excess of specie and guaranteed debentures is $2,018,340.

The statement of Postoffice Savings Banks for November shows deposits during the month of $676,343, withdrawals $582,150, balance at the credit of depositors $21,465,906.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company will apply at the next session of the Dominion Parliament for an act authorizing the company to issue bonds in aid of the acquisition of steam vessels, to be run in connection with the company's railway, and to create a special charge on such vessels in respect of such bonds, and making other necessary provisions incidental thereto.

Sir Charles Tupper has cabled a reply to the enquiry made by the Canadian Pacific Railway arbitrators, as to when it would be most convenient for him to visit Canada to give evidence, that the middle of April would suit him best. The exact date will be fixed when the arbitrators meet next Thursday.

The Department of Justice is advised that Godin, the halfbreed murderer wanted in Montana, made an application for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Richardson refused the application, and Godin will accordingly be handed over to the American authorities at once, as the warrant for his extradition was issued some time ago.

With reference to the articles which have appeared in Sault Ste. Marie papers urging the establishment of a daily mail service in the Sudbury District, it is learned on application at the Postoffice Department that no request for a daily service has been received. The present service is tri-weekly from Sudbury and seems to meet present wants, but when the need of the district is increased no doubt a daily service will be established.

Lieutenant-Governor Royal of the Northwest Territory is here and has had interviews with Sir John and other ministers relative to the business of the territories. He will spend Christmas in Montreal and return to Regina next week. The principal object of his visit here is said to be in relation to various resolutions addressed to the Federal Government by the Northwest Assembly at its last session.

The district analysts throughout the Dominion have been instructed to make analyses of lard. The analyses of American lard made at headquarters show adulteration, not only with cottonseed oil but with much more injurious substances.

Mr. Ogilvie of the geological survey, about whose safety there was some anxiety, has been heard from at Victoria. He was delayed by ice.

Hon. G. E. Foster, Minister of Finance, will attend the Toronto Board of Trade dinner on Jan. 4.

The Dream is the only fishery protection vessel now in commission. She is stationed in the Bay of Fundy.

Three petitions for the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act are now under consideration, from the counties of Brant, Victoria and Kent.

FOUND BESIDE THE TRACK.

E. Powell of Niagara Falls Meets With a Fatal Accident at London.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 21.—The body of a man in a dying condition was found by one of the watchmen of the Grand Trunk Railway yards beside the track in the yard near the round house between 7 and 8 o'clock last night. The front of his head was crushed as if he had been struck by a large object, and it is surmised that he was on the Pacific express west and either leaned out from the car platform and so came in contact with a signal post or car in the yard, or else got off the train and was struck by a passing car. He did not live more than half an hour after being discovered. He was identified as E. Powell, car checker of Niagara Falls. An inquest was commenced to-day, when Henry Clifton, an adopted son of deceased, testified that Powell left the Falls yesterday morning for Chicago. Deceased was about 50, a sober man, was not married and had about $70 on his person. The inquest was adjourned until Thursday evening.

AN ABSURD CANARD.

The Story of the Plot to Assassinate Gen. Harrison Entirely False.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 21.—The report with reference to a plot to assassinate General Harrison is regarded as absurd. Mr. Harrison's private secretary denounces it as a canard.

The report created great indignation among General Harrison's many warm friends. At the Harrison household the story is unhesitatingly declared to be the purest fabrication without a shadow upon which to build it.

No one in the city can be found who ever heard of the alleged attempt upon General Harrison's life, nor had any thought of such a possibility seriously deranged the consideration of any of the General's friends or of his family as far as diligent enquiry can ascertain.

Owen Sound Votes $15,000 to the Polson's.

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 21.—The by-law to grant $15,000 to the Polson Iron Works Company, to assist in purchasing the dry dock here, was carried to-day by a large majority, there being only ten votes against it. The Polsons will this winter deepen, lengthen and widen the dock to take in the largest vessel on fresh water.

Gates at Level Crossings.

MONTREAL, Dec. 21.—The town of St. Johns, having got the Grand Trunk fined $10 a day for not putting gates on the level crossings, the railway appealed to have the case removed to the Superior Court, as it involved future rights, and this was granted by the Court of Appeals to-day.

Oshawa's Hotels Closed.

OSHAWA, Dec. 21.—On account of the heavy and repeated fines lately imposed on the Oshawa hotelkeepers they determined closing their premises against the general public and to-day teams and people from the country were refused accommodation.

A Fatal Blow With a Poker.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 22.—Thomas McConnelly, a young teacher who came to Kansas a short time ago from near Albany, N.Y., has been teaching at Asdale, fifteen miles west of here, yesterday, while explaining a problem at the blackboard, he was called a liar by a pupil. He remonstrated with the young man, when a free fight ensued, during which the teacher received a fatal blow on the head from a poker in the hands of one of the boys.

A Huge Tree Struck the Train.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Dec 22.—A milk train on the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad encountered a cyclone yesterday morning near Newfoundland, N. J. As the train was passing a huge tree it was torn up by the roots and crashed down upon the cars, breaking through the roof of the baggage car and ripping off the hood of the passenger coach. No one was hurt, but Conductor Corwin had a narrow escape.

RECEIVED WITH CHEERS.

THE SAFETY OF STANLEY AND EMIN REPORTED TO THE HOUSE.

Bitter Attack on Mr. Balfour in Committee—Mr. Tanner Suspended—A Murder Mystery—The Latest from Soakim.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Goschen, the acting Government leader, read amid cheers the telegram received by the West African Telegraph Company from St. Thomas reporting the arrival of Stanley and Emin on the Aruwhimi. Mr. Goschen stated that the Government had not received any direct official news confirming the report.

Mr. Rowntree asked Mr. Raikes, the Postmaster-General, if the Government would arrange to extend the parcel post system to the service with America.

Mr. Raikes said that with the exception of the United States there was not a civilized country in the world which was without the parcel post. He had lost no chance of pressing the question upon the attention of the United States post office authorities but the difficulty had been that the American law was supposed to and in the way. Recent enquiries, however, had led him to hope that the law barring the way to an postal convention would be overcome, and that some temporary arrangement would be made. He would certainly seize the first occasion to recall the subject to the attention of the American Government.

In committee on the appropriation bill Mr. Gorst being in the chair, Dr. Tanner offered an amendment opposing a grant of £300 to Captain Seagrave, an Irish resident magistrate.

The Government ruled the amendment out of order, as the grant had already passed the committee stage and been approved by the House.

Dr. Clark, Mr. Caldwell and Mr. Tanner here proposed amendments to various parts of the bill and Mr. Gorst ruled them all out of order.

Dr. Tanner excitedly protested against the chairman's ruling. He said: "When we are here in Committee of Supply appropriating money to a swindler, thief and servant of the Irish Secretary, Mr. Balfour ought to be here and not be such a coward as he is."

Mr. Gorst ordered Dr. Tanner to resume his seat and to withdraw the word "coward."

Dr. Tanner retorted: "I call him both a coward and a liar."

Mr. Goschen thereupon moved that Dr. Tanner be suspended. The House agreed without a division and Dr. Tanner left the chamber.

Operations Must be Enlarged.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—In the debate on East African affairs in the House of Lords to-day Lord Salisbury declared absolutely that there would be no expedition into the Soudan, but that Suakim must not be abandoned. He said he would not discuss the question of how far the garrison at Suakim must be increased, but the whole character of the operations must be enlarged. Any policy that was based on the idea that the friendly tribes would prefer the Government of England to that of Egypt was founded upon sand. Those who advised the Government to seize Suakim and boast the English flag there should study the treaty of Paris.

No News of Such A March.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—In the House yesterday, referring to the report that General Grenfell's next march would be against Handoub, Mr. Goschen stated that the Government had no news from General Grenfell showing that it was his intention to undertake such a march.

Osman Digna Expecting to be Attacked.

SUAKIM, Dec. 21.—Osman Digna has collected his forces at Handoub in expectation of an attack. Telegrams congratulating the troops have been received from Queen Victoria and the Khedive.

The Correspondence is Incomplete.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—In the House of Lords to-day the Earl of Dunraven asked Lord Salisbury when the Government intended to appoint a minister to succeed Lord Sackville at Washington.

Lord Salisbury replied: "I have told my noble friend privately that the correspondence on the subject of the minister to the United States is incomplete and therefore in accordance with a uniform rule I could say nothing. It has always been a usage that the responsibility for all appointments rests upon the Executive Government, while it is in the province of Parliament to pass judgment on them after they have been made but not to require the Government to give an opinion beforehand as to when they should be made. On these grounds I must leave the responsibility of introducing the subject on the noble Earl, and must ask the House to excuse me from making any reply."

The Stockton Election.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—In the parliamentary election in the Stockton division to-day Davey (Lib.) received 3689 votes and Wrightson (Con.) 3494. In the last election the Liberal candidate received 3882 and the Conservative 2882.

Another Murder Mystery.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The body of a woman whose name is unknown was found yesterday morning in the streets of Poplar, in the suburbs of London. An empty phial lay alongside the body and the impression first formed was that the woman had committed suicide. At the coroner's inquest to-day, however, the physicians who examined the body testified that there were no signs of poison in the stomach, and declared their belief that the woman had been murdered by strangulation. They said the condition of the body justified this belief, and in addition to that there was a mark on the woman's neck which showed that a small cord had been tied tightly around it. The woman was of low character. When the body was found it was still warm. It was lying in an open thoroughfare, and there is no possibility that the woman could have taken her own life. Some persons believe her murderer is identical with the Whitechapel fiend, who, they think, has adopted a new method of disposing of his victims.

A Celebrated Libel Case.

DUBLIN, Dec. 21.—In the case of Joyce v. Lord Clanricarde the Appeal Court has decided in favor of the latter, thus reversing the result of the original suit. Mr. Joyce, who was formerly agent for Lord Clanricarde, brought suit for libel against the latter, claiming £50,000 damages. The lower court gave him a verdict for £12,500.

Dynamiters in Paris.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—An attempt has been made to blow up the office of the Commissary of Police with a dynamite bomb. Nobody was injured.

Italy and the United States.

ROME, Dec. 21.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day the President read a letter from Prime Minister Crispi announcing that the American Senate had unanimously accepted, with every mark of sympathy for Italy, the bust of Garibaldi which the Italians had offered to express their gratitude to America. The contents of the letter were warmly applauded by the members.

Ashburnham Brevities.

The school closed Friday for a two weeks' holidays.

Mr. J. A Fife, B.A., is moving to his new residence on Stewart street.

The hull of Mr. Calcutt's new boat is near its completion.

Mr. J. J. Wright, of Queen's College, Kingston, is spending his holidays at home

Mr. Harry Rollins occupies the pulpit of the Methodist church at Zion to morrow.

Miss Annie Smith, who has been attending the Kindergarten school at Toronto, is home for the holidays.

Mr. R. Burgess, of Otonabee, is moving to the village and will occupy the house on the corner of Lake and Robinson streets.

Mr. W. R. Roosey, of Trinity Medical College, Toronto, is spending a few days in town, the guest of his brother, Mr. J. J. Roosey.

The staff of teachers for next year is Mr. J. J. Roosey, principal, Miss Jennie Smith, first assistant, and Miss Lucy Stevenson second assistant.

The nomination of school trustees takes place on Wednesday. Messrs. Peter Glover and John Smith are the present members whose term of office expires this year.

A man on his way home the other night purchased a quart of oysters at one of the grocers, and having occasion to call at a neighbor's house, he left his oysters carefully outside, and on coming to get them found that a voracious canine had visited them and without giving them any previous preparation had made them part of himself.

The ladies of St. Luke's church have just completed the Christmas decorations, and the church is being put in order for the Sunday services. Miss Strickland had charge of the chancel. In it are four festoons hanging from the centre of the ceiling to each of the four corners, and round the chancel window is a large wreath of evergreens, and on either side are mottoes in red letters, "A Light to Lighten the Gentiles," and "The Glory of Thy People Israel," underneath each of which is a cross of the same material. The choir seats are very tastily trimmed with wreaths of evergreens mixed with winter berries. The pulpit and font were in Miss Peck's charge, and are decorated similarly to the choir seats, the font having round it in addition, colored antique monograms on a groundwork of white. Mrs. Jackson and Miss Mills supervised the remaining parts of the decorations. The whole presents a very neat appearance, and although there was no effort at display, taste in arrangement is noticeable throughout.

Mr. Mulhern, proprietor of the Otonabee Roller Mills, expects to have all the machinery in motion on Monday, and the mill working to its fullest extent. A new piece of machinery, which will add very much to the convenience of the mill and which will save a great amount of trouble, is an "Automatic weighing machine," patented and manufactured by J. P. Dutton, Windsor, Ontario. This machine weighs all the grain as it is ground and registers the weight, so that without any labor on the part of the miller, he is able to tell accurately how much grain is ground every hour, or in fact every minute. This piece of mechanism shows the wonderful ingenuity of man.

The Matrimonial Question.

The next debate of the Otonabee Canoe Club will take place on Friday evening, 28th inst., when the subject of discussion will be the respective attractions of bachelor or married life. The matrimonial question is just now agitating the great minds of the time, and the debate will, no doubt, be an interesting one.

Rush Bros'. Store

A Look Through Their Large and Complete Grocery Establishment.

Messrs. Rush Bros. especially invite the ladies to call at their store during the holiday week, and see the finest display of groceries ever shown in Peterborough. The firm are hard taxed to wait upon all their customers, but they nevertheless find time to decorate their store and set the goods out to best advantage. Mr. T. O. Rush manages the store, and is ably assisted by Messrs. George Miller and C. H. Stapleton who all thoroughly understand the business in every detail, and are able to give customers anything they ask for from the large and complete stock, which is the best th markets of the world can produce. There is as fine a selection of fowl as it is possible to get together, fresh oysters received from Baltimore three times a week, California canned and evaporated fruits, Malaga grapes, California oranges, and in fact seasonable fruits of all kinds; fresh fish of every variety, lobsters, the finest apples for all purposes, kippered herrings in boxes of nine dozen at 40c. a box and the choicest goods of all kinds. Anything you want in their line Rush Bros. can give you. They keep the purest and best cider, both cured and sweet, and in teas cannot be beaten, selling 6 lbs. of Japan, new season, for $1.00, and 5 lbs. of another kind, new season Japan, for $1.00. Their celebrated pineapple cheese, cured by themselves, is a luxury to be procured nowhere else. A superb lot of fresh sea salmon just received. In fact their stock is unsurpassed in the country and while everything is of the best, it is also cheap in price, because Messrs. Rush Bros. buy for cash and sell at a small margin. They are bound to lead the trade.

Their store just now is a beauty spot to visit. It is handsomely decorated for the holiday season and the remarkably fine stock of goods is displayed to good advantage. The windows are beautifully set out. In one of them is an elk head, the finest specimen in the county, belonging to Mr. Claxton, and a moose head owned by Mayor Stevenson. There are nice pictures and other ornaments that make the place attractive, and an Indian war club, picked up after a battle between two tribes in the Northwest. It is a formidable looking weapon, and from its appearance has no doubt killed many a red warrior.

At night, Chinese lanterns shed their fantastic glow, and numerous small flags and other tasteful decorations, make the shop a scene of beauty. The decorations, in both design and execution, are the work of Mr. Charley Stapleton, and they reflect great credit on his taste.

The little colored boy in a neat uniform is there to help customers, and patrons of the firm of Rush Bros. can rely upon getting the best service possible, as well as the finest goods in the market at the fairest prices.

FIRED BY INCENDIARIES.

A DURHAM FARMER SUFFERS A SERIOUS LOSS.

His Barns, Stock, Grain and Implements Consumed—The Propeller Lake Ontario at Windsor Burnt at Charlotte.

FORT HOPE, Dec. 21.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning the family of Mr. Wm. Tambyn, lot 1, 3rd con. Clarke (Zion), were awakened by the barking of their watch-dog, when it was discovered that their barns and outbuildings were in flames. Three horses, sixteen head of cattle—among which were six fine cows and four fat cattle—400 bushels of oats, 200 bushels of barley, 150 bushels of wheat, a lot of corn, about twenty tons of hay, all the straw from the year's crops, a new self-binder, all the harness, a pair of platform scales and a lot of other property were destroyed. The fire was without doubt the work of an incendiary. There was a partial insurance on the barn and contents but not sufficient to cover one-fourth of the loss.

About 11 o'clock last night the dwelling of Mr. Robert Cockburn, lot 27, 1st con. Hamilton (Cobourg-road), took fire from a defective flue and everything was consumed.

Two Fires at Ingersoll.

INGERSOLL, Dec. 21.—A fire broke out yesterday evening in the Queen's Hotel, caused by a defective chimney. The fire brigade were quickly on the spot and prevented the destruction of the building, but there was considerable damage by water.

The residence of G. F. Gurnett was endangered last night by the explosion of a lamp. The fire was with difficulty extinguished.

A Propeller Burnt.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Dec. 21.—The propeller Lake Ontario of Windsor, Ont., was burnt at the dock at Charlotte this afternoon. The vessel is said to belong to T. M. Ryan of Buffalo. She was rated at Lloyds as valued at $21,000 and is a total loss. No insurance.

A SUPERSTITION IN THE WEST.

A Negress Tortures a Girl Who, She Thought, Had Bewitched Her.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 22.—A remarkable story is told by a merchant from Kingman County. "Near the little village of Zenas, Kingman County," he said, "lives a farmer named Bartlett with his family, consisting of a son of 21, a daughter of 16, and one of 8. The domestic work was done by a negro woman, who was formerly a slave. She imagined that she was bedevilled. The person supposed of having placed the spell on her was the elder daughter of her employer, and she informed the girl of her suspicion. The girl determined to have some fun out of the old negress, and said she was determined to keep the spell up until her victim was dead. The negress then commenced to design means of ridding herself of this terrible spell.

"A few nights ago she and the girl were left alone in the house while the rest of the family went to a neighbor's. The negress attacked the girl, tied her hand and foot, stripped her of all her clothing, beat her unmercifully, concluded her revenge by smearing the girl's body with paint. She then locked her victim up in a room and disappeared. It was not till the following morning that the girl was discovered. She is now in a critical condition. The negress has not yet been found."

Another account says the negress, after painting the girl's body, tired her up to an old fireplace and built a fire about her and then fled. The girl was shortly afterward found by a neighbor and rescued from her perilous position, but she died during the night. The country is being scoured for the negress, and if she is found she will be lynched.

SHE IS A DISAPPOINTED BRIDE.

Disappearance of an Alleged Son of an English Lord From Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 22.—Frank Wilford, an Englishman of 40, came here two years ago and was employed by Alderman W. E. Ridge as a groom. He often said that he was the son of an English lord, but that he was an outcast from his home on account of having led a wayward life while young. He received remittances from England, and about two months ago, when he left Ridge's service, had saved by her more than $2000.

While working for Ridge he fell in love with Dora Harding, who was employed by Mr. Ridge as nurse, and recently sent her to her home at Quincy, Ill., preliminary to marrying her. A new element was introduced into the story yesterday when Chief of Police Speers received the following letter from Dora:

"I would like your assistance in finding the whereabouts of Frank Wilford of Kansas City, Mo. I am a disappointed bride. I was to be married to-day, the 12th, but Mr. Wilford has not come yet. I have been waiting since Sunday. He sent me a telegram promising that he would be here that day. He sent me $200 for my wedding trousseau and he has been in Quincy since. He offered me more money if I needed it. I fear something has happened to him."

Robbers Descend on the Car Men.

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—There was quite a reign of terror among west side street car men last evening, caused by the raids of a gang of pickpockets. About 5 o'clock two men boarded a Madison-street car and attacked the conductor, endeavoring to rifle his pockets. A rough and tumble fight ensued. The conductor succeeded in reaching the bell rope and stopping the car, when both his assailants ran. The conductor and driver pursued them and captured both, turning them over to the police. The conductor was so badly beaten that he was compelled to lay off. Later in the evening another conductor was assaulted by two thugs and severely beaten, but he succeeded in protecting his cash and driving off his assailants. Several other conductors had their pockets picked of amounts ranging from $3 to $10, and one was held up near the Ogden-avenue barns, robbed of his watch and money and badly beaten.

Mother Carey Dead at 111.

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 22.—Mrs. Margaret Holland Carey, familiarly known as Mother Carey, died at the Wheeling Hospital this week at the age of 111. She was born in County Clare, Ireland, in 1778, married in 1801, and came to this country soon after. Her husband died thirty-three years ago at a ripe old age. About ten years ago Mrs. Carey purchased a tombstone for herself and kept it in her room up to the time of her death. She was a remarkable woman, having within the past year overcome an attack of typhoid fever. The immediate cause of her death was a fall received a few weeks ago. She was the oldest person in the state, if not in the country.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.
HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,540 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,531.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assur'nces.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136 976 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,007 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495 531 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

The Collegiate Institute Pupils

Give a Delightful Entertainment in the Opera House.

There was a smaller house than the occasion and the merits of the entertainment deserved at the concert of the Collegiate Institute pupils last night in Bradburn's Opera House. The programme opened with a selection by the Peterborough amateur orchestra, and this musical organization opened also the second part, and gave another selection. Last night the members of the orchestra seemed to have a lack of confidence and consequently did not put that spirit into their playing which they are able to do. They, however, gave much pleasure in the three selections they presented. In their part of the programme, the pupils acquitted themselves admirably and reflected great credit upon their painstaking and diligent instructor, Sergt.-Major Rundle. The figure march led by "The Daughters of the Regiment," a bright bevy of girls in uniform, was exceedingly well done. The dumb-bell exercises by a squad of boys was done in capital style. The tableau, "Charge," by the girls, presented a very pretty piece of posing, but the sweet, fresh faces of the girls robbed the picture of the aspect of fierceness, which bronze-skinned and moustached volunteers in the position of charging would present. There were two boxing bouts, between two lads, Masters G. Boucher and McLean, and two boys, Masters McWilliams and Stenson, which were very amusing. Boxing is not, however, a subject taught in the gymnasium, but a private enterprise of the pupils, who furnish their own gloves and uniforms, to buy for which latter entertainments are held to raise funds. The manual exercise with rifles (of wood) by the third form of girls was perfection. A spirited tableau presented by the boys, the "Midnight Alarm," was decidedly realistic. The sword exercises by the boys was given with great correctness and spirit. The exhibition of club swinging by the fourth form of girls, was capitally done, and the most careless observer could see the inevitable tendency of the exercise to develop the muscles of the chest, arms and shoulders, and enlarge the workshop of those vitally important organs, the lungs and heart. A lively exciting single stick bout between Cpt. Fife and Capt. Fitzgerald, was a fine exposition of scientific "stick poking," and showed how training had quickened the eye to perceive, and the hand to respond. An exciting tug of war went decidedly in favor of Capt. Fitzgerald's team. The bayonet exercise was very prettily done by a squad of girls. The tableau, "Rallying Square," was a delightful picture and was worthily greeted with warm applause, which indeed was not withheld from the various performances of the evening. To the thoughtful spectator the most interesting feature brought out by the exercises of the evening was the immense amount of physical benefit to be derived from a systematic practice of the course of training represented by the various exercises. At the conclusion of the performance Sergt.-Major Rundle addressed a few words on the subject of Brookbank gymnasium. He referred to the undoubted benefit of physical training, and stated that he had gone to the expense of fitting up the gymnasium in first-class manner, trusting to subscriptions which had been pledged, to be paid in tuition. Only a few of these subscribers had paid up, and he was left with the liability on his hands. He appealed to the public for their patronage of his gymnasium, and his appeal should be heeded. There is certainly room in a town this size for a first-class gymnasium, conducted as Brookbank would be under Sergt.-Major Rundle's management in first-class manner in every respect.

The Ledger-Keeper and Teller of a Local Bank Make a $90 Error—After the Man With the Needle.

The police are after one R. H. Wood, a millwright, who has recently been living in Lakefield. The offence for which he is wanted was committed this wise. Thursday afternoon he presented himself at a town bank to check out a balance of $4.00 to his credit. The ledger-keeper made out the cheque, but in filling in the figures at the top accidentally added an extra cipher and made the amount $40 00. Wood presented it to the teller for payment, and the latter merely glanced at the top figures without reading the body of the cheque, in which the amount was spelled out "four dollars," and paid $40.00 in cash. The mistake was not noticed till evening, and at once steps were taken to recover the lost money. It was ascertained that Wood had gone back to Lakefield and intended leaving next day for Inkerman, Ont., where his wife was residing. The trains were watched but Wood could not be seen, and it was learned by communication with Lakefield that he had driven to town during the night and taken the early C.P.R. train Friday morning for the west. It is said he told a relative at Lakefield to say nothing about the cheque to anyone, as he intended to keep the money.

The police were notified and a warrant sworn out for Wood's arrest. A telegram was sent to Inkerman, but so far no arrest has been made.

A County Case.

P.M. Edmison tried a case at the court house Thursday afternoon, Bell vs. Dean. The complainant, Mrs. Bell, of Bridgenorth, accused the defendant of using insulting language towards her. It seems there was a "little unpleasantness" between the two families, who each held an account against the other for articles borrowed both ways and charged for. The borrowing mania was carried on to an enormous extent between the two families, and trouble arose over some soft soap and soap grease. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant used opprobrious language towards her and called her "soft soap" or addressed her, "hello, soap grease." This the defendant denied, and evidence was produced to try to show the plaintiff's family bore a rather hard name in the village. Judgment was given for plaintiff for $1 and costs. Mr. G. MRoger appeared for the defendant.

A New Local Journal.

The new paper, the Baptist Visitor, made its appearance from the office of the EXAMINER yesterday. It is published in the interests of the Peterborough and Port Hope Baptist churches, under the joint editorship of the Revs. P. Clifton Parker and D. Reddick, B.A. It is a bright, interesting eight page quarto paper, full of news of a denominational and a general religious character. Its "heading" was designed by the Toronto Engraving Company, and represents the Divine Visitor, as He utters the words, "Behold I stand at the door and knock," in the act of knocking at a door around which the ivy has become entwined. The Visitor is neatly printed in clear type, on good toned paper, and its general make up is excellent. It is speaks well for the enterprise of the Baptist churches to have a paper of such a character and in thus keeping their work before their adherents and the public. We wish for the Visitor an increasing interest and patronage, and hope by another year it may double its readers and pages. The Visitor will be issued monthly and five hundred copies are circulated gratuitously.

New Secret Work.

Mr. St. Weir, District Deputy Grand Master of the Loyal True Blues Association of this district, returned this morning from Hamilton, where he went Thursday evening to attend a meeting of the Secret Work Committee. New secret work is being got out in order to frustrate the designs of two traitorous members of the order, who recently tried to sell the secrets in their possession to the Toronto newspapers. To avoid all possible trouble a new secret work is being compiled.

A Time to be Silent and a Time to Shout.

Written for the Examiner.

In oldeven Joshua commanded
The Israelitish army,
And round the walls of Jericho
Walked six days, once a day.

And, on the seventh day, six times
The walls they circled round,
And no one lifted up his voice,
Nor was there any sound.

The seventh time brings a great reward
For silent duties done;
They shout, and down the walls fall flat,
And Jericho is won.

And Israel learned that not by might,
Nor prowess of their own,
But by the arm of God made bare
The walls were overthrown.

No murmurings of discontent
At what seem'd idle play;
They knew the victory was theirs
Through faith in God's own way.

The ardent warrior, eager for
The fray—hard lesson this,
Acquir'd—that self-control, than all
Achievements, greater is.

As silently, as powerfully
Nature her forces wields,
As soon in growth of seed till time
It ample harvest yields

More potent the calm river's depths
Than brook that babbling flows,
And noiselessly the fruit full tree
Her precious fruit bestows.

The quiet and consistent lives
Of Christians God will bless,
In breaking down the walls around
Proud hearts of stubbornness.

Life's oft repeated arduous tasks
Should not our hearts dismay,
The hour of triumph draweth near,
While humbly we obey.

Remembered by their Pupils.

In Friday's issue the EXAMINER noticed the presentation of Christmas gifts to Misses Irwin, McLeod and Martin, teachers in the South ward school, by their pupils. Mr. John Stirling, headmaster, was also remembered, by being presented with a handsome plush shaving case. Friday afternoon, at the close of the term, Mr. Wm. Smith, headmaster of the Central school, and Mr. W. H. Walkis, his assistant, were presented by the pupils of their respective classes with Christmas gifts, the former receiving an ink stand and book of etchings, and the latter a Companion. All these presentations were accompanied by complimentary addresses, expressive of the popularity of the teachers among their pupils.

Address and Presentation.

Miss K. Connell, of Hamilton, who has been teaching for the past two years in the fourth division of the Separate School, (boys) on Murray street, was made the recipient of an address and a beautiful souvenir, in the shape of a combined writing desk and lady's companion, covered in black Morroco, from the teachers and pupils of the school on Friday. Miss Connell warmly thanked the pupils and teachers for the beautiful and costly presents, and remarked that it would serve to remind her of the two happy years spent in Peterborough. Miss Connell goes to the Ottawa Normal School after the holidays.

Mortuary Statistics.

The Canadian mortuary statistics for November have just arrived, showing the deaths in Peterborough during the month to have been 8—3 males and 5 females. A comparison with the death rate of other towns and cities will be interesting:—Montreal 443, Toronto 152, Hamilton 56, Halifax 76, Ottawa 88, Winnipeg 30, Kingston 17, Brantford 12, St. Thomas 7, Guelph 11, Belleville 10, Chatham 12, Windsor 14, Galt 9, Sherbrooke 16, etc.

Removal.

W. J. Green, merchant tailor, has removed his place of business to 145 Hunter street, lately occupied by Dawson Bros., where he will continue to give good bargains in honest goods. Parties requiring suits of clothes, overcoats, etc., etc., made to order can do so. Also gents' furnishings in endless variety. Also issuer of marriage licenses. dw W. J. GREEN.

Promoted.

The following from the Guelph Mercury refers to Mr. Alf. Edmond well known in town as an employe of the C. P. R. here:—Mr. A. Edmonds, late of Peterborough, who has been promoted to the position of chief ticket clerk in the C. P. Railway office at the Union station, Toronto. This is a high tribute to Mr. Edmonds' capabilities.

Preparing For Christmas.

There was a large Christmas market this morning, despite the intense cold. In the market building a perfect crush resulted, while on the square there was such a crowd that business was transacted with difficulty. Fowl and beef were the principal commodities offered, the former selling at high prices. Turkeys went at from 75c. to $1.25 and geese 60c. to $1; beef 4c. and 5c. Butter sold at 23c. and eggs, few offered, at 20c.

Money is Welcome.

Don Quixote, writes to the Millbrook Reporter in a generous spirit as follows:—I regret to hear that Mosey Pethick talks of selling out and going to Peterborough. Something should be done to induce him to "bide" with us. We cannot afford to loose so many of our enterprising men, but then we must not be selfish, our loss will be Peterborough's gain.

A Splendid Portrait.

In the window of Clegg's furniture shop is exhibited this afternoon a life-size, three-quarter-profile portrait in oil of Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., by Mr. Thos. Workman. The picture is at once a speaking likeness and a fine work of art. The treatment is different from that usually employed. The background of golden brown, deepened or lightened to bring out the colder tints of the hair or drapery, or the warmer tints of the face, is very effective. The attire is that usually worn by Mr. Belcher during the day, and it is reproduced in a most realistic manner, while the face, hair and beard have been caught to the life. Mr. Belcher might go very much much farther and not secure a better likeness than has been placed on canvas by Mr. Workman, whose superior it is hard to find even amongst the artists of our large cities.

Christmas Generosity.

The Young Men's Christian Association were to-day grateful recipients of a cheque for $200 from Mrs. Robert Nicholls, a gift which their present circumstances renders peculiarly acceptable, the more so that it was entirely unsolicited. This Association deserves encouragement, and no more acceptable way of giving it could be adopted than that pursued by Mrs. Nicholls of sending in an occasional voluntary contribution; and it should be remembered that responsibility in this matter is not confined to the rich alone.

Solar Eclipse.

The first day of the new year will be marked in the celestial sphere, and we suppose the terrestial also, by a total eclipse of the sun, but the great spectacle will be shut out from Canadians in Ontario. It will appear in the fulness of its phenomenal beauty to the people of California; and those who dwell on the great expanse of land north of Lake Superior will view it also as a total obscurity.

THE YOUNG MEN will render a choice musical programme, with recitations, etc., interspersed, at their tea and entertainment, Thursday evening, 27th Dec. Don't miss it. 2d

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

THE MAYORALTY!

Address to the Electors:

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1889. In accepting this candidature, I have been influenced by various reasons.

In the first place, Mr. Stevenson openly declared last year that he would not again be a candidate for the position. He not only stated so publicly, but has repeatedly assured me personally that he would, on no consideration, consent to become a candidate for another term, and that, as another member of the council was anxious for the position, he (Mr. Stevenson) preferred that I should be the candidate.

In the second place, I do not think that it is in the interests of the town that any one man, no matter how good a man he may be, should occupy the positions of Mayor of the town, Chairman of the School Board, Chairman of the Town Trust Commission, and President of the Gas Company,—all directly affecting the interests of the ratepayers.

These different concerns involve a large expenditure of the people's money, and it is desirable, and it is obviously proper, that the necessarily conflicting personal and corporation interests that are at issue should be administered by an official, not personally concerned in getting the best end of a bargain at the expense of the town.

In the third place, I am opposed to the large expenditure in connection with the Collegiate Institute, of which my opponent is the foremost champion. I am not in favour of educating rich man's sons at the expense of the poor, but, on the other hand, believe that the most liberal expenditure of money is justifiable in maintaining and adding to the efficiency of our public schools. I am in favour of having the public schools brought to so high a standard that when a poor man's son is compelled to leave them, as he has to do at the age of 14 or 15, he may be thoroughly equipped with a practical education that will fit him for any business career he may see fit to enter upon. Those who wish to go higher in the educational scale have access to a provincial university maintained at the public expense.

I am opposed to the importation of outsiders to fill places of trust in town, when as good men, if not better men, are available at home. I could cite many flagrant instances of disregard of this fair principle, but have not space in this brief address to advert to them.

There are many other questions, such as the assessment of the homes of the middle class, to their highest dollar of value and placing a half assessment on the palatial homes of the wealthy, thus tending to the adoption of a policy for making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer; these are of interest to the ratepayers, upon which, if I receive the confidence of the public, I will always be found arrayed on the side of the people, as against cliques, corporations and monopolies of all kinds.

I need only to mention, in order to enforce the glaring impropriety of a parliamentary representative occupying the Mayor's chair. The interests of the representative, no matter how just and crying the needs of the town may be, will be directed as we have had frequent examples of, to the promotion of personal and family interests, leaving those of the town to take their precarious chances on their own merits.

During my past record in the council I have endeavored to stand up fearlessly in defence of what I considered just and in the best interests of the town, irrespective of any person, and if honored with your confidence I will in the future pursue the same course.

Hoping, electors, that you will show on polling day that you are opposed to one man being placed year after year in a position in which an opportunity is presented of advancing personal and other interests at the expense of the town,

I remain, very faithfully,

HENRY DENNE.

TURNBULL'S

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

We are showing Dress Goods a Dress Goods value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if fulled. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be

Our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value. Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

Mr. Stevenson's Reply.

GENTLEMEN,—

Although I had almost definitely decided to retire from active and official participation in municipal matters, yet the desire, as expressed in the foregoing requisition, seems to be of so general and representative a character, that I feel that I would be doing less than my duty as a citizen if I failed to respond to it, therefore, though I do so with personal reluctance, in compliance with the formal demand for my services, I hereby consent to become a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1889. In so doing I think I have a right to feel that my past services have been employed in the best interests of the town, which could hardly be otherwise, when it is borne in mind that I have no small share of material interests to be affected by the administration of the municipal affairs of the town. It is, therefore, my own interest to use my best efforts to secure economical and prudent management of civic matters, and I think my past course is a sufficient guarantee that the public interest will not meet with neglect at my hands. I might suggest that my efforts in promoting manufacturing industries shows that my interest in labouring men is not of a merely sentimental character. I am a comparatively large employer of labor, and endeavor to put my interest in the laboring classes into practical effect, and shall, if again honored with the confidence of the citizens, use my best efforts to maintain the rights and promote the interests of all classes of the community. I do not seek the office of mayor, but if I am chosen I shall not fail to do my best in the future as I have done in the past, to discharge its duties faithfully. I, therefore, place myself in your hands and allow you to put my name in nomination for the position of mayor, assured that I can count upon your assistance in securing my return.

I have the honor to remain, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
JAMES STEVENSON.

Rev. Alex. Bell on "The Bible."

A Summary of the Address in St. Andrew's, on Sunday Night.

"All Scripture is given by inspiration of God," were the opening words of the two passages of Scripture, recited by Rev. Alex. Bell, in St. Andrew's church on Sunday night, to introduce his subject of the relation of the Church of Rome to the Bible. The large church was well filled with people, who listened with earnest attention to the remarks of the speaker.

The passages cited, the speaker stated, referred only to the Old Testament scriptures which were written under divine inspiration to give expression to the will of God. These writings were sacredly guarded by the Jews, and, at length collected, they formed the Old Testament, which was compiled in its present form four hundred years before the birth of Christ. So jealously were these Scriptures guarded that every line, every word and every letter were counted and recorded, so that change or addition was impossible. These books, which came from the Jews and not from Rome, were alone recognized by Jesus Christ. They were preserved by the Jews at God's command. St. Paul states that to the Jews were committed the oracles of God, to be by them handed down to Christendom—to the several churches, and more than to any other of the primitive churches. The Old Testament was pure and unadulterated. In seven hundred Hebrew manuscripts, no variation of text was to be observed. Rome, the speaker asserted, never gave a single Hebrew Bible to the world, and in this neglect she betrayed the trust imposed upon her in common with other primitive churches, when she was given the Bible to hand down to other generations. The New Testament also came from God. It was written by holy men, inspired for the work endowed, with the Holy Spirit and under its influence the sayings of Christ after he had left the world, "were brought to their remembrance." At first the teachings of the Apostles were oral, but when persecution came and the consequent danger to life, the obvious suggestion that the words of Christ be committed to writing came and thus we had the four versions of the sayings of Christ as found in the four Gospels, now included in the New Testament. The churches, founded by those Apostles in the course of their ministry necessarily widely separated, in time grew to need the counsel and advice of their founders, and therefore we had the Epistles, which were not written with expectation of being preserved but to suit the circumstances, which suggested their writing. These were preserved by the different churches to which they were sent. But the writers passed away and the wisdom of collecting these epistles as a sacred storehouse was acted upon. Of the twenty-seven books of the New Testament twenty-three were written thirty-five years after the crucifexion and the whole of them within sixty-five years after the death of Christ. Christ's teachings in these books embodying Christ's teachings, as given in the Gospels, and those committed to the Apostles, constitute

NOT TO THE CHURCH OF ROME

THE SOLE RULE OF FAITH.

These books, as collected together, were recognized by all the churches immediately after the Apostolic age. The preacher mentioned several names of a long chain of Christian writers in the immediately post-apostolic age who bore testimony to the genuineness of these Scriptures as well as of Jewish and heathen writers who attested the same fact. The Syriac and old Latin translations tended to give confirmation Early catalogues of the Bible were identical with the canon as it existed at the present day. There had been no "councils" called to settle the authenticity of these Scriptures, but the whole of the churches were unanimous in accepting them. Jerome's canon—the Latin Vulgate—was accepted by the western churches, of which Rome was the centre—though the church of Rome was not the only church, she was only one of the churches, that received the Scriptures, and with no superior authority. About this time the Bible became scattered over Europe and also reached England and Ireland, and the latter county retained the Bible and its independence of Rome, till the twelfth century. From the time that Constantine became the patron of the church, and Rome, from being associated with royal patronage, began to assert its claim, and, becoming popular, thousands not actuated by Christian principles flocked to it, became incorporated with it, and thus idolatrous rites, practices and superstitions were grafted upon the ceremonies of that church. The rites and doctrines of the church were varied to suit the desires of those whom the patronage of Constantine had attracted to the church of Rome.

FROM THIS TIME

heresies, abuses and false doctrines became grafted upon the church of Rome, and for three hundred years superstition, revolution and anarchy were rife. All this time, the speaker asserted, Rome kept the Bible in the background. But in Ireland, till the twelfth century, and in Scotland and the south of France, the Bible held a place in the hearts of the people as a protest against the usurpation of the church of Rome. Then followed persecutions, with the aim of destroying the Bible. Wyklif translated the Bible, but his translation was condemned by the church of Rome; the Bible must not be given to the people, and wherever his translation could be found, it was burned, and to show Rome's detestation of the Bible, it translator's bones were dug from its grave after forty years interment, and given to the flames, and the ashes scattered. In 1408 the Bible was forbidden to be used in the schools, and the speaker argued that Rome did not change, because she was at the present day opposed to the use of the Bible in the schools. Subsequent translators of the Bible met the same general gate as Wyklif. After allusion to the long course of struggles for the preservation of the Bible, it was pointed out that the Bible came down to the present day through fire and sword. Rome has always opposed the Bible, and Bible societies. It even refused to permit the Douay version for circulation among its people. Such as Rome's opposition has been in the past, such was it to-day.

ROME HAD NOT CHANGED

in her opposition to the Bible, and instances were sited to show that Roman Catholics were forbidden to read or have Bibles in their possession. The Roman Catholics recognized the Latin Vulgate, but they never went beyond that they claimed it was perfect yet it was inquired why did Pope Sixtus revise a perfect Bible omitting from and adding whole verses at will, and why did Pope Clement condemn the edition of Pope Sixtus—one infallible Pope condemning the work of another infallible Pope? The Douay Bible was given unwillingly to counteract the influence of the Protestant Bible. The notes to the Douay version were used (the speaker reading one of the notes by way of illustration) to enforce the corrupt doctrines of Rome. The speaker pointed out that the Protestant Bible was better than the Douay Bible, because it agreed more closely with the original Greek text, prepared by the collection of from thirteen hundred to fifteen hundred original manuscripts. The Papacy was denounced as the enemy of the Bible, which was so little valued that even doctors in her church had reached that degree without ever having seen the Bible. The speaker closed his address by an eloquent eulogy of the Bible, and by urging Protestants to unite and remain firm in the practice of its precepts and in their determination to maintain its supremacy and freedom.

A VICTORY FOR MANITOBA

THE SUPREME COURT'S JUDGMENT IN THE CROSSING CASE.

Unanimous Decision in Favor of the Province—The Question at Issue and the Text of the Judgment.

OTTAWA, Dec. 22.—The Supreme Court judges caused general surprise this morning by unanimously deciding in favor of Manitoba in the railway crossing case. The impression, partly caused by expressions dropped by the judges during the argument, that the case would go against the province had become so general that little interest was taken in the formal decision, and few persons were present when judgment was given. The lawyers in court were Hon. William Macdougall, Q.C., Mr. Sedgewick, Q.C., Deputy Minister of Justice O'Gara, Q.C., Mr. Clark, solicitor for the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Mr. Sinclair.

Chief Justice Ritchie read the question submitted by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council as follows:

Is the said statute of Manitoba, passed last April, in view of the provisions of Chapter 109 Revised Statutes of Canada, particularly section 121 thereof, and in view of the Railway Act of 1888, particularly sections 272 and 307, valid and effectual, so as to confer authority on the railway commissioners in said statute of Manitoba mentioned to construct such a railway as the Portage extension of the Red River Valley Railway crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Railway Committee first approving of the mode and place of crossing and first giving their directions as to the matters mentioned in sections 174, 175 and 176 of the said Railway Act?

Sections 306 and 307 of the Railway Act, under which the question arose, are as follows:

Section 306. The Intercolonial Railway, the Grand Trunk Railway, the North Shore Railway, the Northern Railway and the Hamilton Railway, the Northwestern Railway, the Canada Southern Railway, the Great Western Railway, the Credit Valley Railway, the Ontario and Quebec Railway, and the Canadian Pacific Railway are hereby declared to be works for the general advantage of Canada, and each and every branch line of railway now or hereafter connecting with or crossing the said lines of railway or any of them is a work for the general advantage of Canada.

Section 307. Every such Railway branch line shall hereafter be subject to the legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada, but the provisions of any Act of the Legislature of any province of Canada, passed prior to 26th May, 1883, relating to one such railway or branch line, and in force at that date, shall remain in force so far as they are consistent with any act of the Parliament of Canada passed after that date.

The Chief Justice then read the following judgment:

This court, having heard counsel for the Province of Manitoba and also the Canadian Pacific Railway, is unanimously of the opinion that the said statute of Manitoba is valid and effectual so as to confer authority on the railway commissioner in the said statute of Manitoba mentioned to construct such a railway as the Portage extension of the Red River Valley, crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Railway Committee first approving of the mode and place of crossing and first giving their directions as to the matters mentioned in sections 174, 175 and 176 of the said Railway Act.

Given this 22nd day of December 1888.

"This," went on the Chief Justice, "will be entered on the records and it will be transmitted to the Railway Committee under the seal of the court."

Mr. Mowat thus scores another legal victory and Mr. Blake meets a legal defeat.

Mr. Gormully, of Gormully & Sinclair, at once wired the result to Attorney-General Martin of Manitoba.

Sir Hector Langevin, Chairman of the Railway Committee, was seen and asked what the probable result of the Supreme Court opinion would be.

"I decline to express any opinion," said Sir Hector, "but leave it to the court."

It is understood that the mode of procedure now will be that so soon as the official reply of the court is received by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council Attorney General Martin will be notified that his application for permission to cross can now be considered and the committee will proceed to settle the place and manner of crossing as in similar applications.

The usual notice given is about ten days, but if Attorney-General Martin likes to waive notice the matter may come up at the next meeting of the committee, which will be on Jan. 4.

Rejoicing at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 23.—There is great rejoicing here over the news from Ottawa that the Supreme Court of the Dominion has given unanimous decision in favor of the Province of Manitoba in the dispute arising over the crossing of the Canadian Pacific tracks.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Three Nitro-Glycerine Magazines go up Near Bradford, Pa.

BRADFORD, Pa., Dec. 23.—A terrible explosion of nitro-glycerine took place at Buchanan Hollow, near this city, about 6 o'clock last evening. Three magazines, containing about 3000 pounds of the compound, exploded. The magazines belonged to George Casterline, "Curley" Baker and French & Gormerly. The shock was terrific, shattering windows and shaking houses and barns within a radius of five miles.

James Stewart, a milkman, occupied a house about a quarter of a mile from the magazines. His dwelling tumbled to pieces, burying him, his wife and five children. Two of the children were badly injured and will probably die.

At Tarport, a suburb of this city, all the windows in the stores on the north side of Main-street were shattered by the force of the explosion. W. L. Ward's house, near the magazines, fell in and Mrs. Ward received probably fatal injuries. One side of Eugene Reddington's house fell in and two of his children were slightly hurt by falling timbers.

It is rumored that at the magazines two "shooters" were killed.

MRS. WHITELING TO BE HANGED.

The Pennsylvania Murderess to Pay the Penalty of Her Crimes.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—Mrs Sarah Jane Whiteling, convicted of the murder of her little daughter by poisoning, was yesterday sentenced to be hanged. Mrs. Whiteling received her sentence with indifference.

The murder of little Bertha was the indictment on which Mrs. Whiteling was convicted, but had conviction failed she would have been tried for the murder of her husband and her infant boy Willie. The husband and two children died within a period of three months last spring, and after her arrest Mrs. Whiteling confessed to having poisoned them all for a few hundred dollars insurance which was carried on their lives. The defence was insanity.

An Abuse of Power.

HAVANA, Dec. 23.—Advices have been received from Hayti to the effect that the dispute over the seizure of the American steamer Haytian Republic has been settled, the steamer delivered to the American men-of-war and the latter have honored the Haytien flag with a salute of 21 guns. Among the people the action of the United States Government is considered an abuse of power against a helpless nation, and this opinion is said to be shared by some of the foreign diplomatic representatives.

$13,941.

Christmas Thank-offering of St. Paul's Methodist Church, Brampton.

BRAMPTON, Dec. 22.—In answer to the appeal of Rev. J. Philp, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church, for $12,000 towards the extinction of the floating debt, as a Christmas thank-offering to God, the congregation put upon the plate $13,941.

IN MISSISSIPPI'S FLOOD.

NEARLY TWO SCORE PERSONS LOSE THEIR LIVES.

The Packet Kate Adams Taken Fire, Having 200 Persons on Board—Driven by the Flames Into the River—Many Perish.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 23.—The elegant passenger steamer Kate Adams, running as a semi-weekly packet between Memphis and Arkansas City, burned this morning near Commerce, Miss., forty miles north of this city. She was en route to Memphis and had nearly 200 passengers aboard including her crew of 8, 25 cabin passengers, 60 deck passengers, and 25 colored cabin passengers. The fire, which caught in some cotton near the forward end of the boilers, was discovered about 8 o'clock. The passengers were at breakfast and when the alarm was given they all made a rush for the forward deck. At the time the steamer was about 300 yards from the Mississippi side of the river and her bow was at once headed for the shore. Pilot J. A. Barton was on watch and remained heroically at his post until she was safely landed.

Harry Bust, the second clerk, who was seated at the table when the alarm was given, brought all the ladies and children forward and assisted them ashore. Captain Mark Cheek, who was on the hurricane deck, remained there giving his commands until the stage plank was safely lowered. The fire by this time had spread all through the cabin and he was compelled to retreat to the rear and climbed over the rails and descended to the cabin. Here he found Chief Clerk W. C. Blanker, who had made an effort to save the money and papers of the steamer, which were in the safe. He managed to grab the money, but was cut off from the bow and forced back into the cabin. As he was groping his way aft he stumbled and fell over some chairs and lost all the valuables he had secured and it was with great difficulty that he succeeded in reaching the rear through the blinding smoke and flames which filled the cabin. Captain Cheek seized a life preserver and placing it on Chief Clerk Blanker, helped him overboard into the water. He floated down about three miles before he was rescued by parties who had walked ashore and followed him down the river. The Captain also assisted several others in securing life preservers, and when it was no longer possible for him to remain without being burned, he too jumped into the river and swam ashore. There were about 25 colored cabin passengers who were saved along with the white passengers.

On the lower deck, however, a fearful panic seized the crew and passengers. Those who were cut off from escape from the bow were compelled to jump overboard to save their lives. The stern of the burning steamer had by this time swung into the river, and an effort was made to launch the yawl, but it was capsized shortly after touching the water by the crowd which filled it, and many of its occupants were drowned. They were mostly colored men, but there were three or four women among them. The loss, so far as can be learned, is as follows: George Corbet, third clerk, aged 20 years, who had launched the yawl and was trying to save the colored women in the lower deck. He leaves a wife, who resides in St. Louis. Joe Porter, Andrew Rees, Monroe Jackson, Jim Nelson, Senator Coleman and Hilliard Horton of the colored cabin crew and Lee Finley and Frank Wells, colored roustabouts. In addition about 15 deck passengers, four of whom were white men, were also drowned. In this list of unknown were three colored women and two children.

The Kate Adams cost $102,000 and was insured for $32,750. The safe contained about $4000, about $2000 of this belonging to passengers who had given it to the clerk for safe keeping. The cargo consists of 1161 bales of cotton, 1900 sacks of cotton seed, 87 bags and a good list of sundries which are well insured.

Murdered for $400.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 23.—Two men fishing in the Sugar River near Mount Vernon yesterday made the ghastly find of a bag containing a human head sunk in the river. The head was identified as that of William Cryst, a young man who has been employed as a cheesemaker in the village factory. An investigation resulted in the strongest circumstantial evidence pointing to Jos. Davidson, a cheesemaker, as the murderer. Cryst lived with the latter, and partially burned bedclothes stained with blood were found concealed in the cellar. Davidson left Mount Vernon a week ago and has not been heard from since. He is said to have purchased a ticket for Europe. The motive of the crime was probably to get possession of $400 which the murdered man had in his possession.

London's Latest Mystery.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The Poplar district, the scene of London's latest sensational murder, is swarming with detectives, who are endeavoring to elucidate the mystery surrounding the death of the strangled woman. The murderer evidently used a short cat-gut string with handles on the ends, similar to the nippers used by American policemen to enforce locomotion in refractory prisoners, and the belief is growing that the woman is another victim of "Jack, the Ripper," who has changed his method of doing business.

French Affairs.

PARIS, Dec. 23.—The proposal to detach from the new bankruptcy bill the clauses applicable to the Panama Canal Company is likely to prove abortive The report of the committee on the bill declares that the clauses hang together. The committee will ask that the bill be placed as an order of the day immediately after the passage of the Budget for the purpose of hastening the adoption of the measure.

CHRISTMAS.

The theme is old, as the incarnation of its prototype, yet the feelings it arouses are ever new. While we all join in the general rejoicing and merry-making the season evokes, how few of us realize to the full extent the immeasurable significance of the occasion! How few of us realize, when we are opening our hearts in kindly impulses, and crystallising those impulses into affectionate gifts, that these gifts are but a frail and inadequate symbolism of the priceless gift of the Redeemer of mankind, who, "as on this day," entered our sin-blighted world as its Saviour. While custom has hallowed the conventional observance of Christmas, as it now universally obtains, it seems, nevertheless, that a broader and more practical view should be taken of the obligations it imposes upon every Christian person. Christ came as the friend of the friendless, the helper of the needy, and that follower of His will best fulfil his obligations by following in the footsteps of the Master he professes to serve. And at the Christmas tide this obligation will particularly suggest itself in the form of an enlarged liberality towards the suffering and friendless poor. If every person who has it in his power were to do a practical kindness to his needy neighbor to-morrow, the Christmas Day of 1888 in Peterborough would be the happiest one that ever brightened the town. No man, if he remembers his obligations, can sit down to his Christmas feast and enjoy it, if he knows that, within the reach of his aid, there is one person to be relieved, to be warmed, to be fed, to be clothed. No time of the year is so favorable to practical application of one's belief in the true significance of Christmas as December 25th. If we are rich we can, out of our superabundance make scores of poor and needy happy, and should we be poor and have but enough, if we share that sufficiency with one who has none, our remaining moiety will have a sweeter taste. While we wish with ever so much fervency that our neighbors may enjoy a "Merry Christmas,' it will be but an empty formality if we fail to do what in us lies to give effect to the spirit of our wish. Were this principal more generally acted upon, to-morrow would be in a fuller sense what the EXAMINER cordially wishes it may be to all the world and especially to all its readers, A MERRY CHRISTMAS!

His Idea of Cheek.

The Millbrook Reporter editor remarks:—"For pure, undefiled cheek I think the following takes the "bun." A man in this village procured a market ticket for Peterborough last Saturday, and when there purchased a pair of shoes for his wife, which, upon his arrival home, proved to be too small; he then had the "gall" to ask one of our local merchants to change the boots, as he did not want to go to Peterborough again." It occurs to our printer's "devil" that it was not so much a case of too big cheek as too big feet.

Rush Bros'. Store

A Look Through Their Large and Complete Grocery Establishment.

Messrs. Rush Bros. especially invite the ladies to call at their store during the holiday week, and see the finest display of groceries ever shown in Peterborough. The firm are hard taxed to wait upon all their customers, but they nevertheless find time to decorate their store and set the goods out to best advantage. Mr. T. O. Rush manages the store, and is ably assisted by Messrs. George Miller and C. H. Stapleton who all thoroughly understand the business in every detail, and are able to give customers anything they ask for from the large and complete stock, which is the best the markets of the world can produce. There is as fine a selection of fowl as it is possible to get together, fresh oysters received from Baltimore three times a week, California canned and evaporated fruits, Malaga grapes, California oranges, and in fact seasonable fruits of all kinds; fresh fish of every variety, lobsters, the finest apples for all purposes, kippered herrings in boxes of nine dozen at 40c. a box and the choicest goods of all kinds. Anything you want in their line Rush Bros. can give you. They keep the purest and best cider, both cured and sweet, and in teas cannot be beaten, selling 6 lbs. of Japan, new season, for $1.00, and 5 lbs. of another kind, new season Japan, for $1.00. Their celebrated pineapple cheese, cured by themselves, is a luxury to be procured nowhere else. A superb lot of fresh sea salmon just received. In fact their stock is unsurpassed in the country and while everything is of the best, it is also cheap in price, because Messrs. Rush Bros. buy for cash and sell at a small margin. They are bound to lead the trade.

Their store just now is a beauty spot to visit. It is handsomely decorated for the holiday season and the remarkably fine stock of goods is displayed to good advantage. The windows are beautifully set out. In one of them is an elk head, the finest specimen in the county, belonging to Mr. Clurton, and a moose head owned by Mayor Stevenson. There are nice pictures and other ornaments that make the place attractive, and an Indian war club, picked up after a battle between two tribes in the Northwest. It is a formidable looking weapon, and from its appearance has no doubt killed many a red warrior.

At night, Chinese lanterns shed their fantastic glow, and numerous small flags and other tasteful decorations, make the shop a scene of beauty. The decorations, in both design and execution, are the work of Mr. Charley Stapleton, and they reflect great credit on his taste.

The little colored boy in a neat uniform is there to help customers, and patrons of the firm of Rush Bros. can rely upon getting the best service possible, as well as the finest goods in the market at the fairest prices.

ADDITIONAL NEWS OF STANLEY AND EMIN BEY.

The Latter Unwilling to Leave Wadelai—The Report of the Explorers' Arrival on the Arawhimi Confirmed.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 23.—One of the special messengers sent in to the interior in October, in the hope of obtaining news of Emin and Stanley from caravans, has sent a despatch announcing that he met Arab traders from Wadelai who positively affirmed that Stanley met Emin there about Jan. 20. Stanley, the traders said, had 260 men and plenty of stores. He had endured great privations, but he and all his party were well, although extremely exhausted. The delay in reaching Wadelai was due to difficulties encountered on the route, the expedition having to make a long detour towards the northeast in order to avoid swamps and hostile tribes. Emin was then in a fairly good position although some of his Egyptian officers were grumbling and many of his soldiers had deserted. The Kings of Uganda and Unyoro were hostile to Emin, who was obliged in November to repel predatory incursions from the east. His general health was good but he had been suffering from an affection of the eyes for two months.

A fortnight after Stanley's arrival Emin received via Lado a message from the Mahdi, pompously intimating his intention to subdue the whole country as far as the Great Lakes, and promising good treatment if Emin submitted. Emin replied that before consenting he must wait for the Mahdi to prove the legitimacy of his claim to the provinces.

Stanley in the meantime applied himself to restoring order among the troops and distributing stores and munitions. Emin told Stanley that he did not desire to leave Wadelai.

The entire route to the east coast was most dangerous on account of the incessant agitation among the tribes and the hostility of Mwanga.

Toward the middle of April and hearing that a force of Mahdists was coming, Emin ordered his advanced posts between Dufile and Lado to retire to Wadelai and Stanley sent messengers to the Kings of Uganda and Unyoro. About the end of April, when the traders left Wadelai, Stanley was anxious owing to the absence of news from the rear guard on the Arawhimi and was arranging to send a strong detachment in search of them along the route which he himself had followed. Stanley also again urged Emin to leave Wadelai with him and regain the coast.

Stanley sent out several couriers with news for Europe. One was the courier who was sent by the foreign consuls at Zanzibar to apprise Emin of the departure of the relief expedition. This courier had remained at Wadelai and was sent back to the East Coast after the arrival of Stanley. Another courier was sent in the direction of the Arawhimi.

The St. Thomas Despatch Confirmed.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 23.—King Leopold has received from St. Thomas a telegram confirming the report of the arrival of Stanley and Emin Pasha on the Arawhimi.

More Confirmation.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 23.—Official despatches to the Government of the Congo State confirm the report of the arrival of Stanley and Emin Pasha on the Arawhimi river.

The Khedive's Letter.

SUAKIM, Dec. 23.—The copy of the Khedive's letter to Emin Pasha forwarded to General Grenfell by Osman Digna proves to be an exact reproduction of the original. A spy from Handoub reports that the village is crowded with wounded Arabs, among them being several Emirs.

EMIN'S SAFETY DOUBTED.

How the Latest News from Stanley is Interpreted at Berlin.

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—The committee of the Emin relief association give more credence to the reported arrival of Stanley on the Arawhimi than they did to Osman Digna's story of Emin Pasha's capture, but they have decided to continue the preparations for sending out the Wissman expedition for Emin's relief until the news is verified. Some of the members of the committee in discussing the contradictions between the despatch received from Zanzabar, which reports that Stanley had reached the Arawhimi, and the one that came from the Congo reporting the arrival on the Arawhimi of both Stanley and Emin, conclude that Stanley had reached the Arawhimi, intending to return to Emin Pasha, but hold that the safety of the latter remains in doubt.

The departure of Lieutenant Wissman will now be retarded until early in February. This delay is partly due to the impossibility of obtaining the passage of the East African bill by the Reichstag before February. Although the release of Emin Pasha will be one object of the expedition, it will also act in support of the anti-slavery operations. It will be proposed in the Reichstag that a part of the money voted by the bill shall be used for raising a force of colonial troops, even if it happens that Emin Pasha is safe. Lieutenant Wissman's plans already formed will be the probable basis of the expedition into the interior. Wissman expects, whatever happens, to lead the colonizing force. His brother officers in the second regiment of the Guards will give him a farewell dinner at the end of January.

In the discussion of the route to be taken and the number of men composing the expedition, a letter from Cardinal Lavigerie to the German minister at Brussels attracts attention. Cardinal Lavigerie uses his knowledge of the interior of Africa to support the statement that 500 troops marching through the German territory by way of Unyanyembe to Ujiji on Lake Tanganyika could crush the slave trade and disarm and forever disable the Arab slave merchants.

The East African bill is understood to demand a vote of money sufficient for a larger scheme involving permanent coast garrisons and several inland garrisons.

Glassworkers' Wages.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 23.—It was learned from an official source to day that the scale of wages of the glassworkers in the table ware factories has been signed. The same wages as are now paid will be in effect for another year. The scale applies to about 2500 men employed in the twenty tableware factories in different parts of the country.

To Western Passenger Rates.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—The general managers of the southwestern railway lines decided yesterday to follow the example of the northwestern lines and restore passenger rates between Chicago and Missouri River points, to take effect Jan. 1.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. A Good Corn Settler for 25 cents.

A marvel of cheapness, efficacy, and of promptitude, is contained in a bottle of that famous remedy, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It goes right to the root of the trouble, there acts quickly but so painlessly that nothing is known of its operation until the corn is shelled. Beware of substitutes offered for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—safe, sure and painless. Sold at druggists. 24w51

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.
HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assets over accts.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,396 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,607 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Entrance Examinations.

List of Successful Candidates.

The examination for entrance to the Collegiate Institute has just been completed. Sixty seven candidates; (37 boys, and 30 girls) wrote, and 38 passed, 32 of whom were from the Peterborough Public School. The following is a list of the successful candidates, the total number of marks obtained by each, and the school at which they were prepared for the examination, 367 marks being required for a pass.

The local examiners were Mr. Inspector Tilley, Mr. J. H. Long, principal of the Collegiate Institute, and Mr. John Stirling, head master of the South Ward Public School. They had about 800 papers to examine, but by dint of burning the midnight oil, and borrowing to boot, two or three hours from the next day, they are able to supply the complete list of pupils, who have passed the Entrance Examination, for publication, thus furnishing the candidates a most acceptable Christmas present, and permitting them the enjoyment of that holyday, without the shadow of doubt or possible failure hanging over them. Their promptitude and industry is deserving of praise. It may be remarked that the papers were an excellent test, as they have evidently been prepared with much better judgement than those for previous examinations. Pupils who have passed will now have abundant opportunity to prepare for entering upon attendance at the Institute on the opening day of the session.

Separate School Promotions.

The Murray street Separate school closed on Friday last, after a very successful session. It must be gratifying to the supporters of this school to know that the work performed is of the most efficient character, for, while the imparting of a sound business education receives earnest attention, the Christian morals, good manners and duties of citizenship are given a first place in teaching. There will be one change in the teaching staff next year, Miss Horkins, of Campbellford, will succeed Miss Connell in the junior department, who resigned to go to the Ottawa Normal School. Promotion examinations were held during the last week. A list of the successful pupils are given below.

To Senior Fourth Class.—William O'Brien, Charles Butler, John McGrath, William Casey, Walter Phelan, George Fitzgerald, Thomas Crowley, James Grady, Frank Quinlan, Willie Lynch, Edward Crowe.

To Intermediate Fourth.—John O'Connell, Fredk White, John McMahon, Fredk. Nevin, Joseph Dennault, Maurice Gainey, Jos. Lynch, Daniel Roach.

To Junior Fourth.—Frank Crowe, Tim. Dineen, Rob. Conroy, Bruce Weatherhead, Frank. Laplante, Joseph Arthenault, James Cavanagh.

To Senior Third.—Thos. Mahoney, Mich. Heenan, Ernest Henry, Joseph Smith, William Crowley, Geo. Halpin, A. Timbers, Joseph LeVasseur, John Crowe, J. Condon, H Brennan, Bertie Dolan.

To Junior Third.—Thos. Clancy, Ed. McDonald, D. Donovan, D. Conroy, Wm. Clancy, Lambert Henry, Albert Doris, Wm. Brennan, Geo. Berubee, Kehir Dolan.

To Senior Second.—Mark Carroll, Louie Brennan, James Anglesye, Harry Barns, Frank McMahon, Thos. Anglesye.

To Junior Second.—Alex LeGrandis, Geo. Fraser, Fred. McCormick, Willie Lafleur, Ed. Minisell, John Arthenault, Herbert Carleton, John Eno, F. Talbot.

To Part II.—Geo. Butler, Louis Potvin, John Foley, Arch. Terrette, James O'Connell, Jas. Doris.

Ashburnham Brevities.

Municipal matters are beginning to create a little excitement now. Knots of men can be seen on every street corner discussing in a lively manner the vexed question of the day.

The boys and girls are on the qui vive over the entertainment to be held in the Mark Street church Christmas night.

All the pupils who wrote on the Entrance Examinations from this school were successful in passing.

Mr. Wm. Pakenham who has held the position of English Master in the Port Dover High School for the past two years, is spending his holidays at home. Mr. Pakenham, has accepted a similar position in the Smith's Falls High School next year.

Mr. J. J. Rooney, and family left to-day for Garden Hill to spend Christmas week with their parents.

Xmas Presents are taking wings at A. L. Davis & Co's Clearing Cash Sale at Cost Prices.

At the "Y,"

A very pleasant time was spent with "Rose, Shamrock and Thistle," last Saturday evening. Songs, with a strong savor of nationality, were given by Miss Lumsden, Mr. F. Annesley and Mr. Hendry. All were well rendered, Miss Lumsden's given with the true Irish brogue, causing great merriment. Early in the evening, Mr. C. Gouillet, who was passing through town on his way to Cobourg, where he spends Christmas holidays, favored the audience with one or two songs. A pianoforte solo by Miss E. Hall and a duett by Misses Ludgate and Cameron gave added brightness to the programme, while Miss Ford's touching recitation, "Drafted" pleased all. The wonder is that more of our young people who are walking about town on Saturday evenings, do not avail themselves of this pleasant spot in which to spend an hour. All welcome next Saturday evening when the young ladies will present another enjoyable programme.

A Handsome Gift.

Mr. Thos. Kelly on Saturday received a handsome Christmas box, consisting of a magnificently bound copy of views of Philadelphia. The book bore the inscription:—"Merry Christmas 1888, Happy New Year, 1889. To Mr. Thoms Kelly, one of Nature's noblemen." The book was sent by the secretary of the committee in Philadelphia, who took part in the commutation of J. F. Farley's death sentence. Mr. Kelly is one of our most popular alderman, and a thoroughly jolly good fellow to boot, and a recognition of those qualities need create no surprise.

Dont forget the "House-Warming" at the Methodist Parsonage, Reid street Thursday night. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shorey will celebrate the occupation of the New Parsonage by making everybody welcome. For church purposes, 10c. will be charged for refreshments. d

Christmas Visitors.

Former citizens of Peterborough are flocking home for their Christmas Holidays. A complete list of the holiday arrivals would be a long one. Last nights express from Montreal, brought a Pullman car full of Peterboroughonians, hieing home. Is it to be hoped they will all realize the expectations of a merry Christmas, and enjoy their holiday visit thoroughly in every way.

A Deserved Compliment.

Mr. Robert Vance is to be heartily congratulated on being elected to the position of representative of this district, on the council of the Agricultural and Arts Association, by acclamation. It is a practical tribute to the value of his past services, and a recognition of his ability to fill the position satisfactorily.

Baptist Sunday School Anniversary.

A Highly Successful service of Song and Scripture.

Yesterday afternoon in the Baptist church there was a large attendance and the services were highly successful in every respect. There were over two hundred scholars in the centre of the church besides many of the elder scholars who occupied seats with the audience in side pews. The following programme was rendered with great success, the little singers especially doing themselves great credit:—

"All Hail," anthem, school.
Prayer.

A Letter From Oregon.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In sending you a renewal of my subscription for the Peterborough EXAMINER, I thought I might drop you a few lines to give you an idea of our beautiful fall weather.

We are busy sowing fall wheat. The ground is in excellent condition for the same, there only being one slight gray frost as yet. Oregon can boast of having an excellent harvest this year, both in quality, quantity and fair prices. Wheat is steadily advancing in price.

We raised over 4,000 bushels of wheat this last harvest and about the same of oats. For our wheat we received 75c. per bushel clear on the track, and 30c. per bushel for our oats.

We sowed all our spring oats last February, there being no frost from then till now to even damage tomatoe vines.

Our root crop is an excellent one this season; having upwards of a thousand bushels of potatoes. The other roots are in the ground yet and will grow and improve till Christmas. We had barley which we sowed in Oct., 1887, and reaped in June, 1888, and the yield was 73 bushels per acre. When I came to Oregon first, what surprised me most was to see the farmers sowing oats and barley in the fall. But it is a fact, and I am doing the same, and it never fails to bring me a good crop of both. Our fall oats yielded us this season 45 bushels per acre. All farm machinery is falling in price; posting about the same here now as they did in Peterborough when I left. Horses are in demand and bring good sales.

Farm property is steadily moving upwards. Land that could have been bought when I came here for $10 to $15 per acre, can not be bought to-day for less than from $20 to $30 per acre.

There are a great many Canadians coming here of late, and the majority of them are delighted with the country. We had a visit from Mr. Pope, formerly of Enniomore, Peterborough county, and late of Nebraska. He and some more Canadians are leaving Nebraska and making their future homes in Oregon. He says he is delighted with the country and wishes he had come here when he first left Canada.

NICHOLAS STEELE.
Suver, Polk Co., Oregon, Nov. 8th, 1888.

A Thoughtful and Kindly Act.

The married men employed in the Peterborough Lock Works, were each presented with a Christmas Turkey, as a Christmas gift by their employers. This is the third season that a similar graceful recognition of the obligations of the season, and of faithful service has been made by the managers of the company. A man has a good right to expect that his wishes for a merry Christmas will be realized when he thoughtfully furnishes the material.

Sanderson's Holiday Goods.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson, the jeweler, has received the first importation in town of Waterbury watches for ladies. These beautiful time-pieces are stem-winders and stem-setters, and are sold at the low price of $4.50—a marvel of cheapness and excellent time-keeping qualities. They are fully warranted. Mr. Sanderson is also agent for Masonic aprons and other Masonic goods. He has a splendid stock of silver plate ware, and a full assortment of jewelery suitable for holiday gifts. Holiday buyers should not fail to inspect his stock. dw

Removal.

W. J. Green, merchant tailor, has removed his place of business to 145 Hunter street, lately occupied by Dawson Bros., where he will continue to give good bargains in honest goods. Parties requiring suits of clothes, overcoats, etc., etc., made to order can do so. Also gents' furnishings in endless variety. Also issuer of marriage licenses. dw W. J. GREEN.

Turnbull is determined to clear out all his remnants of dress goods. All the ends of dress goods that sold from 25c to 50c a yard, will be sold at 15c during the holidays. First come, first choice. dw

Skating and Curling.

The Charlotte street rink is now open and ready for use. Good ice for both skating and curling. Skating tickets may be procured from the caretaker at the rink. dw

THE EVENT of the holiday season is the bachelors' tea in the Baptist church Thursday evening, Dec. 27th, from 6.30 to 8 o'clock. Ladies, come. 2d

BAPTIST CHURCH MISSION SERVICES.—Rev. J. H. Doolittle, B.A., Emerson, Man., preached in the Baptist church at the evening service. He based his remarks upon Acts xx., 35v. Mr. Doolittle said life is a pleasant thing if we live right, but a fearful thing if we live wrong. Some people living wrong looked at it through their bitter experiences and were miserable. If life to them was bitter, what an awful thing it was for them to go on to a future still more bitter. Jesus Christ came to make it bright and happy, and in the accomplishment of this he reversed many things that we had been accustomed to do. We thought to hate our enemies, but He said, if you want to be happy, "Love your enemies." The world said, if a man wants to be thought something of, "Let him push himself up;" Christ reversed this and said, "He that humbleth himself shall be exalted." The world said, if a man wants to be happy, "Let him get wealth;" Christ said, no, "Let him give of his wealth," "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The stream going inward tends to selfishness. The divine stream flows outward, and the current of our lives must flow outward or we shall be wretched. Mr. Doolittle went on to develop this idea, illustrating it by the lives of the Apostle Paul and the Lord Jesus Christ. Showing how Christ got nothing from the world, but gave everything, even his own precious life's blood, "and wherefore God hath highly exalted him." Mr. Doolittle by means of a map then showed the stations of Baptist Missionaries in Manitoba. Last year 15 special missionary students were sent out, and 3 chapels built, 7 new churches organized, and over 100 converted and baptised. There are over 60 Baptist churches in Manitoba, but only two are self-sustaining, viz., Winnipeg and Brandon, hence the needs of the field were great, and he hoped they would help liberally.

Christmas Absence of Crime.

At the police court to-day, not a single malefactor appeared. The police say they are glad it is so, for they do not wish to arrest anybody during this season of peace and good-will. This is the spirit which, the year round, is shown by gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, who show their good will to the public by selling boots and shoes, the best made, at less than half wholesale cost. And this they do the year round. Bargains for every class of humanity in boots and shoes. From gough bros.—a Merry Christmas to every mother's son and daughter in Peterborough.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along; first come first served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as if felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be

White Grey Cottons

The rate our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.
Skin entirely Gone. Flesh a Mass of Sores. Leg Disfigured and Third in Size. Condition Hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.
For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of sores. Some physicians pronounced it leucemia. It had discharged about one third the size of the other, and I was in a helpless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

Terrible Suffering From Skin Disease.
I have been a terrible sufferer for years from diseases of the skin and blood, and have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors. Have had the best of physicians, and spent hundreds of dollars, but got no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have cured me and left my skin as clear and my blood as pure as a child's.

A CHRISTMAS CALAMITY.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION AT THE TORONTO AMMONIA WORKS.

George Sexsmith's Awful Death—The Factory and Machinery in Ruins—The Loss Estimated at $60,000.

TORONTO, Dec. 26.—The works of the Toronto Ammonia Company, limited, was the scene yesterday morning of a terrific explosion, which will long be remembered by the residents for blocks around in the vicinity. It is estimated that $60,000 worth of property was destroyed, one man was instantly killed, another so badly injured that his life is despaired of, and others were badly shaken up and wounded to a greater or lesser extent.

On the south-east corner of Parliament and Front-streets stands the blacksmith shop of the Consumers' Gas Company, and immediately to the east of it are the premises of the Ammonia Company. The explosion, or rather the three explosions, took place at 10.50 a. m. There were only two persons in the building at the time, laboring men both, George Sexsmith and Walter Davies. Sexsmith was working near one of the agitators, while Davies was sitting near the boiler, and a few feet from the doorway which connects the Gas Company's yard with the Ammonia Company's premises. A few moments before the first explosion William Sinclair, foreman of the gas works, Dr. Schmidtburn, and Charles Steinmeyer, analyst for the Ammonia Company, were standing near the agitators conversing. They moved out into the yard and were looking at the wells containing the refuse water when the first explosion took place. The three men were hurled to the ground, a brick from the parting wall striking Mr. Sinclair in the side and accelerating his fall. He and his companions scrambled to their feet, and started across the yard towards the furnace room of the Gas Company. It was then that the two other explosions occurred, following quickly in succession, enveloping the yard and neighborhood in a huge cloud of blue vapor, while sprays of ammonia spouted in all directions.

In the midst of the confusion the men from the Berkeley-street Fire Hall, captained by Foreman Noble, arrived on the scene, and started in to rescue the injured. If there were any. Up to this time it was not thought that any men had been hurt, but Mr. Sinclair, recollecting that he had seen Sexsmith at work inside, ordered a search. As the vapor lifted Walter Davies was found groaning and almost dead lying against the wall of the Gas Company's furnace-room. He had been picked up from where he sat near the boiler and hurled fairly across the yard against the scout brick wall on the opposite side. He was tenderly carried into the Gas Company's office, and thence conveyed to the Hospital, where he now lingers between life and death.

Meanwhile search was continued for George Sexsmith. He was found limp, motionless, and just breathing, covered with ammonia and chemicals, on a broken rafter on the floor of the building. He, too, was carried to the office, but expired in less than ten minutes, never regaining consciousness. His body was removed to the City Morgue. As far as can be judged Sexsmith was lifted from his feet, dashed against the machinery and rafters overhead, falling back on the debris below an inanimate mass of humanity. Those who had the handling of his body say that there was not a bone which was not broken. There are great holes in his side, his neck was dislocated, and the skull fractured. There were several others who received slight wounds, but none of such a character as to incapacitate them from work.

The cause of the explosion so far remains a mystery, but Coroner Duncan has ordered an inquest for to-day, when the facts will be fully gone into.

HAMILTON'S HOLIDAY NEWS.

Two Successful Burglaries—Plundered by Footpads—Christmas Cheer.

HAMILTON, Dec. 25.—Two successful burglaries were committed last night, the thieves getting in their fine work while the parties were out purchasing presents for Christmas. The burglars got into F. H. Miller's house, 42 Napier-street, by placing a ladder against the window of one of the rooms. They secured a gold brooch and ear-rings set with garnets, a pair of bracelets, a chain and locket, a baby's ring and brooch, a lady's gold ring set with pearls, a dog-skin jacket and other articles. Mr. Miller discovered that a robbery had been committed as soon as he returned home.

The crooks also paid a visit to Wm. Watt's residence, 49 Oxford-street. Here they turned everything in the house upside down and took a suit of worsted clothes, a tweed overcoat, a lady's sealette jacket and a carving knife and fork. Entrance was effected through the kitchen window.

The wife of Mr. John Warnke, No. 25 Canada-street, while near the corner of Queen and George streets on her way home last night, before 11 o'clock, was thrown by two men and robbed of a purse containing $65. Another lady was with Mrs. Warnke, but owing to the darkness neither got a good look at the robbers.

There were 1942 people relieved by the Christmas cheer given by St. George's Society yesterday.

Lieutenant-Col. Villiers of Winnipeg spent Christmas in this city.

Burglars at Brampton.

BRAMPTON, Dec. 25.—An unsuccessful attempt was made on Sunday night about 12 o'clock to burglarize the residence of Mr. Francis Slighthoim, Treasurer of the St. Paul's Church Trust Fund. An entrance was effected by breaking a window in the kitchen, but in their attempt to effect an entrance to the main part of the house the burglars aroused the inmates from their mid ight slumbers and Mr. Slighthoim, suspecting something wrong, immediately reached for his Smith & Wesson persuader and commenced action in the direction of the disturbance, whereupon the burglars concluded to retire without further ceremony and made good their escape. The party no doubt expected to make a good haul, as on Sunday a special collection was taken up and a large sum realized, as reported in these columns. No clue to the perpetrators has yet been discovered.

Burnt to Death.

CORNWALL, Dec. 25.—Miss Duval, a pretty domestic of Gordon Baker, Osnabruck Centre, near here, went to the bookcase, secured a book to read, and while opening a door knocked a lamp out of her hands. The carpet ignited and the girl tried to stamp the flames out with her feet. The fire caught her skirts and she rushed madly downstairs and into the street, screaming loudly. Several business men, hearing the shrieks, ran outside and were appalled to see a woman running towards them, her clothing a mass of flames. They tried to pull the burning garments from her, but she broke away and pursued her mad career across the road. She fell unconscious in the ditch and was carried into Mr. Baker's house, where she lingered in intense agony for several days and died.

He Wanted Flour.

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 25.—Yesterday morning while the man who drives Mr. Rhodes' delivery sleigh was in the warehouse in the rear of the shop, an Italian dropped in, and saying "Me wanta flour," proceeded to shoulder a sack and walk off. The driver undertook to stop him, when the Italian dropped the flour and drew a long knife. The man then seized an iron bar used for fastening the door, and the Italian seeing that he meant business hurriedly left.

Fatal Accident at Bloomfield.

BLOOMFIELD, Dec. 25.—An accident occurred here yesterday by which Stewart Christie, son of John Christie, lost his life. While driving a buggy, the wheel collided with a post with such violence that the young man was thrown upon the ground, receiving injuries which resulted in his death a few hours later. The deceased was about 19 years of age.

THREE ACRES OF FACTORIES AND DWELLINGS BURNT.

The Total Loss Estimated at Over $600,000 —The Storied Village of Marblehead, Mass., in Flames.

CHELSEA, Dec. 26.—There was a great fire in Chelsea to-day. It began at 1.30 in the morning and burned to ashes factories and dwellings covering three acres of ground.

The fire started at the corner of Rudd and Harriet-street in the rear of C. C. Jacobs' Cordage Company, which was completely consumed together with $75,000 worth of furniture belonging to the Boyd-street Furniture Company, the factory and contents of the Central Furniture Association with another $75,000, the Queen City Twine Company's factory $60,000, three brick and two frame dwellings $35,000, and eight box and four flat cars of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad Company.

The total loss is over $600,000.

Marblehead on Fire.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Dec. 25.—Marblehead is on fire for the second time in her history. The entire business portion is in ruins. It is the largest fire that ever visited this place and the people are panic-stricken. Telegraph communication is interrupted.

A Petrolea Refinery Burns.

PETROLIA, Dec. 26.—A fire occurred last night about 8.30 at M. J. Woodward & Co.'s refinery. Loss $4000, covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown. Two Grand Trunk Railway box cars were completely consumed.

THE LAURELS OF PEACE.

A Crown Presented to the Kaiser—Bertha's Christmas Budget.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—The burden of the Christmas comment of press and pulpit reverts to the anxieties prevalent at the same period for the last three years and to the existing prospects of peace. Germany holds the festival breathing peace while conscious that the war drum still rolls afar. The weather has not been Christmas-like. Instead of a crisp frost there has been a prolonged period of damp, cold and rainy weather and the streets of the Capital abound in mud. Tradesmen's hearts have been made lighter for the past few days by an influx of buyers that exceeded all expectations.

The Empress has been actively engaged in buying presents for the Court and the royal family. Last evening after the imperial dinner at the palace the gifts were distributed. The household officials of the Empress and the Dowager Empress Augusta made unusually large purchases for distribution among the poor.

When the Emperor visited the Vulcan shipbuilding works at Bredow on Saturday he was greeted by 3000 workmen, who lined the approach to the works. A crown of laurels was offered to his majesty, who in accepting it said, "I thank you. These are the first laurels that have been offered to me, I am happy to think that they are the laurels of peace."

The Chancellor's illness, which has given rise to alarmist rumors in the Progressist press and the French newspapers, does not hinder his work. He has wired his congratulations to Lord Salisbury regarding the English victory in Suakim.

Prince Bismarck ignores the appeal of Sir R. D. Morier, the British ambassador at St. Petersburg, to authorize an official contradiction of the charges recently made by The Cologne Gazette of his having anti-German leanings, and of having while at Darmstadt in 1870 sent the first news of the advance of the Germans across the Moselle to London, whence the news reached Bazaine.

Another Battle Imminent.

SUAKIM, Dec. 25.—Natives who have come here from Handoub report that Osman Digna intends to give battle again to the Egyptian and British forces.

The Outcome of a Nihilist Conspiracy.

VIENNA, Dec. 25.—The Fagblatt has a despatch saying that the Russian consul at Malta has been arrested on suspicion of having placed an explosive shell in the theatre there while the Duchess of Edinburgh was present. The consul refuses to answer questions. The English authorities believe that the affair is the outcome of a Nihilist conspiracy.

The Anti-slavery Campaign.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—A despatch from Tunis to The Daily News says: Cardinal Lavigerie has written to a friend here that he is in favor of an Italian occupation of Tunis and of a modification of the frontier in Italy's interest as a means of settling French and Italian jealousies. He asserts that the influence he has obtained in France through his anti-slavery campaign will enable him to develop this idea.

The Zanzibar Reports Discredited.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—A despatch to The Telegraph from Zanzibar says: All reports from here purporting to give details of the meeting of Stanley and Emin are absolutely untrustworthy. Even the place of the meeting is unknown. Rumors of German aggression and projects of conquest are exciting the natives between Stanley Falls and Albert Nyanza and Victoria Nyanza and also throughout Ujiji region to the east coast.

An Appeal for Relief.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—An appeal has been made for funds for the relief of the sick and wounded in East Africa. The Empress and the Dowager Empress Augusta have donated $250 to the German Ladies' Society for the benefit of the sick. The German colonies are taking an active part in the work of organization.

A Midnight Meeting.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Robert Cunningham Graham, M.P., addressed a meeting of unemployed workingmen at midnight last night. The meeting was held on the Thames embankment. A procession of workingmen which arrived from Kennington was attacked by the police and dispersed.

A Boulangist Meeting Broken Up.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—M. Deroulede and other members of the Chamber of Deputies attempted to address a Boulangist meeting at Pontoise last night but were denied a hearing. Several violent scrimmages took place.

Declined With Thanks.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 25.—Mme. Bernhardt has declined an offer from the Sultan of 23,000 francs for a single performance in the palace.

Sunday Horse Racing Stopped.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—At the Emperor's request horse racing in Prussia on Sundays and holidays has been stopped.

A Russian Loan Conversion Scheme.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The Chronicle's correspondent in Paris says that Russian agents there are negotiating for the conversion of the Russian loan of 1873.

Bulgaria Arming.

SOFIA, Dec. 25.—M. Joncheff has been appointed Minister of Justice and M. Balabocheff has received the appointment of Minister of Finance. All the members of the Cabinet are now friendly to M. Stambuloff. The Government has signed a contract with Krupp for a million francs worth of shells, and is negotiating with the same manufacturer for the purchase of eighty new batteries.

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE.

ANOTHER STEAMBOAT DISASTER IN THE SOUTH.

Thirty Persons Perish in the Flames—A Large Number Jump Overboard and are Drowned—Details of Sufferings.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 25.—The steamboat John H. Hanna, from Ouachita River with a large number of passengers and a cargo of 2000 bales of cotton on board, was burned last night at Plaque Mine. It is stated that of the 300 persons on board at the time of the disaster only fourteen are known to have been saved.

A special from Plaque Mine to The States says: The burning of the steamer John H. Hanna last night near here was one of the most terrible river disasters that has ever happened in Southern waters. The loss of life was very heavy. About 30 persons perished in the flames and a large number jumped overboard and were drowned. Among the lost are Captain J. S. Holmes and First Clerk Samuel R. Powell. Their bodies have been recovered. Captain Holmes' body was terribly burned.

Bob Smith, the cool pilot of the J. M. White at the time she was burned, was a passenger on the John H. Hanna and was burned to death. His body has also been recovered.

One of the deck hands who escaped says there were about 100 persons on board, and that only about a dozen can now be found alive. The engineer and pilot were saved. All were burned more or less, some of them severely.

It was just before Christmas day was being ushered in that the fine steamer was coming down the river. Several of the passengers were seated in the cabin having a merry time and with no though of impending catastrophe. Many of the crew and passengers were asleep when the fire broke out and spread with indescribable rapidity. The details of the suffering and death of some of the passengers are harrowing in the extreme.

The boat had reached a point which was but a short distance above the town when a negro roustabout near the boiler room ran out to the deck and shouted that the boat was on fire. John Cullen, a stoker, was near the place at the time, and seeing the flames bursting forth from the big bale of cotton near the boiler ran hastily to the engine room and gave the alarm. Engineer Merriman took in the situation at a glance and at once sounded the alarm by blowing the steam whistle and ringing the bells. In an instant the flames shot through the cabin and over the sides of the cotton, enveloping the entire boat in fire.

Clerk Powell was upstairs at the time and when he saw the flames he heroically ran through the smoke which filled the cabin and tried to arouse the sleeping people. He kicked at the doors and in a short time almost everybody was awake.

Then confusion worse confounded appeared and the frantic people on the boat ran to discover exits to make their escape, but the boat was piled high with cotton and the passageways were filled with smoke. Many dropped before they were able to get to the forward part of the boat and were dead when the steamer went down. As soon as the fire was discovered Engineer Merriman set the steam pumps working and tried to battle with the flames but, the fire swept through the boat like a blaze on a prairie and the engine room was soon in flames. Then, to add further to the consternation, a steam pipe burst and filled the place with scalding steam. Engineer Merriman was forced to abandon his post and he and the stokers and others ran to the side of the boat and rushed through pell mell in order to save their lives.

As soon as the smoke and flames began to shoot up the sides of the boat Captain Jolles, the pilot, swung the wheel around and headed the boat for the shore. A full head of steam was on at the time and the boat was soon run into the bank. Before she did so, however, she was doomed. All of her timber was then furiously burning. When she struck the bank she bounded away again and swung around, drifting down as she burned. Then Capt. Jolles jumped out over the cotton bales and springing into the river swam ashore.

The sight was a weird one viewed from the bank and the town was aroused. Floating cotton, charred timber and the debris filled the river, and many people was struggling desperately in the water for their lives. Some were able to swim ashore, but most were so badly burned or so thoroughly exhausted that they struggled but a few moments and sank to rise no more. As the burning boat struck the bank of the river the crew and passengers who had been able to reach the forward end of the boat sprang ashore, some with scorched faces and bruised limbs and many with scarcely any covering.

Among those who managed to get off were Capt. Holmes and Bob Smith, the unfortunate pilot of the ill-fated White, who was a passenger. Both were burned nigh unto death, and the story of the manner in which they suffered is most heart-rending.

When the captain jumped ashore he was horribly burned and in his frantic desire to be relieved from the pain he was suffering he buried his face and hands in the soft mud and begged most piteously for someone to help him. Smith was just behind and was laid out by the side of the dying captain. Nothing could be done for the suffering men and they died together on the river bank.

Plaque Mine was not slumbering when the fire broke out, and when the discovery was made that the Hanna was burning almost the entire town flocked to the river bank and watched her burn. The struggling unfortunates who reached the shore were taken care of and doctors and others came to their assistance and tried to alleviate their sufferings.

The city and central hotels and private houses threw open their doors to the ill-fated people and fed and clothed them until this morning.

Seven Lives Lost.

SEATTLE, W. T., Dec. 25.—The steamer Lief Erickson was burned at Alkali Point, five miles west of this city, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She is a total loss. Seven lives were lost.

Dr. McGlynn on Names.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—In his speech at Cooper Union Sunday night Dr. McGlynn said: "I am not a Roman Catholic. I am an American Catholic. (Tremendous applause.) I hold that as a matter of taste, history, good sense and prudence the Catholic people of Ireland should call themselves Irish Catholics; those of Germany, German Catholics; those of Timbuctoo, Timbuctoo Catholics."

Fun for the Bear.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—City Treasurer Plautz has had some exciting adventures with a bear and a monkey which he won in a raffle. He endeavored in vain to induce the Park Commissioner to take the bear off his hands and then gave it to his brother.

The brother enjoyed the society of the animal twenty-four hours, and in that time the brute ripped up a carpet, pulled some furniture in pieces and hugged his new keeper almost to death. Yesterday the bear was returned to the City Treasurer without thanks.

In an hour he had forced his way out of the shed where he was confined, and began to make free with Mr. Plautz's little boy. He tore every shred of clothing from the terrified youngster and then held him up to the keen December wind. Mr. Plautz rescued his son with some difficulty and now keeps the bear in a cellar.

Obituary.

The Late Mrs. Robert Byers, Baillibro.

On Monday, Dec. 17, Jane Pue, wife of Mr. Robert Byers, of Baillibro, passed away after an illness of about a fortnight, at the age of 69 years. The deceased lady was united in marriage to Mr. Byers 48 years ago. The offspring of their marriage was nine sons and one daughter, all living but one son. Mrs. Byers has several brothers and sisters living in this district. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, a native of the County of Monaghan, Ireland. The funeral which took place on Tuesday last, to the Centreville cemetery, was numerously attended, this fact evincing the high respect paid to her memory.

Indian River.

From Our Own Correspondent.

It is with feelings of regret that we record the death of our esteemed neighbour, Mr. Wm. Clancy. Deceased was visiting at Mr. Jno. Casey's, and was returning home late in the evening in company with his wife, when opposite Mrs. Sweeney's, a dog sprang out and frightened the horse, which, being only a colt and rather fractous, made a mad attempt to run away. Deceased threw down the lines, telling his wife to jump, at the same time springing out himself. His foot became entangled in the buffalo robe, and he fell on a pile of rails, where he was found about an hour and a half afterwards insensible. Whether from internal injuries received or from inflamation of the lungs, which followed his lying in the cold so long, we cannot tell, but he passed away on Sunday last. His remains were interred in the Roman Catholic Cemetery on the Tuesday following. He leaves a sorrowing wife and family of small children, who have the sincere sympathies of the entire neighborhood in their sad bereavement.

While threshing at Mr M. Brocksridge's, Messrs. O'Brien and Fitzgerald threshed one hundred and forty bags of oats in two hours and twenty minutes, or 1 bag per minute. Mr. Robt. Evans fed loose barley through the same mill the day before, at the rate of one bushel and one-fifth packs per minute. Good for Bob.

Springville.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THAT Tory goverment has changed our mail officers. Mr. William Bidgood has been awarded the contract of conveying Her Majesty's mails to and from the Grand Trunk railway station at Fraserville, in the room and stead of Mr. Robert Gibson, resigned.

MUNICIPAL elections in Monaghan is the question of the day. Five new aspirants to municipal honors are spoken of. Mr. Joseph Barnard will be candidate for the Reeveship although we have at present a very good Reeve. Mr. Barnard's wide experience in municipal matters should give to him more superior qualifications than most men in the township.

A LARGE YIELD OF BUTTER.—Mr. William Robson, sr., of North Monaghan has churned from one cow two hundred and three pounds of butter from the first of April up to Dec. the tenth inclusive. We are about sure that this yield cannot be beaten. Mr. Robson reports that this cow does not give a large flow of milk.

YOUR correspondent noticed the Bethel Sunday officials at their entertainment and Christmas tree that was held in the Church. Among the beautiful and useful presents presented to the teachers and pupils, was a well designed toy ship. It is to be hoped that a careful study of the ship-building art will have the effect of allaying the recipient's fears of sailing in a much larger craft, although well loaded with little folks, before their next annual excursion to the point.

A WITTY SAYING.—A level-headed Irishman remarked to your correspondent not long ago, that in all the village of Springville there cannot be found an old maid or a young lady possessing red hair, "but moind you sor, Centerville and that place over in Otonabee cannot say that, for I know it, and sure you know that I always tells the truth."

Hymeneal.

A pleasant event was celebrated at the residence of Jas. F. Clark, Esq., Woodville, on Tuesday, Dec. 11th, says the Millbrook Reporter, when his second daughter Jennie, became the wife of Mr. Geo. Little, builder of Peterborough. Miss Violet Argue, Miss A. McIadoo and Miss L. Clark, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids, while Mr. Adam Kernaghan, of Peterborough, was groomsman. Rev. Mr. Martin, Woodville, united the happy couple. A large number of friends and relations were present from a distance. The presents were numerous and elegant, showing the high esteem in which the bride is held. The happy couple left on the evening train.

HE HELD THREE MEN AT BAY.

For An Hour They Defied a New York Saloonkeeper's Revolver.

New York, Dec. 25. In a low dive at No. 1394 West Twenty-first street at 4.30 Sunday morning Alexander Gilman, a colored expressman, 29 years old, of No. 97 Crosby-street, was shot in the left shoulder by George Carroll, the white proprietor of the place.

At that hour a man reported at the West Thirtieth-street station that there was a riot in Carroll's saloon and that a number of men were killing each other. Officer Samuel Magraus found a scene of confusion in front of the saloon. The windows were smashed in and the door was broken and there was the wildest confusion inside. The glasses, bottles and a mirror behind the bar were all smashed to pieces, while the proprietor, in his shirt-sleeves, torn and bloody, stood upon the debris of shattered glass, with a 32-calibre revolver in his hand, as if waiting for an attack from some quarter. He did not know whether it would come from under the counter, where two men were, or from over the bar, where he had already shot Alexander Gilman.

The proprietor and eight people found in the place were placed under arrest and arraigned at Jefferson Market yesterday. A charge of felonious assault was made against Carroll. Gilman had been removed to the New York Hospital. Justice Ford held Carroll in $2500 bail, but when he was informed that Carroll had been robbed sixteen times and he was only defending his place this time bail was reduced to $1000. He was also placed under $100 bail for violating the Excise law.

Carroll is a stout man, slightly bald. He said that he had been robbed only two nights before and the contents of the till carried off. Gilman and the other colored man arrested entered his place late on Saturday night and played several games of pool. He wanted them to leave the place as they quarrelled among themselves. He finally told them he wanted to close up, and the men began fooling and chased one of their number behind the bar. Then another came behind and would not leave. He saw that it was "a put-up job," as he said, to rob him, and he sent his son-in-law to get the police. Then a third man tried to get behind the counter, but Carroll would not let him.

The third man tried to jump over the counter, but Carroll drew his revolver and told him to stand back. Then Carroll turned his pistol at the men behind the bar and they crouched down on the floor. For an hour he kept covering the three men with his weapon, first the one over the counter and then at the men under the bar. Every time a move was made by any one of them the pistol was pointed towards him. All this time Carroll's relatives were out looking for a policeman to come along.

At last the man outside the bar, who was Gilman, got hold of a cue and raised it to deal Carroll a blow on the head. The cue struck the chandelier and smashed it. Carroll shouted to him to stand back, and, as he did not do so, fired one shot, which struck Gilman in the left shoulder. Just then one of the men behind the counter jumped through the glass of the show-window and escaped.

Carroll told the police as they took him out of the saloon that there was a man hidden under the window. The police went on to the station-house and then returned to the saloon, but the man was gone.

A CHECKERED CAREER.

Some Incidents in the Life of Captain Leon De Rathier Du Verge.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 25.—The career of Captain Leon de Rathier du Verge, who, the cable announces, has killed Victor Stanwood, United States commercial agent at Madagascar, has been a most remarkable one. He is descended from a wealthy French family, but his father was impoverished under the First Empire and retired to a small estate in Brittany. Young Leon graduated with high honors at l'Ecole Polytechnique, entered the Chasseurs de Afrique as lieutenant and served under Generals Boulanger and Roland. He then changed to the navy, and after seriously wounding a brother officer in a duel, severed his connection with the service and entered the merchant marine. He became acquainted with officers of the New York Yacht Club and thus secured the command of Vice Commander Osborne's yacht.

When the civil war broke out he enlisted in a Massachusetts regiment and served with marked distinction. He came to Baltimore in 1881 as captain of E. M. Padelford's yacht Nokomis. He settled here, and being a man of handsome face, fine figure and attractive social qualities, besides being an unusually fine linguist, created a social sensation. When Mr. Padelford sold his yacht Captain du Verge applied for a consular position, and was strongly backed by Governor Long and other prominent Republicans. He was given an African Consulate, and disappeared from the sight of his friends. He was reported dead, but subsequently a letter was received stating that he was serving as a colonel in the Madagascar army. His wife had, in the meantime, procured a divorce. A year ago he published a book on Madagascar, and he has since gotten up a syndicate of Bostonians to man and provision the Solitaire, under his command, to go to Madagascar and opened up the unworked gold mines. Du Verge had no love for Stanwood, who held the position for which he had unsuccessfully applied.

THE U. S. CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

Alleged Violations at Detroit by Canadians From Windsor.

DETROIT, Dec. 25.—From the outlook now the evidence to be taken here by the Immigration Committee will prove a most important and valuable addition to the information already in the possession of the Committee as showing the necessity not only to provide means for the enforcement of the laws at present upon the statute books, but emphasizing the fact that the laws themselves must be greatly enlarged in their scope in order to afford the protection due to American labor.

The chief points to be developed here embrace the extent to which the importation of contract labor from Canada to engage in the various local industries and in the lumber business of the peninsula has been carried, and also the extent to which American citizens have been affected by the coming over the border of thousands of Canadians, many of whom live on the other side and cross the Detroit River night and morning on the local ferries.

The preliminary examination of witnesses commenced yesterday and evidence was given to the effect several thousand Canadians living in Windsor cross the ferry every morning to work here. Hundreds of Canadian shop girls are employed in Detroit stores. Many work during the summer in Michigan and spend the winter in Canada.

Everybody's Pocket Pencil.

This pencil is a novelty, as useful as it is reliable, and the best in every respect to carry in one's pocket. It is of white bone handsomely turned in a solid piece, while the holder is finely nickel plated, and contains a long lead of large size, which can be let down as required. When not in use, by a turn of the holder, the lead can be slipped back inside, and the pencil has no rival in the market.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,800 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,607 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Our Economical Council.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Ratepayers will observe that shortly before municipal elections our councillors, whenever opportunity offers, boast of how economically they had been handling our public funds. Only lately, at a meeting of the K. of L., one of them upheld their economy by comparison with Lindsay, Port Hope and Cobourg, and how low our taxation is against those towns, and he might have added 'I thank thee that we are not like other people," but forgot to tell his hearers that the cause of their burdensome taxation is the result of giving bonuses to railroads, waterworks and the like, of which Peterborough has nothing to show. But after all the vast sums yearly collected disappear as though the rats had carried them off. The writer has lived long enough in Peterborough to know that taxation formerly by rating was higher than now; and that could not be otherwise as property was not rated at the market value as it is now and, hence, the difference in the mills on the dollar. To give the ratepayers an illustration of how economical our councillors are, the following will serve. Mr. Kendry last year gave us an order to supply the police with helmets, which we did, and when Constable Pidgeon very suddenly took to his wings, he left no helmet behind, which, if he had, might have been used for his successor, Constable Stewart. So it happened that the chief ordered a new helmet which we could hardly refuse, knowing that the council had procured them for the rest of the police. I hardly think the ratepayers will approve of the action of the council in refusing the payment of the same on economical grounds. To show a counterpart in their economy, many cases might be given, but I will confine myself to one. It has always been the rule that when the officers are appointed for the current year, the salary attached is a fixed one. How did it happen that Mr. Camming got $100 extra for an assistant? In due respect to Mr. Camming, I neither mean to say that he is overpaid nor that his salary is too low, but I say most positively that the council overstepped their authority and established a wrong precedent in squandering public funds recklessly. Why not give the street inspector an assistant also, and others who would like to follow suit. As the patronage of the corporation has on an average not exceeded fifty cents a year in 28 years, the loss of the price of the helmet would sweep away my profits made with the council in that period. If such economy is approved of, I am willing to waive my claim. I may here add that no blame is attached to Mr. Kendry, Chairman of Police Committee, he not being present when my account came up, and latterly, offering to pay the same if the council would not. Thanking you, Mr. Editor for space,

I remain, &c.,
W. LECH.

Personal.

Mr. J. J. Ferguson, of University College, Toronto; is visiting his friend, Mr. E. A. Pearson, B.A.

Mr. C. A. Lawford, teller in the bank of Montreal at Calgary and formerly with the Peterborough branch is in town to-day. His friends were pleased to see him looking so well, and will congratulate, him on his promotion to Montreal—the tellership of the most important office. He leaves for Montreal to-night.

Dr. G. A. Bingham, Professor in Trinity Medical College, and Pathologist, Toronto General Hospital, and Dr. H. S. Bingham, Cannington, spent Xmas with their sister, Mrs. Wm. Ferguson, and family. After calling on their uncle, Dr. Bingham, and a few friends in town, they returned to their avocations on Wednesday morning. Dr. Carmichael, college and room mate of Dr. G. A. Bingham, spent a pleasant Xmas afternoon with the Drs. and friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, High Park.

Next Year's School Trustees.

Nominations Made To-day. Only Two Elections to Be Held.

The nominations for school trustees for both Public and Separate schools, were made at noon to-day. In most cases elections were made by acclamation, two wards only being contested. The election takes place a week hence. The nominations were conducted very quietly, and resulted as follows:—

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD.

No. 1 Ward—Mr. Geo. Rose, nominated by Mr. John Alexander, seconded by Mr. Lewis Spry; Mr. Wm. English, nominated by Mr. T. G. Gillespie, seconded by Mr. John Logan.

No. 2 Ward—W. H. Wrighton, nominated by Mr. E. Green, seconded by Mr. John Kincaid; elected by acclamation.

No. 3 Ward—Dr. Geo. Barnham, nominated by Mr. W. B. Ferguson, seconded by Mr John McKee; Mr. A. Macfarlane, nominated by Mr. John Sawers, seconded by Mr. John Craig.

No. 4 Ward—Mr. Thos. Rutherford, nominated by Mr. John Parnell, seconded by Mr. Edward Thompson; elected by acclamation.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD.

All the elections were by acclamation. The nominations took place at the Separate school building before Mr. John Corkery, clerk. The retiring trustees and the newly elected ones made brief addresses. The retiring trustees are: No. 1, C. Halpin; No. 2, N. F. Laplante; No. 3, J. Hackett; No. 4, M. Sullivan. The newly elected ones are:—

No. 1. Ward—C. Halpin, nominated by Mr. A. Williams, seconded by Mr. E. Crough.

No. 2 Ward—Mr. John Hackett, nominated by Mr. M. O'Brien, seconded by Mr. A. Williams.

No. 3 Ward—Mr. C. J. Leonard, nominated by Mr. M. O'Brien, seconded by Mr. E. Crough.

No. 4 Ward—Mr. E. Archambault, nominated by Mr. F. Farin, seconded by Mr. J. Hackett.

Peck & Fursman's Uncle Tom Company.

The Moncton, N. B., Daily Times says of Peck & Fursman's mammoth spectacular Uncle Tom's Cabin Company, which exhibits Bradbarn's Opera House the afternoon and evening of New Year's Day:—"Peck & Fursman's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company played to the largest audience of the season at the Opera House Saturday night, and the performance was heartily enjoyed by all. The show is a strong one, the scenery vivid and realistic. No better performance has ever been given in Moncton. Several of the company were of more than ordinary merit. Miss Kate Partington as Topsy, Mr. Crandell as Marks, Sr., and Jas. Dorey as Uncle Tom made hits, and were enthusiastically encored" Reserved seats at Menzies' bookstore.

Literary.

A very interesting book by Rev. J. Little, M. A., of Toronto, has just been published. It is entitled "Tercentary of England's Great Victory over Spain, and The Armada." It sketches the great events of that period of England's history in a most graphic way. It also sheds light upon some of the prominent characters of the time, who have not been much noticed by other writers. Mr. Little is well known in Peterborough, and his book ought to find its way into a great many of our homes. 2

The Minden Echo, in its last issue, succeeded in doing three things at once—celebrating the holiday season, exhibiting its enterprise and succeeding in turning out a most creditable Christmas number. A happy and prosperous New Year, Brother Cnip.

Christmas Sprees.

"Peace on earth, good will towards men," was not the motto that held sway in Wm. Rieger's household on Christmas day. Wm. celebrated by getting drunk and beating his wife, smashing furniture and "raising Cain" generally. He was arrested and spent Christmas night in the cells.

A drunk named O. Humber was also incarcerated, but magisterial magnanimity overlooked their offences, as no one appeared against the prisoners, and they were dis charged.

Christmas Gift Ship.

The Xmas Gift Ship entertainment under the auspices of the Mark street Methodist church, was a great success. The boat was a cance yacht in full sail. It was placed on a platform at the front of the church, and the presents hung on the rigging. There were 240 presents, of various kinds and colors; with Union Jacks, these gave the boat a very imposing appearance. The service was opened by the doxology and a prayer by the pastor of the church. Mr. Russel, the superintendent of the Sunday school, took charge of the programme, which consisted of dialogues, recitations and singing, which kept the audience delighted for nearly two hours. A hearty vote of thanks was then tendered to Mr. Rogers for the loan of the boat. The presents were then distributed by Santa Claus, dressed in plug hat, fur coat and long beard. Among the presents were:—One silk plush toilet box, given by the teachers "To our respected superintendent, Mr. Russel;" one each to Miss Sarah Smith and Miss Bagsley, given by the school. These ladies are about moving away from the village. There was some fun over dolls and jumping-jacks bearing the names of young men and women. The door receipts were $17.

A Beautiful Grocery Store.

Messrs. Rush Bros. have succeeded, by way of decoration and artistic display of goods, to make their grocery store so exceedingly beautiful that it not only becomes an attractive spot to the public, but it also attracts the critical eye of the artist. Mr. R. M. Roy has taken photographic views of the exterior, and will follow by taking inside views. The taste shown in the decoration of the windows was assisted by the splendid stock of first class goods being available for decorative purposes. Besides, Mr. T. O. Rush has an eye for beautiful and rare specimens of taxidermy, including rare birds and beasts, the latter embracing a pair of antelope heads, which have no counterpart in town. The front is studded with trophies of Christmas fowl of the finest, plumpest and tenderest kind. Among these is a grand young turkey cock, bred by Mrs. Heaslip, of Scott's Corners, which turns the scales at twenty five pounds, besides geese of similar size and luciousness. The beauty of adornment and elaborate display of goods in the shop windows is only an index of the magnificent stock inside. Rush Bros.' grocery establishment is not only one of the best places in the district to go for the best of goods at reasonable prices, but it is well worth visiting as one of the sights of the town.

Affairs of Finance.

The statement of receipts and expenditures, assets and liabilities and of the uncollected taxes of the town of Peterborough, from January 1st, to December 15th, 1888, has been published. The receipts total $77,047.21, the principal amounts being:—Taxes 1888, $41,547.60; licenses, $1,564.84; police court, $7,653.34; commissioners town trust account of debentures, $18,815.62. The expenditures amount to $68,244 41. The town's assets are placed at $376,370.01: liabilities, $205,530 00; assets over liabilities, $170,820.01. Of the total amount of taxes on the collectors roll for 1888, $48,425.47, there still remained unpaid, 15th December some $6,877.87. The town clerk will furnish printed copies of the statement to anyone wishing to peruse it carefully and in detail.

Church Chimes.

A most interesting service was held in the George street church Christmas day, commencing at 10.30 a.m. and lasting but one hour. The pastor, Rev. M. L. Pearson, conducted the service. Rev. S. J. Shorey, of the Charlotte street church, preached from the text "Peace on earth good will toward men." The choir, under the direction of Mr. W. H. Dingle, discoursed very sweet and appropriate music. Mr. Dingle is to be congratulated upon the splendid result of his labors, seen in the anthems, duetts and solos that were presented. Before concluding the service the pastor wished one and all, young and old, a very merry Christmas. A collection was taken up in behalf of the poor of the church. An effort is being made to have the musical part of the service repeated next Sabbath evening.

The Christmas day services in St. Pauls' church were well attended. A marked feature was the musical portion of the services. The following programme was finely rendered:

Opening Voluntary.
Hymn 35, "Hark the Herald Angels."
Chorus, "O thou that tellest," (Messiah). Handel.
Hymn 38, "O come all ye faithful."
Chorus, "Hallelujah" Handel.
Concluding Voluntary.
Chorus, "For unto us a child is born," Handel.
Pastoral Symphony. Handel.

The excellent manner in which the music was rendered was creditable to both Mr. Parker's skill as an organist and choir-master and to the capacity and willingness of the choir to receive instruction. The effect was exceedingly pleasing.

Christmas Chimes.

In St. John's church the Christmas services were observed by the celebration of two services, both well attended—Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, and morning prayer and Holy Communion at eleven o'clock. Specially prepared and beautiful anthems, appropriate to the occasion, were rendered in excellent manner. The church was tastefully decorated. Owing to the temporary indisposition of the Curate in-charge, his place was supplied by Rev. H. Symonds, Trinity College, Toronto.

At St. Peter's Cathedral there was a continuous celebration of masses from six a.m., the church being crowded. At 10.30 a.m. Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop Dowling, with Rev. Father McEvay, assistant priest, Rev. Father Dubie, deacon, and Rev. Father Kudkins, sub-deacon. Farmer's Mass was sung with splendid effect with orchestral accompaniment, and the performers and the choir, under the leadership of Prof. Doucet, choir director, acquitted themselves in a manner to earn the expressed thanks of His Lordship. The latter concluded his affectionate and practical address with the papal blessing followed by the Benediction of the Blessed Virgin.

In St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, there was Holy Communion service at 8 a.m., and service and Holy Communion at 11 o'clock, with special Te Deum and anthem. The church was beautifully decorated. Both services were largely attended.

News Nuggets.

—The Y.M.C.A. band played at an entertainment at Selwyn last night.

—The stone piers of the new bridge at Hastings are finished. The ironwork will probably not be put up till spring.

—Three tramps stopped at the police station Christmas eve and two more on Christmas night.

—The Fenelon Falls Gazette is now published in neat eight page form. Success to the Gazette and all the compliments of the season.

—Old Thomas Whitfield, a Monaghan vagrant, had his Christmas dinner with the other inmates of the gaol Tuesday. He was on Monday committed to gaol for four months by P.M. Edmison.

—The Fire Brigade band will begin its annual serenading rounds to-night. The citizens who are visited by the band will no doubt show their practical appreciation of the honor.

Cold Spring's Entertainment.

On Friday evening, Dec. 21st, a very successful entertainment, consisting of readings, recitations, Christmas tree, and singing, was held under the auspices of the Cold Spring's Union Sunday School, in the school house of school section No. 16, Otonabee. Mr. I. Richardson, Supt., occupied the chair. A very interesting programme was rendered by the members of the school, after which the many beautiful and valuable presents with which the tree was laden, were distributed. After the tree had been stripped of its fruit, the members of the Sunday school joined in singing the good night chorus. The gathering then broke up, all being well pleased with the proceedings of the evening.

Foretold in a Dream.

The Napanee Beaver says:—On Saturday afternoon last a son of Mr. Matthew Wees, of Adolphustown, was drowned in the bay. He had obtained permission from his parents to visit Mr. Sherman's, who lives near, to play with his children, and as he did not return during the evening the family were not particularly anxious in regard to him. During the night his father had a strange dream; he saw his son at a well known point in the bay, lying face downward in the water. This made such an impression on his mind that he roused the neighbors, went to the spot and there found the body of his son just as it was in the vision.

REVIVAL.—A revival meeting has been held in the church during the last three weeks. Some thirty-seven or eight, have determined to flee from the wrath to come.

Only a Cold.

This phrase is constantly heard on the lips of people who might know that a severe cold is one of the troubles that should be carefully watched and skilfully treated. Valuable lives are lost every winter because people neglect an illness which they describe as "a mere cold." The man who dreads typhoid and goes miles around to avoid small-pox, often exposes himself when suffering from a severe cold without a moment's hesitation. And yet the statistics might show that a much larger number of valuable lives are lost from diseases brought on by colds than from small-pox. In Parliament, at the Bar, at public meetings of all kinds, and quite often in the pulpit, you hear men speaking when the hoarse sounds emitted by their congested vocal organs show quite clearly that they ought to be in bed. When duty makes it necessary to take risks they ought to be bravely, cheerfully taken, but the call of duty which makes a man risk life or even health, should be very distinct. No winter passes without the loss of some good men who undertook work involving exposure whom they were suffering from what they and their friends called 'a mere cold."—Canada Presbyterian.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

THE MAYORALTY!

Address to the Electors:

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1889. In accepting this candidature, I have been influenced by various reasons.

In the first place, Mr. Stevenson openly declared last year that he would not again be a candidate for the position. He not only stated so publicly, but has repeatedly assured me personally that he would, on no consideration, consent to become a candidate for another term, and that, as another member of the council was anxious for the position, he (Mr. Stevenson) preferred that I should be the candidate.

In the second place, I do not think that it is in the interests of the town that any one man, no matter how good a man he may be, should occupy the positions of Mayor of the town, Chairman of the School Board, Chairman of the Town Trust Commission, and President of the Gas Company,—all directly affecting the interests of the ratepayers.

These different concerns involve a large expenditure of the people's money, and it is desirable, and it is obviously proper, that the necessarily conflicting personal and corporation interests that are at issue should be administered by an official, not personally concerned in getting the best end of a bargain at the expense of the town.

In the third place, I am opposed to the large expenditure in connection with the Collegiate Institute, of which my opponent is the foremost champion. I am not in favour of educating rich men's sons at the expense of the poor, but, on the other hand, believe that the most liberal expenditure of money is justifiable in maintaining and adding to the efficiency of our public schools. I am in favour of having the public schools brought to so high a standard that when a poor man's son is compelled to leave them, as he has to do at the age of 14 or 15, he may be thoroughly equipped with a practical education that will fit him for any business career he may see fit to enter upon. Those who wish to go higher in the educational scale have access to a provincial university maintained at the public expense.

I am opposed to the importation of outsiders to fill places of trust in town, when as good men, if not better men, are available at home. I could cite many flagrant instances of disregard of this fair principle, but have not space in this brief address to advert to them.

There are many other questions, such as the assessment of the homes of the middle class, to their highest dollar of value and placing a half assessment on the palatial homes of the wealthy, thus tending to the adoption of a policy for making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer; these are of interest to the ratepayers, upon which, if I receive the confidence of the public, I will always be found arrayed on the side of the people, as against cliques, corporations and monopolies of all kinds.

I need only to mention, in order to enforce the glaring impropriety of a parliamentary representative occupying the Mayor's chair. The interests of the representative, no matter how just and crying the needs of the town may be, will be directed as we have had frequent examples of, to the promotion of personal and family interests, leaving those of the town to take their precarious chances on their own merits.

During my past record in the council I have endeavored to stand up fearlessly in defence of what I considered just and right in the best interests of the town irrespective of any person, and it honored with your confidence I will in the future pursue the same course.

Hoping, electors, that you will show on polling day that you are opposed to one man being placed year after year in a position in which an opportunity is presented of advancing personal and other interests at the expense of the town,

I remain, very faithfully,
HENRY DENNE

HALL, INNES & Co.

Mantles and Mantle Cloths

Our Ready-made Mantles and Mantle Cloths are going rapidly. The Prices and Styles sell them. In our Children's Mantles, we are sold out of some sizes which we are sorry for, as we don't like to miss sales, but as we have already sold all we expected to sell in the whole season, we cannot complain. But we have a lot of ends of good CLOTHS, which we will sell at a sacrifice to fill up the gap, and our mantle cutter will cut and fit these goods free of charge, and explain the best way to make them up. The sizes we have in stock to fit children from 6 to 12 years we will clear out very cheap. MANTLE PLUSHES are now much in vogue in the larger cities, but are not much looked for here yet. We think it cannot be possible the ladies have not heard about them but they cannot know how beautiful they make up or there would be a greater demand. We have the Black and Seal Brown in stock.

Dress Goods

We are showing Dress Goods a 10c. a yard, which would be good value at 20c. The way they are selling fairly astonishes us, which shows that the public appreciate genuine bargains. In Fine Goods everybody says we have the nicest stock in town, and what everybody says must be true. What we are going to tell you now is of great importance, and we want you to remember it. Our Dress Goods Remnants have been accumulating faster than we like them to, and we have made up our minds to clear them all out. We will offer everything in the shape of a Dress Goods remnant, plain and fancy, good and bad together, at 15c. a yard. Most of these Goods ranged from 25 to 50c. a yard. They are all laid out on the counter, so come along first, served. And what can you buy more suitable for a Christmas present for your girls than a new Dress.

Canadian Tweeds

Among a lot of Goods just opened out, we have a line of Canadian Tweeds, bought job. We have marked them 45c. a yard. They are extra heavy weight and made of good wool.

Our Hosiery

Our Hosiery department is filled with the best Goods made in the Province. Many people tell us they find lines with us they cannot get elsewhere. See our heavy make with double knees and heels and another line called "Arctic," it handles as it felted. There is no need for hand knitting while these Goods are to be

White Grey Cottons

Then are our White and Grey Cottons, Sheetings, etc., keep coming in and going out must be a sure indication they are extra good value.

Those who have not bought some of the Goods should buy a trial parcel. We know we can save our customers money notwithstanding all the loud talk and flaring advertising which somebody has to pay for, and red flag business. Those wanting genuine bargains, will find the real article at

TOPICS FROM THE CAPITAL

THE BLACK COD FISHERS OFF QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS.

An Expedition To Be Sent Out Next Spring to Determine the Extent of the Banks—New Exchequer Court Rules.

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—The Fishery Department has been advised of the return to Victoria of two fishing vessels which went to the black cod banks off Queen Charlotte Islands. Both vessels were very successful. The department will send out an expedition next spring to determine the extent of the banks.

A series of rules has just been issued for regulation of matters appertaining to the Exchequer Court. Under these every reference to the Court of any matter in pursuance of the Inland section of the Custom Act shall be heard without pleading, unless the judge otherwise directs, but any question of law arising upon any such reference may, as in other cases, be stated in the form of a special case for the opinion of the court. Every such matter shall be deemed ripe for hearing as soon as the reference of the Minister of Customs and the papers and evidence referred are filed with the registrar of the court. It is important to notice that: "Where, by the commission of any offence, anything is liable to condemnation and the offender is also liable to a penalty, such condemnation and penalty may be enforced and recovered in one and the same proceeding, but no judgment for any such penalty shall be given against any person who has not been served with the information or made a claim to such thing, as hereinbefore provided, or otherwise been made or become a part, to such proceedings."

Other regulations provide for the payment of fees to the registrar in regard to the proceedings which takes place before him.

The Governor-General will hold the usual reception in the eastern block on New Year's Day.

DEATH OF MR. J. C. STEWART.

The Financial Comptroller of the Post-office Department Passes Away.

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—J. Cunningham Stewart, Comptroller of Postal Finances, died yesterday afternoon, after six weeks' illness of typhoid fever.

Mr. Stewart had been over thirty years in the service and was an exceptionally competent officer. He was just re-organizing and amalgamating the money order and saving's bank branches of the Postoffice Department when taken ill, and it will be extremely difficult to find a man competent to take his place and complete the work.

RAN THROUGH A SWITCH.

Several Cars Totally Wrecked at Thamesville—Be One Injured.

THAMESVILLE, Dec. 27.—About 1 o'clock yesterday a through freight train from the east ran through a switch left open by the local from the west, which was shunting in the gravel pit. The engine and several cars were derailed and the cars totally wrecked. One car loaded with oil was thrown in the ditch. Both tracks were blocked by the debris for four hours. No one was killed or injured, the engineer and fireman escaping by jumping. The loss to the company will be large. This is the second accident of this kind which has happened here within six weeks.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

A Strathroy Grocer Found Dead in a Small Stream Near That Place.

STRATHROY, Dec. 27.—Josiah McMillan, grocer of this place, was found dead at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in a small stream two miles from town. He left his residence about 5 p.m. Christmas, saying he would return at 8. About 9 o'clock he was at the Commercial Hotel in apparent good health and was not seen again until his body was found yesterday morning.

There is strong suspicion of foul play, as the water where the body was lying is only 18 inches deep. An inquest will be held today.

ARRESTED FOR WIFE MURDER.

A Manitoba Farmer While Drunk Commits a Terrible Crime.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 27.—A farmer named A. J. Hatfield, living near Norquay, has been arrested for murdering his wife. Christmas he came home drunk. His wife and three children ran away. He drove on to the village and yesterday morning returned to find the body of his wife frozen, about forty feet from the house, with her face fearfully mutilated. He then remembered that he struck her, but only with his hand.

Proposed C. P. R. Extension.

COBOURG, Dec. 27.—Mr. Van Horn says the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is willing to stock and run a railway that shall be built from Cobourg through the townships of Hamilton, Haldimand, Alnwick, Percy and Seymour to some point on the Canadian Pacific line. If the road is built the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will run it, and in addition will pay forty per cent. of the gross yearly receipts to the company that instructs it. The municipalities are moving in the matter.

Work on the Panama Canal Continues.

PANAMA, Dec. 27.—The work on the canal continues although on some sections the labor has been reduced. Altogether some 2000 men have been discharged during the past two months owing to disputes between the Canal Company and the contractors. It is not expected that more labor will be dispensed with and the highest authorities consider a total suspension of work as very improbable. Such suspension could only be occasioned by the complete failure of the re-organization scheme now under consideration in Paris. There are now about 9000 laborers actually engaged on the works. There is no foundation for the report recently circulated that 75 per cent. of the force would be discharged at the end of the year.

Legislative Reconstruction in India.

ALLAHABAD, Dec. 27.—In the native Congress yesterday the President complained of the present system of government and the inability of Congress to discuss the control of the Budget charges. He introduced a scheme to reconstruct the Legislative Councils, under which plan half the members of the Councils are to be elected by ballot and half nominated by the Government. The right of veto is to remain with the Executive, but it is desired to establish the right of interpellation.

A Missing Ship.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The British ship Astracana, Captain Richards, which was in collision recently off Cherbourg, while on a voyage from Philadelphia for Havre, with the German-street Barracks, has not been found.

White Cap Trials in Indiana.

LEAVENWORTH, Ind., Dec. 27.—There was began yesterday a series of White Cap trials which promises sensational developments. The parties indicted include a postmaster, mail carrier, justice of the peace and eight farmers, all hitherto reputable citizens. The indictments are based on the barbarous whipping of two men.

Logan's Last Resting Place.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The remains of Gen. John A. Logan were yesterday removed from the vault in Rock Creek Cemetery to the new Logan Chapel in the National Soldiers' Home Cemetery. The transfer was made without ceremony.

A BATTLE AT BAGOMOYO.

MANY OF THE NATIVES KILLED BY THE GERMAN TROOPS.

The British Authorities Urged by the Friendly Sheiks to Advance Upon Handoub—Boulanger Condemned.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 27.—It is reported that Mwanga has been deposed by his brother in Uganda.

There has been severe fighting at Bagomoyo with native losses.

The German troops landed at Bagomoyo yesterday and attacked the natives, many of whom were killed.

Osman Digna Preparing to Retreat.

SUAKIM, Dec. 27.—Deserters from the rebel force report that there are many wounded rebels at Handoub. Osman Digna, they say is sending his women to Ery welt, preparatory to retreating to the Nile. The friendly Sheiks strongly urge the British authorities to advance upon Handoub. Chief Gamilabas offers to lead a force of 1000 warriors in co operation with the British, and he promises that Osman Digna, if once expelled, will not be allowed to return.

Home Rule for Scotland.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Marquis of Lothian, Secretary and Keeper of the Scotch Privy Seal; Charles T. Ritchie, President of the Local Government Board; Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland; Lord Balfour of Burleigh, and J. H. A. Macdonald, Lord Advocate of Scotland, have been appointed a government committee to sit during the parliamentary recess for the purpose of hearing the testimony of government officials with regard to the present and possible future government of Scotland. The aim of this committee will be to draft a bill, based on the testimony taken, formulating a scheme for local government in Scotland, which will be presented in the House of Commons in the early part of the next session of that body.

Declined by Mr. Chamberlain.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—It is asserted that the position of British Minister at Washington, made vacant by the dismissal of Lord Sackville, has been offered to Mr. Joseph Chamberlain and refused by that gentleman. It is understood that Mr. Chamberlain intends to live in high state next summer at his house at Prince's Gate, which it is expected will become a Mecca for wealthy Americans.

Actuated By a Spirit of Wanton Mischief

LONDON, Dec. 27.—A despatch from Malta says that neither the Duke nor the Duchess of Edinburgh was present at the theatre there when the attempt was made to blow up the building with a bomb. The bomb was discovered in the lobby in the rear of the stables by an attendant. Attached to it was a burning fuse which the attendant promptly extinguished. The Russian consul at Malta, who was arrested for complicity in the attempted outrage, has been released, as there was no evidence against him. It is supposed that the perpetrator was actuated solely by a spirit of wanton mischief.

A Dynamite Fiend in Madrid.

MADRID, Dec. 27.—A bomb was exploded Christmas evening in front of the residence of Senator Silvela, a Conservative member of the Chamber of Deputies.

A Criminal Conspiracy.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec 27.—A second enquiry into the recent accident to the Czar's train at Borki results in attributing the disaster to criminal conspiracy. All of the recently discharged railway employes will shortly be arrested.

A Drop in Panama Canal Shares.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—The Bourse was depressed yesterday. Panama Canal dropped 20f.

A Gift from the Pope.

ROME, Dec. 26.—The Pope has sent to the Bishop of Pisenza $4000 for a training college for missionaries to be sent to America to care for Italian immigrants.

The Originator of the Triple Alliance.

ROME, Dec. 27.—The Liberal papers eulogize the late Signor Mancini and recall the fact that he initiated the alliance of Italy, Germany and Austria.

Opposition to Boulanger.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—The leading French soldiers condemn Gen. Boulanger's action in deciding to contest the vacant seat in the Department of the Seine. A strong government clique is organizing to oppose him. The senators and deputies of the Republican groups held a meeting yesterday and adopted a resolution in favor of the candidature of M. Pierre Baudin against Gen. Boulanger.

THE FLOUR OUTPUT.

Production Restricted by Low Water and Floating Ice—The Market Dull.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 27.—The Northwestern Miller says: Low water and floating ice have much to do with keeping the flour output restricted to small limits. The total production last week was 59,490 bbls., against 64,500 bbls. the week before, and 102,000 bbls for the corresponding time in 1887. There is still a deficiency of water power, and none of the mills moving are getting out a full product, except where assisted by steam. Eleven mills were in operation to-day. For the past two weeks the shipments have been in excess of the manufacture, this being due to two or three firms withdrawing some of the flour they had in store.

The prevailing dullness in the flour market is rather more pronounced than ever this week and in a measure is attributed to the holiday season. It is expected that the big break in wheat to-day will have good effect on the market. Ocean rates are weak and lower.

The export trade is still nominal. The direct exports for the week ending Dec. 22 were 16,200 against 14,850 for the preceding week. About 5,000 barrels of this were on a single order for Leith.

The Marblehead Fire.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Dec 27.—Yesterday was one of intense sorrow in this town. With the single industry of Marblehead swept away by the fire of Christmas night, much suffering must ensue and men and women are beginning to fully realize the situation. Thousands of curiosity seekers have visited the ruins. The local military company has kept guard over the large piles of furniture that have been placed in public places. It was after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon before the fire engines left their position and the dense smoke cleared away. One of the saddest incidents of the fire was the death of Mrs. Sally Evans who had been ill for several days. She became insensible and was taken from her home to that of a neighbor where she died from the shock. Town Clerk Steven C. Felton was badly burned about the face. William Frost was badly injured about the head. J. Edward Blaney was injured about the head and face. As there were many wooden buildings in Marblehead and the water service and fire department were not very efficient the insurance companies had generally taken but small risks, say from $500 to $2000, so that a great loss will not be sustained by any one company. The total loss by the fire is over $500,000.

Liabilities $50,000, no Assets.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—A special from Clarks, Neb., says the banking house of W. H. Morse closed its doors Saturday. Liabilities $50,000, no assets.

THEIR SHORT HONEYMOON

YOUNG HARRY KEARNEY SECRETLY MARRIES A SERVANT.

A Scandal in a Madison-avenue Hospital Aired in a Brooklyn Court—The Husband Shipped to Canada.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—A middle-aged lady, dressed in deep black, with a thick veil of the same sombre hue drawn closely over her face, sat all day in the Special Term of the Brooklyn City Court waiting for a case to be called in which she was deeply interested. She was almost continuously in tears. By her side sat a boyish-appearing young fellow, neatly dressed and with a diamond ring on the small finger of his right hand and an expensive watch chain dangling upon his breast. His face was guiltless of beard, his hair was dark and his eyes were brown. He was the middle-aged lady's son.

On the opposite side of the room sat another woman, about 30 years of age, dressed neatly, but in clothing made of cheap materials. Her hair was also black as midnight, and her dark eyes flashed fire as she cast defiant glances at the mother and son opposite.

The younger woman's name is Mary E. Kearney and the young man's name Harry Stuyvesant Kearney. They were husband and wife, and the wife was plaintiff against her husband for absolute divorce. The story as told by the lawyers and witnesses to Judge Van Wyck, who tried the case, revealed the clandestine marriage of a foolish young boy with his grandmother's servant girl, a widow ten years his senior, the hot indignation of his wealthy relatives when they found it out, the wife's prompt ejectment from the house and the boy's banishment to Canada by his friends, the admission by him that he committed the offense which gave her the right to demand an absolute divorce from him, with alimony for the support of herself and child, a boy who first saw the light of day in this troubled world last November.

Prior to May, 1887, the plaintiff was a chambermaid and waitress in the family mansion of the young man's grandmother, No. 33 Madison-avenue, New York. Mrs. Kearney, the grandmother, is the widow of Philip R. Kearney, an old-time New York merchant, who died in France in 1869, leaving an estate valued at about $300,000. The young man, Henry S. Kearney, and his mother lived with this grandmother. He was then 18 years of age. Without informing his mother or any of the family he married the servant May 8, 1887.

For about four weeks after the marriage the couple managed to live together in the grandmother's house, on Madison-avenue, and then the family found out what had happened. There was a scene at once, and the grandmother and mother of the boy made things lively for the young couple. The result was that the young wife was turned out of the house and forced to seek refuge among her friends, and the boy-husband was sent to Canada. She saw nothing more of him from that day until yesterday, when she met him in court, and according to the testimony, he never set eyes on his son and lawful heir.

The fact that the young husband had been on friendly terms with a number of women in Canada was clearly proved by plaintiff, and not disputed by the defendant. The only question in dispute was as to the amount of money he should give for the support of herself and child, and how much he should give the lawyer for his services in getting the divorce.

Judge Van Wyck granted a decree of absolute divorce with $250 counsel fee and $200 a year alimony for the wife.

Panic in a Theatre.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 27.—During a performance at the Academy of Music last night fire broke out several squares distant from the theatre. The alarm was heard by some one in the gallery who loudly shouted "fire!" In a moment a terrible scene of excitement occurred, the spectators in the gallery tumbled over each other in a wild rush for the stairs, while the occupants of the parquet and orchestra rose en masse and made a rush for the exits. Several of the spectators sprang upon the stage and begged the frightened people to keep quiet, assuring them that there was no danger, and finally the causeless panic which for a few minues threatened disastrous consequences was checked without serious injury to anyone and the performance proceeded.

Hyams Knocked Out by McAuliffe.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—An immense crowd assembled at the Palace Rink in Williamsburg last night to witness the ten-round glove contest, which was to be but another name for a fight, between Jack McAuliffe of Brooklyn and Jack Hyams of England. Thousands were unable to gain admission. Hyams was so badly done up that the police interfered at the end of the eighth round, but were prevailed upon to allow McAuliffe to knock him out, which he promptly did in the ninth inning, Hyams taking two minutes to regain consciousness. Dave Holland acted as referee.

Four Men Killed by a Cave-in.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 27.—The Denver Gas Company had 100 men excavating a ditch six feet deep along the side of and underneath the track of the cable car line when suddenly the track for an entire block fell, imprisoning the men underneath. Work was immediately begun to remove the fallen track, and four dead and two badly wounded men were taken out. The others escaped without serious injury.

A N.Y. Bucket-shop Failure Makes Havoc.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—A bucket-shop failure created havoc yesterday among members of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Five members were suspended or bad accounts closed out under the rule for inability to meet losses. They were A. F. Tuttle, G. H. Tuttle, C. T. Ives, T. Steele and F. A. Litchchild.

Accident at a Christmas Entertainment.

YORK, Pa., Dec. 27.—During a Christmas entertainment at East Prospect, this county, the building collapsed and 300 people were hurled with the broken timbers from the second to the first floor. To add to the terror of the situation the stove set fire to the ruins. A large number were badly bruised and cut, but there were no fatal casualities and only a few were seriously injured.

A Michigan Physician's Terrible Crime.

ESCANABA, Mich., Dec. 27.—Dr. W. Mullikans, one of the oldest physicians of this city, is charged with ruining over forty girls ranging from 10 to 15 years of age. He was arrested last week, released on $1000 bail, and has practically admitted his guilt by forfeiting his bail and leaving for parts unknown.

The Record Inquest at Detroit.

DETROIT, Dec. 27.—In the case of Dr. A. Ecroyd, the Canadian who was found dead in front of his residence in this city on the evening of Dec. 18, an inquest was held yesterday, but nothing new was developed. The jury found a verdict of death from falling off of the front steps of his residence.

Reception to Principal Grant.

KINGSTON, Dec. 23.—Principal Grant, who by the way was 53 years old yesterday, was accorded a public reception on his return home yesterday. A large number of citizens attended and addresses from the City Council and School Board were presented.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

Mr. Long's Rejoinder to Mr. J. A Barron, M. P.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR.—Your issue of Friday last contains a letter from Mr. J. A. Barron, M.P., of Lindsay, in answer to an invitation from the Peterborough Branch of the Imperial Federation League to speak or lecture before its members. Will you please allow me a reply. But first, I must express the regret felt at Mr. Barron's inability to visit us, and our appreciation of the courteous tone of his letter. I may say, moreover, that our reason for having hoped to have an address from Mr. Barron was that his name appears in the printed list of the Imperial Federation League in Canada among the names of members of parliament who are also members of the League.

But, to come to the contents of Mr. Barron's letter, and to take his points in order:

1 It is not entirely correct to say that "one feature—in fact the main feature—of Imperial Federation is that Great Britain shall discriminate in favor of the Colonies and against foreign importations."

The original constitution of the General League, so agreed to in London in 1884 and as still retained, has no reference to any such discrimination, nor, as far as I am aware, has any clause been since added bearing upon this point. It is true that at a meeting of the Canadian Branch, held in Toronto in March last, there was passed a motion in favor of preferential tariffs; but this motion also expressly stated that "a more intimate connection with the mother land does not involve or depend upon any commercial relationship differing from that which now exists between the United Kingdom and Canada."

2. Mr Barron asks whether Great Britain is likely "to overlook the necessities of her masses by taxing 70 per cent. of her imports, and to let the other 30 per cent. in free?"

In answer to this question I will say:

(a) The proportion at present is, I believe, not 70% to 30%, but about 65% to 35%.

(b) Colonial trade is far more valuable than outside trade, i.e., it is far larger in proportion to population. For example, the American Republic receives from Great Britain goods to the value of about 8 shillings per head, Canada to the value of about 30 shillings, and Australia to the value of about 7 pounds per head. Whether "trade follows the flag," or the flag follows trade, they undoubtedly go together.

(c) Great Britain's Colonial trade is increasing, her outside trade is not. For example, during the last fifty years the exports from British North America to Britain have increased twenty fold, those from Australasia fifty fold. Again, in 1868 Canada exported to Great Britain 34%, and to the United States 61% of all her farm produce; in 1887, 60% to Britain and 35% to the States.

(d) But apart from this, it does not necessarily follow that a "fair trade" policy would increase the cost of living to the English consumer. For Britain is not—as she is so often said to be—a free-trade nation. Duties are at present levied upon scores of imports, and the revenue therefrom is extremely large, about one hundred millions of dollars a year. I think it will be found that her customs duties are upon the average ⅓ of the Canadian customs duties. What is proposed, then, is simply that these duties shall be so adjusted as to favor the Empire, instead of outside nations. For example, why cannot a duty of five or ten per cent. be levied upon wheat from without the Empire; and wine, tobacco, tea, coffee, dried fruits, and many other things, upon which an enormous duty is now levied, (whether they come from within or from without the Empire,) be admitted free of duty from within, but be taxed from without? It matters in no degree to the British consumer whether he pays his tax upon these, and many other articles now taxed enormously, or upon his bread-stuffs now admitted free.

But even where no tax is now imposed, it is not "an economic fact," as Mr. Barron says it is, that the British consumer would necessarily pay the added duty. Because, in the first place, 5 or 10 per cent increase on the price of the bushel of wheat, would not necessarily add to the selling price of the English loaf; and because, in the second place, competition among the colonies of India would keep down the price. (Mr. Barron may ask what benefit the Canadian wheat grower would then have, I answer, the market, free access to a market, from which the non-British produce would be shut out. Our farmers need not only high prices, but an unfailing market, even at present prices. Who can estimate the impetus that would be given to barley-raising in Canada, did our farmers possess an unlimited market at even moderate prices?)

(e) It is scarcely necessary for me to say anything as to Mr. Barron's quotation of the year 1848. Since 1848 times have changed, and fortunately Britain and the British Empire have changed with them. When—as is the case—the Chambers of Commerce, of London, Sheffield, Glasgow, Manchester, and other large centres, along with thirty members of the Imperial Parliament, (the Duke of Manchester at their head), have pronounced in favor of Fair Trade, there must be something in it.

3. Mr. Barron is, of course, not in earnest when he says that under Federation we should be called upon to bear a share in all England's wars. No one has ever proposed such a thing. What is proposed is that the Empire "shall provide for an organized defence of common rights." The general impression is, I believe, that the colonies should contribute towards the maintenance of the navy upon a peace footing, and that they should then have, of right, a certain number of war-ships in their waters—an arrangement which would, of course, obviate the necessity of keeping up colonial cruisers. The amount to be paid by each part of the Empire towards this Imperial fleet would be determined by the population, position, trade, wealth and other circumstances of each part. Under a system of preferential tariffs, the sum collected therefrom (or a part of it) would be devoted to the support of this navy. But even without any such revenue, I am convinced that a thoroughly Imperial fleet, supported by the Empire as a whole, would be the cheapest defence for each part.

4. Mr. Barron is indulging in a spirit of playfulness when he points to the dire results to follow from a Pan-Britannic parliament. For who ever proposed that there should be a parliament such as that described? Who ever proposed that "the 200,000,000 of Asiatics, whose religion is antagonistic to Christianity," etc., etc., should control the destinies of Canada? If a Federal Parliament were formed, it would be composed of representatives from Great Britain and the self-governing colonies. No local rights would be curtailed, and to Britain would be left the management of East Indian, Egyptian and other affairs in which she alone is directly interested. But many Imperial Federationists believe that a regular parliament would—at any rate at present—be unworkable, and that the deliberative assembly should be in the nature of a small advisory council.

5. But Mr. Barron asks, "Where is the market for the British exporter, which is the quid pro quo for Imperial discrimination in favor of Canada," if it is not proposed by Federationists to interfere with the National Policy? I would answer: The goods from outside nations being excluded to a large extent by the preferential tariff, Great Britain would occupy the market now held by these nations, we should still have our own tariff—high or low, as we liked—but we should buy more English and fewer American and other non-British goods.

In conclusion, permit me to say:

(a) All that has been urged as to trade between Britain and Canada will apply to Australasia and the other parts of the Empire. And we must not forget that there are growing up beneath the Southern Cross British realms which one day shall equal in wealth and population the great American Republic. The trade among the Colonies is in its infancy. What its manhood may become we may judge from the fact that even now the yearly inter-imperial trade of the British Empire is fifteen hundred millions of dollars!

(b) As I have said before, Imperial Federation does not necessarily depend upon a discriminatory tariff.

(c) Britain is now fully alive to the wisdom of retaining her Colonies and is willing to enter into any fair arrangement to compass that end. Upon the death of Mr. Bright the school of politicians in favor of reducing Britain to the dimensions of a Holland or a Venice will be as thoroughly extinct as is the mastodon or the dodo.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

J. H. LONG,
Chairman of the P.B. of the I.F.L.

A Bloody Affray

is often the result of "bad blood" in a family or community, but nowhere is bad blood more destructive of happiness and health than in the human system. When the life current is foul and sluggish with impurities, and is slowly distributing its poisons to every part of the body, the peril to health, and life even, is imminent. Early symptoms are dull and drowsy feeling, severe headaches, coated tongue, poor appetite, indigestion and general lassitude. Delay in treatment may entail the most serious consequences. CONGRATULATIONS!

We desire to extend to our Myriads of Patrons, far and near, the Compliments of this Merry Holiday Season, and to wish them, one and all, Many Happy Returns.

LAURELS!

We also desire to say that the Laurels we have won during 1888 for Cheap Goods, will be retained during 1889 if Low Prices count for anything. For this reason the sale of the SHEPPARD BANKRUPT STOCK will be continued, with the determination to offer still greater Bargains in Dry Goods, Carpets, Clothing, etc., at Sheppard's Old Stand, Opera House Block.

BOMBARDMENT!

Another startling upheaval in Ready-made Clothing, Gents Furnishings and Boots and Shoes has commenced in our two Big Stores, No. 377 and 379 George Street. The dividing wall has to come tumbling down, and other improvements made, so that the Prices of Goods must suffer another Sweeping Reduction, in order to clear them out of the road.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Explosion at the Ammonia Works—Polly Bredin Committed for Bigamy.

TORONTO, Dec. 27. Yesterday was the opening session at the Normal School of the fourth annual convention of the Canadian Society of Musicians, which will continue three days. Reports were read on the state of music in St. Thomas, Hamilton, Stratford and St. Catharines, all of which were encouraging except that from the Ambitious City.

The inquest on the body of George Nesmith, who met a terrible death on Christmas at the explosion in the Ammonia Works, was commenced yesterday. The evidence detailed the particulars of the accident and showed that the disaster was caused by the explosion of one of a series of tanks called the agitator, in which there was a quantity of dissolved lime and ammonia. The inquest was adjourned until Jan. 4.

Miss Marjorie Campbell, the estimable hostess of the Gubernatorial residence, is seriously ill. A surgical operation has been performed upon the young lady by Drs. Strange and Grasett, and although the operation was very painful she is doing as well as could be expected. It is stated that no fears of her ultimate recovery are entertained.

The Mayor received a letter yesterday morning signed "Jack the Ripper," intimating that violations of local bylaws in favor of wealthy residents would be visited by dire reprisals.

Nominations for vacancies in the Board of Separate School Trustees took place yesterday afternoon. In a couple of wards only will there be a contest.

The debenture debt of the Waterworks Department amounted to $2,643,205 at the end of 1887. During the present year $240,000 has been added to this debt, making the total $2,883,205.

Mr. W. F. Maclean, of The World, accused of criminally libelling Mr. H. A. Massey was yesterday committed for trial, his personal bail in $200 being taken.

Joseph Tait's well-known lakehouse in North Toronto took fire about 9 o'clock yesterday morning and was damaged to the extent of $500.

A break in the suction pipe of the Parkdale waterworks permitted a vast quantity of moss and weeds to invade the mains, with the result that hundreds of families experienced a water famine on Christmas day. It was a day of wailing for everybody except plumbers. Several suits for damages against the corporation are threatened.

The General Sessions closed yesterday. Among the sentences pronounced by Judge Morgan were: Walter Camp, larceny of a letter and $3 in money, three years in Penetanguishene Reformatory; John Holmes, larceny of an overcoat, one year and 364 days; Frank Rose, receiving stolen goods, two charges, 18 months; James H. Spence, larceny of a post-letter and larceny of a letter containing money, four years in Kingston Penitentiary on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently; James James Lynch and Walter Kellar, assaulting Constable Duncan, one year; John Kennedy, shooting at Constable Welch, 18 months.

Polly Bredin, alias Mary Patterson Hill, charged with having committed bigamy, by marrying Fred Barber, who committed suicide at Niagara Falls, was yesterday morning formally committed for trial, and she deposited $1,000 in cash as bail.

AMBITIOUS CITY NEWS.

Separate School Board Nominations—A Quarrel with a Stepmother.

HAMILTON, Dec. 27. The separate school board nominations were held yesterday, and resulted in elections by acclamation in every ward but No. 2, where Charles Layden and William O'Heir will be the candidates. Those elected were: Ward 1, Patrick Bateman; ward 3, A. C. Best; ward 4, Jacob Zingsheim; ward 5, James O'Brien; ward 6, Andrew Dillon; ward 7, John Ronan.

The work at the city quarries has commenced, and the mayor yesterday gave tickets to men having no employment, issuing about 40.

The charge against Hugh Stowe, Alice Stowe and Agnes Stowe for breaking into the residence of Abigail Stowe, their stepmother and taking away a quantity of furniture, were heard by Police Magistrate Cahill yesterday. By consent the furniture will be returned by the police to the house where they got it, and the question of ownership will be fought out in the civil courts.

Joseph Gimblett, a respectable looking young fellow, indulged in the dangerous amusement of throwing a stone at brakeman Charles Hamilton as the latter was going along Cherry-street on a train on the Northern and Northwestern, Christmas. The Magistrate yesterday fined him $5 for so doing.
